LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT DEPARTMENT

Local Self-Government

NOTIFICATION.

No. 6854/L.S.-G.3R-20/55.—11th August 1955.—It is hereby notified for general information that the Governor has been pleased to make the following rules to regulate the grant of loans to the local authorities under the administrative control of the Local Self-Government Department of the Government of West Bengal under the Low-Income Group Housing Scheme, namely,—

Rules.

1. A local authority having the necessary developed land for building houses is eligible to apply for a loan under the Low-Income Group Housing Scheme for the purpose of constructing residential houses for the purpose of letting them out to their employees who do not own a house and whose income does not exceed Rs. 6,000 per annum in each case :

Provided that the local authority may also, with the previous approval of Government, sell a house, constructed under this scheme, outright or on a hire-purchase basis to an employee of the category mentioned above:

Provided further that such house may also be let out or sold in the aforesaid manner to an employee already owning a house whose income does not exceed Rs. 6,000 per annum, if an additional house is required for his bona fide residential purpose.

2. Applications for loans under this scheme should be addressed to the Joint Secretary to the Government of West Bengal, Local Self-Government Department, the applications from the local authorities outside Calcutta being submitted through the District Officer concerned.

3. All applications for the grant of loan under the scheme during the year 1955-56 should reach the Local Self-Government Department or the District Officer concerned on or before the 30th September 1955.

4. (a) The local authority applying for loan shall have to submit the following documents along with its application:—

(i) a site plan, a building plan, design and an estimate of cost of the proposed building,

(ii) copies of documents showing the local authority's title to the land on which it is proposed to build the house.

(b) Applications which may be admitted after a preliminary examination will be finally sanctioned on the production of the original documents referred to in sub-rule (a) (ii) and certificate of searches in the Registration Offices to show that the properties are free from encumbrances.

5. A house for the construction of which a loan is wanted should at least be a two-roomed one and should provide not less than 380 square feet and normally not more than 1,200 square feet of floor area per unit of accommodation.

6. (1) The loan is limited to a figure of 80 per cent of the actual estimated cost of each house or unit of accommodation, inclusive of the cost of land on which the house is proposed to be constructed, subject to a maximum of Rs. 2,800 per house or such unit, the balance being payable by the local authority concerned.

(2) Government will have the right not to grant any loan or to grant a reduced amount of loan on any application without showing any reason.

(3) Government will also have the right not to grant the second or third instalments of the loan as provided for in rule 7 if they find on inspection that the construction is not proceeding according to plan and that approved building materials are not being used.

7. The loan will be disbursed by the Accountant General, West Bengal, in Calcutta and by the District Officers in districts in three instalments. The first instalment representing 20 per cent of the sanctioned loan will be advanced on the application being granted by Government. The second instalment representing 30 per cent. of the total loan will be disbursed when the construction has reached the plinth level and the third or last instalment representing 50 per cent of the total loan will be disbursed when the construction has reached the roof level.

8. The loanee will have to execute an Agreement with the Government in the form of Appendix I and an indenture in the form of Appendix II mortgaging in favour of Government the premises together with buildings and structures to be constructed thereon, before the first instalment of the loan is disbursed.

9. The loan will be recovered in sixteen equal annual instalments commencing from a date after the expiry of one year from the date of payment of the last instalment of the loan.

10. The loan will carry an interest at 6 per cent per annum from the date on which it is advanced. A rebate of 1 per cent. per annum will be allowed to those who make payment of the annual instalment together with the interest on the outstanding principal within the anniversary date of the loan. Interest on the outstanding principal is payable annually along with the instalment of the loan.

11. Loanees are bound to allow any officer of Government authorised on this behalf to check the construction on the spot at any reasonable time and to complete the construction within four months from the date of payment of the last instalment of the loan.

APPENDIX I.

Articles of Agreement made this day of One thousand nine hundred and fifty-five between a statutory body corporate constituted under the Act, having its office at hereinafter referred to as "the Borrower" (which expression shall unless excluded by or repugnant to the context be deemed to include its successor or successors and assigns) of the One Part and the Governor of the State of West Bengal, hereinafter referred to as "the Governor" (which expression shall unless excluded by or repugnant to the context be deemed to include its successors in office and assigns) of the Other Part,

WITNESSETH AND IT IS HEREBY AGREED AND DECLARED AS FOLLOWS:—

1. That the amount of Rs. (Rupees only) so agreed to be advanced by the Government to the Borrower shall be advanced in instalments as follows:—

(a) 20 per cent. of the loan, viz., Rs. (Rupees only) at or immediately before the execution of these presents ;

(b) 30 per cent. of the loan, viz., Rs. (Rupees only) on the construction of the respective buildings being done up to the plinth level ;

(c) the balance 50 per cent. of the loan, viz., Rs. (Rupees only) on the construction of the buildings reaching the roof level.

2. That the whole amount of the said loan shall, as advanced from time to time, be wholly and solely applied by the Borrower for the purpose of construction of the respective buildings on the said lands hereditaments and premises for the purpose of letting out the same on rent for residential purposes to the employees of the Borrower having an income not exceeding Rs. 6,000 (Rupees six thousand only) per annum who have no dwelling house or have a dwelling house but the same is not sufficient to accommodate such employee and his family or for selling the same to such employees of the Borrower in consideration of the payment of the value or price thereof either in cash simultaneously with the execution of the Deed of Transfer or on hire purchase agreement on terms and conditions to be settled by the Borrower with the approval of the Government and the Borrower shall not use or utilise the said sum of Rs. (Rupees only) for any other purpose whatsoever and further that the Borrower shall on being called upon by any officer or officers authorised in that behalf by the Government, produce statements of accounts with supporting vouchers before such officer or officers to satisfy that the said respective advances have been duly utilised and spent for the said purposes.

3. That the said buildings shall be constructed by the Borrower after having the building plans, specifications, designs, estimates and lay out approved by the Government or by any of its officer or officers authorised in that behalf by the Government and that the Borrower shall commence construction of the said buildings within a month from the date of these presents and that the construction of the buildings shall be completed by the Borrower within months from such commencement of construction of such buildings.

4. That each of the said buildings respectively to be constructed and erected as aforesaid shall at least be two-roomed and should provide not less than 380 square feet of covered space and normally not more than 1,200 square feet of floor area per unit of accommodation.

5. That the Government shall have the right and be at liberty at its discretion to refuse advancing the second and third instalments of the said loan if it be found on inspection that the construction of the buildings is not proceeding according to the plans, details or specifications or that building materials that are being used for the construction of the said buildings are not of approved quality.

6. That the Borrower shall pay to the Government interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum on the amount for the time being remaining due and owing by the Borrower to the Government PROVIDED HOWEVER that if the Borrower shall pay the instalments with interest payable on the amount for the time being remaining due and owing by the Borrower to the Government duly within the period limited for the repayment of the principal and interest as is herein provided then the Government shall accept interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum in lieu of interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum.

7. That the loan so agreed to be advanced as aforesaid shall be repayable by the Borrower in sixteen equal annual instalments, the first of such instalments being payable within years from the date of advance of the whole amount of the loan and the subsequent instalments within succeeding fifteen years respectively and that the Borrower shall pay along with each of such instalments so payable as aforesaid, the interest then due on the said sum of Rs. (Rupees only) or the amount for the time being remaining due and payable by the Borrower to the Government.

8. That the amount of the loan shall be duly secured by the Borrower who shall on being called upon by the Government execute and register a Bond and Mortgage binding the Borrower to repay the said amount with interest payable thereon in manner herein provided and charging and mortgaging in favour of the Governor the said land hereditaments and premises mentioned and described in the Schedule hereunder written and the buildings or erections as shall or may be constructed thereon.

9. That should the Borrower fail and neglect to observe perform and fulfil any of the terms and conditions herein on its part contained then notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein contained, the whole of the said sum of Rs. (Rupees only) or the amount for the time being remaining due and owing by the Borrower to the Government with interest thereon, shall forthwith become due and payable by the Borrower to the Government and shall be recoverable as a public demand under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act.

ORDER.

No. 3410Dis./D/11L-426/54.—28th July 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 1943Dis./D/11L-426/54, dated the 4th May 1955, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Anderson Wright, Ltd., 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1 and their employees represented by Anderson Wright & Co., Employees' Association, 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Sixth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Sixth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Anderson Wright, Ltd., 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta-1, and their employees' represented by Anderson Wright & Co. Employees' Association, 7, Wellesley Place, Calcutta.

BEFORE THE SIXTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI SAILESH SEN GUPTA, Judge, Sixth Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances.

For the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate.

For the Association: Shri D. L. Sen Gupta, Advocate, instructed by Shri Madan Saha, Advocate, Shri Nripendra Kishore Das, and Shri Panchanan Chatterjee, Joint Secretaries of the Association.

Disputes between Messrs. Anderson Wright, Limited and their employees over the question of bonus in addition to what was declared by the Company as Puja bonus not being settled by conciliation, the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, referred the matter to this Tribunal under Government order No. 1943Dis./D/11L-426/54, dated, the 4th May 1955, for adjudication.

SCHEDULE.

Whether the employees are entitled to any additional bonus over and above the Puja bonus as declared by the Company.

AWARD.

On the forefront of his address to the Tribunal, the learned Advocate representing the Company placed an argument that the workers having accepted bonus as determined by the Company without any protest or reservation the claim for further bonus must fail in limine. Scanning the written statement of the Company I did not come across any objection of this type specifically raised. The Company did not allege that the workers accepted bonus for the Puja of 1953 without demur and by their conduct they had precluded themselves from raising the question of bonus over again. The learned Advocate for the Union answered the argument on the ground that at the time Pujah bonus was declared the true financial position had yet to be ascertained. The workers might have provisionally accepted what was offered but that could not stand in the way of their rights being enforced at a later stage when at the end of the financial year the true state of things had come to light. Further it was submitted that the Company by its circular Ext. A(5) had sought to create the impression that the trading results were adverse. In other words, the company had not made much profits in the particular year. When the company prepared its balance-sheet, it was revealed that actually enormous profits had been made. The report of the Director to the shareholders which appears as preface to the balance-sheet stated that the profits for the year amounted to Rs. 7,54,196. The workers agitated for their legitimate dues before the date fixed in the notice given by the Company for the Ordinary General Meeting of the shareholders to be held on the 15th September 1954. In this view the workers had not forfeited their rights by default. The true financial position of the Company being known after the preparation of the balance-sheet, the workers raised the issue in regard to additional bonus before the Ordinary General Meeting which was convened inter alia to adopt the Directors' report and Audited Accounts for the year ended 31st December 1953, and to declare dividends on the preference and ordinary shares. The argument is logical and sound. Another cogent reply to the argument of the learned advocate for the Company is furnished by the assertion in the Company's circulars that the payments at puja time were ex-gratia and not relating to profit sharing bonus. This matter went up before a Tribunal and the Award Ext: B shows that the payments during Puja time were held by the Tribunal to be purely ex-gratia payments depending entirely on the will of the employer. The claim pressed before the Tribunal is to come out of the profits earned for the year 1953. Acceptance of ex-gratia payment at Puja time cannot therefore operate as estoppel so far as profit sharing bonus is concerned. The point canvassed on behalf of the Company is therefore without substance. The Company has submitted three charts which show the computation made to arrive at the "available surplus" if any. The first chart Ext. F shows that the net profit stood at Rs. 7,24,225. From this amount the company has deducted dividend on investment made by Anderson Wright, Limited and Anderson Wright & Co., in course of 1953 and also profits on sales of investments. The amount to be deducted has been assessed at Rs. 4,71,519. The total of the profits being reduced by this sum comes to Rs. 2,52,646. It appears that depreciational income-tax rate amounting to Rs. 7,696 has been deducted from the said amount. The balance is Rs. 2,45,010. Income Tax to the tune of Rs. 1,06,426 is deducted next bringing the total down to Rs. 1,38,584. Return on capital at the rate of 4½ per cent. on preference shares and 6 per cent. on ordinary shares and return on reserve used as working capital at 4 per cent. have been calculated. The total has been found to be Rs. 2,65,043. A deficit of Rs. 1,26,459 has been recorded on the chart. On behalf of the Union objection to the deduction of dividend on investment and interest on reserve at 4 per cent. was taken exception to. It was also argued that payment of or provision for income-tax should enter the table of calculations after an estimate is formed as to the amount payable by way of bonus. So far as interest on reserve is concerned I am satisfied from the balance-sheet that it was used as working capital. The Compny had to take loans of very big amount in course of the year. Such loans had been taken after the available capital in the shape of reserve had been used. The Company is certainly entitled to interest on the reserve. The rate of 4 per cent. is nothing unusual. It is true that in some cases interest at 2 per cent. was allowed but it cannot be taken as a rigid rule that interest at 2 per cent. would be the maximum. In some of the reported cases 4 per cent. has been allowed. I see no reason why I should reduce the rate in this case. I cannot endorse the view that deduction of Income Tax should be made after available surplus has been determined for calculation of bonus. It is one of the prior charges which should have precedence. Coming to the question of dividend on investments, I find in the Union's statement paragraph 1 (ii) an enumeration of the Company's business activities. This Company has Managing Agency business and it also deals in piece goods, investments, etc. There is no statement to the contrary in the company's written statement. This is not a manufacturing company. Investments in shares is not at alien enterprise but one of the principal lines of business. The working staff have to make contribution of labour in regard to those phase of the Company's operations by way of maintaining accounts, carrying on correspondence and so forth. The contention of the learned Advocate for the Company that the profits earned on investments are not related in any way to the labours of the workers is wide of the mark. Cases of companies engaged in production work starting a side line unconnected with their regular business have no bearing, inasmuch as it is difinitely found that investment is one of the regular branches of this Company's business. Dividend earned on investments must therefore form part of the profits on which calculation has got to be made. If the sum of Rs. 4,71,519 which has been sought to be segregated is treated as an integral part of the profits, the deficit is turned to a flat surplus amounting to Rs. 3,45,060. The workers are therefore entitled to additional bonus to be recovered from this surplus. The bonus equivalent to one month's wages amounts to Rs. 11,000. In my view the workers are entitled to have additional bonus at the rate of two months' basic wages. The payment of bonus should be made within 15 days from the date of publication of the Award in the Calcutta Gazette.

This is my award.

ORDER.

No. 3540Dis./D/10L-63/55.—2nd August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2014Dis./D/10L-63/55, dated the 9th May 1955, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 1, Taratolla Road, Garden Reach post office, Calcutta-24 and one of their workmen Shri S. C. Bagh represented by Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, J.535, Paharpur Road, Calcutta-24, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 1, Taratolla Road, Garden Reach post office, Calcutta-24 and one of their workmen, Shri S. C. Bagh represented by Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, J.535, Paharpur Road, Calcutta-24.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the workman: Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha.

For the Company: Dr. J. K. Bose, Labour Adviser with Shri J. N. Chatterjee, Assistant Labour Adviser of Indian Engineering Association.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 1, Taratolla Road, post office Garden Reach, Calcutta-24 and one of their workmen, Shri S. C. Bagh represented by Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, J.535, Paharpur Road, Calcutta-24, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issues, was referred under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2014Dis./D/101-63/55, dated the 9th May 1955, to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Company, Limited, which will henceforth be referred to as the "Company", served the employee, Shri S. C. Bagh, with a notice, dated 25th August 1954, terminating his services with effect from the end of August 1954, on the ground of "poor performance" shown. Prior to that there was no charge-sheet; and the employee had not been called upon to offer any explanation.

The employee has prayed for reinstatement and adequate compensation.

The following issues were raised:—

(1) Whether the Company was justified in terminating the services of Shri S. C. Bagh.

(2) What relief and/or compensation is he entitled to?

FINDINGS.

Issue No. 1.

A preliminary objection has been taken by the Company in reference to section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act. According to the Company, Shri Bagh, a Chargehand, was an "officer" and was treated as such in matters of salary, leave, etc., and that his duties were supervisory in character and that consequently he cannot come within the purview of the Industrial Disputes Act. The simple question is whether Shri Bagh is a

"workman" within the meaning of section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act which runs as follows:—

> " 'Workman' means any person employed (including an apprentice) in any industry to do any skilled or unskilled manual or clerical work for hire or reward *** ***."

Hair-splitting arguments about being an officer or not, exercising control or supervision or direction, etc., are more or less of academic interest in this case in view of the facts elicited at trial. It is beyond my province to comment if the definition is a proper one or if too narrow a construction has sometimes been placed in importing a meaning which according to the plain reading of the section is not there. Nor is it necessary to stress at this stage that a piece of social legislation is to be liberally construed. What is well settled is that the mere name or designation of the post or the quantum of salary drawn is not a determining factor (1952 L.A.C. 529; 1953 I L.L.J. 345; 1954 I L.L.J. 21; Factory Journal Reports, Volume VII, 149; 1954 L.A.C. 788; 1955 1 L.L.J. 609). Whether the employee is a supervisor or an officer exercising any directional or controlling powers supplies at best only a negative test (1953 L.A.C. 497) and, if one may add, an incidental, indirect or secondary test. In my view, the observations made in some reported cases, as in 1951 I L.L.J. 167 (Raymond vs. Ford Motor Company), 1952 L.A.C. 344 (Bharat Bank, Ltd.), 1954 1 L.L.J. 21 (Burmah-Shell Oil Storage), 1954 L.A.C. 788 (Chintaman vs. Phaltan Sugar Works, Ltd.), may be read now subject to this qualification as to negative test, specially when the nature of the duties is clear. Incidentally, so far as I am aware, the words "manual" or "supervision" have not been critically and exhaustively defined in any reported decision. Besides officers and workmen there may be others, e.g., a floor-walker in a Departmental Store, which include men on the "fringe", to quote Ludwig Teller. What really matters or is directly involved in interpreting section 2(s) of the Act is the nature of the work performed by the particular employee.

It may be stated at the outset that the present case is distinguishable on a most salient point from that reported in 1951 L.L.J. 167 (Raymond vs. Ford Motor Company), inasmuch as written instructions are admittedly wanting here. Moreover, I may venture to say that this decision of 1951 might perhaps have been different, if the employee in that case had the duty of taking out the car on the road for testing—a point about which the report is silent.

Let us now examine the duties of Shri Bagh. He was first appointed in 1942—in the Motor Stator Winding Section. He was promoted as a Chargehand in 1944 and the last salary drawn was Rs. 121 basic pay plus dearness allowance of Rs. 121-8-9 pies per mensem. Above him was the Assistant Foreman who worked under a Foreman. Unlike the Motor Winding Section; there were in the Motor Assembly Section, where Shri Bagh worked with 10 or 12 men, no Leading Hands or men comparable to Motor Winders, and to this extent the work-load might have been heavier for the Chargehand. He had no separate stool, bench, chair or table. In the room there was a chair with a table meant for the Foreman. The hours of work of Shri Bagh were from 8 a.m. to 5-15 p.m. with half an hour's break. The Motor Assembly Section did not enjoy the advantage of a clerk or a peon; consequently a large part of these types of work also devolved on the Chargehand. Admittedly there is no Duty Card or any other document specifying the duties of the Chargehand. The evidence, therefore, has to be carefully examined.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 1, Taratolla Road, Garden Reach post office, Calcutta-24 and one of their workmen, Shri S. C. Bagh represented by Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, J.535, Paharpur Road, Calcutta-24.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the workman: Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha.

For the Company: Dr. J. K. Bose, Labour Adviser with Shri J. N. Chatterjee, Assistant Labour Adviser of Indian Engineering Association.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 1, Taratolla Road, post office Garden Reach, Calcutta-24 and one of their workmen, Shri S. C. Bagh represented by Shri Narayan Das Gupta, Vice-President, Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, J.535, Paharpur Road, Calcutta-24, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issues, was referred under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2014Dis./D/101-63/55, dated the 9th May 1955, to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

Messrs. Associated Electrical Industries Manufacturing Company, Limited, which will henceforth be referred to as the "Company", served the employee, Shri S. C. Bagh, with a notice, dated 25th August 1954, terminating his services with effect from the end of August 1954, on the ground of "poor performance" shown. Prior to that there was no charge-sheet; and the employee had not been called upon to offer any explanation.

The employee has prayed for reinstatement and adequate compensation.

The following issues were raised:—

(1) Whether the Company was justified in terminating the services of Shri S. C. Bagh.

(2) What relief and/or compensation is he entitled to?

FINDINGS.

Issue No. 1.

A preliminary objection has been taken by the Company in reference to section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act. According to the Company, Shri Bagh, a Chargehand, was an "officer" and was treated as such in matters of salary, leave, etc., and that his duties were supervisory in character and that consequently he cannot come within the purview of the Industrial Disputes Act. The simple question is whether Shri Bagh is a

"workman" within the meaning of section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act which runs as follows:—

> " 'Workman' means any person employed (including an apprentice) in any industry to do any skilled or unskilled manual or clerical work for hire or reward *** ***."

Hair-splitting arguments about being an officer or not, exercising control or supervision or direction, etc., are more or less of academic interest in this case in view of the facts elicited at trial. It is beyond my province to comment if the definition is a proper one or if too narrow a construction has sometimes been placed in importing a meaning which according to the plain reading of the section is not there. Nor is it necessary to stress at this stage that a piece of social legislation is to be liberally construed. What is well settled is that the mere name or designation of the post or the quantum of salary drawn is not a determining factor (1952 L.A.C. 529; 1953 I L.L.J. 345; 1954 I L.L.J. 21; Factory Journal Reports, Volume VII, 149; 1954 L.A.C. 788; 1955 I L.L.J. 609). Whether the employee is a supervisor or an officer exercising any directional or controlling powers supplies at best only a negative test (1953 L.A.C. 497) and, if one may add, an incidental, indirect or secondary test. In my view, the observations made in some reported cases, as in 1951 I L.L.J. 167 (Raymond vs. Ford Motor Company), 1952 L.A.C. 344 (Bharat Bank, Ltd.), 1954 I L.L.J. 21 (Burmah-Shell Oil Storage), 1954 L.A.C. 788 (Chintaman vs. Phaltan Sugar Works, Ltd.), may be read now subject to this qualification as to negative test, specially when the nature of the duties is clear. Incidentally, so far as I am aware, the words "manual" or "supervision" have not been critically and exhaustively defined in any reported decision. Besides officers and workmen there may be others, e.g., a floor-walker in a Departmental Store, which include men on the "fringe", to quote Ludwig Teller. What really matters or is directly involved in interpreting section 2(s) of the Act is the nature of the work performed by the particular employee.

It may be stated at the outset that the present case is distinguishable on a most salient point from that reported in 1951 L.L.J. 167 (Raymond vs. Ford Motor Company), inasmuch as written instructions are admittedly wanting here. Moreover, I may venture to say that this decision of 1951 might perhaps have been different, if the employee in that case had the duty of taking out the car on the road for testing—a point about which the report is silent.

Let us now examine the duties of Shri Bagh. He was first appointed in 1942—in the Motor Stator Winding Section. He was promoted as a Chargehand in 1944 and the last salary drawn was Rs. 121 basic pay plus dearness allowance of Rs. 121-8-9 pies per mensem. Above him was the Assistant Foreman who worked under a Foreman. Unlike the Motor Winding Section, there were in the Motor Assembly Section, where Shri Bagh worked with 10 or 12 men, no Leading Hands or men comparable to Motor Winders, and to this extent the work-load might have been heavier for the Chargehand. He had no separate stool, bench, chair or table. In the room there was a chair with a table meant for the Foreman. The hours of work of Shri Bagh were from 8 a.m. to 5-15 p.m. with half an hour's break. The Motor Assembly Section did not enjoy the advantage of a clerk or a peon; consequently a large part of these types of work also devolved on the Chargehand. Admittedly there is no Duty Card or any other document specifying the duties of the Chargehand. The evidence, therefore, has to be carefully examined.

The Company, it may be stated at the outset, cannot pin down the workman to the statement (Ext. 7) which the Vice-President of the Mazdoor Sabha might have sent (in English) to the Assistant Labour Commissioner on general instruction (in Bengali), from Shri Bagh. It was long before the reference to the Tribunal and it cannot claim the solemnity of sworn testimony before a Tribunal nor its exhaustiveness. In the circumstances contradiction by mere omission is a wholly untenable proposition.

The Superintendent of the Manufacturing Section, Shri Jameson, has tendered evidence on behalf of the Company. He is in charge of about 470 men. He is an officer superior to the Foreman. According to him, Shri Bagh had to supervise the quality and quantity of the work of the employees, to see that these Motor Assemblers worked smoothly and efficiently without "let or hindrance". The work which Shri Bagh was called upon to perform was of a varied character, as the evidence of Shri Jameson and Shri Bagh will go to show. According to the latter, he used to ask the Assistant Foreman as to what work had to be done. He would then take the order forms to the Stores which in its turn would collect the materials and send these to the Assembly Section. Shri Bagh used to check up if all the articles had been sent. Slips would be issued by the Store for the articles which were not available. Shri Bagh's duty was to report all this to the Assistant Foreman who would then send him to the Manufacturing Section to find out if the articles were available. Shri Bagh used to report again to the Assistant Foreman about the position. The articles procured and those which had been sent in earlier were taken to the work-table. He would sort out the articles, label them and help some of the heavy articles to be placed on the table. Help was particularly required in lifting heavy motors. He would also render his assistance to the workmen generally. Shri Jameson has admitted that on several occasions Shri Bagh assisted the workers in fixing cowls, screws, fans, endshields, etc. Occasionally some mazdoors might have helped Shri Bagh in laying out the tables, but I am satisfied from the evidence that the main burden of this manual work undoubtedly fell on the shoulders of Shri Bagh. According to him, this work took about 2 to 2½ hours' work daily, besides assistance work for 2½ or 3 hours. Shri Bagh had to check up and rectify defective work returned. According to Shri Jameson, this rectification would take at least one or two hours of Shri Bagh's time. With the help of workers available he would have to open the defective motors himself and if no extra help was available he had to do this work alone. All this extremely heavy manual work-load could not have been merely the incidental duties of a supervisor. In my opinion, these were directly a part of the manual work which Shri Bagh was called upon to perform perhaps daily.

On top of all this Shri Bagh had to make notes of the working hours put in by the workmen. His clerical work did not end there, as has been indicated above. He had to put up labels in laying out articles, showing shop numbers. He had to prepare factory receipts (5 to 6 copies each)—12 or 13 sets—comprising about 500 articles according to Shri Jameson. He had to fill in leave application forms and gate-passes. He had to run about in this connection, for the Superintendent would be the granting authority. He had to arrange for wages of workmen. It was suggested that Shri Bagh had also to collect cash from the workmen for purchase of rejected parts from the Company. Shri Jameson had denied this suggestion generally, but according to him Shri Bagh might have done this of his own accord. For all this work of a clerical nature it took him not less than one to two hours daily. In my opinion, this was a substantial part of the work which daily Shri Bagh was called upon to perform as a Chargehand directly. It would be a travesty of truth to say that the clerical work was only incidental to the work of supervision.

Indeed Shri Bagh had very little supervising authority. He could do practically nothing except to report to the Foreman about laziness on the part of the workmen, as has been stated by Shri Jameson. Admittedly he could not issue charge-sheets, transfer workers or allow leave. He could not recommend anyone for promotion or dismissal. It would be idle to contend that Shri Bagh was an officer with powers of direction or control. The evidence of Shri Bagh has made it abundantly clear that he could not move an inch without directions from the Assistant Foreman (or Foreman). If the Foreman was present he would have to take his permission for requisitioning any article from the Stores. The Foreman would decide the priority of work and instruct the Chargehand as to which of the workers should take on a job. The Foreman instructed him about the work to be done the next day. When the Foreman was absent Shri Bagh had to take instructions from the Progress Department and could not take a decision himself. Truly, as the representative of the workman has argued before the Tribunal, the position of Shri Bagh was no better than that of a monitor of a school where mainly he had to work himself and only incidentally guide others.

On behalf of the Company it has been stated that Shri Bagh was governed by the Company's Routine Letter for such officers—No. 22A (Ext. 3). Certain slips (Ext. 5 series) have been filed to show that Shri Bagh could requisition stores, but these bear obviously counter-signatures of the Superintendent or some other superior officer. The Organisational Chart (Ext. 7) leads nowhere, for it does not show the Chargehand. Moreover, on the first date of hearing it bore no signature or date but on the second day it purported to bear some signature but no date. These checked up against an array of facts mentioned above carry little conviction. If a mere technical treatment of a workman as a subordinate officer were to be allowed to over-ride the clear definition of the Act, as supported by facts, all employers may shut out workmen from the benefit of the Act at their sweet will by a simple device of designation or a set of rules of service. If designation were everything, the use of the expression "hand" in "Charge-hand" could not but be significant.

Without any hesitation I may say that Shri Bagh was a "workman" within the meaning of section 2(s) of the Industrial Disputes Act and accordingly he is governed by the provisions of that Act.

The next question is whether the dismissal of Shri Bagh was justified. No reliable evidence has been produced by the Company to show that previously there was any defect in his work. Shri Bagh has stoutly denied ever having received any warning, notice, etc. He was not called upon to explain before the Company and the Company took upon itself the responsibility of serving Shri Bagh with a notice of dismissal (Ext. 8), referring only to "poor performance". At trial Shri Jameson on behalf of the Company has stated as follows: "Because of his inability to control and lack of supervision Mr. Bagh's services were dispensed with. It was also because of his general lack of ability as a Supervisor." It was very easy to bring these vague charges without giving any opportunity to the workman to explain or rebut them. Shri Bagh has definitely denied any inefficiency or incompetence on his own part. On getting the notice of dismissal Shri Bagh protested [vide Exts. 9 and 9(a)]. In my opinion there cannot be a worse case of violation of the principles of natural justice. The Company has utterly failed to prove here the charge of incompetence. The dismissal order must be cancelled and is hereby cancelled.

Issue No. 2.

Shri Bagh must be reinstated by the Company on reporting himself for duty within two weeks of the publication of the award in the Calcutta Gazette, and he will get from the Company all pay and allowances and other emoluments and benefit, if any (including bonus), that he would have been entitled ordinarily between the date of dismissal and the date of reinstatement.

The award is given accordingly.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Samuel Osborn (India), Ltd., Mercantile Buildings, Calcutta-1 and their workmen represented by Samuel Osborn (India), Ltd., Employees' Union, 69/A, Kailash Bose Street, Calcutta.

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Shri N. M. Das Gupta, Advocate.

Present for the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate of Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co., Solicitors.

1. By Government order No. 3837Dis./D/11L-182/53, dated the 26th October 1953, the aforesaid dispute has been referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, presided over by me, for adjudication under the sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947). The said Fifth Industrial Tribunal was constituted under notification No. 3581-Lab., dated the 9th June 1951.

2. The reference was received here on 29th October 1953. The written statement was filed by the Union on 10th December 1953. The Company filed written objection, after several adjournments, on 21st January 1954. Then after several adjournments the case was taken up for hearing on 15th March 1953, and the argument was heard. The argument concluded on 16th March 1955, and the award was reserved.

3. The issue contained in the schedule to the order of reference stands as follows:—

Bonus on account of the year ending 31st July 1952.

AWARD.

4. It is the contention of the Union that the Company is a very prosperous one, and has been making huge profits during the last few years. The Company has been granting Puja bonus almost every year. But the Union now demands a bonus based on profits for the year ending July 1952 to the tune of six months' salary. It is further contended that the Company had a branch at Bombay. That has been wound up in April 1952 only for the purpose of creating a panic in the minds of its employees.

The Company denies having made any profits. The Company, it is said, has built up a huge working capital because the profits have always been ploughed back into the business. The trading result of the Company for the year ending 31st July 1952 does not warrant payment of bonus for the year. It is asserted that the Bombay branch was closed down because it was found not profitable.

The computation of bonus after the decision of the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal in the Bombay Mill Owners' case has become conventional, and that is why I called upon the parties to work out the surplus available for bonus according to the formula set forth by the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal in the aforesaid case. The figures calculated by the Company and the workmen disclose such a vast difference as do not make any of them acceptable to me on their face value. So I discuss the figures below.

The balance-sheet for the year ending 31st July 1952 was asked to be treated as confidential, but later on this stand was given up, and the parties chose to refer to the figures given in the balance-sheet.

We must start with the net profits of the Calcutta branch for the year 1952. There is no dispute that the profits, as per the balance-sheet of the Calcutta branch, was Rs. 79,749. According to the Company only Income-tax reserve of Rs. 45,000 and the Bombay Directors' Commission of Rs. 28,387 should be added to the above. But according to the chart filed by the Union the depreciation of Rs. 1,562, the donation of Rs. 205, and the pension reserve of Rs. 4,800 should further be added to it. The Union has further asked the Tribunal to add the excess remuneration of the Calcutta Directors which has been disallowed by the Income-tax Officer. It wants further to add bonus paid in the year 1952 for the previous year to the Calcutta Indian staff. The amounts under these two heads are respectively Rs. 13,755 and Rs. 8,561. Now, the point before me is whether these additional items should be added to the net profit for the purpose of arriving at the gross profit. The Company apparently wants to exclude these items from the reckoning, but I am afraid, I cannot accept the Company's version on this point. The depreciation given in the balance-sheet always requires to be added to the net profits. So the donation and the pension reserves. Exts. A to A2, which are assessment orders of the Income-tax Officer, in respect of the years 1952 and 1953 clearly show that some excess remuneration was given to those Calcutta Directors which cannot be upheld in law. The reason given there is that apart from the handsome remuneration given to those Directors, they were given percentage of profits to an extent which could not be accepted by the said Income-tax Officer. So this excess remuneration needs to be added to gross profits. Similarly, bonus paid for the previous year must also be added because the workmen of 1952 cannot be made liable for it. So I accept the Union's version regarding those items in preference to the version given by the Company. In this view of the matter, the gross profitts for the year 1951-52 stand at Rs. 1,82,019 as given by the Union in preference to the gross profits according to the Company which stand at Rs. 1,53,136. Then the question arises of making allowance for the prior charges, viz., depreciation, Income-tax, and amounts under the heads of paid up capital, and working capital, etc., as given in the formula of the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal. Here the statutory depreciation as given by the Union is Rs. 2,201. Bonus paid in 1953 for the year ending 1952 must also be deducted. That stands at Rs. 8,561, as given in the balance-sheet. The paid up capital is Rs. 1,00,000. Six per cent. dividend on this would come up to Rs. 6,000. The Union gives in the chart 2 per cent. on the working capital. The working capital as given by the Company is Rs. 8,99,340. The Union accepts this as the amount of working capital. The Company would claim 6 per cent. on average capital employed. I am aware of no case where 6 per cent. has been given not only on the paid up capital, but also on the working capital. Four per cent. dividend is given on working capital where it is proved that the working capital has been used in the business throughout the year. But here, from the balance-sheet, I find that the bulk of the working capital is kept deposited in the banks. Nothing has been shown to me by evidence that the whole of the working capital has been utilised throughout the year in the business. So in the circumstances, I accepted the Union's version to give 2 per cent. dividend on the working capital. Income-tax, I give, at 7 annas per rupee as given in the chart supplied by the Union. Now, comes the question on which the contest was mooted, viz., whether there is income which is unrelated to the employees' efforts, and as such should be deducted from the gross profits. The Union says that there is no such income in the present case. But the Company, in the chart, shows income under several heads which are unrelated to the employees' efforts, and wants that these should be deducted according to the decision of the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal. Let me discuss those heads. The Company says that Rs. 15,555 was the income derived as commission on direct sales in U.K. Again Rs. 8,783 was derived as the benefit arising from Exchange Ratio. Rs. 6,000 was derived as interest on deposits of 3,00,000. Rs. 6,922 was the income derived from the Post-War Refund of Excess Profits tax. Rs. 90,000 was derived as profits as a result of adjustment of stock reserve. The Union calls upon the Tribunal to put into the reckoning all these items of income because the employees must have contributed to their earning. But I am afraid, I cannot accept this version of the Union. For instance, how can the employees of the present concern in Calcutta contribute to the commissions on direct sales in U.K.? At most, they might have done some correspondence in the Calcutta branch. But that certainly cannot be construed as earning the said commission. Similarly, the Company did not contribute anything to the income derived by exchange ratio for remittances made to U.K. from India, and vice versa. The amount which has been kept in banks as deposit, and the interest therefrom cannot be claimed by the employees as derived by the result of their efforts. There cannot be any conceivable efforts on the part of the employees regarding accrual of such interest. Similarly, the refund of excess profit tax cannot be claimed by the employees as a result of their contribution. If there is any profit derived by adjustment of stock reserve, that also cannot be claimed as profits by the employees. But regarding this head I find only a casual remark in the balance-sheet at page 2, in the shape of a note of the auditor. I am unable to attach much importance to this scrappy note without having anything to show as its basis. So I delete Rs. 90,000 claimed by the Company under this head, but allow the other items to reduce the gross profits. The other items, given by the Company, I accept. So the whole matter of calculation stands as below:—

	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
Profit as per balance-sheet (Calcutta Branch) ..	....	79,749 0 0
Add—Depreciation	1,562 0 0

	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
Brought Forward		1,44,759 0 0
Less—Statutory depreciation	2,201 0 0	1,42,558 0 0
Less—Bonus paid in 1953 for the year 1952	8,561 0 0	1,33,997 0 0
Less—Bonus granted at one month's basic salary at Rs. 4,840 per month for 1952	4,840 0 0	1,29,157 0 0
Less—Income-tax at 7 annas per rupee	56,506 0 0	72,651 0 0
Less—6 per cent. on paid up capital of Rs. 1,00,000 ..	6,000 0 0	66,651 0 0
Less—2 per cent. on working capital of Rs. 8,99,340 ..	17,986 0 0	48,665 0 0

This is the available surplus profits left in the hands of the Company after providing for bonus at three months' basic salary for the year 1952, according to the formula set forth by the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal of India. I am unable to grant bonus in excess of three months' basic salary in view of this available surplus profits.

The paid up capital is only one lac of rupees for both the branches. So it appears that it is only with the aid of foreign branches, I mean branches outside India, that the business is being run, and also with profits which have been ploughed back into the business. It will be noticed that nothing has been claimed by way of rehabilitation reserve. The net profit, as I have shown in the beginning, is about Rs. 80,000. The Company has also given roughly two months' basic salary as bonus to the tune of Rs. 8,561. So more than one-tenth of the net profit has been given as bonus. I further increase it to the extent of Rs. 4,840 in the shape of one month's basic salary for the year 1952. That ought to suffice for the year 1952 in the present state of finances of the Company. I do not attach much importance to the contention of the Union that what the Company has given as bonus was Puja bonus, and that it was a condition of service. That it was a condition of service remains to be proved. So, it was also given out of the profits of that year. The workmen are practically getting 3 months' salary as bonus, and that is considered quite adequate. This bonus of Rs. 4,840 for the year 1952 is made payable within one month of the award coming into operation.

AWARD.

Issue Nos. 4 and 5.

Issues 4 and 5 have been amicably settled by the parties during the pendency of this reference. It is not hence necessary for the Tribunal to take them up for consideration.

Issue No. 2.

Messrs. Western India Theatres, Limited, are in charge of distribution and exhibition of films. Cinema houses, "Elite", "Minerva", and "Central Cinema" were being run by this Company in the exhibition section. On 1st June 1954, by an operational agreement this Company transferred the management of the Elite Cinema to the 20th Century Fox Corporation (India), Limited. Shortly before the transfer the Western India Theatres, Limited, dismissed one of its workers named Kaloo on the ground of misconduct. Seventy-eight other workers were given notice just on the eve of the transfer that their services would not be required after 30th June 1954. This notice is dated 31st May 1954. The 20th Century Fox Corporation (India), Limited, was however prevailed upon to engage 78 workmen who had lost their job on the transfer of the Management. Shortly after the re-appointment by the 20th Century Fox Corporation (India), Limited, 70 out of the 78 workmen were discharged. They were however taken back on their entering into fresh engagement on terms as per Ext. 6. The other eight who continued in service also entered into agreement on the same terms. All these 78 workers are hence in service subject to the terms and conditions as per Ext. 6. The issue for consideration has no practical utility as in view of the agreement regulating the conditions of service, 20th Century Fox Corporation (India), Limited, cannot be directed to restore the wages and service conditions that prevailed before the transfer. This issue is hence answered in the negative.

Issue No. 1.

Messrs. Western India Theatres, Limited, having transferred the business could not maintain in service the workers who were employed in the Elite Cinema. Under the stress of circumstances the Company had to terminate the services of these men. The transferee could not be forced to engage them, still the transferee was persuaded to take them on. From these facts I draw the conclusion that the discharge of these men was not actuated by any improper motive.

In regard to Kaloo the learned lawyer for the Company advanced an argument that the reference did not cover his case. As a matter of fact Kaloo figures in list "A" which is an Annexure to the Order of Reference. Issue No. 1 related to the termination of service of 79 workmen. I am not prepared to agree with the learned lawyer that the case of Kaloo has not been submitted to the Tribunal for adjudication. His case however stands on a different footing. Though the notice of dismissal, Ext. 5(d), bears the same date, viz., 30th May 1954, as the Notice, Ext. A, issued to other workers, the order directed against Kaloo is one of dismissal with effect from the date of his suspension. Exhibit D(i) shows that the Manager Shri T. Rustomjee had found Kaloo serving as a domestic servant in the residential quarters of his predecessor Shri Bhoori. When the Manager Shri Rustomjee was distributing pay for the month of March 1954, Kaloo presented himself before him for his salary. Shri Rustomjee was taken by surprise on question Kaloo, he came to know that though he was a Sandwich Boy required to place his services at the disposal of the Management of the cinema, he was actually doing domestic service for the outgoing Manager. Shri Rustomjee directed Kaloo to cease working for Shri Bhoori and to devote his time to the work in the cinema. A report was received later from the Publicity Officer that Kaloo was not paying any heed to the instruction and continued serving Shri Bhoori. He was placed under suspension at that time and his explanation was called for. Exhibit 5 is a petition submitted by Kaloo on order of suspension being made. Exhibit 5(a) is the reply sent to him by the Manager in which it was pointed out that he was not doing publicity work as Sandwich boy for which he was employed. Exhibit D(2) is Kaloo's reply to the Manager's letter. He admitted that he was serving Shri Bhoori but added that he was not neglecting his duty. The evidence given by the Company leaves no room for doubt that the warning given by the Manager had no effect on Kaloo. He did not give up working as Shri Bhoori's servant. The duties Kaloo had to render as Sandwich boy remained in abeyance. In his evidence P.W. 1 admitted that the General Manager Shri Bhoori used to employ Kaloo in other kinds of work. Shri Rustomjee was appointed as Acting General Manager, vice Shri Bhoori, but the change was unknown to Kaloo. Shri Rustomjee had no doubt directed Kaloo not to do any work except that of a Sandwich boy but in ignorance of the fact that Shri Rustomjee had stepped into the shoes of Shri Bhoori, Kaloo failed to carry out his order. Ignorance of fact was thus pleaded on his behalf by the witness. The evidence of O.P.W. 1, however shows that everybody was aware that he had taken charge as Manager. It is unworthy of credit that the employees of Elite Cinema could be in any doubt as to who was the Manager controlling the affairs of the house. Kaloo had deliberately defied the order which was his bounden duty to carry out. Misconduct has therefore been established. The only point that the Union representative could urge is that after Kaloo submitted his explanation, there was no formal enquiry. What actually happened was that the Acting Manager forwarded the connected papers to the Head Office at Bombay and orders having been received from there intimated to Kaloo by the letter, Ext. 5(a), that he was dismissed. It may be that on a very narrow view there was procedural defect in so far as no formal enquiry in Kaloo's presence was held. The matter coming up it is open to the Tribunal to see whether there has been any mis-carriage of justice. On the facts proved, the action taken by the Head Office is amply justified. No question of any relief being granted to Kaloo can therefore arise. His dismissal will stand.

Issue No. 3.

Immediately on the termination of their services by the Western India Theatres, Limited, the 78 workmen were taken over by the transferee Company. They did not remain unemployed and did not lose their pay for a single day. The Union representative made the grievance that these people had put in several years' service. As the 20th Century Fox Corporation (India), Limited, has treated them as newly recruited employees subject to conditions of service newly framed the past service and all benefits that might have accrued therefrom has gone up in smoke. Benefits like increment of pay, bonus and gratuity, etc., might have been earned, if there was no interruption in service. There is really basis for the argument, but it must be conceded that no claim on these heads can be made against Messrs. 20th Century Fox Corporation (India), Limited. Reference was made to an agreement, Ext. 2, between Bengal Motion Pictures Association and Bengal Motion Pictures Employees' Union concerning increment of pay, bonus, etc. The Western India Theatres, Limited, is a member of the Bengal Motion Pictures Association. It was hence urged that the benefits and advantages which were agreed to would be available to these workers. In reply to this argument the learned lawyer for the Company has submitted that the agreement had no binding effect. In fact none of the other Companies had given effect to any of the terms. In regard to these employees also the Western India Theatres, Limited, did not allow any increment in pay, bonus, etc., as provided for in the agreement. The workers or the Union representing them did not press for implementing the agreement. The reason for this is that the agreement was only advisory and not mandatory. I am satisfied that the Union cannot insist on relief being granted on the basis of the agreement aforesaid. It is however true that on grounds of equity, the workers should not suffer loss of the benefits which they might claim on the ground of their past service. Western India Theatres, Limited, have an obligation to provide them the amenities or reliefs which for past services entitled them to. No claim for bonus is admissible now. Increment of pay, as already pointed out, cannot be allowed on the basis of the agreement, Ext. 2. The Tribunal can only provide for relief in the shape of gratuity. In the fitness of things I think for each year of completed service, the 78 workmen (excepting Kaloo) should receive basic wages for 15 days, subject to a maximum of 15 months' salary, from the Western India Theatres, Ltd.

This is my Award.

ORDER.

No. 3531Dis./D/11L-81/55.—2nd August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2167Dis./D/11L-81/55, dated the 17th May 1955, the industrial dispute between Messrs. American Refrigerator Company, 121D, Park Street, Calcutta, and their employee Shri Ramadhar, c/o Ramjas, driver, of 57, Theatre Road, Calcutta, representing himself regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. American Refrigerator Company, 12D, Park Street, Calcutta, and their employee Shri Ramadhar, c/o Ramjas, driver, of 57, Theatre Road, Calcutta.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

Dr. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the workman Shri S. C. Das Gupta, Advocate.

For the Company: Shri Janaki Nath Kar.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. American Refrigerator Company, 12D, Park Street, Calcutta, and their employee Shri Ramadhar, c/o Ramjas, driver, of 57, Theatre Road, Calcutta, represented by himself, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issue, was referred to this Tribunal for its adjudication under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2167Dis./D/11L-81/55, dated the 17th May 1955.

Both parties have appeared.

The following issue falls for determination:—

Whether the termination of services of Shri Ramadhar is justified. What relief is he entitled to?

FINDINGS.

Ramadhar was working as a peon from the end of September 1947 with the American Refrigerator Company which is an Indian concern. On 1st March 1954 he was served with a notice (Ext. 2) dispensing with his services, on payment of certain dues (Ext. A). Ramadhar now wants reinstatement and/or compensation.

No charge-sheet was ever drawn up, nor was Ramadhar ever called upon in writing to explain his conduct. Just prior to the aforesaid notice, no explanation even seems to have been called for. Undoubtedly, the principles of natural justice have been violated in this case (1953 I L.L.J., 499). The principles to be followed in a case of this description have been settled in "Buckingham & Carnatic Co." (1951 II L.L.J., 314).

The Tribunal, however, may enter into the merits of the case. The notice (Ext. 2) is to the following effect: "We find that our work is suffering a lot because of your not knowing cycling. Besides, we also have noticed that you remain quite busy during office hours in your personal business which is managed by your relation or friend. Under the circumstances, we hereby give you one month's notice from today." In the written statement, however, additional grounds were given, viz., that he was found intoxicated while on duty, that he used to sleep while on duty at night, that he was continuously negligent in his duties and that he set a very bad example to other members of the staff by his indiscipline and adamantine attitude. In the absence of any charge-sheet, in the circumstances, the company was not allowed to enter into the allegations which were not mentioned in the notice of dismissal. This followed the principles in the cases reported in 1954 L.A.C., 324 and 1954 II L.L.J., 29. The main charges, therefore, which have to be considered are, first, that office work was suffering on account of not knowing cycling, and secondly, that on account of extraneous work he became negligent in his office duties.

In regard to the first ground the following factors have been elicited at the hearing. At the time of the appointment of Ramadhar, knowledge of cycling was not made a condition precedent to appointment; nor was he asked to learn cycling in the near future. As a matter of fact there was no letter of appointment, far less any specific order to this effect in writing. According to Ramadhar, he was first appointed as a durwan and consequently the nature of the duties did not involve learning cycling. Thereafter his duties were those of foot-peon. Moreover, Ramadhar says that he knows cycling. A peon, however, in the Despatch Section is obviously expected to be speedy. But the witness for the company, Shri Janaki Nath Kar, has testified on oath that Ramadhar would be delivering, say, about three letters out of 22 and return the rest to the office without delivering them and that he was often taken to task for this. The company, however, in order to be on the safe side, should have called upon Ramadhar to explain in writing. This was not done. In regard to extraneous work the evidence is that Ramadhar's brothers used to own thelas and that for some time Ramadhar's name might have been entered in the Corporation License along with other names. In the circumstances, the evidence of Shri Janaki Nath Kar regarding Ramadhar's attitude has some solid foundations. But here also it appears that no written explanation was called for from the workman (Ramadhar).

It is, however, clear that there was no malice or victimisation on account of any labour dispute. Ignorance of the provisions of law on the part of the company might have been responsible for the lacunas. Taking an objective view of the entire matter, reinstatement may not be a proper remedy. Maintenance of discipline and efficiency is a management function. The learned advocate appearing for Ramadhar has stated in course of his argument that last March Ramadhar got a job somewhere else. An order of reinstatement when both parties seem to have lost confidence in each other may not be conducive to the well-being either of the worker or of the company in the long run. In my opinion, compensation should meet the ends of justice.

The company relies on a receipt (Ext. A) given by Ramadhar on 6th March 1954. This receipt runs as follows: "I, Ram Adhar, ex-employee (employed hitherto as a durwan with American Refrigerator Company, Calcutta), do hereby declare that I have received all my dues up to and including the 1st March 1954, from American Refrigerator Company, in respect of my salary, earned leave and Provident Fund, etc., and have nothing as dues against the said company." It is claimed that by this receipt Ramadhar disclaimed any further rights (over and above Rs. 97 paid towards refund of security deposit and Rs. 91-3 paid for 39 days' earned leave including 30 days of notice period). Ramadhar, however, does not know English, the language in which the receipt was typed by the company for his signature. Moreover, in the absence of any specific renunciation of further claim, the workman cannot be stopped from claiming his dues from the company (1953 L.A.C., 55). As has been mentioned above, 39 days' earned leave due to Ramadhar included the period of notice of 30 days. In my opinion, this should not have been included. The fundamental concepts of earned leave and the period of notice are different. During the period of earned leave a worker may go home in a distant village, or he may enter the indoor department of a hospital or he may go to a place of pilgrimage or a health resort. Notice of dismissal or discharge is meant to afford an opportunity to the workman to find out other employment. Next, there appears to have been no contract to this effect between the company on the one hand and the workman on the other. The witness for the former says that there are no Standing Orders, certified by the Labour Department. There are, however, about 150 workmen in this firm. There is nothing to show that the parties entered into any specific legal contract in this regard. Even if there were such a contract, it is doubtful if any workman could contract himself out of salutary legal provisions such as those embodied in section 25F(a) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Accordingly, the workman should get full pay (with allowances) i.e., Rs. 72 per mensem, for the period of notice of one month as distinct from and in addition to 39 days' earned leave.

Next comes the question of compensation. In considering the circumstances of the case and bearing in mind the principles applicable to a case of retrenchment as formulated in section 25F(b) of the Industrial Disputes Act, in my opinion, three months' emoluments should be fair and reasonable compensation in this case.

The aforesaid sums, i.e., in all Rs. 288 are to be paid by the company to Ramadhar within two weeks from the date when the Award becomes enforceable on publication.

The Award is made accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 3658Dis./D/7L/12(A)/55.—8th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 3393Dis./D/3A-10/54, dated the 12th July 1954, read with its addendum No. 3537Dis./D/7L-47/54, dated the 21st July 1954, and its corrigendum No. 4030Dis./D/7L-47/54, dated the 26th August 1954, the industrial disputes in the Jute Textile Industry in West Bengal between the jute mills mentioned in the list attached with the said order, dated the 12th July 1954, read with the said addendum, dated the 21st July 1954, and corrigendum, dated the 26th August 1954, and their workmen represented by the Unions and Federations mentioned in the said order, dated the 12th July 1954, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal with Shri M. C. Banerjee, District Judge (retired), as Chairman and Shri S. C. Mukherjee, District Judge, as member;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal a complaint in writing was received from Shri Durgadas Roy, an employee of Clive Mills Co., Ltd., 43/1, Garden Reach, 24-Parganas, one of the said jute mills before the said Tribunal against the said company alleging that the said company had discharged the said employee concerned in such disputes;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, made by Shri Durgadas Roy, against Clive Mills Co., Ltd., in connection with Government of West Bengal, Department of Labour, order Nos. 1988Dis./D/7L-48(A)/53, 3393Dis./D/3A-10/54 and 3537Dis/D/7L-47/54, dated 7th April 1954, 12th July 1954 and 21st July 1954, respectively, referring certain industrial disputes between 101 jute mills in West Bengal and their workmen (case No. 183/54).

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

Shri M. C. BANERJI, District Judge (Retd.), Chairman.

Shri S. C. MUKHERJI, District Judge, Member.

For the Company: Shri B. Roy Chowdhury, Counsel.

AWARD.

While the aforesaid dispute was pending the petitioner Durgadas Roy made an application to this Tribunal under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act complaining that he was in the employ of the opposite party since July 1948 and was made permanent from 1st October 1952, that he was illegally locked out by the company, that he worked in the Mill up to 3rd of August 1954 and his attendance was recorded up to that date, that on 4th of August 1954 the Manager made a cross against his name, that the lock-out was illegal and that the petitioner was entitled to reinstatement with back pay.

Notice of the aforesaid application having been served on the opposite party, the company filed its written statement on 12th November 1954 alleging that the worker was never locked out but he was laid off with effect from 1st August 1954, that on account of the de-rationing the worker was surplus to the requirements of the company, that the application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act had already been filed before the Tribunal, and that the petitioner is not entitled to the relief asked for.

The only points for decision are—

(1) Whether the termination of services of Durgadas Roy was justified?

(2) If so, whether the petitioner was entitled to compensation asked for?

DECISION.

Point 1.—The application under section 33 was filed on 6th December 1954 long after the opposite party had come to court with an application under section 33A complaining their lay off as being illegal. This application was filed on 29th October 1954 and the company replied on 12th November 1954. At the same time they made the application under section 33 on 6th December 1954. The lay off in this case was effected with intent to terminate the services of the opposite parties, as such it is not a lay off as contemplated by the standing orders. Hence as lay off was effected without permission of the tribunal, there was already a violation of the principles of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. This, however, does not invalidate the order of the management by itself. This only puts the court to enquire into the merits of the case, as there has been a violation of the principles of social justice on account of the order of the Manager being made without taking permission of the Tribunal. There is, however, no evidence that Manager's order was mala fide.

It is contended by the learned counsel of the company that the rationing department was a watertight department. He admitted that there had been transfers from the Ration Department to the General Deparment. He, however, contended that there had been no transfer from the General Department to Ration Department, as such it is a watertight department. In view of the evidence and circumstances we are not prepared to accept the contention. Admittedly the company had a common list of employees of all the departments including the Ration Department and the Welfare Department and there had been confirmation of clerks to their posts from all these departments. The payment of wages is also made from the same establishment register—all the departments being shown under separate heads. There had been also admitted transfers from ration shop to General Department and there had been at least one transfer from the Labour Office to the ration shop. The name of the clerk who was so transferred is Indra Bhusan Bhattacharji. Manager wanted to say that this clerk left the service of the Labour Office and took up a new employment in the ration shop. This story is unworthy of belief for nobody would ordinarily like to come to ration shop from the General Department. Taking the whole circumstances and evidence into consideration, we hold that the Ration Shop Department and Welfare Department cannot be treated as watertight departments. It is admitted that the welfare shop existed for at least 25 years from long before the introduction of rationing system. After the introduction of the rationing system welfare shop used to serve the company's employees and the ration shop used to serve the dependants of the employees. These two departments were thus mixed up. We hold that the ration shop department was never intended to be kept as a watertight department. As a result of this, however, the clerks of both the departments were rendered surplus when the ration system was withdrawn.

As regards Durgadas Roy who is a permanent worker, the story that he was made permanent on a temporary establishment does not hold any water. There are many other clerks, such as, Indramohan Dey and Raghunath Pandey, who were both permanent and junior to him, and there were also other juniors, viz., Haripada Sarkar, Jethmall Bhatia, Satyanarayan and Prithiraj Kedia who were working in the general establishment. It will not lie in the mouth of the company to argue that the question of seniority will not apply to his case as he was confirmed in a temporary establishment. Company has violated the established principle of "last come first go" in selecting Durgadas Roy for retrenchment. Consequently, the company cannot be given permission to retrench him.

Point 2.—As the petitioner has failed to prove that the company has acted mala fide in laying him off, the lay off must be held to be justified in view of the fact that the petitioner became surplus as a result of de-rationing. Under the amended Act, therefore, the petitioner was entitled to 50 per cent. of the total basic wages and dearness allowance that would have been payable had he not been so laid off. In the present case, however, it is complained that the petitioner worked up to 3rd of August and that the Manager has wrongfully put cross against his name on 4th of August 1954. His only reply is that he cannot say unless he brings the books, whether he worked up to 3rd of August. Manager crossed his name on 4th of August. As these people were allowed to sign the attendance register, it must be presumed that they worked up to that date, i.e., up till 3rd of August. So the petitioner will get his full pay up to the period of 3rd August and lay off starts on 4th of August 1954 and his dues are to be computed accordingly.

No. 3659Dis./D/7L-12(A)/55.—8th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3393Dis./D/3A-10/54, dated the 12th July 1954, read with its addendum No. 3537Dis./D/7L-47/54, dated the 21st July 1954 and its corrigendum No. 4030Dis./D/7L-47/54, dated the 26th August 1954, the industrial disputes in the Jute Textile Industry in West Bengal, between the Jute Mills, mentioned in the list attached with the said order, dated the 12th July 1954, read with the said addendum, dated the 21st July 1954 and corrigendum, dated the 26th August 1954, and their workmen represented by the Unions and Federations mentioned in the said order, dated the 12th July 1954, were referred for adjudication to an Industrial Tribunal with Shri M. C. Banerjee, District Judge (Retired), as Chairman and Shri S. C. Mukherjee, District Judge, as member;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal, a complaint in writing was received from Shri Ushanath Pakrashi and three others of Kamarhatty Jute Mills, Kamarhatty, 24-Parganas, one of the said Jute Mills before the said Tribunal against the said Company alleging that the said Company had discharged the said four employees concerned in such disputes;

And where in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure herto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, made by Shri Ushanath Pakrasi and three others in connection with Government orders Nos. 1988Dis./D/7L-48(A)/53, 3393Dis./D/3A-10/54, and 3537Dis./D/7L-47/54, dated 7th April 1954, 12th July 1954 and 21st July 1954, respectively, referring certain industrial disputes between 101 jute mills in West Bengal including Kamarhatty Jute Mills and their workmen (case No. 158/54).

BEFORE THE INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI M. C. BANERJEE, District Judge (Retired), Chairman.

SHRI S. C. MUKHERJEE, District Judge, Member.

For the complainants—Shri Nirmal Banerji.

For the Company—Shri M. Ghosh of Indian Jute Mills Association.

While the aforesaid dispute was pending, Ushanath Pakrasi and three others applied under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, complaining that they had been illegally laid off on and from 19th July 1954.

Notice of the aforesaid application was served on the opposite party. The company contended that the petitioners became surplus on account of the fact that the ration shop department had to be closed as an effect of the order of de-rationing made by Government, that the petitioners were selected for retrenchment by following the principle of last come first go. During the pendency of the case the application for permission to discharge Gopal Mukherji and Pannalal Bhattacharji was withdrawn. So far as Santosh Sen Gupta is concerned the Union did not want to press his case. Hence, so far as Santosh Sen Gupta was concerned, the company has been granted permission to retrench him on ex parte evidence. Ushanath Pakrasi, however, pressed his case.

The only point for decision is: Whether the petition is maintainable?

DECISION.

It appears that Ushanath Pakrasi made his application on 1st September 1954. Immediately after that on 11th September 1954 company filed an application seeking permission to discharge Ushanath. This application was filed late but we have entered into the case against Ushanath on merits. So, Ushanath's complaint under section 33A is no more tenable. On merits there has been no violation of the standing order as Ushanath was laid off under the provisions of the standing orders for genuine reasons. Hence, we hold that the application under section 33A is not tenable.

ORDER.

No. 3559Dis./D/11L-385/54.—4th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2331Dis./D/11L-13/53, dated the 29th June 1953, read with its corrigendum No. 3670Dis./D/11L-13/53, dated the 30th September 1953, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Bird & Co., Ltd., Chartered Bank Buildings, Calcutta, and their workmen employed at Kantapukur Shed, Hide Road, Tea Transit Shed, Tea Warehouse and 3, King George's Dock as represented by Bird & Co., Labour Union of Calcutta, 4B, Kailasarak Road, Kidderpore, Calcutta-23, West Bengal Bird & Co. Mazdoor Union, 94, Garden Reach Road, Kidderpore, Calcutta-23, and Bird & Company Mazdoor Congress, 37C, Nazir Lane, Calcutta-23, was referred for adjudication to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal a complaint was filed before it by Shri Ram Dhani Das, Shri Nemu Das and 50 others against the said company alleging that the said company had discharged the said workmen concerned in such dispute;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under the section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, filed by Shri Ramdhani Das, Shri Nemu Das and 50 others against Messrs. Bird & Co., Ltd.

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Company:—Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate of Messrs. Orr Dignam & Co., Solicitors.

Present for the employees:—Shri Jiten Banerji.

1. The original reference out of which this case has arisen was made under Government orders Nos. 3274Dis./D/11L-234/52, dated 26th November 1952, and 2331Dis./D/11L-13/53, dated 29th June 1953.

AWARD.

2. It is the contention of Shri Ramdhani Das and Shri Nemu Das and also their employees, that they were all employees of Messrs. Bird & Co., Ltd., and they have been discharged during the pendency of the main case relating to this company before the Tribunal without the express permission of the said Tribunal being obtained in writing. As such, it is contended the section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, has been infringed. They claim reinstatement with compensation.

The company contends that Shri Nemu Das and Shri Ramdhani Das were contractors under the company whose services were terminated in December 1952. The other workmen were Sirdars' men whom the company disowns as its employees. It was also found by the First Industrial Tribunal, before whom the case was originally pending, that there is no relationship of "master and servant" between the company and these men. So the section 33 of the Act is not applicable to this case, and the application under the section 33A cannot be sustained.

It could not be disputed that the workmen mentioned in the Appendix to the Union's written statement were contractors' men. I have already found in similar other cases that there is no relationship of "master and servant" between those people and the company. If they have any grievance for having stood discharged, that would be a matter not against the company, but against the contractors under whom they worked. At all events, the section 33 of the Act does not apply to their case.

Regarding Nemu Das and Ramdhani, they were contractors employed by the company. The company terminated their services in December 1952, admittedly. Such termination of service cannot attract the section 33 of the Act. It is only a termination of "contract", and the Industrial Disputes Act does not apply to such a termination. The employees tried to show by producing their ration cards that they were direct employees of the company. But such an evidence falls short of proving any direct employment. The company might have extended the privilege of cheap rations to its Sirdars, and through Sirdars to their men, or it might have granted medical facilities to those employees, but they by such facts do not render them as workmen employed by the company. So the section 33 has not been infringed in the present case. Therefore, this application under the section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act is out of place, and stands rejected. No order for costs.

AWARD.

The workers' case as presented in their statement is that the Company was in a very prosperous condition making huge profits. Still the Company laid-off some of the workers and on 9th November 1953, retrenched as many as 80 workers without having any reasonable ground for such action. Even after the retrenchment the Company employed fresh recruits and carried on overtime work. The Union claimed reinstatement of the 80 workmen with full compensation for the period of forced unemployment and involuntary unemployment benefit for the period commencing from 2nd June 1953.

The Company's case was that its main lines of business were construction of residential quarters for coolies in tea gardens and manufacturing of trailers. In 1952 and 1953 the tea business was in extremely low waters. In consequence there was a phenomenal fall in orders from tea gardens. Due to this slump the business was on the down-grade and the Company suffered huge loss. In order to avoid the drastic step of terminating the services of the workmen the Company in the first instance laid-off 42 workmen on the 21st March 1953. Another batch of 22 workmen was laid-off on the 4th of May 1953. Lock-out was declared on the 5th of May as the Company found it impossible to run the business owing to abnormal fall in orders. Negotiations started with the Labour Commissioner and finally on 2nd June 1953 an agreement was reached between the workers and the Company by the terms of which the Company agreed to re-open the factory. The factory was re-opened accordingly on 10th June 1953 with a limited number of workers. The Company had agreed that it would try to absorb as many men as possible. On the 9th of November, 1953, however the decision was forced upon the Company by the exigencies of the trade position to retrench 80 workmen. The allegation that in preference to old workers new recruits were being absorbed and that overtime work was being done in a large measure have been denied.

Issue No. 1.—Whether the workmen are entitled to get remuneration under involuntary unemployment scheme for the period of lay-off?

Forty-two workmen were laid-off on the 21st of March 1953 and another batch of 22 workmen on the 4th May 1953. Under the terms of the agreement, dated the 2nd June 1953 (Ext. A) the Company had agreed to consider the closure period from the 8th of May, as a period of involuntary unemployment. On behalf of the Company the wordings of the issue as framed by the Government have been used as a peg to hang an argument that the Tribunal was required to frame a scheme of involuntary unemployment relief which was to be prospective in operation. The Government did not intend to have an adjudication regarding the lay-off which had taken place in the past. This argument proceeds from an inspiration of the moment, for, neither in express terms nor as an under current any such stand-point appears in the written statement submitted on behalf of the Company. On the contrary the written statement adopted the natural and straight forward implication of the issue in presenting the case for the Company. The expression "involuntary unemployment scheme" used in the issue was exploited in support of the argument. It would however appear from notices Exts. D and D(1) and Ext. 7, issued by the Company on the 21st March and 4th of May and 20th August 1953, that it contemplated payment of the same involuntary unemployment relief as was prevailing in West Bengal. It is specifically stated that 15 days' pay for unemployment extending to a period of 6 months was believed by the Company to be the usual rate. In the agreement Ext. A the Management agreed to treat the labourers who were not being taken back into employment to be treated as on involuntary unemployment for the purpose of avoiding any break in their service. This is paragraph 2. In paragraph 5 the Company agreed to regard the closure period from the 8th of May "as involuntary unemployment benefit period for the workers concerned". According to the learned representative pressing the case for the Company, paragraph 2 was meant to apply only to those labourers who did not get employment on the re-opening of the factory. In paragraph 5, the closure period was intended to be treated as involuntary unemployment period without any liability for providing relief. So far as paragraph 5 is concerned there is no limitation as to the extent of its application. All the workers who were affected by the closure were entitled to consider themselves laid-off. Considering the agreement and the notices Exts. D and D(1) and Ext. 7 together, no doubt can linger in the mind that the scheme referred to in the issue was the same scheme which the Management had in view when it issued the notices. The argument that a scheme to come into operation in future was in the contemplation of the Government is untenable. The workers who were affected by the action taken by the Management had approached Government for relief. There is not a shred of justification to hold that the Government did not pay heed to the claim for relief for the particular lay-off but wanted a scheme to be framed for future application. It may further be pointed out that the issue refers to "the period of lay-off". A particular period is indicated. Necessarily the reference must be to the lay-off which had taken place. By an amendment of the Industrial Disputes Act express provisions for lay-off were codified, Chapter VA being brought on the Statute Book for the purpose. Since there was legislative enactment, making provision for relief in case of lay-off, Government had no reason to make a reference for framing a scheme. The argument propounded on behalf of the Company must therefore fail.

In the Standing Orders there is a paragraph that for lay-off for a short period, the workers would be entitled to be treated as on leave with or without pay according to the leave account to their credit. If any workman had to be laid-off for an indefinitely long period his services might be terminated after giving him due notice or pay in lieu thereof. No express provision was made regarding compensation for lay-off lasting an indefinitely long period. In the absence of any denying provision in the Standing Orders the affected workmen are entitled to have compensation for involuntary unemployment period. Though the Company laid-off workers in two instalments as already pointed out, the Union laid claim for involuntarily unemployment benefit only for the period commencing from 2nd June 1953. Why this particular date was chosen is beyond comprehension. On behalf of the Union reference was made to the award of the First Engineering Tribunal of 1948. It was submitted that 15 days' wages for lay-off for any period from January to June and another 15 days' wages for lay-off for any period within July to December, should be paid. Not being a party in that reference the Company is not bound by that award. I am however satisfied that treating 2nd June 1953 as the starting point of time in accordance with the Union's prayer, 15 days' basic pay and dearness allowance, if any, would be adequate compensation for the period of lay-off for those workmen who were not taken back on the re-opening of the factory and 7 days' pay and dearness allowance for the workmen who were re-employed then.

Issue No. 2.—Whether the discharge of 80 (eighty) workers as per list attached is justified? What relief are they entitled?

It is notorious that in 1951, the tea trade had a set back and in 1952 and 1953 it passed through a period of acute depression. The Company used to draw sustenance from and depended for its prosperity upon the lines of business connected with tea gardens which may aptly be described as the nerve centre of the business. The slump in the tea garden had necessarily a cramping effect upon the activities of the company. Caught in the grip of the crisis which was anything but short-lived, the Company was forced to explore fresh fields and break new ground in its struggle for existence. Manufacture of concrete mixers and repairing work were undertaken to keep the factory in running condition. Another venture was undertaken for manufacturing refrigerators but it had proved an absolute failure, causing a lot of loss to the Company. In this predictment the Company had to lay-off some of the workers in two instalments and finally to effect retrenchment. According to the Company these measures were taken under the pressure of bona fide trade reasons. As against this the Union drew the reverse picture in rainbow colours. In the view of the Union far from there being shortage of work, overtime work was being carried on. The company had in fact a wave of prosperity. Before embarking upon an enquiry to sift the truth, I ought to touch upon the relation in which the workers and the company stood to each other. The idea seems to have struck root in labour circles that organisation of a Union by the employees has a provocative effect upon employers and all out efforts are made to reduce the Union to impotence by suppression or elimination of members who are supposed to guide and regulate its activities. In the present case no allegation appears in the workers' written statement that the management was suffering from anti-union infection or that any worker was singled out for third degree treatment on account of union activities. On this score the management has got a clean bill. The motive attributed by the Union representative for retrenchment was that the management wanted to overhaul the structure of the labour staff and re-build it according to its choice and discretion. No reasons have however been assigned why a wholesale reconstruction was contemplated. Neither in evidence nor in argument any suggestion was offered that the existing staff had failed to give satisfaction by their conduct or capacity for sustained and intensive exertions. Bearing all this in mind we have to examine the Union's contention that retrenchment was fully unwarranted. It is an incontrovertible fact that the trade position in 1952 and 1953, was precarious so far as tea gardens were concerned. Since this Company used to depend on orders from tea gardens and that was the main part of the business, the slump in the tea garden had well-nigh paralysed the company. The account books and the balance-sheets of the company were inspected by the Union sometime before the hearing of the case. Balance-sheets show that in 1951, the Company suffered loss to the extent of Rs. 32,345 and odd, in 1952 Rs. 1,01,333 and odd and in 1953 the loss amounted to Rs. 77,000 and odd. Ext. C(1) shows orders received from sources other than tea gardens. This statement does not show any deterioration. Ext. C is a statement showing the fall in orders from tea gardens and order for trailers. In 1950, the Company received orders to the extent of Rs. 7,76,117. In 1951 it rose to Rs. 11,01,045. In 1952 it dropped to Rs. 1,92,292 and in 1953 to Rs. 92,156. No orders were received in the month of April 1953, and in March orders to the extent of Rs. 5,120 were received as against orders of the value of Rs. 35,327 in the same month in 1952. Herein we can find the reason for the lay-off. It appears to me that the Company was inspired by kindly considerations so far as their workers are concerned. Retrenchment was not ordered in the first instance. The Company tried to temper the wind to the shorn lamb. Lay-off also was not ordered at a time. Two batches were laid-off by two instalments. Finally retrenchment had to be effected. The Union however regarded these measures as a crafty contrivance calculated to mask the real purpose of eliminating the old workers and importing new men in their stead. I am afraid, the Union has taken a jaundiced view of what were really benevolent measures. In the face of progressive decline of business abundantly proved in the case, I cannot subscribe to the view maintained by the Union that the closure of the business was not bona fide.

Stress was laid upon recruitment of new hands and carrying on of overtime work. According to the Union representative there was no occasion for retrenchment when there was ample work as indicated by fresh recruitment and work done overtime. In regard to the strength of the staff required by the Company, final decision must rest with the Management. It is not for the Tribunal to dictate how many men should be employed. If there is any want of bona fides or any instance of victimisation the Tribunal is no doubt competent to investigate how far the Company has acted in excess of its acknowledged rights. After the retrenchment we find that three men were recruited from outside in 1953 (vide Ext. 1). A fitter was appointed on 7th October 1953. A sweeper was employed on 28th August 1953 and the third was a cooly employed on 8th December 1953. Besides these the Company has appointed 15 machinists, four welding helpers, two machine helpers, two tinsmiths, one diesel fitter, one despatcher, one vice-man, one concrete mixer, one wet sweeper, thirteen apprentices. The Company has to take in apprentices deputed for training either by Government or other institutions. Amongst the old employees not re-employed, there are no machinists. Majority of the new recruits belong to categories not available amongst the unabsorbed workers. When the Company required services of men in the concrete mixer department, they had to look elsewhere if the unabsorbed list did not provide men whose services would be useful in that department. It does not appear that though there were men who had the same qualification as the newly appointed men, the Company ignored the claims of the old workers. We have also to bear in mind that appointments were made after the worst period of depression was over and process of revival had set in. On a survey of the entire field, I am persuaded that appointments made do not prove that the retrenchment made in November 1953 was uncalled for. At the last stage of the hearing the Union produced a long chart, Ext. 3, to prove the extent of overtime work. The Company had no overtime register. Payments were made by vouchers. The Union's figures were produced at so late a stage that the Company had no reasonable opportunity to compile figures from the vouchers for verification. Some overtime work was admittedly put in by the workers. The Union made a verbal report to the Inspector of Factories, who visited the Factory. The Inspector noticed some infraction of section 63 of the Factories Act and brought this to the notice of the Management. Inspector's letter to the Union Secretary, Ext. 5, shows that it was not considered worth while to launch a prosecution for contravention of section 63 of the Factories Act. I am inclined to think that the infringement was technical or the Inspector would have taken a serious view. This is one amongst other grounds for the view that the Union's chart relating to overtime work cannot safely be relied on. Another ground for mistrust is that the chart was admittedly prepared on the strength of oral statements made by the workers. Credulity is strained to breaking point on the Tribunal being invited to believe that the workers could revive their recollection without any aide-memoire to the extent of supplying from memory, the dates and period of overtime work performed by each of them over a period of close upon 1½ years from 16th January 1954 to 11th May 1953 as per Ext. 3. This is a feat of memory akin to a conjuring trick which I cannot persuade myself to trust. If the chart is ruled out, there remains very little to show that overtime work was carried on on a large scale. In the circumstances, I am not convinced that there was such a volume of work that retrenchment in November 1953, was uncalled for. In my view it was bona fide and not actuated by any extraneous considerations or improper motive.

Admittedly the principle of "last come, first go" was not scrupulously observed by the Company in making the retrenchment. The Union submitted a list in regard to workers who were passed over and had to yield precedence to employees junior to them (Ext. 8). The Company has dealt with the cases in Ext. F. Serial No. 4. Md. Asik is really senior to Kadir and A. K. Sikdar. He was not junior to those two as supposed by the Union. His appointment did not entail violation of the principle. Similarly serial number six, Kunja Gowala, is senior to Pannalal Choudhury. There was no violation in this instance either. Serial number 10 relates to Radhakanto and Mauzi Jana. They have both been re-absorbed. No question of discrimination arises in their case. The two named as serial number 11, have both been absorbed. In regard to the rest the Company has not satisfied the Tribunal that the principle aforesaid has been rightly departed from. A bald statement that those found guilty of misconduct or inferior in merit were passed over is not sufficient. Material which the Tribunal could readily accept should have been produced. In respect of those who have been passed over the Company must be held to have gone wrong. The senior men have not been proved by proper evidence to have forfeited their right to re-employment in preference to others junior to them in the same category. My finding therefore is that retrenchment was justified but the principle of "last come, first go" was improperly departed from in some instances. That is to be rectified.

Shri Bholaram Pathak, Sk. Ibrahim, Baidyanath, Santosh Bose, R. Rozario, Sobana, Udaynath, Gour Mohan Bhandari, Satish Ch. Bhandari, Khudiram, Khilaum, Bipin Naskar, Shane Alam, and S. C. Maity will be reinstated with full wages and dearness allowances, if any, from the date of retrenchment within seven days from the date of publication of the award in the Calcutta Gazette. The retrenched hands who have not been re-employed will get one month's basic wages by way of retrenchment relief. Involuntary unemployment relief and retrenchment relief as awarded must be paid within a month from the date of publication of the award in the Calcutta Gazette. It appears that interim relief was granted during the pendency of this reference, which is to be set off against amounts due to the workers concerned.

The 13 men who have settled their disputes with the Company and received their dues as per list, Ext. B, go out of this adjudication and will not be affected by the award.

This is my award.

DECISION.

This is an appeal against an award made by the Second Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, in a dispute between Messrs. Ebrahimji Hassanbhoy & Sons and their workmen and referred to it under order No. 3125Dis./D/10L-129/53, dated the 17th August 1953.

Following issues were referred to the Tribunal:—

(1) To what relief the workmen are entitled on account of enforced idleness for two days in a week?

(2) Pay and dearness allowance.

We propose to take up issue No. 1 first. This is a small concern manufacturing cast iron goods and employing in all 29 or 30 workmen. The management retrenched 5 workmen for want of sufficient work, and there was a strike on account of this retrenchment. The Conciliation Officer of Howrah intervened and the disputes were settled on 3rd February 1953 by the following agreement:—

It is jointly agreed that—

(1) The order of retrenchment of Kanto Hazra, and four others be withdrawn.

(2) All the workers will work 4 days in a week and remain idle for 2 days in a week for which period they will get no pay or allowances. They will get usual pay and allowances on the days they work.

(3) They will get pay at usual rate on Sundays.

(4) Normal work will be resumed from 4th February 1953 and workers will not be entitled to any pay for the period they struck work.

It was on account of this agreement that the weekly two days' lay-off without pay was introduced.

It appears that some other items of dispute were pending disposal or settlement and on 3rd March 1953, i.e., one month after the agreement the Union addressed a letter to the Conciliation Officer in which it claimed one half of wages for the involuntary unemployment of 2 days in the week. Ultimately the matter was referred to a Tribunal on 17th August 1953.

The Union submitted in its statement that this method of forced idleness was adopted to crush the trade union activities and was not in fact justified as there was sufficient amount of work necessitating the engagement of other workmen and extra hands.

The management pleaded that the forced idleness for 2 days in a week without pay was on account of the desire of the workmen to avoid retrenchment of some of the workmen, for want of work, and therefore, they cannot be allowed to challenge it now.

It is admitted that full working has been restored since June 1954. The present award was made on 4th January 1954. The learned Tribunal rejected the claim of the workmen on the ground that the agreement made on 3rd February 1953 was an agreement in conciliation proceedings to which section 19(1 and 2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, applied and the workmen were bound by it for six months and could only avoid it hereafter by giving notice as prescribed under the section. As no notice was given, the agreement was still pending and in full force and therefore the workmen could not complain about the forced idleness without pay.

The learned advocate for the Union appellant has pressed the following 3 points against the findings of the Tribunal:—

Firstly that this was not an agreement in conciliation proceedings as it was not signed; secondly that it was to last for a month only and thirdly that in fact the agreement was terminated by giving the required notice. We see no force in the contention that the agreement was not signed. Section 19 clauses 1 and 2 run thus:—

"(1) A settlement arrived at in the course of a conciliation proceeding under this Act shall come into operation on such date as is agreed upon by the parties to the dispute, and if no date is agreed upon, on the date on which the memorandum of the settlement is signed by the parties to the dispute.

(2) Such settlement shall be binding for such period as is agreed upon by the parties, and if no such period is agreed upon, for a period of six months, and shall continue to be binding on the parties after the expiry of the period aforesaid, until the expiry of two months from the date on which a notice in writing of an intention to terminate the settlement is given by one of the parties to the other party or parties to the settlement."

Under section 19(1) it is not necessary that the document shall be signed by the parties. The word "signed" has been used in that section only to indicate the time from which the agreement will be binding, if no other date is agreed upon. It is not necessary for the validation of the agreement that it should be signed. In cases where the time for the commencement of the agreement is fixed in the memoranda, the last part of the sub-section does not come into operation at all. In our opinion the absence of signature of the disputants does not necessarily by itself invalidate the agreement.

The second point argued was that the agreement was to be binding for the period of one month only. There is nothing to show that any such period was fixed. The agreement is silent in that respect. The conciliation officer forwarded the memorandum of agreement to the representative of the Union on 4th February 1953 and there was no protest that the period of one month was not mentioned therein. The consideration for the involuntary unemployment for 2 days was the cancellation of the order of retrenchment for good. It will be observed that the Union addressed a letter to the Conciliation Officer, on 3rd March 1953 (E. 2) one month thereafter, in which the plea was for half payment on the 2 days of involuntary unemployment in the week. For these reasons the plea that it was only to be binding for a month fails.

The third point was that the agreement was terminated by the notice, dated 3rd March 1953 addressed to the Assistant Labour Commissioner.

It is contended on behalf of the Union that the communication sent by the Union to the Assistant Labour Commissioner amounts to the notice required under section 19(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, to terminate the agreement. The communication was for a reference to the Tribunal and the following claims were made:—

(1) Wages to be increased.

(2) Dearness allowance to be paid.

(3) Service cards to be introduced and the employees to be insured.

(4) The days of involuntary unemployment to be paid at half rate and there should be work on all days.

It will be observed from that communication that an industrial dispute was raised with regard to the matters which were already settled by an agreement between the parties. It may necessarily follow from such a communication that the Union wanted to raise a dispute with regard to those matters which were already settled and agreed upon. But in our opinion the requirements of the notice under section 19(2) can only be fulfilled where a notice in writing of the intention to terminate the settlement is given by one of the parties to the other party or parties to the agreement. The above communication was not intended for the purpose of terminating an agreement; in fact, it avoided the agreement altogether in the sense that either existence of the agreement was denied or the binding nature of that agreement under the Act as not conceded. In either case where an existing state of affairs, which could only be terminated by notice given for that purpose, are not admitted, it cannot be said that such a communication amounts to a notice as required by section 19(2) of the Act. Where a notice is required by a stature, even where no particular form is prescribed, therefor, the essential requirements of the notice must be complied with. Here there must be an intention to terminate an existing state of affairs and where the existence of the state of affairs is denied, such a communication can hardly tantamount to a notice as required under the section. Suppose for instance, an employer who is bound under an agreement to pay certain wages, reduces the wages or the salary of a workman fixed under an agreement, will such an act by necessary implication amount to a notice of the type required? Our answer to that would be in the negative. Of course no particular form of notice is prescribed under the Act or under the Rules and no particular form 1 therefore necessary, but there should be a clear expression of an intention to terminate the settlement by a notice for that purpose to one of the parties or to the other party or parties to the settlement. It is necessary under the section that the notice should be given by one of the parties to the other party or parties to the settlement. Here even the time was not ripe for terminating it as only one month had elapsed since the agreement.

For all these reasons we are of opinion that the learned Tribunal rightly concluded that the agreement was binding between the parties and that the workmen were not entitled to any relief.

We have heard the learned advocate on merits also. The Union has failed to prove that the circumstances had changed or that there was a sufficient flow of work for which involuntary unemployment agreed upon should have been terminated. There was no evidence of employment of additional hands, or of over-time work or of increase of work-load.

The next issue related to wages and dearness allowances. The Union contended that the wages paid were inadequate and no dearness allowance had been paid by the Company. The management on the other hand contended that it had been paying consolidated pay and dearness allowance which compared favourably with other concern and further that finances of the company did not permit any further increase.

At the time of hearing before the lower Tribunal, the management had put forward a contention that wages were settled by an agreement in 5th October 1950 in concoliation proceedings and that unless the effect of the agreement was removed as a result of a notice under section 19(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, a fresh deal or decision was not available to the parties to it.

We have already dealt with the effect of wants of notice under section 19(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act in respect to the agreement of unemployment for 2 days in a week. Now we have to deal with regard to the agreement about the wages. What had actually happened in this connection was that by an agreement in conciliation proceedings, the wage scales were, or to be more precise, the wages of individual workers were fixed on 5th October 1950. This agreement also was not terminated, as required, by a notice under section 19(2) of the Act. In January 1952 the wages were altered to the advantage of the workmen and the latter accepted the change. It is very important to note here that the alteration of wages was made at a time when the time was ripe for any one of the parties to have the agreement terminated by a notice under section 19(2) of the Act. The parties then agreed to replace the previous agreement by a subsequent one. In our opinion the parties can by subsequent agreement terminate the former agreement by a only in cases when the time is ripe to terminate a settlement by two months' notice under section 19(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act and can thus by agreement dispense with the requirements of the two months' notice. The requirement of the notice is for the benefit of the other party and there is nothing to prevent him from waiving such a right by an express or implied conduct. When one contract supercedes another, the subsequent one prevails, provided it is within the power of the parties to give up the rights agreed under the earlier one. Here the position is identical, the proposed pay scale of 1952 was adopted by the workmen by accepting payments thereunder and it replaced the agreement of 1950. The 1952 pay scale had not behind it the protection of section 19 of the Industrial Disputes Act and therefore, the workmen could raise a dispute any time thereafter. The Tribunal was not precluded from finding a wage scale merely on the ground that there was an earlier agreement.

When approaching the case on the merits, however, we are faced with another difficulty. A dispute with regard to a money demand arises when one party demands something and when that demand is not complied with. Before the Tribunal, the party claiming may got whole of what one wants or may get only a part thereof. They cannot, however, get more than what they want or less than what they are actually getting. Thus if the wage be Rs. 60 a month and the claim on behalf of the workmen be for Rs. 70 a month, the Tribunal may reject the claim or allow any amount between Rs. 60 and Rs. 70. It can neither allow anything in excess of Rs. 70 or less than Rs. 60. Taking the matter in a reverse way, if the employer raises a discussion for reduction of pay from Rs. 60 to Rs. 50 the Tribunal cannot fix the wage at a figure less than Rs. 50 or in excess of Rs. 60. The actual condition and the claim, i.e., the proposed wage and the extent of the claim are the two extremes, and within this limit the Tribunal must fix an amount. If any party to a dispute fails to present a definite claim it fails to furnish sufficient material to the Tribunal to proceed to determine the wages. The Tribunal acts between the two limits, the admitted amount and the claim. The charter of demand was only the schedule to a letter sent to the labour officer. This is vague and no amount has been stated therein. The written statement of the Union is similarly of no assistance in this respect. We tried in vain to find in the written statement any reference to any document or award on the model of which, we could say the demands were formulated. The necessary assistance is not available. In these circumstance, it is not possible to decide the amount of the wages and dearness allowance.

It may be pointed out that the question of payment of dearness allowance comes in only when wages are fixed on the basis of an index figure lower than the existing index figure. If wages be fixed and be appropriate for the existing index figure, no question of payment of dearness allowances arise. Thus it will be observed that dearness allowance is not unrelated to wages.

We, therefore, dismiss the appeal. In view of the circumstances of the case there is no order as to costs.

DECISION.

This appeal is directed against an award, dated 27th April 1954 made by Shri S. C. Mukherjee, Judge, 4th Industrial Tribunal, Government of West Bengal, in an industrial dispute between Messrs. Braithwaite & Co. (India), Ltd., Calcutta, and one of their employees, Shri Brindaban Chandra Chakraborty, referred to the Tribunal by Government of West Bengal Order No. 2154Dis./D/10L-72/53, dated 12th June 1953.

Shri Brindaban Chakraborty was a clerk in the Accounts Section and he was discharged with effect from 1st September 1952 with a month's pay in lieu of notice, without assigning any reason for the termination of his services. This was practically his statement before the lower Tribunal and the Company in reply stated that the standard of work of Shri Brindaban Chakraborty was low and that he was slow.

The Tribunal held that the termination of the services of Brindaban without giving him any charge-sheet or without giving him an opportunity to explain his conduct, amounted to violation of the principles of natural justice. Then the Tribunal went into the allegations put forward by the employer and came to the conclusion that these were mistakes in the routine work which a clerk might often commit and that these did not show that Brindaban was unfit in his service. The Tribunal below accordingly ordered for his reinstatement with back wages and the Company has come up in appeal against that award.

The counsel for the Company contended that this case involved a substantial question of law inasmuch as this was not an industrial dispute because the union did not sponsor the dispute. We may, however, observe here that it has been held by a Full Bench of this Tribunal in the case of Swadeshi Cotton Mills that an individual can raise an industrial dispute (reported in 1953 L.A.C., p. 137) and we are bound by it. So we decide that Brindaban was quite competent to raise an industrial dispute. This point of law however does not entitle the parties to go into the merits of the case because this point is something quite different from the merits of the case. While arguing on the merits, the learned counsel for the company contended that the lower Tribunal approached the case from a wrong angle and dealt it from an erroneous point of view.

In this case the thing that comes out uppermost is this that Brindaban has been in the employ of this company for six years and the company states that his work had not been up to the standard and that he was slow and left arrears, yet no explanation was ever called for from him nor was he ever asked to improve himself after being pointed out his defects. There is no written record of anything of the kind. During the course of the trial the Company produce the Accounts Book in the hand-writing of Brindaban and pointed out that there were corrections here and there and that each item he made himself. The lawyer appearing for the workman contended that the system of accounting had been such that corrections had to be made in the accounts after some of the vouchers were corrected. These alleged mistakes or alterations were never shown to Brindaban while he was in the witness box, to obtain his explanation. The net result of all this is, that Brindaban is losing his job on grounds which he had never an opportunity to explain while in his service and while his case was being investigated by the Tribunal, no opportunity was given to him to explain what the employers considered his infirmities. Under these circumstances if the lower Tribunal has in its discretion held that Brindaban ought to be reinstated, we find that there is no substantial question of law involved in it. When a Tribunal is authorised to make an order in its discretion and has taken all the matters into its consideration and has come to a decision that a workman should be reinstated we fail to see that there is any substantial question of law involved in it or that we should interfere with the discretion of the Tribunal so exercised especially when there is ample evidence to substantiate that conclusion of the Tribunal.

In the result, the appeal is dismissed with cost which we assess at Rs. 50.

DECISION.

The only question involved in this appeal is whether the permission granted under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, can be challenged in proceedings under section 33A of that Act on the ground that one or some of the parties are not bound by the permission given under section 33.

The facts in this case are that on 16th January 1953 the company filed an application seeking permission of the Tribunal to terminate the services of the employees of the Blowing Department from 1st April 1953. Notice of the application was served on the persons concerned and on their authority Workers' Union filed a written statement through its Assistant Secretary. On the date of hearing the employees' representatives, Shri Somendra Nath Tagore, President, and Shri Jyotish Chatterjee and the General Secretary and three others appeared for the Union and started negotiations. On the 16th April 1953 they applied for further time. In the meanwhile the negotiations had fallen through, but were again resumed and the parties came to terms which were embodied in the petition of compromise. It was signed on 15th June 1953. On the 4th June 1953 a general meeting of the blowers passed a resolution that whereas it was a fact that the committee of the Albert David Workers' Union had miserably failed to take proper steps in time as a result of which all the workers have been thrown out of employment and as the committee has failed to conduct the case of the blowers before the Tribunal, the General Committee resolves to sever all connection with the Albert David Workers' Union and they named five workers in the resolution to represent the blowers before the Tribunal and to conduct the case. A copy of the resolution was forwarded to the General Secretary and he was requested to hand over the relevant papers regarding the case of the blowers before the Tribunal to Shri N. Sarkar within three days from 6th June 1953. Thereafter Shri Das Gupta, advocate for the workmen, filed a petition of compromise signed by five representatives as well as by himself as advocate for the workers of the Blowing Department. The Tribunal finally granted permission to terminate the services of the workers in the terms of the petition of compromise. After the payments under the compromise were made, 18 out of the total of 142 workmen made the present petition on the 21st November 1953, stating that the workmen who had signed the agreement were not their representatives and that the petitioners themselves were not signatories to the agreement and that the Albert David Workers' Union, who represents these workmen, was not the signatory to the agreement and that the same was not binding on them.

The learned lawyer for the Union strenuously contends that the applicants are not bound by this agreement and therefore permission to their dismissal under section 33 pursuant to the agreement is not binding on them. If this contention is correct, it would follow that the application under section 33A which was under disposal of the lower Tribunal would be maintainable as discharge of the workmen in violation of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The question to be determined before us is whether in proceedings under section 33A the permission given under section 33 can be called into question on such grounds, as in this case, that the applicant is not bound by the compromise on which that permission is based. The reason is that an application under section 33A is maintainable only in cases where express permission in writing of the Tribunal is not obtained. Section 33A comes into operation where something is done which is prohibited under section 33 and where no necessary permission in writing has been obtained. In this case it is admitted that in view of the order based on the compromse, such a permission was given. The only objection to the validity of this permission is that the applicant-workmen were not properly represented and therefore the permission is ineffective with regard to them. The award under which the permission was given and which was based on an agreement could have been challenged in proper proceedings by way of revision or appeal. The fact that permission was actually given with regard to these men is sufficient to take the case out of the operation of section 33A. If there was any defect for want of compliance with any rule, procedure or matter of representation, that ground must be raised in proceedings under section 33. The order passed under section 33 is a binding order as between the parties concerned and the Tribunal dealing with any application under section 33A cannot sit on appeal on an authority or order of a Tribunal acting under section 33. If the order under section 33 is bad and is inapplicable to the present applicants for want or defect in their representation that order must be set aside in appropriate proceedings relating thereto. The Tribunal passing the order under that section may in an appropriate case reconsider that order if it has an authority to reconsider the matter in review or in any case, that order can be challenged by an appeal. But so long as that order, permitting the company to act under it, exists, a complaint or petition under section 33A is not competent.

Shri Acharya, appearing for the workmen, contends that in proceedings under section 33 the labour law allows personal representation and the act of the Union or a body of persons belonging to the same category of workmen or otherwise cannot be binding on the applicants. We may state that a bad or invalid order and one without jurisdiction is liable to be set aside, but only a competent Tribunal seized of the matter is authorised to say whether a particular order is competent or not. In our opinion, it is outside the province of a Tribunal proceeding under section 33A to hear and determine the objection to an order giving permission under section 33. It is for that Tribunal giving permission under section 33 or to the authority sitting in appeal or revision thereto to decide the validity or otherwise of an order under section 33. So far as the present permission is concerned, the applicants are parties to those proceedings on the face of the records. These persons had notice of the proceedings under section 33, they kept themselves silent throughout and now have taken proceedings under section 33A, without having the order under section 33 set aside. So long that order exists, it is binding and in our opinion it cannot be challenged in proceedings under section 33A. At one time it was considered that a bad order or an order without jurisdiction or an invalid order may be challenged in subsequent or collateral proceedings but it is now established that even a bad and invalid order can become final between the parties and bind them if it is not set aside in appropriate proceedings. We agree with the learned Tribunal that the conduct of these applicants in submitting to the order under section 33 and now their objections disregarding the same in proceedings under section 33A in spite of the knowledge of the proceedings under section 33 is not bona fide. We, therefore, dismiss this.

DECISION.

An application under section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, was made by the company seeking permission to discharge the four workmen in the petition on the ground that on 9th November 1953, they incited others to resort to a pen-down strike, intimidated other workmen and also made speeches and committed other acts of subversive nature, and that on 10th and 11th, they repeated the acts and made forced entry into the office and were also instrumental to a stay-out strike and similar activities after the 13th. The company after an enquiry found them guilty and suspended them pending permission from the Tribunal for their dismissal. The employees denied these allegations. The learned Tribunal enquired into the matter and gave the permission sought. With regard to charge-sheets, the Tribunal has held that they were offered to them but they refused to accept them and they were therefore sent to the President, and the Tribunal has held that the charge-sheets were received by the President. The Tribunal further holds that the story given out by the workmen that they had no knowledge of the charge-sheets is incorrect.

The learned Counsel for the workmen contends that the only substantial question of law involved in this appeal is that the Tribunal has in its order added that the "Government must be informed before actual dismissal". He submits that a judge who considers himself under the authority of the executive and considers that the Government should be informed before actual dismissal, is not conscious of his own authority and cannot be trusted to deal with the case justly and fairly. Shri K. B. Bose, appearing for the company, suggested that this might have been due to imperfect appreciation of Ordinance which had been passed only few days back. But even assuming that condition to be unnecessary and uncalled for, we are unable to hold that the learned Tribunal has not appreciated the case as it should. If a judge rightly or wrongly considers himself bound to adopt a certain course and if that course adopted by him does not affect the merits of the case, it cannot be said that justice has not been done in the case. We see from the order that the Tribunal has considered the evidence and come to the conclusion that the company was justified in applying under section 33 for the dismissal of the workmen concerned. Therefore, no substantial question of law is involved in this appeal and the appeal is incompetent. The appeal is accordingly dismissed but in view of the circumstances of the case we make no order as to costs.

ANNEXURE.

Scheme for Mutualisation under section 6C of the Insurance Act, 1938.

(1) In this Scheme, the following words and phrases shall have the meanings, respectively, as hereinafter mentioned:—

"The Act" shall mean the Insurance Act, 1938.

"Appointed Date" shall mean such date, after the date of sanction of this Scheme by the Central Government, as shall be notified in that behalf by the Original Company.

"Original Company" shall mean the Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Company, Limited, at at present constituted.

"Mutual Company" shall mean the Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Company, Limited, as re-constituted under the provisions of this Scheme as a Mutual Company.

"Policy-holder" shall include, in the case of policies of assurance, the proposer or each of the proposers thereunder, and in the case of annuity contracts, the purchaser or each of the purchasers thereof: Provided (a) that a policy-holder who has assigned or transferred the whole of his interest in the policy to any person or persons other than a trustee or trustees, or his employers, in accordance with the rules of any Provident Fund Scheme, or any Staff Insurance or other Scheme intended for the benefit of the employees shall not be deemed to be a policy-holder, and (b) that a policy shall be deemed to be subsisting so long as it is in force according to the conditions thereof, and has not lapsed without securing a paid-up value or been cancelled, and the sum assured under the policy has not become payable or in the case of an annuity contract, the annuity has not ceased.

(2) The Oriental Government Security Life Assurance Company, Limited, shall, as from the appointed date, cease to be a company having a share capital, and shall be re-constituted under the provisions of section 6C of the Act as a company limited by guarantee, and not having a share capital.

*(3) The Memorandum and Articles of Association annexed hereto shall be the Memorandum and Articles of Association of the Company as re-constituted.

(4) As from the appointed date, the following consequences shall ensue:—

(a) All the properties, assets and moneys of the Original Company representing its share capital and all its funds of various kinds shall be taken over by the Mutual Company and all the liabilities under policies and all other liabilities of the Original Company shall be taken over by the Mutual Company.

(b) The Directors of the Original Company shall continue to function as Directors of the Mutual Company until the first Annual General Meeting of the Mutual Company when the first Directors of the Mutual Company, except those who have been elected under the provisions of section 48 of the Act, shall be elected in the manner hereinafter provided.

(c) That the Mutual Company shall create and issue to the holders of the 3,000 shares of the face value of Rs. 200 each of the Original Company, 3,000 Debentures of the face value of Rs. 8,800 each, promising to pay to each Debenture-holder the said sum of Rs. 8,800 with interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum but without giving any charge upon its funds or assets and every holder of the said 3,000 shares shall receive one such Debenture in lieu of every one share held by him and in full satisfaction and discharge thereof; so that the 3,000 shares of the face value of Rs. 200 each shall stand converted into 3,000 Debentures of the face value of Rs. 8,800 each carrying interest at the said rate of 4 per cent. per annum.

(d) That the interest to be paid on the Debentures for the three years succeeding a valuation shall not exceed 10 per cent. of the surplus disclosed at that valuation in terms of section 49 of the Act, and in case there shall arise any short-fall or deficiency in payment of interest on the Debentures during any triennium succeeding a valuation by reason of the 10 per cent. of the valuation surplus not being sufficient to pay interest on the Debentures at the said rate of 4 per cent. per annum, such short-fall or deficiency shall be made good and pait out of the excess, if any, of the diversion of 10 per cent. or any smaller percentage, of the valuation surplus disclosed at the succeeding valuation or valuations, remaining after providing for interest at the said rate on the Debentures for the succeeding three years.

(5) All policy-holders of the Original Company whose policies are subsisting on the appointed date and all policy-holders who shall subsequently hold policies issued by the Mutual Company, shall become and be deemed to have become members of the Mutual Company, in the case of the existing policy-holders of the Original Company from the appointed date and in the case of future policy-holders of the Mutual Company from the date they shall become policy-holders of the Company, and each of them shall guarantee to contribute to the assets of the Mutual Company in the event of its being wound up, whilst he is a member or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the Mutual Company contracted before he ceased to be a member, and the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories amongst themselves, such amount as may be required not exceeding one rupee.

(6) That in addition every holder of the said 3,000 Debentures of the face value of Rs. 8,800 each of the Mutual Company shall agree to contribute to the assets of the Mutual Company, in the event of its being wound up while his Debenture or Debentures shall remain unpaid and unredeemed, for the payment of the debts and liabilities of the Mutual Company contracted before he ceased to be a Debenture-holder, and the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for adjustment of the rights of the contributories amongst themselves, such amount as may be required not exceeding Rs. 200 for every Debenture held by him.

(7) That 15 per cent. of the surplus disclosed at any triennial valuation shall be utilised to pay interest on the Debentures at the said rate of 4 per cent. per annum, and the balance shall be carried to a Sinking Fund, subject to the provisions of clause 4(d), which fund shall be invested in any of the securities authorised by the law for the time being for the investment of Trust Funds, or on deposits with Scheduled Banks, or in the purchase of the said Debentures. All Debentures so purchased shall be immediately cancelled and withdrawn.

(8) That subject to the next succeeding clause, at the end of 20 years all the then outstanding Debentures shall be paid off and redeemed at their said face value of Rs. 8,800 provided however that the Company shall have the right at the end of 10 years, and if such right shall not be then exercised, at the end of 15 years, if so decided by an ordinary resolution passed at a meeting of the members only of the Mutual Company and specially called for the purpose, to pay off all the outstanding Debentures at the said face value.

(9) In case at the end of the period of 20 years, the total amount then standing to the credit of the Sinking Fund shall be more than what shall be required to pay off all the then outstanding Debentures of the said face value, the balance shall be credited to the Life Insurance Fund of the Mutual Company but if the amount shall be insufficient to pay off all the then outstanding Debentures at the said face value, as many Debentures as can be redeemed out of the Sinking Fund (which shall be drawn by lot) shall be redeemed, and subsequently at each succeeding triennial valuation, the remaining Debentures shall be redeemed (drawn by lot) out of 15 per cent. of the disclosed surplus after deduction of interest on the Debentures outstanding from time to time until all the said Debentures are redeemed.

(10) The Board of Directors of the Mutual Company shall consist of twelve Directors, who shall be elected as follows:—

(a) Three Directors shall be elected by the policy-holders under the provisions of section 48 of the Act.

(b) Five Directors shall be elected by the Debenture-holders, and be styled as "Debenture-holders' Directors."

(c) The remaining four Directors shall be elected by the members of the Mutual Company, and be styled "Members' Directors."

(d) For every reduction of 600 in the number of outstanding Debentures subsisting on the books of the Mutual Company, there will be a reduction at the next ordinary General Meeting of the Company of one in the number of Debenture-holders' Directors, and a corresponding increase of one in the number of Members' Directors. For this purpose, only the number 600 or any multiples thereof but not any fractions thereof shall be taken into account.

(e) After all the said 3,000 Debentures shall be redeemed, the entire Board of the Mutual Company, except for the Directors elected under section 48 of the Act, shall consist of Members' Directors only.

(f) The qualification of a Debenture-holders' Director shall be the holding in his own name of at least 10 Debentures of the Mutual Company.

(g) The qualification of a Members' Director shall be the holding of a policy or policies of life assurance issued by the Original Company or by the Mutual Company assuring an aggregate sum of at least Rs. 10,000, exclusive of any bonus, which policies are kept in force for the full sum assured or else a policy or policies which has or have acquired an aggregate paid-up value of not less than Rs. 10,000 exclusive of any bonus, or else the holding of any annuity or annuities on human life the aggregate amount payable under which shall not be less than Rs. 1,200 per annum.

(h) At the first ordinary General Meeting of the Mutual Company to be held not more than six months from the appointed date, all the Directors except the three Directors elected under the provisions of section 48 of the Act, shall vacate office and thereupon five Debenture-holders' Directors and four Members' Directors shall be elected by the Debenture-holders and members of the Mutual Company, respectively.

(i) At every subsequent ordinary General Meeting of the Mutual Company, one-third of the number of Debenture-holders' Directors or if their number is not a multiple of three, the number nearest to one-third, shall retire from office and their successors elected by the Debenture-holders. Likewise one-third of the number of Members' Directors, or if their number is not a multiple of three the number nearest to one-third, shall retire from office, and their successors elected by the members. In the case of any reduction at any subsequent ordinary General Meeting of the Company of the number of Debenture-holders' Directors, if there is only one such Director retiring by rotation at that time, his office shall not be filled up. If there are two such Directors retiring by rotation at that time, then out of the retiring Directors only the requisite number to be re-elected after deduction of the number to be reduced shall be re-elected. In the case of any increase in the number of Members' Directors, following a corresponding reduction in the number of Debenture-holders' Directors, the members, in addition to filling up the places of the Members' Directors retiring by rotation, shall also elect additional Members' Directors equal to the increase in the number of Members' Directors following any reduction of the number of Debenture-holders' Directors.

(j) In the case of Debenture-holders' Directors, those to retire either by rotation or consequent upon any reduction in the number of Debenture-holders' Directors shall be those who have been longest in office since their last election, and as between those who have been equally long in office as Debenture-holders' Directors since their last election, those to retire shall (in default of any agreement between them) be determined by lot. Likewise in the case of Members' Directors those to retire by rotation shall be those who have been longest in office since their last election as Members' Directors, and as between those who have been equally long in office as Members' Directors since their last election, those to retire shall (in default of any agreement between them) be determined by lot.

(k) Every Debenture-holder who shall be a policy-holder of the Mutual Company shall be entitled to vote at the election of Members' Directors also in addition to voting on the election of Debenture-holders' Directors.

(l) Every Debenture-holder who shall hold the necessary policy qualification for qualifying to be a Members' Director shall be entitled to stand for election as and to be a Members' Director.

That the Memorandum of Association of the Company be altered as follows, viz., that in lieu of the 5th paragraph of the Memorandum the following two paragraphs be substituted:—

"5th. Every member of the Company agrees to contribute to the assets of the Company in the event of its being wound up while he is a member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the Company contracted before he ceased to be a member, and the costs, charges and expenses of winding up and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, such amount as may be required not exceeding one rupee.

6th. Every holder of the 3,000 Debentures of the face value of Rs. 8,800 each of the Company agrees to contribute to the assets of the Company in the event of its being wound up while his Debenture or Debentures shall remain unpaid and unredeemed for the payment of the debts and liabilities of the Company contracted before he ceased to be a Debenture-holder, and the costs, charges and expenses of winding up and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, such amount as may be required not exceedings Rs. 200 for every Debenture held by him."

The aforesaid alterations do come into force from the appointed date mentioned in the said Scheme.

to amend the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941, for the purposes and in the manner hereinafter appearing; Ben. Act VI of 1941.

It is hereby enacted in the Sixth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Act, 1955.

(2) This section shall come into force at once; sections 3 and 14 shall be deemed to come into force immediately on the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Amendment) Ordinance, 1955, ceasing to operate and the remaining sections shall come into force on such date or dates as the State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint. West Ben. Ord. VI of 1955.

Amendment of section 2 of Ben. Act VI of 1941.

2. In section 2 of the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) Act, 1941 (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), after clause (b), the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

'(1b) "certified dealer" means a dealer to whom a special certificate has been granted under sub-section (3) of section 7A;'.

Amendment of section 3A.

3. In section 3A of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1), for the words "a person to be the Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes (hereinafter referred to as the Additional Commissioner)" the words "one or more persons to be an Additional Commissioner or Additional Commissioners of Commercial Taxes" shall be substituted;

The Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Bill, 1955.

(Clauses 4—6.)

(b) in sub-section (2), for the words "The Additional Commissioner" the words "An Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes" shall be substituted;

(c) in sub-section (3), for the words "the Additional Commissioner" the words "an Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes" shall be substituted;

(d) in sub-section (4),—

(i) for the words "the Additional Commissioner", wherever they occur, the words "an Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes" shall be substituted;

(ii) after the words "in sub-section (2)" the following words shall be added, namely:—

", or may transfer any such case or matter from an Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes competent to deal with the same to another Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes so competent";

(e) in sub-section (5), for the words "The Additional Commissioner" the words "An Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 4.

4. Clause (b) of sub-section (5) of section 4 of the said Act shall be omitted.

Insertion of new section.

5. After section 4 of the said Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"4A. Provision against evasion of tax by unregistered dealers. If in the opinion of the State Government there is any appreciable evasion of tax in respect of any goods, then the State Government may issue a notification specifying such goods (hereinafter referred to as notified goods), and with effect from the date of such notification, every dealer who imports into West Bengal, or manufactures or produces such goods for sale and who is not liable to pay tax under sub-section (2) or sub-section (4) of section 4 or whose liability has ceased under sub-section (3) of that section shall be liable to pay tax on all sales of such notified goods:

Provided that, in the case of cottage industry products, the State Government may, by general or special order, exempt from the provisions of this section dealers selling notified goods produced by himself or by members of his family.".

Amendment of section 5.

6. In section 5 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (2), for the words "that part of a dealer's gross turnover" the words ", in the case of a dealer who is liable to pay tax under section 4, that part of his gross turnover" shall be substituted;

(b) after sub-section (2), the following sub-section shall be added, namely:—

"(3) In this Act the expression "taxable turnover", in the case of a dealer who is liable to pay tax under section 4A, means that part of his gross turnover in respect of the notified goods during any period which remains after deducting therefrom his turnover during the period on—

(a) sales of such notified goods as are proved to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to have been purchased by him from registered or certified dealers; and

(b) four and one-half per centum of the balance remaining after making the deductions allowed by clause (a).".

The Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Bill, 1955.

(Clauses 7—9.)

Insertion of new section.

7. After section 7 of the said Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

"7A. (1) No dealer shall, while being liable to pay tax under section 4A, sell any notified goods unless he obtains a special certificate from the prescribed authority:

Special certificates for dealers liable to pay tax under section 4A.

Provided that a dealer carrying on business of selling such goods at the commencement of the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Act, 1955 shall be allowed one month from such commencement to obtain a special certificate.

(2) Every dealer required by sub-section (1) to obtain a special certificate shall make application in this behalf in the prescribed manner to the prescribed authority.

(3) If the said authority is satisfied that an application for special certificate is in order he shall, in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed, grant a special certificate to the applicant in the prescribed form..

(4) The Commissioner may, from time to time, amend any special certificate in accordance with the information furnished under section 16 or otherwise received.

(5) The Commissioner may, for good or sufficient reasons, demand from a dealer or person, who has applied for or has already obtained a special certificate under this Act or is found to be importing or attempting to import notified goods into West Bengal for sale without being registered or without obtaining or applying for a special certificate, reasonable security for the proper payment of tax payable by him under this Act.

(6) When any dealer has been convicted or has paid composition money under section 23, in respect of any contravention of the provisions of this section the Commissioner shall grant a special certificate to such dealer and such special certificate shall take effect as if it had been granted under sub-section (3) on the dealer's application.

(7) When any business, in respect of which a special certificate has been granted to a dealer on an application made, has been discontinued, the Commissioner shall cancel such special certificate.".

Amendment of section 10.

8. In section 10 of the said Act, for the word "registered", wherever it occurs, the words "registered or certified" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 11.

9. In section 11 of the said Act,—

(a) in sub-section (1), for the word "registered", wherever it occurs, the words "registered or certified" shall be substituted;

(b) in sub-section (2), for the words "but has failed to get himself registered," the words "but has failed to get himself registered or to obtain a special certificate, as the case may be," shall be substituted;

(c) in the second proviso to sub-section (4),—

(i) for the words "under sub-section (4a) of section 7" the words "under sub-section (4a) of section 7 or under sub-section (5) of section 7A" shall be substituted;

(ii) in clause (i), for the words "under clause (i) of that sub-section" the words "under clause (i) of sub-section (4a) of section 7 or under sub-section (5) of section 7A" shall be substituted; and

(iii) in clause (ii), for the words "of that sub-section" the words "of sub-section (4a) of section 7" shall be substituted.

The Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Second Amendment) Bill, 1955.

(Clauses 10—14.)

Amendment of section 13.

10. In section 13 of the said Act, for the word "registered" the words "registered or certified" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 22.

11. In section 22 of the said Act after clause (aa) of sub-section (1), the following clauses shall be inserted, namely:—

"(aaa) sells notified goods in contravention of sub-section (1) of section 7A; or (aaaa) fails to furnish the security demanded under sub-section (5) of section 7A; or".

Amendment of section 26.

12. In section 26 of the said Act,—

(a) in clause (e), after the words "section 7 or section 8" the words ", or for special certificate under section 7A" shall be inserted; and

(b) after clause (f), the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

"(ff) the procedure for and other matters incidental to the granting of special certificates under section 7A and the form of such certificates;".

Amendment of the Schedule.

13. In the Schedule to the said Act,—

(a) in item 8 the word ", sugar" shall be omitted; and

(b) the following items shall be omitted, namely:—

"23. Gold ornaments manufactured from bullion or specie.	When sold by the manufacturer who charges separately for the value of the gold and the cost of manufacture.
44. Matches	.... ".

Continuance.

14. Any appointment made, any proceedings taken, any order passed, any act or anything whatsoever done under the said Act as amended by the Bengal Finance (Sales Tax) (Amendment) Ordinance, 1955, shall, upon the said Ordinance ceasing to operate, be deemed to have been made, taken, passed, or done under the said Act as amended by section 3 of this Act as if section 3 of this Act had come into force on the 26th day of May, 1955. West Ben. Ord. VI of 1955.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

At present importing dealers who sell goods worth less than Rs.10,000 a year are not liable to pay sales tax on sales of such goods. They were kept outside the scope of the tax as their revenue yielding capacity was considered not to be worth the trouble and the cost required for taxing them. Experience shows that this exemption limit has been utilised by unscrupulous dealers in certain trades for avoidance of sales tax by making the imports in different names, fictitious or real, so that the aggregate imports in any one name do not exceed the exemption limit.

The object of this Bill is to plug this loophole by bringing every importing dealer in such a trade within the purview of the Act and to bring under taxation three items which are now exempt, viz., sugar, matches and gold ornaments.

Power is also taken to appoint more than one Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes to cope with increased work.

WEST BENGAL LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY SECRETARIAT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1925L.A.—18th August, 1955.—The following report of the Joint Select Committee on the West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955, with the Bill embodying amendments recommended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information:—

REPORT OF THE JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE WEST BENGAL LAND REFORMS BILL, 1955.

We, the members of the Joint Select Committee to which the West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955, was referred have considered the Bill and we have the honour to submit our Report with the Bill as amended by us annexed.

1. The Joint Select Committee held 11 sittings and finished their deliberations on 3rd August, 1955. As the Committee could not finish their deliberations before 30th June, 1955, the date fixed for submitting their Report, we crave leave to submit the Report after the expiry of the time.

2. The main changes which the Joint Select Committee have made in the Bill, are indicated below.

Clause 2.—(a) A definition of "Personal cultivation" has been inserted in the place of "bona fide cultivator".

(b) A new definition of "Raiyat" has been substituted.

Clauses 4, 5 and 6.—It has been made clear that a raiyat would be the full owner of a holding which would be heritable and transferable, subject to certain restrictions in the interest of agriculture.

It has been also provided that a raiyat shall not be entitled to hold more than 25 acres of land excluding the homestead and tank fisheries and that in the case of Co-operative Farming Societies, a society would be entitled to hold land not exceeding 25 acres per member thereof and that the limit of 25 acres shall not apply to the intermediaries who have retained lands under clauses (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j) of sub-section (1) of section 6 of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953, only in respect of any land so retained by them.

Clause 12.—An appeal to the Munsif having local jurisdiction has been provided.

Clause 16A.—A new clause 16A has been added providing for cases of partition among co-sharers so that no share can be less than the standard area.

Clause 17.—A new clause makes it clear that clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section (4) of section 4 will not apply in the case of the holding of a raiyat cultivated by bargadars.

Clause 17A.—The proportion of produce to be divided between the raiyat and the bargadar has been fixed at 50 : 50 when plough, cattle, manure and seed are supplied by the raiyat and at 60 : 40 in other cases.

Clause 18.—This clause has been recast as a consequence of amendment of other clauses.

Clause 20.—An appeal to the Munsif having local jurisdiction has been provided.

Clause 25.—The principles to be followed in determining the revenue-rates have been embodied in the Act itself instead of being formulated by rules.

Clause 30.—The scale of rent has been revised and the clause recast; homestead to the extent of an area of 1 bigha has been excluded from assessment of revenue.

Clause 40.—The Government may order consolidation on the application of any raiyats but shall not do so unless at least two-thirds of the raiyats agree.

Clause 44.—It has been provided that any seven or more raiyats may form themselves into a Co-operative Farming Society. It has been provided that a Co-operative Farming Society shall not be entitled to acquire land independently apart from the land of the raiyats which would vest in it.

Clause 49A.—A new clause has been inserted embodying the principles on which the redistribution of surplus land should be made.

3. Other changes would appear from the annexed Bill where they have been shown in loco.

4. The Bill was published in the Calcutta Gazette, Extraordinary, on Friday, December 10, 1954.

5. We do not think that the Bill has been so altered by us as to require republication and we recommend that the Bill be passed as now amended.

CALCUTTA,
The 11th August, 1955.

*Signed subject to a Minute of Dissent annexed.

NOTE.—(1) Dr. B. C. Roy, Chief Minister, was elected Chairman of the Joint Select Committee.

(2) The signatures of Sj. Natendra Nath Das, Sj. Hemanta Kumar Basu, Sj. Sasadhar Kar, Sj. Umesh Chandra Mandal and Sj. Saroj Ranjan Chattopadhyay were not received till the time of the printing of this report.

(3) The signatures of Sj. Natendra Nath Das and Sj. Sasadhar Kar were subsequently received.

Minute of Dissent by Sj. Nirmal Chandra Bhattacharyya, M.L.C.

My note of dissent relates to clause 17A(1)(b). Under clause 17A(1) the produce of any land cultivated by a bargadar shall be divided as between the bargadar and the person whose land he cultivates in the proportion of 50:50, in case where plough, cattle, manure and seed necessary for cultivation are supplied by the person owning the land. In all other cases, it has been provided, the proportion shall be 60:40 for the bargadar and the owner, respectively. My contention is that the proportion decided upon in the latter case, viz., 60:40, is rather unfair to the bargadar. For his labour and investment in the shape of supply of plough, cattle, manure and seed he deserves a larger return. In this case the produce that the land yields is entirely the result of the bargadar's enterprise and the risk that he undertakes by investing in plough, cattle, seed and manure. Adequate recognition of his services to land points to a more favourable proportion so far as the bargadar is concerned. I would, therefore, suggest that in clause 17A(1)(b) the proportion for the bargadar and the owner, respectively, should be laid down as 66 2/3:33 1/3.

It should also be remembered in this connection that the proportion that I have suggested actually prevails in some parts of West Bengal. It would be unfair and unjust on the part of the legislature to deprive the bargadars of a customary right which they have been enjoying for quite a long time.

Minute of Dissent by Sj. Tarapada Bandyopadhyay, M.L.A.

It must be admitted that the Joint Select Committee on the Land Reforms Bill made sincere and sustained efforts to make the Bill as good and helpful as possible. All the members, especially the Chairman Dr. Roy, were open to conviction and had the courage of conviction. Individual and party hobbies, although visible to some extent at the initial stage, rapidly died down and gave way to practical considerations and the realities of the situation. The defects and shortcomings, if any, that have persisted up to the end, are due to want of proper knowledge and experience of the facts about the real difficulties, needs and requirements of the people who will be affected by the provisions of the Land Reforms Bill.

Although the barga system has been retained, still the proportion of shares prescribed for the bargadar and the owner cannot be considered as fair or workable. In an anxiety to simplify matters, the scope of contract between the parties as regards the shares of the produce has been given a go by, and a fixed proportion has been prescribed in all cases without any regard for the amounts of labour and expenses involved in the matter of different crops and also in respect of different classes of land. Again, the proportion prescribed is unduly in favour of the bargadar. We must deal out fair, square and impartial treatment to all concerned without any distinction between class and class. It must be remembered that the middle class people of West Bengal are as important, and deserve as much careful and generous treatment, as the peasants and labourers.

The term "personal cultivation" was brought into the scene when it was provisionally decided to abolish the institution of the barga system. But the idea of personal cultivation persisted even after the Committee revised its opinion and agreed to retain the barga system of cultivation. Clause 4, sub-clauses (4)(b) and (4)(c) will unnecessarily create some confusion about the position of the raiyats who will cease to have, or fail to take to, personal cultivation, as defined in clause 2, sub-clause (3). Of course, the new clause 17 comes to the rescue of such owners. So, when all these provisions are read together, the conclusion seems to me irresistible that a raiyat who cultivates his lands under the barga system will not lose his lands under clause 4, sub-clauses (4)(b) and (4)(c). I think this position should be clarified by properly redrafting clause 4, specially its sub-clauses (4)(b) and (4)(c), and by dropping the new clause 17. Any circumlocution should be avoided.

All cases of gifts have been omitted from the scope of pre-emption. I think this will lead to avoidance of pre-emption even in cases of out and out sales by simply effecting sales in the garb of gifts. Moreover, keeping all gifts out of the reach of the right of pre-emption will introduce into the holding undesirable persons from beyond the scene of the co-shares. So, it is desirable that except in the case of gifts for charitable purposes or gifts to near relatives, a co-sharer should be allowed to pre-empt lands transferred under deeds of gift. There are already such provisions in section 26F of the Bengal Tenancy Act.

The new clause 16A(1) effecting partition of properties has been unnecessarily introduced. Although it has always been the law that partition of properties can be effected without any document, registered or unregistered, an innovation is sought to be introduced that partition henceforward will have to be effected either by a registered deed or under a decree of the court. This will cause hardship in many cases. Again, there cannot be any practical sense in circumscribing the size of the partitioned holdings. This will unnecessarily interfere with the acquisition of lands by inheritance. In the face of very limited stock of land in West Bengal, no area of land in the possession of an individual can be called too small. Moreover the urge of mutual interest and mutual adjustments automatically check, as far as practicable, unnecessary and harmful fragmentation of land. An individual having a small parcel of land may, in near future, acquire fresh lands. So, this new clause 16A(1) should be omitted altogether.

The proposed sub-clause (2) of clause 18 is unnecessarily harsh. It smacks of something like vindictiveness. An owner who requires khas possession of any land, cultivated by a bargadar for the time being, bona fide for bringing it under personal cultivation, can be restored to khas possession thereof by terminating barga cultivation. But provision is here made that if the owner fails to bring the land in question under personal cultivation within two years of the termination of barga cultivation, the prescribed authority should sell it. There is even no qualification that this disastrous consequence will follow only if the land has not been brought under personal cultivation without any reasonable cause. A man sincerely wishing and trying to bring such land under personal cultivation, may, nevertheless, not succeed in doing so for various unforeseen circumstances beyond his control. Such a man should not be punished, at least so drastically. This sub-clause (2) should be thoroughly recast and rewritten. I think the purpose of justice will be served if such a man is required to properly compensate the outgoing bargadar and to return the land to him for barga cultivation, in cases when he has failed to bring the land under personal cultivation without any reasonable cause.

I must say that the provisions as regards determination of rent (revenue) rates and assessment of revenue are extremely unrealistic. These are nothing but a risky experiment in the unknown void without the help of any data. This experiment is sure to give us preposterous results. The procedure laid down will involve sheer waste of time and money. For the present, we should be better advised to keep intact the present rentals with a scope for alteration thereof by either the Government or the raiyat where, in any particular case, the rental may be challenged as lower or higher than the prevailing average rate in the locality. A Rent or Revenue Commission should be appointed thoroughly to investigate into the conditions of rent in Bengal and to give its suggestions and recommendations in the matter. Government should bring in legislation as regards rent (revenue), if necessary, in the light of those recommendations. So far as a poor country like West Bengal is concerned, the rent rate for agricultural lands should be as low as possible so that price of staple food may always be within the reach of even the lowest income group.

The proposal to consolidate all the lands in the possession of a particular individual throughout West Bengal into a single holding is unnecessary and fraught with practical difficulties. This idea should be abandoned. Assessment of revenue on a slab system is undesirable. It would always make the State's land revenue fluctuate. The provision that the entire holding excepting the homestead portion shall be sold for the realisation of arrears of revenue is unnecessary, and hard for the raiyat. This would, in many cases, make him lose his entire lands to his utter ruin. Provisions should be made that only such portion of the holding should be put up to sale as is barely necessary for realising the decretal dues, proper regard being had to the price of lands for the time being. Ample discretion should be given to the certificate officers in this matter. No idea as to any sanctity of the entire holding should be allowed to ruin the unwary, illiterate and poor raiyats. In many cases sales take place without proper service of the processes and without the knowledge of the judgment-debtors. Sale of portions of the holding of a raiyat by his creditors for their money claims cannot be avoided. Again, in my opinion, a raiyat should not have to pay any revenue for at least 10 bighas of his lands. This will make his bare maintenance easy and almost assured.

New clause 49A has not been happily drafted. In my view, in the matter of redistribution of lands, preference should always be given to bona fide cultivators having no land. A bona fide cultivator having less land should be preferred to one possessing more land. As the State will not have sufficient land at its disposal so as to give land to each and every landless cultivator or to those who have very small areas of land, it will have to make selection as amongst rival candidates. In such cases, other things being equal, preference should be given to those cultivators who are more dependent on agriculture and have a greater degree of reputation as sincere and careful cultivators. I think, those forming themselves into a Co-operative Farming Society should not be given any preference in the matter of distribution of land as proposed in the Bill. Co-operative farming has not much hope of being successful in Bengal in near future. So, we should not be unduly enamoured of it.

I am glad to see that Government has at last agreed with me to make the ceiling of land possessed by a raiyat the same irrespective of whether the land is cultivated through the aid of bargadars or is under personal cultivation. The distinction made in this respect in the Estates Acquisition Act was consistently opposed by me all along.

I must, however, say that the Bill should have been much more exhaustive in order to cover all possible contingencies.

Joint Minute of Dissent by Sj. Bankim Mukherji, M.L.A., and Sj. Benoy Krishna Chowdhury, M.L.A.

In a country like ours, the prosperity of the nation depends on the well being of the peasantry. Because, they constitute the bulk of the population. Unless and until the grinding poverty of the peasantry is removed and their purchasing power rises, keeping pace with the development in other sphere of life there will be no expansion of the internal market for absorbing ever increasing volumes of manufactured goods. Nor the problem of finding out wherewithals for the planned development of our State will be solved, till agriculture begins to produce an inevitable surplus. Precisely for these reasons, the object of an agrarian reform is, and it should be, to set free rural productive forces, to develop agricultural production and thus to pave the way for country's industrialisation.

The most potent factor for setting free rural productive forces is to inspire the actual tillers of the soil with a new incentive for production and this can only be done by making them real owners of the land. That is why the task of taking away land from the non-cultivating landlord class without compensation and handing them over free of charge to the landless and to the landpoor has been taken to be the key tasks of an agrarian reform. The introduction of a system of land tax on the basis of net income, after deducting cost of cultivation and leaving a reasonable profit margin for the peasants, instead of the present arbitrary system of rent or revenue is also a cardinal matter for agrarian reform. Besides, these other measures are necessary for reducing burdens of debt and taxes for guaranteeing fair price for the agricultural produce and for easy rural credit. The test of any agrarian reform law is therefore to see how far these tasks are being carried out in actual practice or conditions are being created for the same. But before proceeding to examine that it will be of help to take stock of the present state of our agrarian economy.

In the State of West Bengal, an agricultural population of 141 lakh people—nearly 30 lakh families depend on 117 lakh acres of cultivated land. Cultivated land per capita is .82 acres. Out of this total agricultural population, 60 lakh people—nearly 14 lakh families are bargadars and agricultural labourers. They constitute the majority of the actual tillers of the soil and yet they do not possess any land of their own. Out of the remaining 16 lakh families, who own land, nearly 5½ lakh families own less than 2 acres of land. A holding of less than 2 acres is far too low either for the maintenance of a family or for carrying on agricultural operation on productive basis. Thus we find that nearly two-thirds of the agricultural population have either no land or very little land of their own. If a holding of 5 acres is taken to be an economic holding then only one-sixth of the agricultural population can be said to have economic holding. It is needless to say that under such condition agriculture cannot thrive. On top of this the present heavy burden of rent, taxes and debt and the operation of the price scissor of the capitalist market are accelerating the process of impoverishments and ruination of the peasantry. In such a background of our agrarian economy, the proposed Land Reforms Bill is being introduced for legislation.

The first question which naturally arises in the mind: Is the proposed Land Reforms Bill conceived with the idea of bringing about a fundamental transformation of our agrarian economy? It is evident, that it is not. It merely seeks to supplement the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act which is the first step towards the agrarian reform in our State, as it is being claimed by the Government. And as such, it is neither a comprehensive Bill dealing the whole question of the agrarian reform. In our Minute of Dissent to the Report of the Joint Select Committee on the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Bill, we objected to any kind of arbitrary division of the problem which is an integral whole. We wrote "The problem of agrarian reform is an integral whole and therefore some of its aspects cannot be treated in isolation from others. Moreover, our hands may be so tied in many respects in this Bill that we will have to encounter many difficulties arising out of this Bill to proceed with the next". The actual development since the passing of the Estates Acquisition Act has proved beyond any shred of doubt that our apprehension was correct. As matters stand today it is really very difficult to proceed with the work of Land Reforms Bill without first making amends for what has already been done in the Estates Acquisition Act.

In the Estates Acquisition Act, the Government disregarding our suggestions has allowed each and every intermediary to retain as a matter of right 25 acres of agricultural land irrespective of their other sources of income. Over and above that each intermediary has also been allowed to retain 15 acres of non-agricultural land excluding land comprised in homestead and what they have been allowed to retain in section 6(1)(f)(g)(h)(i)(j). Anybody who has any idea about the way the official machinery functions, knows that it is not at all unlikely that agricultural land will pass off as non-agricultural land and thus an intermediary may easily retain well above 40 acres of agricultural land on various accounts. Besides this, much more land can be retained by an intermediary taking recourse to partitions and with the help of benamdars. That these are not idle speculations of a sceptic is borne out by the actual course of event that followed the Estates Acquisition Act. Chapter VI of the Act in which the ceiling has been made operative only on lands under barga or on lands let out to sub-lessees has given scope to the jotedars having more land than the ceiling fixed to escape easily from the operation of the ceiling by evicting bargadars and sub-lessees. As a consequence of all these, the first step towards the agrarian reform has only added to the miseries of the most exploited section of the peasantry. The hope of being owners of the soil is fast giving place to the fear of losing even the existing right to till others' land for a share of the produce.

The Bill, as it has been indicated in the report of the Joint Select Committee meeting, has undergone certain changes in the light of the Joint Select Committee discussion. Some of these changes such as making the ceiling of 25 acres operative on all raiyats, inclusion of a chapter enunciating the principles of land distribution and the provision that the Government will not proceed with consolidation measures unless at least two-thirds of the raiyats agree are partial recognition of the demands of the kisan movement and of the opinions of the democratic section of the people. But these changes will not be of much help unless and until other necessary measures are taken simultaneously. We do not know as yet what amendment of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act is being contemplated to make the ceiling of 25 acres really effective. The mischief that has already been done is very difficult to redeem. Moreover, nothing is being done to nullify and check mala fide transfers and partitions which are very much widespread. If these are allowed to continue unchecked very little amount of land will be available for distribution. The Government has not yet given any idea about the total amount of land which may be available for distribution nor it has given the number of the probable beneficiaries. Before this latest proposal of making the ceiling of 25 acres operative on all raiyats, the Government source used to claim that near about 4 lakh acres of land would be available for distribution. Now, the Government will claim a higher figure. We have grave doubts about such Government figures due to reasons stated above. So, under the circumstances, whatever distribution there will be, cannot be anything more than of a token nature. Even now nobody knows when the Chapter VI of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act will be implemented in the amended form. Nor one knows when the land at the disposal of the Government will be given and how that will be given in spite of the Chapter IVA wherein the principles of land distribution have been enunciated. All these have been kept vague in the Bill. Why the word "settlement" has been preferred is not clear. It has been provided that no premium shall be charged for such settlement. But settlement without any premium may not in actual practice mean free distribution of land. From the experience of the other States there is yet another apprehension. Lands at the disposal of the Government may be used to create a favoured section amongst the peasantry. As the settlement will be made through bureaucratic machinery such chances are not small. We are having similar experience of nepotism with regard to the recruitment of special cadres for primary schools which was contemplated to tackle the unemployment problem of the middle class. So it is quite uncertain how many amongst the landless and the landpoor will get land.

But it is certain that the successors of quite a large number of small owners will be gradually driven out of land in the name of preventing fragmentation. The Government has not laid down specifically in the Bill the limit below which partition will not be allowed. Even if the limit is fixed at 1 acre most of the successors of the 5½ lakh families owning less than 2 acres of land will not be able to inherit their shares of the paternal property and the number of such victims above the level of 2 acres will not be small. So, the prospect is really very bleak.

The principles adopted in the matter of determining the revenue rates for the different classes of land will increase the existing rent burden for quite a large section of the peasants. It will be specially severe for lands growing crops other than paddy and in respect of land not used for growing crops. The previous provision of excluding first 2 acres of paddy land from assessment, if the rent is paid in kind has also been withdrawn, and as a result thereof relief contemplated for the poorer sections of the peasantry has been curtailed.

With these general observations, we now propose to discuss the Bill itemwise.

Definitions.—The definition of "Personal cultivation" has provided a cover for the non-cultivating landlord class. With the help of this definition this class without contributing any labour in agricultural operation and even getting all lands cultivated by bargadars, who have signed "Mazur Kabuliyats" will appear in the eyes of the law as personally cultivating the land. Considering the present condition even barga system of cultivation has been allowed to continue for some time to come. And nobody has objected to that. But at the same time considering heavy pressure on land, it has become necessary to check further acquisition of agricultural land by non-cultivating class, specially if they are not prepared to take part in any principal work of cultivation. For this a definition is required to demarcate the real cultivating class from the non-cultivating would be landlord class. The definition of the "bona fide cultivator" as was given in the original Bill was not suitable for the purpose. A suitable definition of the "bona fide cultivator" is to be given.

There is much misgiving about the way "Holding" has been defined. For small arrears in revenue dues entire holding may be sold. So, it should be so defined as to obviate this difficulty.

Raiyat.—In principle it has now been accepted that the raiyat should be considered as the owner of his holding and not as a mere tenant under the Government and that assessment on a raiyat should be called land revenue and not rent. This change is significant as it expresses impact of the popular opinion on this matter. But the mere change in the terminology has not materially improved the lot of the raiyat. Instead, many new restrictions have been imposed on him. In place of provisions for ejectment now there are provisions for ceasing right of ownership (and that too on more grounds). So it has hardly made any difference so far the possession of land by a raiyat is concerned.

It has been said in the report that restrictions are necessary in the interest of agriculture. This reminds us of the remark made by the Census Superintendent in his report "But before that can be acceptable the peasant wants to be certain that his plot of land is really his, the landless labourer a plot of land to call his own, before he can allow an intruder—as a friend—to help him to get more out of his land. That is the crux of the matter". To think that the foundation of the new agrarian structure is to be laid by a greater emphasis on economic duties than on rights, the tillers will enjoy, is to misjudge the whole thing. Emphasis on economic duties will in actual practice mean Governmental interference with the normal activities of the peasants and one can easily guess its reaction from the experience of the operation of the control system. It will be wise to depend on peasants' own interest and to allow them to feel themselves masters of their own plots. The Government instead of encroaching on their rights, should extend its helping hands by making provisions for better seeds, manures, improved agricultural implements and rural credit on easy terms.

Under-raiyat and tenants-at-will (Utbandi tenants, etc.).—The Bill is completely silent about the under-raiyats and tenants-at-will. Like bargadars they are also being deprived of their rights in thousands. Provisions should have been made to protect them from eviction and to secure their rights.

Revenue.—As has been pointed out above the principle adopted for determining the revenue rates for the different classes of land is wholly unsatisfactory. By providing different percentages for different quantum of paddy land, an appearance has been given as if income-tax principle has been accepted. But the fact is otherwise. Though a precise definition of income is not given in the Income-tax Act, it is quite clear from the Act that the charge is to be applied only to net income, that is, it should not fall on capital or on any element of unnecessary cost. It is also specifically provided in the Act that in arriving at the net income to be charged to tax certain types of losses must be excluded. But according to the principle adopted by the proposed Bill, assessment will be either on the basis of gross produce of the land or on the basis of market value of such land. Moreover, the principle of excluding persons up to a certain level of income from taxation has also not been accepted. The previous exemption for the first 2 acres of paddy land has been withdrawn as has been pointed out before. The maximum limits for the revenue rates for different classes of land are fixed rather too high and as a result thereof in spite of graded percentages for different quantum of land barring a small section of the peasantry the revenue burden will increase and the process of impoverishment of the peasantry will be further accelerated. As the element of cost has not been taken into consideration, tenants growing crops other than paddy will be more severely hit. The only welcome feature is that homestead land up to 1 bigha has been excluded from assessment.

The method of revenue realisation has been made severe. Considering various factors which may affect normal yield or its value provision has not been made for remission. All arrears of revenue has been made recoverable under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913. And as holding has been so defined as to treat all lands as one unit for assessment of revenue, the danger is quite obvious. Attachment of the entire holding for the non-payment of revenue must not be permitted. At the most, only a portion of the holding, the market value of which is equal to the revenue fallen due plus interest thereof may be attached.

Bargadars.—Bargadars are forced to labour on others' land in the most insecure position. The Bargadar Act, the provisions of which has been incorporated in this Bill with slight modification, has proved itself totally ineffective to give security to the bargadars. Due to this insecure position bargadars have become worst victims of eviction since the passing of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act. So, very serious consideration should have been given to protect the bargadars from eviction. Restriction on resumption of barga land for personal cultivation is the only effective way to stop indiscriminate eviction under the existing condition. Owners of barga land having more than 10 acres of land or other sufficient source of income should not have the right to resume any barga land for personal cultivation. Only owners owning less than 10 acres of land and having no other source of sufficient income should have the right to resume if they really require that for the maintenance of their family. Even in the latter case a portion of the barga land should be left with the bargadars. A provision has now been made in the Bill to impose some restriction on resumption of barga land but that has been done with such half-heartedness that it will not be of much use. The quantity of land has not been specified in excess of which restriction will be operative. If it is fixed high the purpose will be defeated. Moreover the owners of land possessing more than such amount will also be allowed to resume barga land to the extent of two-thirds of the total quantity of land excluding homestead. So only very little amount of barga land can be saved by this provision.

In cases where plough, cattle, manure, and seeds will be supplied by the bargadar the share of the bargadar should be two-thirds of the produce. The bargadar shall have the right to store and thresh the produce in place of his choice. If the owner does not take his share within a specified time or he refuses to give receipt for his share in writing then the bargadar should have the right to deposit the share of the owner to the appropriate authority.

Consolidation of Lands and Co-operative Farming Societies.—In our opinion, for consolidation of lands, we should rely more on persuasion and example than on legislation. Moreover this item is connected with the better farming method than with the land legislation as such. And, therefore, there is hardly any reason to include this matter in this Bill. Appropriate legislation can be made later on after a careful study of the situation. Even if provisions are made in the body of this Bill that should be entirely on voluntary basis and that should be effected through the elected village committees.

According to the provisions of the Bill members of the Co-operative Farming Societies will lose ownership of their land. In China the People's Government is guiding the peasants step by step in organisation of various forms of mutual aid in labour and co-operation in production according to the voluntary principle and the principle of mutual benefit. Three stages have been evolved for the purpose. First stage is the simple mutual aid team. It is the simplest and is mainly temporary and seasonal. The second stage is the year round mutual aid team, a form more advanced than the first. The agricultural producers' co-operative is the third stage. Even this kind of agricultural producers' co-operative is built on the basis of the private ownership of land. The peasants may join it with their land as shares. They may likewise withdraw from it if they want to. Co-operation and mutual aid at present means collective labour practised on the basis of individual economy (private ownership by peasants); its future is collective and socialistic farming. It would, of course, be wrong and harmful to the co-operative movement to apply abstract formulas mechanically regardless of the conditions and actual experience of the mass of the peasantry. In transforming the system of ownership of means of production of the peasants as small private owners, we cannot use confiscatory methods which can be used in relation to the landlords. This transformation must be brought about by gradual process taking into consideration the different conditions existing in the respective localities through a movement for co-operative and by long-term education of the peasants and through their personal experience.

The machinery for carrying out Land Reforms.—In the Bill, absolute reliance has been placed on the bureaucratic machinery for carrying out Land Reform. This being a matter very intimately connected with the life of the majority of the population and as it has serious repurcussion on other spheres of life, proper care and caution is necessary for its implementation. Moreover, the problems of Land Reforms are very complicated in nature and interests of various sections of the peasantry very often than not clash. Under the circumstances unless the task of carrying out Land Reforms is entrusted on the elected peasant Committees, which alone can have intimate knowledge of the localities and their respective problems, justice cannot be made in the matter.

As it has been provided in the Bill Revenue Officers will have unlimited power in the matter. Provisions have been made for successive appeals to the District Collectors, to the Divisional Commissioners and to the member of the Board of Revenue. But in fact all these appeals are to the executive officers though it has been provided that any officer dealing with the proceedings under this Bill shall exercise the powers of civil court under the Code of Civil Procedure. Only with regard to the clause 12 where the dispute is between the raiyats provision has been made for appeal before the Munsif. But there is no provision to question the actions of the executive officers before the court of law. So, nepotism, corruption and bribery will be rampant and whatever little benefit the peasantry could derive from the Bill will in the most cases be lost. So, we strongly feel that the sponsors of the Bill will consider these matters with seriousness that they deserve.

Lastly, we want to come back once again to the key task of land distribution and we beg to submit with all the emphasis that we can command that the elected people's committees should be entrusted with the job of checking and nullifying mala fide transfers and partitions and the distribution of the land at the disposal of the State.

Minute of Dissent by Sj. Natendra Nath Das, M.L.A.

I am not in favour of giving so much power to a Revenue Officer before the establishment of Panchayet Boards, which would have controlled the use of this extensive power. He will decide what deed of transfer or of partition will be eligible for registration and there is no provision for any appeal against any illegal and unjust decision made by him. Right of pre-emption which often, involves complicated questions of Civil Law, will be adjudicated by him but the definition of the Revenue Officer does not disclose whether such officers will have legal training.

2. Stringent restrictions have been put on transfer and on partition of lands in order to stop fragmentation but in my opinion this procedure can not be adopted at the present stage. When this State will be greatly industrialised absorbing many cultivators as labourers, pressure on land will decrease and if small raiyats can procure easy loan after establishment of village mortgage banks, a situation will be created when such stringent restrictions, can be introduced.

Otherwise it will create a dead-lock so far as registration of deed of transfer is concerned choking the only source of procuring necessary funds. By this process many lands will ultimately pass out of hands of small raiyats, creating another set of landless agriculturists.

3. As for fixation of ceiling at 25 acres for a raiyat, I beg to differ in the policy. In my opinion ceiling should be fixed as per head of numbers of a raiyat's family otherwise there will be inequality. A raiyat having no other mouth to feed will be allowed to retain the same quantity of land as are having a dozen or so dependents. This policy is not consistent with the socialisation of lands and its equitable distribution.

THE WEST BENGAL LAND REFORMS BILL, 1955.

(Embodying amendments recommended by the Joint Select Committee.)

[NOTE.—Matter omitted by the Joint Select Committee has been printed in italics and enclosed in square brackets and new matter inserted has been underlined.] to reform the law relating to land tenure consequent on the vesting of all estates and of certain rights therein in the State.

IT is hereby enacted in the Sixth Year of the Republic of India, by the Legislature of West Bengal, as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

Preliminary.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the West Bengal Land Reforms Act, 1955.

(2) It extends to the whole of West Bengal except the areas described in Schedule I of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1951, as deemed to have been amended under section 594 of that Act. West Ben. Act XXXIII of 1951.

(3) This section shall come into force at once and the remaining provisions of this Act, in whole or in part, shall come into force on such date or dates and in such district or part of a district as the State Government may from time to time by notification in the Official Gazette specify.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "agricultural year" means the Bengali year commencing on the first day of Baisakh;

(2) "bargadar" means a person who under the system generally known as adhi, barga or bhag cultivates the land of another person on condition of delivering a share of the produce of such land to that person;

[(3) "bona fide cultivator" means a person who cultivates his own land by his own labour or by the labour of any member of his family or by servants or labourers on wages payable in cash or kind or both; and includes a person who is entitled to retain in khas possession any agricultural land under the provisions of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953; West Ben. Act I of 1954.]

(3) "Personal cultivation" means cultivation by a person of his own land on his own account—

(a) by his own labour, or

(b) by the labour of any member of his family, or

(c) by servants or labourers on wages payable in cash or in kind or both;

(4) "certificate" means a certificate signed under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913; Ben. Act III of 1913.

(5) "Collector" means the Collector of a district or any other officer appointed by the State Government to discharge any of the functions of a Collector under this Act;

(6) "consolidation" includes re-arrangement of parcels of land comprised in a holding or in different holdings for the purpose of rendering such holding or holdings more compact;

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter I.—Preliminary.—Clause 3.—Chapter II.— Raiyats.—Clause 4.)

(7) "holding" [includes a parcel or parcels of land or an undivided share thereof held by a raiyat;] means the land or lands held by a raiyat and treated as a unit for assessment of revenue;

(8) "land" means agricultural land and includes homesteads [, tanks, wells and water channels;] and tank fisheries;

Explanation:—"Homestead" and "Tank Fishery" shall have the same meaning as in the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953. West Ben. Act I of 1954.

(9) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made by the State Government under this Act;

(10) "raiyat" means a person who holds [or is deemed to hold land directly under the State Government for purposes of agriculture and includes also successors-in-interest of such a person;] land for purpose of agriculture;

(11) ["rent"] "revenue" means whatever is lawfully payable or deliverable in money or kind or both by a raiyat in respect of the land held by him;

(12) "Revenue Officer" means any officer whom the State Government may appoint by name or by virtue of his office to discharge any of the functions of a Revenue Officer in any area.

Act to override other laws, etc.

3. The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything in any other law or any custom or usage or in any contract expressed or implied inconsistent with the provisions of this Act.

CHAPTER II.

Raiyats.

[Obligation of raiyats to pay rent.

4. Save as provided in this Act, every raiyat shall be liable to pay such rent for his holding as may be determined in accordance with the provisions of this Act:

Provided that the State Government may, after such enquiry as it may consider necessary into the validity of any claim to hold any land free of rent or at a rent fixed in perpetuity, allow such a claim or disallow it.]

Rights of Raiyat in respect of land.

4. (1) Subject to the other provisions of this Act, a raiyat shall on and after the commencement of this Act be the owner of his holding and the holding shall be heritable and transferable.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall entitle a raiyat to subsoil rights.

(3) No raiyat shall be entitled to own more than twenty-five acres of land, excluding homestead and tank fisheries, provided that—

(a) in the case of a Co-operative Farming Society, such society may own a total area not exceeding twenty-five acres per member thereof;

(b) in the case of persons who have retained lands under clauses (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j) of sub-section (1) of section 6 of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953, on the vesting of estates in the State under that Act, the limit of twenty-five acres shall not apply to them, only in respect of any land so retained by them; West Ben. Act I of 1954.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter II.—Raiyats.—Clauses 5—7.)

(4) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (1), the holding of a raiyat, excluding his homestead, shall be sold by the prescribed authority in the prescribed manner after such enquiry as it thinks fit and after giving the raiyat an opportunity to show cause against the action proposed to be taken if—

(a) he has without any reasonable cause used the land comprised in the holding or a substantial part thereof for any purpose other than agriculture;

(b) he has ceased to keep the land or any part thereof under personal cultivation for a period of two years or more except when such land is under a usufructuary mortgage mentioned in section 10;

(c) he has failed to bring the land comprised in the holding or any part thereof under personal cultivation within two years of the date on which this Act comes into force or of the date on which he came into possession of such land, whichever is later;

(d) he has let out except to a bargadar the whole or any part of the holding.

(5) On the holding of a raiyat being sold as aforesaid, his ownership therein shall cease and the rights of the lessee, if any, shall terminate and the raiyat shall be entitled to receive the surplus sale proceeds after deducting the expenses for conducting the sale.

[Rights of raiyat in respect of land.

5. A raiyat shall have the right to use the land comprised in his holding in any manner consistent with the purposes of agriculture and for such purposes to plant and fell trees, to erect dwelling houses together with any out-houses and offices for his use and occupation, to construct wells, tanks, water channels and other works for the storage, supply or distribution of water and to make any improvement on it.

Grounds for eviction of a raiyat.

6. A raiyat shall not be ejected from his holding except in execution of an order made by the Revenue Officer on one or more of the following grounds, namely:—

(a) that he has, without any reasonable cause, not used the land or a substantial part of it for purposes mentioned in section 5 or allowed the land or a substantial part of it to lie fallow for four consecutive years;

(b) that he has done any act in contravention of the provisions of this Act.]

Transferability of holding of a raiyat.

7. [(1) The holding of a raiyat or a share or portion thereof, shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be capable of being transferred.]

[(2)] (1) [Every such transfer shall be made by a registered instrument] A transfer of the holding of a raiyat or a share or portion thereof shall be made by an instrument which must be registered and the registering officer shall not accept for registration any such instrument unless—

(a) the sale price, or where there is no sale price, the value of the holding or portion or share thereof transferred, is stated therein; and

(b) there is tendered along with it,

(i) a notice giving the particulars of the transfer in the prescribed form for transmission to the prescribed authority;

(ii) such notices and process fees as may be required by sub-section [(5)] (4).

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter II.—Raiyats.—Clauses 8, 9.)

[(3)] (2) In case of bequest of such holding or portion or share thereof, no court shall grant Probate or Letters of Administration until the applicant files in the prescribed form a notice giving particulars of the bequest together with the prescribed process fee for transmission to the prescribed authority.

[(4)] (3) No Court or Revenue Officer shall confirm the sale of such a holding or portion or share thereof put to sale in execution of a decree or certificate and no Court shall make a decree or order absolute for foreclosure of a mortgage of such a holding or portion or share thereof, until the purchaser or the mortgagee, as the case may be, files a notice or notices similar to, and deposits process fees of the same amount as that referred to in sub-section [(2)] (1).

[(5)] (4) If the transfer of a portion or share of such a holding be one to which the provisions of section 11 apply, there shall be filed by the transferor or transferee notices giving particulars of the transfer in the prescribed form together with the process fees prescribed for the service thereof on all the co-sharers of the said holding who are not parties to the transfer and for affixing a copy thereof in the office of the registering officer or the Court house or the office of the Revenue Officer, as the case may be, as well as for affixing a copy on the holding.

[(6)] (5) The Court, the Revenue Officer or the registering officer, as the case may be, shall transmit the notice to the authority referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (b) of sub-section [(2)] (1) who shall serve the notices on the co-sharers referred to in sub-section [(5)] (4) by registered post and shall cause copies of the notice to be affixed on the holding and in the Court house [and] or in the office of the Revenue Officer, or of the registering officer, as the case may be.

Explanation.—In this section—

(a) "transferor", "purchaser" and "mortgagee" include their successors-in-interest, and

(b) "transfer" does not include partition or simple or usufructuary mortgage [or mortgage by conditional sale].

Limitation on transfer.

8. (1) [In all cases of transfer mentioned in section 7, the State Government shall be entitled, subject to the provisions of section 11, to take over, by order made in this behalf,—

(a) any land held by the transferee after the transfer in excess of thirty-three acres in the aggregate, when the transferee is a bona fide cultivator,

(b) the entire land transferred, when the transferee is not a bona fide cultivator, or when the State Government is satisfied that the transferee does not intend to cultivate the land.]

The State Government shall be entitled subject to the provisions of section 11 to take over, by order made in this behalf, any land owned by a raiyat, whether as a result of transfer or otherwise, in excess of the limits prescribed by sub-section (3) of section 4.

(2) In all cases where the State Government takes over any land under sub-section (1), there shall be paid to the [transferee] raiyat as compensation an amount equal to the market value of the interest of the transferor in the land on the date of the transfer.

[Restriction on sub-letting.

9. After this Act comes into force no raiyat shall sublet the whole or any part of his holding.]

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter II.—Raiyats.—Clauses 10—12.)

Limitation on mortgage of raiyati holdings.

10. (1) A mortgage by a raiyat of his holding or any share thereof other than—

(a) a simple mortgage, or

(b) a usufructuary mortgage for a period not exceeding fifteen years, shall be void.

(2) A usufructuary mortgage referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) may be redeemed at any time before the expiry of the period.

Right of purchase by co-sharer or contiguous tenant.

11. (1) If a portion or share of a holding of a raiyat is transferred to any person other than a co-sharer in the holding, any co-sharer raiyat of the holding may, within three months of the service of the notice given under sub-section [(6)] (5) of section 7, or any raiyat possessing land adjoining such holding may, within four months of the date of such transfer, apply to the Revenue Officer specially empowered by the State Government in this behalf, for transfer of the said portion or share of the holding to him, subject to the limit mentioned in sub-section [(1) of section 8,] (3) of section 4, on deposit of the consideration money together with a further sum of ten per cent. of that amount:

Provided that if a co-sharer raiyat and a raiyat possessing land adjoining such holding both apply for such transfer, the former shall have the prior right to have such portion or share of the holding transferred to him, and in such a case, the deposit made by the latter shall be refunded to him:

Provided further that as amongst raiyats possessing lands adjoining such holding preference shall be given to the raiyat having the longest common boundary with the land transferred.

(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to—

(a) a transfer by exchange or by partition, or,

(b) a transfer by bequest or gift, or,

(c) a usufructuary mortgage mentioned in section 10, or,

(d) a transfer for charitable purposes without reservation of any pecuniary benefit for any individual.

Revenue Officer to allow the application and apportion lands in certain cases.

12. (1) On the deposit mentioned in sub-section (1) of section 11 being made, the Revenue Officer shall give notice of the application to the transferee, and shall also cause a notice to be affixed on the land for the information of persons interested. On such notice being served, the transferee or any person interested may appear within the time specified in the notice and prove the consideration money paid for the transfer and other sums, if any, properly paid by him in respect of the lands including [rent, cesses or taxes for any period subsequent to the date of transfer.] any sum paid for annulling encumbrances created prior to the date of transfer, and rent or revenue, cesses or taxes for any period. The Revenue Officer may after such enquiry as he considers necessary direct the applicant to deposit such further sum, if any, within the time specified by him and on such sum being deposited, he shall make an order that the amount of the consideration money together with such other sums as are proved to have been paid by the transferee or the person interested plus ten per cent. of the consideration money be paid to the transferee or the person interested out of the money in deposit, the remainder, if any, being refunded to the applicant. The Revenue Officer shall then make a further order that the portion or share of the holding be transferred to the applicant and on such order being made, the portion or share of the holding shall vest in the applicant.

(2) When any person acquires the right, title and interest of the transferee in such holding by succession or otherwise, the right, title and interest acquired by him shall be subject to the right conferred by sub-section (1) of section 11 on a co-sharer raiyat or a raiyat possessing land adjoining the holding.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter II.—Raiyats.—Clauses 13—16.)

(3) In making an order under sub-section (1) in favour of more than one co-sharer raiyat or raiyat holding adjoining land, the Revenue Officer may apportion the portion or share of the holding in such manner and on such terms as he deems equitable.

(4) Where any portion or share of a holding is transferred to the applicant under sub-section (1), such applicant shall be liable to pay all arrears of [rent] revenue in respect of such portion or share of the holding that may be outstanding on the date of the order.

(5) The Revenue Officer shall send a copy of his order as modified on appeal, if any, under sub-section (6) to the prescribed authority for correction of the record-of-rights.

(6) Any person aggrieved by an order of the Revenue Officer under this section may appeal to the Munsif having jurisdiction over the area in which the land is situated, within thirty days from the date of such order and the Munsif shall send a copy of his order to the Revenue Officer. The fees to be paid by the parties and the procedure to be followed by the Munsif shall be such as may be prescribed.

Consequences of an order for transfer.

13. On an order under section 12 being made—

(a) the right, title and interest of the raiyat and of the transferee or of the person mentioned in sub-section (2) of section 12 who acquires any right, title and interest in the holding shall vest in the raiyat whose application for transfer has been allowed by the Revenue Officer,

(b) the raiyat whose application has been so allowed shall be liable for any [rent] revenue accruing from the date of the order.

Diluviated lands.

14. (1) If the holding of a raiyat or a portion of it is lost by diluvion, the [rent] revenue of the holding shall, on application made by the raiyat in the prescribed form to the Revenue Officer, be remitted or abated by an amount which, in the opinion of the Revenue Officer, is fair.

(2) The right, title and interest of the raiyat shall subsist in such holding or portion thereof for a period not exceeding twenty years and the raiyat shall on its reappearance at any time within that period have the right to possession thereof and be liable to pay such [rent] revenue as in the opinion of the Revenue Officer is fair.

Right in land gained by recess of river or sea.

15. When any land has been gained by gradual accession to any holding whether from the recess of a river or of the sea, it shall form an addition thereto and the raiyat who owns the holding shall be liable to pay such [rent] revenue on re-assessment as may be determined by the Revenue Officer:

Provided that a raiyat shall be entitled to retain only so much of land so gained which together with his other lands excluding homestead and tank fisheries does not exceed [thirty-three] twenty-five acres, and the remainder, if any, of the land gained by accession shall vest in the State Government free from all encumbrances.

Restriction on alienation of land by Scheduled Tribes.

16. (1) Except in the following cases, the transfer of the holding or part of the holding of a raiyat belonging to a Scheduled Tribe shall be void:—

(a) a transfer to a person belonging to a Scheduled Tribe;

(b) a transfer to a person not belonging to a Scheduled Tribe when such transfer is made with the previous permission of the Revenue Officer [.]:

Provided that the Revenue Officer shall not give such permission unless a purchaser belonging to a Scheduled Tribe who is willing to pay the market ice for the land is not available.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter II.—Raiyats.—Clause 16A.—Chapter III.—Bargadars.—Clause 17.)

(2) The holding or part of the holding of a raiyat belonging to a Scheduled Tribe which is transferred in contravention of the provisions of clauses (a) and (b) of sub-section (1) shall be forfeited to the State Government.

Partition of holding among Co-sharer raiyats

16A. (1) Partition of a holding among co-sharer raiyats owning it shall be made either by—

(a) a registered instrument; or

(b) a decree or order of a court.

(2) When partition is effected by an instrument, the registering officer shall not accept for registration any such instrument unless there is tendered along with it a notice, giving the particulars of the holding and the area of each share, and such process fee as may be prescribed, for transmission to the prescribed authority.

(3) If as a result of partition one or more shares comprise an area less than the standard area—

(a) the prescribed authority in a case where partition is effected by a registered instrument, or

(b) the court passing the decree or order for partition, shall recast the shares, excluding the homesteads of the co-sharers, so that no share is less than the standard area, and sell such shares, or when the holding comprises an area which cannot be partitioned into two or more shares, each comprising not less than the standard area, sell the entire holding to the highest bidder or bidders among the co-shares, or failing them to other persons, and the sale proceeds shall, after deducting the expenses for conducting the sale, be paid to the co-sharers in accordance with their shares in the holding partitioned, excluding the homesteads.

(4) If the holding or any share or shares thereof cannot be sold as aforesaid, the prescribed authority or the court shall report the case to the State Government and the State Government shall, by order made in this behalf, take over such holding or share or shares and shall place at the disposal of the prescribed authority or the court, as the case may be, the market value thereof for payment to the co-sharers in the manner indicated in sub-section (3).

(5) For the purpose of preventing fragmentation of holdings as a result of partition the State Government may by order made in this behalf specify an area, which in its opinion is the minimum unit for effective cultivation in the interest of agricultural production, as the standard area, and different standard areas may be specified for different localities or for different classes of land.

CHAPTER III.

Bargadars.

Certain safeguards for holdings cultivated by bargadars.

17. The provisions of clauses (b) and (c) of sub-section (4) of section 4 shall not apply to the holding of a raiyat or any part of it which is cultivated by a bargadar so long as cultivation by a bargadar continues.

[Share of produce payable by a bargadar.

17. The produce of any land cultivated by a bargadar shall be divided in the proportion of 60 : 40 as between the bargadar and the person whose land he cultivates, and the bargadar shall deliver to such person the share of the produce payable to him within the prescribed period.]

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter III.—Bargadars.—Clauses 17A—18.)

Share of produce payable by a bargadar.

17A. (1) The produce of any land cultivated by a bargadar shall be divided as between the bargadar and the person whose land he cultivates—

(a) in the proportion of 50:50, in a case where plough, cattle, manure and seeds necessary for cultivation are supplied by the person owning the land,

(b) in the proportion of 60:40 in all other cases.

(2) The bargadar shall deliver to the person whose land he cultivates the share of the produce due to him within the prescribed period and on such delivery each party shall give to the other a receipt for the quantity of the produce received by him.

(3) The bargadar shall store or thresh the produce at such place as may be agreed upon by him and the owner of the land.

[Termination of cultivation by bargadar.

18. (1) No person whose land is cultivated by a bargadar shall be entitled to terminate such cultivation by the bargadar except in execution of an order made by the Revenue Officer on one or more of the following grounds, namely:—

(a) that he requires the land bona fide for cultivation by himself or by members of his family or by servants;

(b) that the bargadar has without any reasonable cause failed to cultivate the land during any year;

(c) that the land is not under the personal cultivation of the bargadar;

(d) that the bargadar has contravened any provision of this Act.

(2) No bargadar shall be entitled to cultivate by himself or by members of his family or through benamdars more than thirty-three acres of land. In computing this area, any land owned by the bargadar as well as the land cultivated by him as a bargadar shall be taken into account.

(3) If a bargadar cultivates land in excess of thirty-three acres, the share of the produce due to him as a bargadar in respect of the land in excess of thirty-three acres shall be forfeited to the State Government by order made by the Revenue Officer.]

Termination of Cultivation by bargadar.

18. (1) No person shall be entitled to terminate cultivation of his land by a bargadar except in execution of an order, made by such officer or authority as the State Government may appoint, on one or more of the following grounds:—

(a) that the bargadar has without any reasonable cause failed to cultivate the land during any year, or has neglected to cultivate it properly, or has used it for any purpose other than agriculture;

(b) that the land is not cultivated by the bargadar personally;

(c) that the bargadar has contravened any provisions of this Act;

(d) that the person owning the land requires it bona fide for bringing it under personal cultivation:

Provided that in a case covered by clause (d), when the quantity of land owned by such person is in excess of such area as may be specified by the State Government by order made in this behalf, he shall be entitled to terminate

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter III.—Bargadars.—Clauses 19, 20.)

cultivation by a bargadar of only so much land which together with any land under his personal cultivation does not exceed two-thirds of the total quantity of land excluding homestead, owned by him.

Explanation.—For purposes of clause (b), a bargadar who cultivates the land with the help of members of his family shall be deemed to cultivate it personally.

(2) If a person fails to bring under personal cultivation any land, the cultivation of which by a bargadar has been terminated by him under clause (d) of sub-section (1) within two years of the date of such termination, the prescribed authority shall sell it, on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed regarding the payment of the price, to the bargadar who cultivated the land previously, and if such bargadar is unwilling to take the land at the market value or for any other reason, the land may be sold to other persons and the surplus sale-proceeds, if any, after deducting the expenses of the sale, shall be paid to such person.

(3) The provisions of section 11 shall not apply to any land purchased by a bargadar under sub-section (2) of this section.

(4) No bargadar shall be entitled to cultivate more than twenty-five acres of land. In computing this area, any land owned by the bargadar as well as the land cultivated by him as a bargadar shall be taken into account.

(5) If a bargadar cultivates land in excess of twenty-five acres, the share of the produce due to him as a bargadar in respect of the land in excess of twenty-five acres shall be forfeited to the State Government by order made in this behalf by a Revenue Officer.

Jurisdiction of Revenue Officer to decide certain disputes.

19. (1) Every dispute between a bargadar and the person whose land he cultivates in respect of any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) division or delivery of the produce,

(b) termination of cultivation by the bargadar,

(c) place of storing or threshing the produce, shall be decided by [the Revenue Officer having jurisdiction over the area within which such land is situated.] such officer or authority as the State Government may appoint.

(2) If in deciding any dispute referred to in sub-section (1), any question arises as to whether a person is a bargadar or not and to whom the share of the produce is deliverable, such question shall be determined by the [Revenue Officer] officer or authority mentioned in sub-section (1).

Appeal.

[20. An appeal shall lie within the prescribed period to an Appellate Officer to be appointed by the State Government against any order of the Revenue Officer made under this Chapter, except where such order was made with the consent of the parties to the dispute.]

20. (1) An appeal shall lie to the Munsif, having jurisdiction over the area in which the land is situated, against any order made under section 18 or section 19 except where such order was made with the consent of the parties to the dispute. The Munsif shall, on an appeal being disposed of, send a copy of his order to the officer or authority whose decision is appealed against.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter III.—Bargadars.—Clauses 21, 22.—Chapter IV.—Provisions as to revenue.—Clause 23.)

(2) The period within which the appeal mentioned in sub-section (1) must be filed shall be thirty days from the date of the order appealed against.

Procedure and execution.

[21. (1) The procedure to be followed by the Revenue Officer or by an Appellate Officer in deciding disputes or appeals shall be as may be prescribed.

(2) An order made by the Revenue Officer or by an Appellate Officer shall be executed by the Revenue Officer in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) No order made by the Revenue Officer or an Appellate Officer for the ejectment of a bargadar shall be executed except during the months of Chaitra and Baisakh of the Bengali year.]

21. (1) The procedure to be followed in deciding disputes or appeals under this Chapter and the fees to be paid by the parties shall be as may be prescribed.

(2) Any order made under this Chapter including an order passed on appeal shall be executed by the officer or authority appointed by the State Government, in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) No order for the ejectment of a bargadar shall be executed except during the months of Chaitra or Baisakh of the Bengali year.

Bar of jurisdiction.

[22. (1) No order or other proceedings whatsoever of a Revenue Officer or of an Appellate Officer under this Chapter and no proceedings whatsoever in execution of such order shall be questioned in any Court.

(2) No Court shall entertain any suit or any proceedings whatsoever in respect of a matter required under sub-section (1) of section 19 to be decided by a Revenue Officer referred to in that sub-section.

(3) The State Government shall appoint officers to discharge the functions of Revenue Officers under this Chapter in specified areas and on such appointments being made all proceedings pending before any Bhagchas Conciliation Boards established under the West Bengal Bargadars Act, 1950, shall be deemed to be transferred to the Revenue Officer having jurisdiction over the area for which such Board was established.] [West Ben. Act II of 1950.]

22. (1) Save as provided in section 20, no order or other proceedings whatsoever under this Chapter shall be questioned in any civil court and no civil court shall entertain any suit or proceeding in respect of any matter mentioned in sections 18 and 19.

(2) On the appointment of officers or authorities under this Chapter all proceedings pending before any Bhagchas Conciliation Board established under the West Bengal Bargadars Act, 1950, shall stand transferred to the officer or authority having jurisdiction over the area in which the land, to which the proceedings relate, is situated. West Ben. Act II of 1950.

CHAPTER IV.

Provisions as to [rent] revenue.

Liability to pay [rent.] revenue.

[23. (1) Rent shall be the first charge on a holding.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act, every raiyat shall pay rent either in cash or in kind or partly in cash and partly in kind as may be fixed in accordance with the provisions of this Act and such rules as may be framed under this Act:

Provided that until rent has been so fixed, the raiyat shall be liable to pay rent which was payable by him at the commencement of this Act.]

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter IV.—Provisions as to revenue—Clauses 23—26.)

23. (1) A raiyat shall be liable to pay such revenue for his holding as may be determined in accordance with the provisions of this Act and the rules framed thereunder:

Provided that until revenue has been so determined, a raiyat shall be liable to pay the same amount as revenue which was payable by him as rent for his holding at the commencement of this Act:

Provided further that when a raiyat claims to have held any land free of rent or at a rent fixed in perpetuity before the commencement of this Act, the State Government may, after such enquiry as it may consider necessary, into the validity of such claim allow such claim or disallow it.

(2) Revenue shall be the first charge on a holding.

Determination of [rent-rates.] revenue-rates.

24. (1) The State Government may make an order directing the Revenue Officer—

(a) to determine the [rent-rates] revenue-rates for any district or part of a district in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed;

(b) to settle fair and equitable [rents] revenue for each raiyat in such district or part of a district after the [rent-rates] revenue-rates have been prepared and confirmed under this Chapter.

(2) A notification in the Official Gazette of an order under this section shall be conclusive evidence that the order has been duly made.

Procedure of determining [rent-rates.] revenue-rates.

25. (1) When an order is made under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 24, the Revenue Officer may, for the purpose of determining the [rent-rates] revenue-rates, divide a district into units of area according to such rules as may be prescribed and shall then determine the [rent-rates] revenue-rates for different classes of lands in each such unit of area in the manner and according to the principles prescribed.

(2) In determining the revenue-rates for the different classes of land under sub-section (1), the Revenue Officer shall take into consideration—

(i) the nature of the soil and general productivity of such land;

(ii) the average yield of crops per acre;

(iii) the average prices of crops grown on such land during the twenty years preceding the date of the order under sub-section (1) of section 24;

(iv) the market value of any land not used for growing any crops:

Provided that the rate per acre of any class of land shall not exceed—

(a) in respect of land which grows paddy, one-fifth of the value of the yield per acre;

(b) in respect of land growing crops other than paddy, one-tenth of the value of the yield per acre;

(c) in respect of land not used for growing crops, two per centum of the market value of such land.

Publication and confirmation of table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates.

26. (1) When the Revenue Officer has determined the [rent-rates] revenue-rates he shall prepare a table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates [showing the rates of rent payable in cash and in kind] in the prescribed form and cause it to be published in the prescribed manner and for the prescribed period.

(2) Any person objecting to any entry in the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates may present a petition in writing

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter IV.—Provisions as to revenue.—Clauses 27—30.) to the Revenue Officer during the period of publication and the Revenue Officer shall consider any such petition after giving a hearing to the objector.

(3) The Revenue Officer shall submit the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates to such Revenue Authority as may be prescribed together with—

(a) a full statement of the grounds in support of his proposals;

(b) a summary of the objections, if any; and

(c) his decisions on such objections.

(4) Such Revenue Authority may, after hearing objections, if any, which have been disallowed by the Revenue Officer,—

(a) confirm the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates submitted to him under sub-section (3) with or without modification but so as not to increase the rates, or

(b) remit the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates to the Revenue Officer for revision if he is of the opinion that the rates should be enhanced:

Provided that the Revenue Authority shall not confirm a table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates without the previous approval of the State Government:

Provided further that before the State Government accords its approval to a table of revenue-rates such table shall be laid before the State Legislature.

(5) Pending the hearing of objections referred to in sub-section (4) by the Revenue Authority, the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates shall be open to inspection in his office by persons interested on payment of the prescribed fees.

Rates shown as the maximum.

27. (1) The [rent-rates] revenue-rates for any class of land in any unit of area as determined under section 26 shall, subject to the provisions of section 30, be the maximum rate at which the [rent] revenue of a raiyat holding land of that class in such area may be settled.

(2) After the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates has been confirmed by the Revenue Authority under sub-section (4) of section 26, it shall be published in the prescribed manner.

Rates of [rent,] revenue, etc., to form part of record-of-rights.

28. The table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates determined under this Chapter shall be incorporated in the prescribed manner in the village record-of-rights maintained under Chapter VI.

Duration of [rent-rates] revenue rates.

29. When the table or tables of [rent-rates] revenue-rates for any district or part of a district have been published, the rates indicated therein shall not, save as provided in section 33, be altered until a period of fifteen years has elapsed from the date of confirmation of such table or tables.

Settlement of fair and equitable [rent] revenue.

30. (1) After a table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates has been prepared and published, the Revenue Officer shall proceed to settle the [rent] revenue payable by each raiyat in the area to which the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates applies and prepare a [rent-roll] revenue-roll in accordance with the rates indicated in the table, and containing such particulars as may be prescribed.

[(2) In settling the rent of each raiyat, the Revenue Officer shall give him the option to declare whether he would pay the rent in cash or in kind (paddy) or in both. The option so exercised by the raiyat will not be allowed to be altered during a period of fifteen years.]

(3) In settling [rents] revenue the Revenue Officer shall, subject to such further provisions as may be prescribed in this behalf, observe the following principles, namely:—

[the aggregate of all lands held by a raiyat shall be deemed to constitute the holding of such raiyat

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter IV.—Provisions as to revenue.—Clause 30.)

and settlement of rent of such holding shall be made—

(i) in respect of any land comprised in the holding on which paddy is grown in accordance with the following scale, namely:—

Area of land in the holding.	Rate of rent.
For the first 2 acres ..	(a) In the case of raiyats who pay rent in kind—Nil.
	(b) In the case of raiyats who pay rent in cash or partly in cash and partly in kind —Ten per centum of the rent-rate.
For the next 3 acres ...	Twenty-five per centum of the rent-rate.
For the next 5 acres ...	Fifty per centum of the rent-rate.
For the next 5 acres ...	Sixty-two and half per centum of the rent-rate.
For the next 10 acres ...	Seventy-five per centum of the rent-rate.
For the remainder ...	Cent. per centum of the rent-rate.

(ii) in respect of other lands comprised in the holding, at the rent-rate applicable to such class of lands;

(iii) when the lands belonging to a raiyat are of different classes or when such lands are situated in different units of area the settlement of the rent of the holding comprising such lands shall be made by applying the average of the rent-rates which are applicable to the different classes, or to the different units of area in which the lands are situated.]

(i) in respect of any land comprised in a holding on which paddy is grown, revenue shall be determined in accordance with the following scale:—

Area of the land in the holding.	Rate of revenue.
For the first 2 acres ...	Ten per centum of the revenue-rate.
For the next 3 acres ...	Twenty per centum of the revenue-rate.
For the next 5 acres ..	Fifty per centum of the revenue-rate.
For the next 5 acres ...	Sixty-two and a half per centum of the revenue-rate.
For the remainder ...	Seventy-five per centum of the revenue-rate.

(ii) in respect of other lands comprised in the holding, revenue shall be determined according to such percentage or percentages of the revenue-rate applicable to such land as may be prescribed, provided that in determining the revenue for such land, homestead not exceeding one bigha should be excluded;

(iii) when any land mentioned in clause (i) consists of parts to which different revenue-rates are applicable, the determination of the revenue of such land shall be made by applying the average of such revenue-rates, the average being calculated in the prescribed manner.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter IV.—Provisions as to revenue.—Clauses 31—35.)

(4) The State Government may appoint one or more Revenue Officers for the whole of West Bengal, to be called Special Revenue Officers, to settle the [rents] revenues payable by raiyats having lands in areas under the jurisdiction of more than one Revenue Officer and such Revenue Officer shall in settling the [rents] revenues payable by such raiyats follow the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3). Such Special Revenue Officers shall have all the powers and discharge all the duties of Revenue Officers under this Chapter.

Draft and final publication of [rent-roll.] revenue-roll.

31. (1) When a [rent-roll] revenue-roll has been prepared, the Revenue Officer shall cause a draft of it to be published in the prescribed manner and for the prescribed period and shall receive and consider any objection made to any entry therein or any omission therefrom during the period of publication and shall dispose of such objection in the manner prescribed.

(2) When all such objections have been considered and disposed of, the Revenue Officer shall finally frame the [rent-roll] revenue-roll and publish it in the prescribed manner and make a certificate stating the fact of such final publication and the date thereof and subscribe the same under his name and official designation.

(3) Any person aggrieved by an order passed by a Revenue Officer on any objection made under sub-section (1) may appeal in the prescribed manner to the prescribed authority.

(4) Every entry in the [rent-roll] revenue-roll finally published under sub-section (2) shall, subject to any modification that may be made on any appeal under sub-section (3), be final.

Date from which settlement takes effect.

32. When [rent] revenue is settled by a Revenue Officer under this Chapter in respect of any area, it shall take effect from the beginning of the agricultural year next after the date of the final publication of the [rent-roll] revenue-roll for that area under sub-section (2) of section 31. The [rent] revenue so settled shall be recorded in the record-of-rights for the area to which such [rent-roll] revenue-roll relates.

Period for which [rent] revenue as settled is to remain unaltered.

33. When the [rent] revenue of a raiyat has been settled under this Chapter, it shall not ordinarily be revised for a period of fifteen years: provided however that if in the opinion of the State Government circumstances have so changed as to cause [increase or] decrease in the yield or price of crops in a particular area or generally, it may, by order direct a revision of the table of [rent-rates] revenue-rates and the [rent-rolls] revenue-rolls in respect of a particular area or generally at any time before the expiry of fifteen years and such order shall specify the period for which the revised [rent-rates] revenue-rates and [rent-rolls] revenue-rolls will remain in force. The procedure laid down in sections 25 to 32 shall apply to such revision.

Grounds for reduction of [rent.] revenue.

34. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 33, the [rent] revenue payable by a raiyat may be [reduced] altered on any one or more of the following grounds, namely:—

(a) that the holding of the raiyat has increased or decreased in area due to partition, subdivision or any other cause subsequent to the settlement of [rent] revenue;

(b) that there has been a reduction in yield for a period of not less than three consecutive years on account of failure of the facilities for irrigation or any natural cause.

Bar to jurisdiction of Civil Court.

35. No suit or other legal proceedings shall be instituted in any Civil Court in respect of the determination of [rent-rates] revenue-rates or the settlement of any [rent] revenue, or the omission to determine any [rent-rates] revenue-rates, or settle any [rent] revenue under this Chapter.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter IV.—Provisions as to revenue.—Clauses 36—39.—Chapter V.—Consolidation of lands comprised in holdings, and Co-operative Farming Societies.—Clause 40.)

Instalment, time and place for payment of [rent.] revenue.

36. (1) A raiyat shall pay [rent] revenue in such instalments, in such manner and at such times as may be prescribed.

(2) Payment of [rent] revenue shall be made [or delivered] at the village tahsil office or at such other place and in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) Any instalment of [rent] revenue or part thereof which is not duly paid [or delivered] at the prescribed time shall be deemed to be an arrear.

Raiyat entitled to a receipt for [rent.] revenue.

37. Every raiyat shall on making payment of [rent] revenue be entitled to obtain forthwith a written receipt in the prescribed form for the amount paid [or delivered] by him, signed by the person authorised to make collection of [rent] revenue.

Rebate on payment in time and interest on arrears.

38. (1) Every raiyat who makes payment of [rent] revenue within the prescribed period shall be entitled to a rebate of five per centum of the amount of [rent] revenue.

(2) An arrear of [rent] revenue shall bear simple interest at the rate of six and a quarter per centum per annum from the due date up to the date of payment.

Procedure for recovery of arrears of [rent.] revenue.

39. All arrears of [rent] revenue shall be deemed to be public demands payable to the Collector and shall, subject to such rules as may be made in this behalf, be recoverable under the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, 1913: Ben. Act III of 1913.

Provided that no raiyat shall be liable to be arrested or detained in civil prison or to have any movable or immovable property other than the holding excluding the homestead to which the arrears of [rent] revenue relate, attached or sold in pursuance of any order under the said Act [.]:

[Explanation.—For purposes of this section, arrears of rent shall include the money value of the rent payable in kind.] Provided further that before the holding is sold, the raiyat shall, on an application made by him, be allowed to pay off the arrears in such instalments as may be prescribed.

CHAPTER V.

[Consolidation of holdings and co-operative farms.]

Consolidation of lands comprised in holdings, and Co-operative Farming Societies.

Acquisition of holding for consolidation.

[40. The State Government may, on the representation of not less than ten raiyats owning lands in any area, or on its own motion, acquire the land in any area on payment of compensation to the raiyats owning them, when the holdings in such area are not in compact blocks if it is of the opinion that the holdings in such area should be consolidated.]

40. The State Government may—

(a) on the representation of raiyats in any area, or

(b) on its own motion, acquire the lands in any area on payment of compensation to the raiyats owning them when the lands comprised in the holdings of the raiyats in such area are not in compact blocks, if the State Government is of the opinion that the lands comprised in the holding in such area should be consolidated:

Provided that the State Government shall not undertake consolidation of lands as aforesaid unless two-thirds or more of the owners of the holdings which will be affected by such consolidation agree to it.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter V.—Consolidation of holdings and Co-operative Farming Societies—Clauses 41—44.)

Redistribution of land after acquisition.

41. [On such acquisition being made, the State Government shall re-arrange the lands in compact blocks and redistribute them to the raiyats whose lands have been acquired in such manner as it thinks fit:]

On such acquisition being made, the State Government shall re-arrange the holdings so that the lands comprised in each is in a compact block and re-allot them to the raiyats whose lands have been acquired, in such manner as it thinks fit, ensuring that each raiyat gets a holding comprising the same area, and, as far as possible, lands of the same quality and value as before the consolidation:

Provided that no raiyat shall be entitled to receive any land in excess of the area held by him prior to acquisition:

Provided further that on such allotment being made there shall be deducted from the amount of compensation payable to a raiyat under section 40 the value of the land allotted to him after acquisition.

Transference of incumbrances on holding.

42. If the holding of a raiyat which is acquired for the purposes of consolidation is subject to any incumbrance, such incumbrance shall be deemed to be transferred and attached to the land which is allotted to the raiyat after acquisition [or] and to the compensation, if any, payable to him under this Chapter and shall cease to have any effect against the land from which it has been so transferred.

Recovery of the excess value of allotted land.

43. If the value of the land allotted to a raiyat after acquisition be greater than the value of the land acquired from such raiyat, the difference in value shall be recoverable from him in such instalments as may be prescribed and if such difference be not paid within the time allowed for the purpose, it shall be recoverable as a public demand payable to the Collector unless the raiyat declines to accept settlement of the land allotted to him.

[Formation of co-operative farms of uneconomic holding.

44. (1) Any fifteen or more raiyats owning uneconomic holding with an aggregate area of not less than thirty acres of cultivable lands in a compact block and desiring to start a co-operative farm may apply in writing in the prescribed form to the Registrar, Co-operative Societies for the registration of such farm under the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act, 1940.

Ben. Act XXI of 1940.

Explanation.—"Uneconomic holding" means a holding comprising cultivable lands not exceeding five acres in the aggregate.

(2) The Registrar may, after such enquiry as he may deem fit, register the farm under the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act, 1940, and grant a certificate of registration.

(3) When a co-operative farm has been registered under sub-section (2), all agricultural lands belonging to the raiyats who are members of the co-operative farm shall vest in the co-operative farm and in lieu of such lands there shall be allotted to the members shares of equal value.]

Formation of Co-operative Farming Societies.

44. (1) Any seven or more raiyats owning lands in a compact block or intending to acquire such land, may form themselves into a Co-operative Farming Society and apply in writing, in the prescribed form, to the Registrar, Co-operative Societies, for the registration of such society under the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act, 1940.

Ben. Act XXI of 1940.

(2) The Registrar may, after such enquiry as he may deem fit, register the Society under the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act, 1940, and grant a certificate of registration.

(3) When a Co-operative Farming Society has been registered under sub-section (2), all lands, excluding homesteads, belonging to the members thereof, whether owned by them at the time when they became such members or acquired by them subsequently, shall vest in the society, and no member shall be entitled to hold any land, excluding homestead, in his personal capacity so long as he continues to be a member of the society.

(4) When the lands belonging to a member of a Co-operative Farming Society vest in such society, there shall be allotted to him shares of equal value.

(5) Notwithstanding anything elsewhere contained in this Act, no Co-operative Farming Society shall have the right to acquire or hold any land except the land which vests in it under sub-section (3).

Restriction on transfer of shares in a Co-operative [Farm] Farming Society.

45. [(1) The shares held by a member of a co-operative farm shall not be transferred to any person other than a raiyat holding land in the locality in which the farm has been established.]

(1) The shares held by a member of a Co-operative Farming Society shall not be transferred to any person other than another member of the society or a raiyat or other person residing in the locality in which the society has been established.

[(2) When a raiyat purchases shares in a co-operative farm all lands belonging to him in that locality shall vest in the co-operative farm and there shall be allotted to him shares equal in value to that of the lands which so vest.]

(3) Subject to the restrictions mentioned in sub-section (1), the shares held by a member of a [Co-operative farm] Co-operative Farming Society shall be transferable and heritable.

Dissolution of a [Co-operative farm] Co-operative Farming Society.

46. No [Co-operative farm] Co-operative Farming Society established in accordance with the provisions of this Act shall be wound up or dissolved except under the orders of the State Government.

[Transfer of lands on dissolution of a Co-operative farm.

47. When a co-operative farm is wound up or dissolved, the transfer of lands belonging to it shall be subject to the provisions of this Act and subject to such rules as may be prescribed.]

Transfer of lands on dissolution of a Co-operative Farming Society.

47. When a Co-operative Farming Society is wound up or dissolved, the prescribed authority shall allot to its members, in such manner and subject to such rules as may be prescribed, all the lands vested in the society, ensuring as far as possible, that each such member gets lands comprising the same area and of the same quality and value as those held or acquired by him before his lands vested in the society.

[Rent payable by a Co-operative farm.

48. When a co-operative farm is established under the provisions of this Act, the aggregate of the rents payable by its members before the establishment of the farm shall be the rent payable by the co-operative farm for the lands vesting in it.]

Revenue payable by a Co-operative Farming Society.

48. When a Co-operative Farming Society is established under the provisions of this Act, the aggregate of the revenues which would have been payable by its members for their lands, if the society had not been established, shall be the revenue payable by the society for the lands vesting in it, subject to such reduction as may be allowed under section 49.

Concession and facilities for a Co-operative [Farm] Farming Society.

49. [(1) A co-operative farm shall be entitled to such concessions and facilities from the State Government as may be prescribed.]

(1) A Co-operative Farming Society established under this Act shall be entitled to such concessions and facilities from the State Govermnent as may be prescribed.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter VA.—Principles of distribution of lands.—Clause 49A.—Chapter VI.—Maintenance and revision of the record-of-rights.—Clauses 50, 51.—Chapter VII.—Management of estates vested in the State.—Clause 52.)

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions, such concessions and facilities may include—

(a) such [remission or suspension] reduction of [rent] revenue as Government may allow;

(b) free supply of seeds and manure for the first three years and thereafter at concessional rates;

(c) free technical advice by the experts of the State Government;

(d) financial assistance on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed;

CHAPTER VA.

Principles of distribution of lands.

Principles of distribution of lands.

49A. Subject to the provisions of this Act, settlement of lands which are at the disposal of the State Government shall be made, on such terms and conditions and in such manner as may be prescribed, with persons who are residents of the locality where the land is situated and who intend to bring the land under personal cultivation and who own no land or less than two acres of land, preference being given to those among such persons who form themselves into a Co-operative Farming Society:

Provided that no premium shall be charged for such settlement.

CHAPTER VI.

Maintenance and revision of the record-of-rights.

Maintenance of the record-of-rights.

50. The Revenue Officer especially empowered by the State Government in this behalf shall maintain up-to-date in the prescribed manner the village record-of-rights by incorporating therein the changes on account of—

(a) mutation of names as a result of transfer or inheritance;

[(b) separation, amalgamation or consolidation of holdings, or establishment of co-operative farms;]

(b) partition, exchange, or consolidation of lands comprised in holdings, or establishment of Co-operative Farming Societies;

(c) new settlement of lands or of holdings;

(d) variation of [rent] revenue;

(e) alteration in the mode of cultivation, for example, by a bargadar;

(f) such other causes as necessitate a change in the record-of-rights.

Revision of the record-of-rights.

51. The State Government may, in any case if it thinks fit, make an order directing that a record-of-rights in respect of any district or part of a district be revised by a Revenue Officer in accordance with such rules as may be made by the State Government in this behalf.

CHAPTER VII.

Management of estates vested in the State.

Management of estates.

52. All lands and all interests therein belonging to the State shall, unless the State Government otherwise directs by any general or special order and subject to such rules as may be made by the State Government in this behalf, be managed by the Collector of the district in which the lands are situated:

Provided that the State Government may entrust the management of all lands belonging to it in any area to such authority as may be prescribed and such authority shall, thereupon, manage the lands subject to the control of the State Government and in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed.

CHAPTER VIII.

Miscellaneous.

Delegation of powers by the State Government.

53. The State Government may by a notification in the Official Gazette delegate any of the powers under sections 4, 8, 40 and 41 to be exercised by the prescribed authority subject to such reservation as may be specified in the notification.

Appeals.

54. Subject to any special provisions for appeal made in this Act or in any rules made under this Act, an appeal shall lie in the manner indicated below—

(a) to the Collector of the district, when the order is made by a Revenue Officer or revenue authority below the rank of a Collector of a district;

(b) to the Commissioner of the Division, when the order is made by the Collector of a district within the Division;

(c) to the officer holding for the time being the office of Member, Board of Revenue, when the order is made by the Commissioner of a Division:

Provided that where an order is confirmed on appeal no further appeal shall lie under this section.

Limitation for appeals.

55. Save as expressly provided in this Act or the rules made thereunder, the period of limitation for an appeal under section 54 shall run from the date of the order appealed against and shall be as follows, that is to say—

(a) when the appeal lies to the Collector—thirty days;

(b) when the appeal lies to the Commissioner of a Division—sixty days;

(c) when the appeal lies to the officer holding for the time being the office of the Member, Board of Revenue—ninety days.

Power to enter upon land, to make survey, etc.

56. A Revenue Officer, or any officer authorised by him subject to any rules made under this Act, may at any time enter upon any land but not a dwelling house with such officers or other persons as he considers necessary, and make a survey or take measurement thereof or do any other acts which he considers to be necessary for carrying out any of his duties under this Act.

Power to compel production of records and documents and to enforce attendance of witnesses.

57. Subject to the provisions of this Act and any rules made under this Act, any officer in dealing with proceedings under this Act shall exercise the powers of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, for the purposes of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and the production of records or documents or in enforcing or executing [his] orders including [any] an order for restoration of possession as if such orders were decrees of a Civil Court [.] and such officer shall record the substance of the evidence, if any, taken by him. Act V of 1908.

Protection of action taken under this Act.

58. (1) No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of this Act or any rules made thereunder.

The West Bengal Land Reforms Bill, 1955.

(Chapter VIII.—Miscellaneous.—Clauses 59,60.)

(2) No suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against the State Government for any damage caused or likely to be caused or for any injury suffered or likely to be suffered by virtue of any provisions of this Act or by anything in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of this Act or any rules made thereunder.

Repeal.

59. The following Regulation and Acts are hereby repealed, namely:—

(1) The Bengal Alluvion and Diluvion Regulation, 1825.	Ben. Regn. XI of 1825.
(2) The Bengal Alluvion and Diluvion Act, 1847.	IX of 1847.

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Wood & Steel Products, post office Panihati, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Iron & Steel Workers' Union, 172, Banaras Road, Salkia, Howrah.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the Union: None.

For the Company: Shri M. C. Laha, Director-in-charge.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Wood & Steel Products, post office Panihati, 24-Parganas, and their workmen represented by Iron & Steel Workers' Union, 172, Banaras Road, Salkia, Howrah, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issues, was referred under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2237Dis./D/101-46/55, dated the 18th May 1955, to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

The schedule was as follows:—

(1) Is the lock-out of the Factory (vide Company's notice, dated 31st December 1954), justified?

(2) What relief or compensation are the workers entitled to?

FINDINGS.

On 6th June 1955, the Vice-President of the Union appeared and wanted time to file the written statement. Time was allowed till 14th June 1955. On this date the Vice-President prayed for an adjournment of a fortnight. The request was granted. On 28th June 1955, the Union was absent and no step was taken on its behalf. The Union was informed by means of a registered letter that if it failed to appear and file the written statement on 2nd July 1955, the case would be heard ex parte. On 2nd July 1955, the Union was absent and no steps were taken on behalf of it. As the acknowledgment form of the registered letter was not received in office, hearing of the case was adjourned till 8th July 1955. On 8th July 1955, the Vice-President was again informed by a registered letter that the case would be heard ex parte if written statement was not filed by 20th July 1955. The Union still was not taking any steps and was found absent.

The Director of the Company appeared on 28th June 1955 on behalf of the Company. It is surprising that in spite of repeated facilities the Union has not cared to take any steps. In its petition, dated 14th June 1955, the Union mentioned in paragraph 1 that the lock-out had been lifted and normal work was going on. Yet the Director-in-charge of the Company, examined on oath on 20th July 1955, said that the factory had been closed down on account of shortage of fund and lack of orders. Be that as it may, since the Union has not taken any steps it is presumed that there is no existing dispute.

A "No-Dispute" award is made accordingly.

Constitution of Gram Sabha.

3. (1) When this Act has come into force in any area, the State Government may, by notification, constitute one or more Gram Sabhas within such area for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The State Government shall specify the name and the local limits of the jurisdiction of every Gram Sabha in the notification mentioned in sub-section (1).

Repeal and amendment of certain enactments.

4. (1) On the constitution of a Gram Sabha or Gram Sabhas in an area as aforesaid, the enactments specified in column 3 of Schedule I shall from the date of election or appointment of the first Adhyaksha of the Gram Panchayat under section 12 or section 15, as the case may be, cease to be in force in the area concerned to the extent and in the manner specified in column 4 thereof:

Provided that until a new assessment is made under this Act, any assessment, rate, tax, toll, fee or other imposition which was in force in such area under the enactments repealed or amended as aforesaid, shall continue to be in force and all sums due on account of such rate, tax, toll, fee or other imposition in arrears or accruing shall be realised by such authority as may be prescribed by the State Government as if they were due under the provisions of this Act.

(2) When, in consequence of the repeal of the enactments referred to in sub-section (1), any Panchayat, union committee or union board in any area ceases to exist, all the properties, funds and other assets which are vested in such Panchayat, union committee or union board, as the case may be, and all the rights and liabilities thereof shall, save as provided in the proviso to sub-section (1), vest in the State Government.

Power to alter Gram Sabha areas.

5. (1) The State Government may, after consulting the views of the Gram Sabha or Sabhas concerned, by notification—

(a) exclude from the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Gram Sabha any area comprised therein; or

(b) include within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Gram Sabha any area in the vicinity thereof; or

(c) divide the area of any Gram Sabha so as to constitute two or more Gram Sabhas; or

(d) unite the areas of two or more Gram Sabhas so as to constitute a single Gram Sabha; or (e) otherwise alter or revise the limits of any Gram Sabha.

(2) When an area is included within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Gram Sabha under sub-section (1), such area shall become subject to all laws, rules, regulations, by-laws and orders in force in the area of the Gram Sabha.

(3) When an area is excluded from the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Gram Sabha the enactments specified in column 3 of Schedule I shall from the date of such exclusion, ipso facto come into force in such area:

Provided that all assessments, rates, taxes, fees, tolls and other impositions made and imposed under this Act shall continue to be in force in the area until new assessments are made and new taxes, rates, fees, tolls and other impositions made and imposed under the enactments specified in column 3 of Schedule I and all assets and liabilities relating to such area shall vest in the State Government who shall pass such orders as to their disposal as it thinks fit.

Effect of inclusion of a Gram Sabha in a municipality, etc.

6. If, at any time, the whole of the area of a Gram Sabha is included in a municipality or in an area under the authority of a Municipal Corporation, a Town Committee or a Cantonment, the Gram Sabha shall cease to exist and the properties, funds and other assets vested in such Gram Sabha and all the rights and liabilities of such Gram Sabha shall vest in and devolve on the municipality or on the Municipal Corporation or on the Town Committee, or on the Cantonment authority, as the case may be.

7. (1) Every Gram Sabha shall consist of all persons whose names are included in the electoral roll of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly for the time being in force pertaining to the area for which the Gram Sabha has been constituted.

(2) The prescribed authority shall from time to time maintain a list of the names of the persons referred to in sub-section (1) and such list shall be the list of members of the Gram Sabha.

Incorporation of Gram Sabha.

8. Every Gram Sabha shall, by the name notified under section 3, be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal and shall, subject to any restrictions or qualifications, if any, imposed under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force, have power to accept a gift of, acquire, hold, administer and transfer property, both movable and immovable, and to contract and do all other things necessary for the purposes of this Act, and shall by the said name sue or be sued.

Annual and half-yearly general meeting of the Gram Sabha.

9. (1) Every Gram Sabha shall hold one annual general meeting and one half-yearly general meeting:

Provided that the Adhyakshya of the Gram Panchayat may, at any time, and shall, upon a requisition in writing by not less than one-fifth of the total number of members of the Gram Sabha, within thirty days from the receipt of such requisition, convene an extraordinary general meeting.

(2) The requisition referred to in the proviso to sub-section (1) shall state the objects of the meeting and shall be signed by the members requisitioning and shall be deposited or delivered at the office of the Gram Sabha, and may consist of several documents each signed by one or more members.

(3) If the Adhyakshya of the Gram Panchayat concerned fails to convene the meeting within the thirty days, the prescribed authority shall, on a written request made by the members requisitioning, within fifteen days from the date of expiry of the period mentioned in the proviso to sub-section (1), convene the meeting within thirty days from the date of receipt of the written request.

(4) The meetings of a Gram Sabha shall be held in such manner and at such time and place as may be prescribed.

Business at the general meetings.

10. (1) The Gram Sabha shall—

(a) at the annual general meeting—

(i) consider the budget for the following year,

(ii) consider the report submitted by the Gram Panchayat on the work done during the previous year and the work proposed to be done during the following year, and give such directions to the Gram Panchayat as it may deem necessary, and

(iii) transact such other business as may be prescribed;

(b) at the half-yearly general meeting, transact such other business as may be prescribed.

(2) Every member of the Gram Sabha shall have the right of asking for information on all matters relating to the administration of the Gram Panchayat at the meetings referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) The Adhyakshya of the Gram Panchayat or in his absence the Upadhyakshya of the Gram Panchayat of the Gram Sabha concerned, shall preside at the meetings of the Gram Sabha and in the absence of both, the Gram Sabha shall elect in the manner prescribed one of the members present at the meeting to preside.

Quorum.

11. (1) No business shall be transacted at any meeting of the Gram Sabha unless at least one-tenth of the total number of members of the Gram Sabha is present.

(2) In case there be no quorum present, the meeting shall be adjourned to a date within one month to be announced at the meeting by the person presiding, and at the adjourned meeting no quorum shall be necessary.

(3) At the adjourned meeting no business shall be transacted other than the business which was on the agenda of the meeting at which the adjournment took place.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part I.—Chapter III.—Gram Panchayat.—Clauses 12, 13.)

CHAPTER III.

Gram Panchayat.

Establishment, incorporation and constitution of Gram Panchayat.

12. (1) There shall be a Gram Panchayat for every Gram Sabha.

(2) The members of a Gram Sabha shall elect in the manner prescribed from amongst themselves such number of members not being less than nine or more than fifteen as may be determined by the prescribed authority, and the members so elected shall constitute the Gram Panchayat.

(3) Every Gram Panchayat shall be a body corporate by the name of the Gram Panchayat of the Gram Sabha concerned, having perpetual succession and a common seal and shall, subject to the restrictions or qualifications, if any, imposed under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force, have power to accept a gift of, acquire, hold, administer and transfer property both movable and immovable and to contract or do all things necessary for carrying out its duties under this Act and shall, by its name, sue and be sued.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (2), the State Government may associate with any Gram Panchayat elected under sub-section (1) or appointed under section 14, for such period as it thinks fit, any person whether a member of the Gram Sabha concerned or not, who may, in the opinion of the State Government, possess special qualifications for serving on the Gram Panchayat to enable it to function effectively; and all such person or persons shall be deemed to be members of the Gram Panchayat for all purposes except that they shall not have the right to vote:

Provided that the total number of persons so associated with a Gram Panchayat shall not exceed one-third of the total number of members constituting the Gram Panchayat.

(5) Every Gram Panchayat shall at its first meeting at which a quorum is present elect one of its members to be the Adhyaksha and another member to be the Upadhyaksha of the Gram Panchayat in the manner prescribed:

Provided that if the Gram Panchayat fails to elect an Adhyaksha, the Adhyaksha of the outgoing Gram Panchayat shall resume office and continue to hold the same until a new Adhyaksha is elected.

Term of office of members, Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha.

13. (1) The term of office of the members of the Gram Panchayat shall, subject to the provisions of section 22, be four years computed from the date of the first meeting of the Gram Panchayat at which a quorum is present:

Provided that the prescribed authority may, by notification, extend the term by such period not exceeding one year as may be specified in the notification:

Provided further that notwithstanding anything contained in this section, every member of the Gram Panchayat shall continue to hold office until the first meeting of the newly formed Gram Panchayat after a fresh election at which a quorum is present.

(2) An elected Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha of a Gram Panchayat shall, subject to the provisions of sections 19 and 20, hold office for four years from the date of his election as Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha, as the case may be.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2), an elected Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha shall be deemed to have vacated office as soon as the newly formed Gram Panchayat has assembled at the meeting held under the provisions of sub-section (5) of section 12.

Appointment of members by prescribed authority.

14. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 12, the prescribed authority may constitute the first Gram Panchayat and appoint the members thereof from amongst the members of the Gram Sabha concerned for a period not exceeding two years from the date of the notification mentioned in section 3 after which they shall be replaced by members elected in the manner prescribed and thereupon they shall be deemed to have vacated office:

Provided that if the members are appointed for a period of less than two years, the prescribed authority may, if it thinks fit, extend the period up to two years.

Appointment by prescribed authority of first Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha.

15. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Chapter, the prescribed authority may appoint two of the members of a Gram Panchayat to be its first Adhyaksha and first Upadhyaksha, respectively, for a period not exceeding two years from the date of the notification mentioned in section 3, after which period they shall be replaced by an Adhyaksha and an Upadhyaksha elected by the Gram Panchayat:

Provided that if the Adhyaksha and the Upadhyaksha are appointed for a period of less than two years, the prescribed authority may, if it thinks fit, extend the period up to two years.

Disqualifications of Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha and members of Gram Panchayat.

16. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Chapter, a person shall not be qualified for being elected or appointed an Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha or a member of a Gram Panchayat, if—

(a) he is under twenty-five years of age; or

(b) he has been dismissed from the service of the Central or State Government or local authority for misconduct and where the dismissal has been made by the Central or State Government, he has been debarred from employment in public service; or

(c) he has directly or indirectly, by himself or by his partner or employer or an employee, any share or interest in any contract with, by or on behalf of the Gram Sabha or Gram Panchayat; or

(d) he has been adjudged by a competent court to be of unsound mind; or

(e) he is an undischarged insolvent; or

(f) he being a discharged insolvent has not obtained from the court a certificate that his insolvency was caused by misfortune without any misconduct on his part; or

(g) any tax, toll, fee or rate due from him under this Act during the year previous to that in which the election is held remains unpaid.

(2) If any person is or has been convicted by a criminal court of an offence punishable with transportation or imprisonment for a period of more than six months, such person shall not be eligible for election or appointment as Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha or as a member of a Gram Panchayat, for five years from the date of expiration of the sentence:

Provided that, on application made by a person disqualified under this sub-section, the State Government may, if satisfied, on sufficient cause being shown, remove the disqualification by an order made in this behalf.

Election or appointment in a Gram Panchayat to be notified.

17. Every election or appointment of the members of a Gram Panchayat and its Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha shall be notified in the manner prescribed.

Resignation of Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha or member.

18. An Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha or a member of a Gram Panchayat may resign his office by notifying in writing his intention to do so to the prescribed authority and on such resignation being accepted by the said authority shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

Removal of Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha.

19. An elected Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha of a Gram Panchayat may at any time be removed from office by a resolution of the Gram Panchayat carried by the votes of not less than two-thirds of the total number of members holding office for the time being, at a meeting specially convened for the purpose:

Provided that if the number of members who have voted in favour of such resolution is less than two-thirds but more than one-half of the total number of members holding office for the time being, the prescribed authority may, if it thinks fit, by order, remove the Adhyaksha or the Upadhyaksha, as the case may be, from his office.

Filling of casual vacancies in the office of Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha.

20. (1) In the event of removal of an elected Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha under section 19 or when a vacancy occurs in the office of an elected Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha by resignation, death or otherwise, the Gram Panchayat shall elect another Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha in the prescribed manner.

(2) Every Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha elected under sub-section (1) shall hold office for the unexpired portion of the term of office of the person in whose place he is elected.

Removal of member of Gram Panchayat.

21. (1) The prescribed authority may, after giving an opportunity to a member of a Gram Panchayat to show cause against the action proposed to be taken against him, remove him from office—

(a) on the ground of misconduct in the discharge of his duties; or

(b) if he refuses to act or becomes incapable of acting as such member; or

(c) if after his election he is convicted by a criminal court of an offence punishable with transportation or imprisonment for a period of more than six months; or

(d) if he is absent from meetings of the Gram Panchayat for three consecutive months without the leave of the Gram Panchayat; or

(e) if he is in arrears for more than one year in payment of rates, tolls, fees or taxes to the Anchal Panchayat; or

(f) if he was disqualified to be a member of the Gram Panchayat at the time of his election or appointment, or (g) if he incurs any of the disqualifications mentioned in clauses (d), (e), and (f) of sub-section (1) of section 16, after his election as a member of the Gram Panchayat.

(2) Before removing a member under sub-section (1) the prescribed authority shall give the member concerned an opportunity of being heard.

(3) The State Government may, on application made by a person liable to be removed from office under clause (c) of sub-section (1), if satisfied on sufficient cause being shown, remove the disqualification by an order made in this behalf.

Filling of casual vacancy in place of a member of Gram Panchayat.

22. (1) If the seat of a member of a Gram Panchayat becomes vacant by reason of his death, resignation, removal or otherwise, the vacancy shall be filled in the prescribed manner by appointment or election, as the case may be, of another person under this Act.

(2) The person elected or appointed to a vacancy referred to in sub-section (1) shall hold office for the unexpired portion of the term of office of the person in whose place he is elected or appointed.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part I.—Chapter III.—Gram Panchayat.—Chapter IV—Anchal Panchayats.—Clauses 23—27.)

Meetings.

23. (1) Every Gram Panchayat shall hold a meeting at least once in a month at such time and place as the Adhyaksha may fix:

Provided that the Adhyaksha when required in writing by a majority of the members of the Panchayat to call a meeting shall do so within seven days, failing which the members aforesaid may, with the previous approval of the prescribed authority, call a meeting after giving seven clear days' notice to the Adhyaksha and the other members of the Panchayat.

(2) The Adhyaksha or in his absence the Upadhyaksha shall preside at the meetings of the Gram Panchayat; and in the absence of both, the members present shall elect one of their number to be the Chairman.

(3) The quorum shall be not less than one-third of the total number of members of the Gram Panchayat.

(4) All questions coming before a Gram Panchayat shall be decided by a majority of votes unless otherwise provided in this Act:

Provided that in case of equality of votes the person presiding shall have a second or casting vote.

List of business to be transacted at a meeting.

24. A list of the business to be transacted at every meeting of a Gram Panchayat, except at an adjourned meeting, shall be sent to each member of the Gram Panchayat at least forty-eight hours before the time fixed for such meeting; and no business shall be brought before or transacted at any meeting, other than the business of which notice has been so given.

Report on the work of Gram Panchayat.

25. The Gram Panchayat shall prepare and submit annually in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed time a report on the work done during the previous year to the Gram Sabha and also to the prescribed authority.

CHAPTER IV.

Anchal Panchayats.

Establishment of Anchal Panchayats.

26. (1) For the purposes hereinafter mentioned in this Act there shall be established Anchal Panchayats each comprising as many contiguous Gram Sabhas as the State Government may, by notification, fix in each case.

(2) The State Government shall in the notification, specify the names and territorial limits of the Anchal Panchayats.

Constitution of Anchal Panchayats.

27. (1) Every Anchal Panchayat shall consist of the members elected at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed from among the members of every Gram Sabha within its jurisdiction by the Gram Panchayat concerned in each case in the ratio of one member for every two hundred and fifty of the members of the Gram Sabha and one additional member if the number of the remaining members of the Gram Sabha is not less than one hundred and twenty-five:

Provided that no member of a Gram Sabha shall be elected to be a member of an Anchal Panchayat if he has any of the disqualifications mentioned in section 16:

Provided further that when a person who is a member of a Gram Panchayat is elected to an Anchal Panchayat under this sub-section, such person shall cease to be a member of the Gram Panchayat concerned, with effect from the date on which the names of the members of the Anchal Panchayat are notified under sub-section (2), and the vacancy caused thereby shall be filled in the manner laid down in section 22.

(2) The election of members of every Anchal Panchayat shall be notified in the manner prescribed.

(3) The term of office of a member of an Anchal Panchayat shall be four years computed from the date of the first meeting of the Anchal Panchayat at which a quorum is present and he shall continue to hold office until the first meeting of a newly constituted Anchal Panchayat after a general election at which a quorum is present.

(4) When a vacancy occurs in the membership of an Anchal Panchayat it shall be filled within two months from the date of the vacancy by election by the Gram Panchayat which elected the member whose seat has fallen vacant.

Pradhan and Upa-Pradhan of Anchal Panchayat.

28. (1) Every Anchal Panchayat shall at its first meeting at which a quorum is present elect in the manner prescribed one of its members to be its Pradhan and another member to be its Upa-Pradhan.

(2) The term of office of the Pradhan and the Upa-Pradhan of the Anchal Panchayat shall be the residue of his term of office as a member of the Anchal Panchayat:

Provided that an elected Pradhan or Upa-Pradhan shall continue in office until a new Pradhan or Upa-Pradhan is elected by the newly constituted Anchal Panchayat after a general election.

Application of sections 18 to 25 in certain cases.

29. The provisions of sections 18 to 25 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply in the case of an Anchal Panchayat, its Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan and member.

Committees of Anchal Panchayats.

30. An Anchal Panchayat may after the election of its Pradhan and Upa-Pradhan, constitute by specific resolutions at a meeting specially convened for the purpose such committee or committees for such purpose or purposes as it may specify and shall determine the number of members of each such committee.

Incorporation of Anchal Panchayat.

31. Every Anchal Panchayat shall by the name notified under section 26 be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal and shall, subject to the restrictions or qualifications, if any, imposed under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force, have power to accept a gift of, acquire, hold, administer and transfer property both movable and immovable and to contract or do all things necessary for the purposes of this Act, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

CHAPTER V.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF Gram Panchayats.

Obligatory duties of Gram Panchayat.

32. Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, a Gram Panchayat shall, as far as possible within the limits of the fund at its disposal provide within the area under its jurisdiction for—

(k) promotion of village plantations;

(l) arranging for cultivation of land lying fallow;

(m) arranging for co-operative management of land and other resources of the village;

(n) assisting in the implementation of land reform measure in its area; and

(o) the implementation of such schemes as may be formulated or performance of such acts as may be entrusted to the Gram Panchayat by the State Government.

(2) The State Government may at any time for reasons to be recorded in writing withdraw from a Gram Panchayat any function assigned to it under sub-section (1).

Discretionary duties of Gram Panchayat.

34. Subject to such conditions as may be prescribed, a Gram Panchayat may, and shall, if the State Government so directs, make provision for—

(a) the maintenance of lighting of public streets;

(b) planting and maintaining trees on the sides of public streets or in other public places vested in it;

(c) the sinking of wells and excavation of ponds and tanks;

(d) the introduction and promotion of co-operative farming, co-operative stores, and other co-operative enterprises, trades and callings;

(e) the construction and regulation of markets, the holding and regulation of fairs, melas and hats and exhibitions of local produce and products of local handicrafts and home industries;

(f) the allotment of places for storing manure;

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

'Part I.—Chapter V.—Powers and Duties of Gram Panchayats.—Clauses 35, 36.)

(i) the promotion and encouragement of cottage industries;

(j) the destruction of rabid or ownerless dogs;

(k) regulating the production and disposal of foodstuffs and other commodities in the manner prescribed;

(l) the construction and maintenance of sarais, dharamsalas, rest houses, cattle sheds and cart stands;

(m) the disposal of unclaimed cattle;

(n) the disposal of unclaimed corpses and carcasses;

(o) the establishment and maintenance of libraries and reading rooms;

(p) the organisation and maintenance of akharas, clubs and other places for recreation or games;

(q) the recording of marriages;

(r) the performance in the manner prescribed of any of the functions of the District Board, with its previous approval, calculated to benefit the people living within the jurisdiction of the Gram Panchayat;

(s) rendering assistance in extinguishing fire and protecting life and property when fire occurs;

(t) assisting in the prevention of burglary and dacoity;

(u) any other local work or service of public utility or which is likely to promote the health, comfort, convenience or material prosperity of the public, not otherwise provided for in this Act.

Delegation of duties to Gram Panchayat by the Central Government or State Government or local authority.

35. Nothing in sections 32, 33 and 34 shall be deemed to impose any duty or confer any power on the Gram Panchayat with respect to any matter which is under the direct administrative control of any department of the Central or State Government or of any local authority, unless such duty or power has been transferred or delegated to the Gram Panchayat by order of the Central or State Government, or of the local authority, as the case may be.

Improvement of sanitation.

36. (1) For the improvement of sanitation, a Gram Panchayat shall have power to do all acts necessary for, and incidental to, the performance of the functions entrusted or delegated to it and in particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power or to the provisions of any other Act, a Gram Panchayat may require the owner or occupier of any land or building, by written notice and within a reasonable period to be specified in the notice, after taking into consideration his financial position,—

(a) to close, remove, alter, repair, cleanse, disinfect, or put in good order any latrine, urinal, water-closet, drain, cess-pool, or other receptacle for filth, sullage water, rubbish or refuse pertaining to such land or building, or to remove or alter any door or trap or construct any drain for any such latrine, urinal or water-closet which opens on to a street or drain or to shut off such latrine, urinal or water-closet by a sufficient roof or wall or fence from the view of persons passing by or dwelling in the neighbourhood;

(b) to cleanse, repair, cover, fill up, drain off or remove water from, a private well, tank, reservoir, pool, pit, depression or excavation therein which may be injurious to health or offensive to the neighbourhood;

(c) to clear off any vegetation, undergrowth, prickly pear or scrub jungle therefrom;

(d) to remove any dirt, dung, nightsoil, manure or any obnoxious or offensive matter therefrom and to cleanse the land or building:

Provided that a person on whom a notice has been served as aforesaid may, within thirty days of receipt of the notice, appeal to the prescribed authority against the order contained in the notice whereupon the prescribed authority may stay the operation of the order contained in the notice till the disposal of the appeal and it may, after giving such notice of the appeal to the Gram Panchayat concerned as may be prescribed, modify, set aside or confirm the order:

Provided further that the prescribed authority shall, when it confirms or modifies the order contained in the notice after the expiry of the period mentioned therein, fix a fresh period within which the order contained in the notice, as confirmed or modified by it, is to be carried out.

(2) If a person upon whom a notice has been served as aforesaid and which has not been set aside by the prescribed authority fails without sufficient reason to comply with the order contained in the notice or the order as modified by the prescribed authority, within the time specified in the notice or within the time fixed by the prescribed authority, as the case may be, he shall be liable, on conviction by a magistrate, to a fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Power of Gram Panchayat over public streets, water-ways and other matters.

37. A Gram Panchayat shall have control over all public streets and water-ways within its jurisdiction other than canals as defined in section 3 of the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876, not being private property and not being under the control of the Central or State Government or the District Board or any other local authority, and may do all things necessary for the maintenance and repair thereof, and may— Ben. Act III of 1876.

(a) construct new bridges and culverts;

(b) divert or close any such public street, bridge or culvert;

(c) widen, open, enlarge or otherwise improve any such public street, bridge or culvert and with minimum damage to the neighbouring fields, plant and preserve trees on the sides of such street;

(d) deepen or otherwise improve such waterways;

(e) with the sanction of the District Board and where there is a canal as defined in the Bengal Irrigation Act, 1876, with the sanction also of such officer as the State Government may prescribe, undertake irrigation projects;

(f) trim hedges and branches of trees projecting on public streets; and

(g) set apart by public notice any public source of water-supply for drinking or culinary purposes and likewise prohibit all bathing, washing or other acts likely to pollute the source so set apart.

Power of Gram Panchayat in respect of polluted private water supply.

38. (1) A Gram Panchayat may, by written notice, require the owner of, or the person having control over, a private water-course, spring, tank, well, or other place, the water of which is used for drinking or culinary purpose, after taking into consideration his financial position, to take all or any of the following steps within a reasonable period to be specified in such notice, namely:—

(a) to keep and maintain the same in good repair;

(b) to clean the same, from time to time of silt, refuse or decaying vegetation;

(c) to protect it from pollution; and

(d) to prevent its use, if it has become so polluted as to be prejudicial to public health:

Provided that a person upon whom a notice as aforesaid has been served may, within fifteen days from the date of receipt of the notice, appeal to the prescribed authority against the order contained in the notice whereupon the prescribed authority may stay the operation of the order contained in the notice till the disposal of the appeal and it may, after giving such notice of the appeal to the Gram Panchayat concerned as may be prescribed, modify, set aside or confirm the order:

Provided further that the prescribed authority shall, when it confirms or modifies the order contained in the notice after the expiry of the period mentioned therein, fix a fresh period within which the order contained in the notice, as confirmed or modified by it, is to be carried out.

(2) If any person upon whom a notice has been served as aforesaid and which has not been set aside by the prescribed authority fails, without sufficient reasons, to comply with the order contained in the notice or the order as modified by the prescribed authority, within the time specified in the notice or within the time fixed by the prescribed authority, as the case may be, he shall be liable, on conviction by a magistrate, to a fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees, and when the failure is a continuing one, to a further fine not exceeding one rupee for each day during which the failure continues.

Power of Gram Panchayat to prevent growth of water-hyacinth or weed.

39. (1) A Gram Panchayat may, by written notice, require the owner or occupier of any land or premises, containing a tank or pond or similar deposit of water, after taking into consideration his financial position, not to allow water-hyacinth or any other weed to grow thereon and to eradicate the same therefrom within such reasonable period as may be specified in the notice:

Provided that a person on whom a notice as aforesaid has been served may, within fifteen days from the date of receipt of the notice, appeal to the prescribed authority against the order contained in the notice whereupon the prescribed authority may stay the operation of the order contained in the notice till the disposal of the appeal and it may, after giving such notice of the appeal to the Gram Panchayat concerned as may be prescribed, modify, set aside or confirm the order:

Provided further that the prescribed authority shall, when it confirms or modifies the order contained in the notice after the expiry of the period mentioned therein, fix a fresh period within which the order contained in the notice, as confirmed or modified by it, is to be carried out.

(2) If any owner or occupier upon whom a notice has been served as aforesaid and which has not been set aside by the prescribed authority fails, without sufficient reason, to comply with the order contained in the notice or the order as modified by the prescribed authority, within the time specified in the notice or within the time fixed by the prescribed authority, as the case may be, he shall be liable, on conviction by a magistrate, to a fine which may extend to twenty-five rupees and when the failure is a continuing one, to a further fine not exceeding one rupee for each day during which the failure continues.

Emergent power on outbreak of epidemic.

40. In the event of an outbreak of cholera or any other water-borne infectious disease in any locality situated within the local limits of the jurisdiction of a Gram Panchayat, the Adhyaksha, the Upadhyaksha or any other person authorized by the Adhyaksha may, during the continuance of the outbreak, without notice and at any time, inspect and disinfect any well, tank or other place from which water is, or is likely to be, taken for the purpose of drinking and may further take such steps as he deems fit to prevent the drawing of water therefrom.

Power of recovery of cost for work carried out by Gram Panchayat on failure of any person.

41. If any work required to be done by an order contained in a notice served under sections 36, 38 or 39 is not executed within the period specified in the notice or where an appeal is made to the prescribed authority, within an equal period from the date of the decision on the appeal, the Gram Panchayat may, in the absence of satisfactory grounds for non-compliance, cause such work to be carried out and the cost of carrying out such work shall be recoverable as an arrear of public demand from the person on whom the notice was served.

(Part I.—Chapter V.—Powers and Duties of Gram Panchayats.—Chapter VI.—Powers and Duties of Anchal Panchayats.—Clauses 42—46.)

Joint Committees.

42. (1) Subject to such rules as may be prescribed, two or more Gram Panchayats may combine, by a written instrument duly subscribed by them, to appoint a Joint Committee consisting of such representatives as may be chosen by the respective Gram Panchayats for the purpose of transacting any business or carrying out any work in which they are jointly interested and may—

(a) delegate to such committee the power, with such conditions as the Gram Panchayats may think fit to impose, to frame schemes binding on each of the constituent Gram Panchayats as to the construction and maintenance of any joint work and the power which may be exercised by any such Panchayat in relation to such scheme; and

(b) frame or modify rules regarding the constitution of such committees and the term of office of the members thereof and the method of conducting business.

(2) If any difference of opinion arises between the constituent Gram Panchayats under this section, it shall be referred to such officer as the State Government may determine, and the decision of the said officer thereon shall be final and binding on each of the constituent Gram Panchayats.

Delegation of functions by District Board.

43. (1) A District Board may, with the concurrence of a Gram Panchayat and subject to such restrictions and conditions as may be mutually agreed upon, delegate to such Gram Panchayat any of its functions in the manner prescribed.

(2) Where functions are delegated to a Gram Panchayat under this section, the Gram Panchayat, in the discharge of such functions, shall act as the agent of the District Board.

Appointment of staff.

44. Subject to rules made by the State Government in this behalf a Gram Panchayat may appoint such staff as it may consider necessary to carry out its duties under this Act and may fix the salaries and allowances and advances to be paid to such staff.

Delegation of functions of Gram Panchayat to its Adhyaksha.

45. A Gram Panchayat may, at a meeting specially convened for the purpose, by a resolution delegate to its Adhyaksha such duties or powers of the Panchayat as it thinks fit, subject to the approval of the prescribed authority, and may at any time in like manner withdraw or modify the same.

CHAPTER VI.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF Anchal Panchayats.

Functions of Anchal Panchayats.

46. (1) Subject to rules made by the State Government in this behalf, an Anchal Panchayat shall be responsible for—

(a) the control and administration of the Anchal Panchayat Fund established under this Act;

(b) the imposition, assessment and collection of the taxes, rates, tolls or fees leviable under this Act;

(c) the maintenance and control of dafadars and chowkidars within its jurisdiction and securing the due performance by the dafadars and chowkidars of the duties imposed on them under this Act; and (d) the proper constitution and administration of Nyaya Panchayats established under this Act.

(2) The Anchal Panchayat may also perform such other duties as may be assigned by the State Government.

Anchal Panchayat may manage estates and interests vested in the State.

47. The State Government may, by general or special order published in the Official Gazette, empower an Anchal Panchayat to manage the estates and all interests therein which are vested in the State and to exercise such powers, perform such functions and discharge such duties in connection therewith as may be conferred, assigned or imposed by or under any other law for the time being in force.

Officers and servants of Anchal Panchayat.

48. (1) For every Anchal Panchayat, there shall be a Secretary who shall be in charge of the office of the Panchayat and be responsible for the preparation of its budget estimate of income and expenditure, the statement of accounts of the previous year, the report on the work done during the previous year and the work proposed to be done during the following year.

(2) The Secretary shall be the executive authority of the Panchayat and shall be appointed by the State Government or any officer or authority empowered by the State Government in this behalf.

(3) The State Government shall make rules prescribing the method of recruitment, conditions of service, pay and allowances and the age of superannuation of the Secretary.

(4) The salary and allowances of the Secretary shall be paid out of the Anchal Panchayat Fund.

(5) Subject to rules made by the State Government in this behalf, an Anchal Panchayat may appoint such additional staff as it may consider necessary to carry out its duties under this Act, and may fix the salaries to be paid to such staff.

CHAPTER VII.

Dafadars and Chowkidars.

Dafadars and chowkidars.

49. (1) For general watch and ward, prevention of crime, protection of life and property and discharging all functions relevant thereto as hereinafter prescribed within the local limits of the jurisdiction of an Anchal Panchayat, every Anchal Panchayat shall unless otherwise directed or other provision is made by the State Government, maintain dafadars and chowkidars under its control consisting of such number of dafadars and chowkidars as the State Government may by general or special order determine.

(2) The number of dafadars and chowkidars to be employed by an Anchal Panchayat and the salary to be paid to them and the nature and the cost of their equipment and all matters relating to their recruitment, conditions of service, power and duties, superannuation, discipline, punishment and dismissal shall be determined in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part I.—Chapter VII.—Dafadars and Chowkidars.—Clauses 50, 51.)

State Government may contribute cost of maintenance of dafadars and chowkidars.

50. The cost of maintenance of dafadars and chowkidars or any part thereof may be contributed by the State Government to the Anchal Panchayat Fund.

Powers and duties of chowkidars and dafadars.

51. (1) Every chowkidar shall exercise the following powers and perform the following duties:—

(i) he shall give immediate information to the officer-in-charge of the police-station having jurisdiction over the area and to the Pradhan of the Anchal Panchayat, of every unnatural, suspicious or sudden death which may occur, and of any offence specified in Schedule II which may be committed within the jurisdiction of the Anchal Panchayat and he shall keep the officer-in-charge of the said police-station and the Pradhan informed of all disputes which are likely to lead to a riot or serious affray;

(ii) he may, without an order from a Magistrate and without a warrant, arrest—

(a) any person who has been concerned in any cognizable offence or against whom a reasonable complaint has been made, or credible information received, or a reasonable suspicion exists of his having been so concerned;

(b) any person who has been proclaimed as an offender under any law;

(c) any person in whose possession anything is found which may reasonably be suspected to be stolen property, or who may reasonably be suspected of having committed an offence, with reference to such thing;

(d) any person who obstructs a public servant while in the execution of his duty or who has escaped, or attempts to escape, from lawful custody;

(e) any person reasonably suspected of being a deserter from the Indian Army, Navy or Air Force; and (f) any released convict committing a breach of any rule made under sub-section (3) of section 565 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898; Act V 1898.

(iii) he shall, to the best of his ability, prevent, and he may interpose for the purpose of preventing, the commission of any offence specified in Schedule II;

(iv) he shall assist private persons in making such arrests as they may lawfully make, and he shall report such arrests without delay to the officer-in-charge of the police-station having jurisdiction over the area;

(v) he shall observe, and from time to time report to such officer-in-charge, the movements of all bad characters within the jurisdiction of the Anchal Panchayat;

(vi) he shall report to such officer-in-charge the arrival of suspicious characters in the neighbourhood;

(vii) he shall supply any local information which the District or Subdivisional Magistrate or any police officer may require;

(viii) he shall obey the orders of the Anchal Panchayat in regard to keeping watch within its jurisdiction and in regard to other matters connected with his duties;

(ix) he shall give immediate information to the Anchal Panchayat of the commission of any offence under this Act or any rule made thereunder which has come to his knowledge or of any damage to any property vested in the Anchal Panchayat or under its control;

(x) he shall assist any person duly authorised by the Anchal Panchayat to collect any rate, tax, toll or fee;

(xi) he shall serve such processes as may be prescribed upon persons resident within his jurisdiction; and

(xii) he shall carry out such other duties as may be entrusted to him from time to time in accordance with this Act or any rule made thereunder.

(2) Every dafadar shall exercise all the powers conferred on a chowkidar under sub-section (1) and shall perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by rules made under section 118.

Arrested person to be taken to police-station.

52. Whenever a dafadar or a chowkidar arrests any person under section 51, he shall forthwith take the person so arrested to the police-station having jurisdiction over the area in which the arrest is made:

Provided that if the arrest is made at night such person shall be so taken, as soon as convenient, on the following morning.

CHAPTER VIII.

FINANCE AND TAXATION.

Anchal Panchayat Fund.

53. (1) For every Anchal Panchayat, there shall be constituted an Anchal Panchayat Fund and there shall be placed to the credit thereof—

(a) any contribution made by the State Government for general or any special purpose;

(b) any tax, toll, fee, rate or other imposition levied and collected under this Act;

(c) any sum contributed by the District Board or any other local authority;

(d) any sum raised as loan or received as gifts or contributions;

(e) all fines and penalties imposed under this Act or the rules made thereunder; and

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part I.—Chapter VIII.—Finance and Taxation.—Clauses 54, 55.)

(2) Every Anchal Panchayat shall set apart and apply annually out of the Anchal Panchayat Fund—

(a) first, such sum as may be required to meet the cost of its own administration;

(b) secondly, such sum as may be required to meet the cost of administration of the Nyaya Panchayat concerned;

(c) thirdly, such sum as may be required to meet the cost of maintenance of dafadars and chowkidars; and

(d) fourthly, such sum as may be required to make allotments to the Gram Panchayat Funds under its jurisdiction to enable the Gram Panchayats concerned to carry out their duties and functions under this Act, such allotments being made after taking into consideration—

(i) the amount available for distribution,

(ii) the amount raised as tax, toll, fee or rate from each of the Gram Sabhas within its jurisdiction, and

(iii) the amounts required by the Gram Panchayats concerned according to the budget framed by them for carrying on their duties and functions during any year.

Gram Panchayat Fund.

54. (1) For every Gram Panchayat there shall be constituted a Gram Panchayat Fund to which shall be credited—

(a) the sum or sums assigned to the Fund under sub-section (2) of section 53;

(b) any gifts or contributions received;

(c) income from endowments and trusts made in favour, or enterprises under the management, of the Gram Panchayats within the jurisdiction of the Anchal Panchayat; and (d) all sums received by or on behalf of the Gram Sabha or Gram Panchayat under this Act or otherwise.

(2) It shall be the duty of every Gram Panchayat to supply, subject to the approval of the prescribed authority, such funds as may be required by the Gram Sabha concerned, to meet the charges incurred by the Gram Sabha in carrying out its duties under this Act.

Imposition of tax by Anchal Panchayat.

55. (1) Subject to such rules and such maximum rates or scales as may be prescribed by the State Government in this behalf, an Anchal Panchayat—

(a) shall impose a tax upon persons who are the owners or occupiers or owners and occupiers of lands and buildings within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Anchal Panchayat according to the circumstances and the value of the property within such limits of the said persons;

(b) may impose a tax on professions, trades or callings.

(2) Subject to such rules and such maximum rates or scales as may be prescribed by the State Government, an Anchal Panchayat may levy the following fees and tolls:—

(a) fees on the registration of vehicles;

(b) fees on plaints, petitions and other processes in civil suits and criminal cases instituted before the Nyaya Panchayat concerned;

(c) a fee for providing sanitary arrangements at places of worship or pilgrimage within its jurisdiction;

(d) a water rate, where arrangement for the supply of water is made by the Gram Panchayat within its jurisdiction;

(e) a lighting rate, where arrangement for lighting of public streets and places is made by the Gram Panchayat within its jurisdiction;

(f) a conservancy rate, where arrangement for clearing private latrines, urinals and cess-pools is made by the Gram Panchayat within its jurisdiction.

(3) The State Government may, by notification, exempt any class of properties or classes of properties specified in the notification from the taxes, rates or fees leviable under this section.

Audit of Anchal Panchayat and Gram Panchayat.

56. The accounts of every Anchal Panchayat and every accounts of Gram Panchayat shall be audited annually or at shorter intervals, by such agency and in such manner as may be prescribed.

Budget of Anchal Panchayat.

57. (1) Every Anchal Panchayat shall, at such time and in such form as may be prescribed, prepare a budget showing its estimated receipts and disbursements for the ensuing year and may from time to time, prepare a supplementary estimate providing for any modification thereof and submit it to the prescribed authority.

(2) The prescribed authority shall pass the budget with such modifications, if any, as such authority thinks fit to make, and the Anchal Panchayat shall abide by the budget so passed.

Budget of Gram Panchayat.

58. Every Gram Panchayat shall at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed, prepare a budget of its estimated receipts and expenditure for the following year and after the Gram Sabha has considered it as provided in section 10 submit it, with such modifications, if any, as it may consider necessary to make, to the prescribed authority for sanction through the Anchal Panchayat concerned; and the Gram Panchayat shall abide by the budget as passed with or without modifications by the prescribed authority.

CHAPTER IX.

PROPERTY OF Gram Panchayat.

Vesting of public properties in Gram Panchayat.

59. (1) All property within a Gram Panchayat of the nature hereinafter in this section specified, other than property maintained by the Central or the State Government or a local authority or any other Gram Panchayat, shall vest in and belong to the Gram Panchayat, and shall, with all other property of whatsoever nature or kind which may become vested in the Gram Panchayat, be under its direction, management and control, that is to say—

(a) all public streets, including the soil, stones and other materials thereof and all drains, bridges, culverts, trees, erections, materials, implements and other things provided for such streets;

(b) all public channels, water courses, springs, tanks, ghats, reservoirs, cisterns, wells, aqueducts, conduits, tunnels, pipes, pumps and other water-works, whether made, laid or erected at the cost of the Gram Panchayat or otherwise, and all bridges, buildings, engines, works, materials and things connected therewith, or appertaining thereto and also any adjacent land (not being private property) appertaining to any public tank:

Provided that water pipes and any water-works connected therewith or appertaining thereto which with the consent of the Gram Panchayat are laid or set up in any street by the owners of any mill, factory, dockyard, workshop or the like primarily for the use of their employees shall not be deemed to be public water-works by reason of their use by the public;

(c) all public sewers and drains, and all works, materials and things appertaining thereto and other conservancy works:

Provided that for the purpose of enlarging, deepening or otherwise repairing or maintaining any such sewer or drain the sub-soil appertaining thereto shall also be deemed to vest in the Gram Panchayat;

Provided also that where any installation or work for the treatment or disposal of sewage is constructed by the owners of any mill, factory, dockyard, workshop or the like primarily for the use of their employees, the laying of sewers and other things appertaining thereto in a street, with the consent of the Gram Panchayat, shall not by virtue of this clause or by reason of their use by the public cause, such installation or sewers or works appertaining thereto to vest in the Gram Panchayat;

(d) all sewage, rubbish and offensive matter deposited on streets or collected by the Gram Panchayat from steets, latrines, urinals, sewers, cesspools and other places;

(e) all public lamps, lamp-posts and apparatus connected therewith or appertaining thereto; and

(f) all buildings erected by the Gram Panchayat and all lands and buildings or other property transferred to the Gram Panchayat by the Central or the State Government or acquired by gift, purchase or otherwise for local public purposes.

(2) The State Government may, by notification, exclude any street, bridge, sewer or drain from the operation of this Act or of any specified section of this Act:

Provided that, if the cost of the construction of the work shall have been paid from the Gram Panchayat Fund, such work shall not be excluded from the operation of this Act or any specified section of this Act except after consideration of the views of the Gram Panchayat at a meeting.

Allocation of properties to Gram Panchayat.

60. The State Government may allocate to a Gram Panchayat, any public property situated within its local jurisdiction, and thereupon such property shall vest in and come under the control of the Gram Panchayat.

Acquisition of land for Gram Panchayat.

61. (1) Where a Gram Panchayat requires land to carry out any of the purposes of this Act, it may negotiate with the person or persons having interest in the said land, and if it fails to reach an agreement, it may make an application to the District Magistrate for the acquisition of the land, who may, if he is satisfied that the land is required for a public purpose, acquire the land.

(2) Such land shall, on acquisition and on payment of the compensation awarded under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, and of any other charges incurred in acquiring it, vest in the Gram Panchayat. I of 1894.

Explanation.—"Land" includes immovable property of any kind and benefits which arise out of land and things attached to the earth or permanently fastened to anything attached to the earth.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part I.—Chapter X.—Control.—Clause 62.)

CHAPTER X.

CONTROL.

Supervision.

62. (1) The prescribed authority may at any time—

(a) inspect or cause to be inspected any immovable property used or occupied by an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat or any work in progress under the direction of the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or a Joint Committee;

(b) inspect or examine or depute any officer of Government to inspect or examine any department of an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat office or any service, work or thing under the control of the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or the Joint Committee;

(c) for the purposes of inspection or examination require the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Joint Committee—

(i) to produce any book, record, correspondence, plan or other document,

(ii) to furnish any return, plan, estimate, statement, accounts or statistics, or

(iii) to furnish or obtain any report;

(d) record in writing for the consideration of the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or the Joint Committee, as the case may be, any observation he thinks proper in regard to the proceedings or duties of such Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or the Joint Committee;

(e) suspend or cancel any resolution passed, order issued or license or permission granted by an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat, or prohibit the doing of any act which is about to be done or is being done by an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat or by any person with the authority of the Gram Panchayat or Anchal Panchayat, if in his opinion such resolution, order, license, permission or act,—

(i) has not been lawfully passed, issued, granted, given or authorised, or

(ii) is in excess of the powers conferred by this Act or any other law or is an abuse of such powers, or

(iii) is considered by the prescribed authority as likely to lead to a breach of the peace or to cause injury or annoyance to the public or to any class or body of persons.

(2) An officer deputed under clause (b) of sub-section (1) shall exercise the powers conferred by clauses (c) and (d) of that sub-section.

(3) When a requisition is made under clause (c) of sub-section (1) the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or the Joint Committee, as the case may be, shall comply with such requisition.

(4) The prescribed authority shall, before taking any action under clause (c) of sub-section (1), give an opportunity for an explanation to the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or the Joint Committee concerned, as the case may be.

Power to remove Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha, etc.

63. (1) The prescribed authority may, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2) of section 13, section 15 and sub-section (2) of section 28, by an order in writing, remove with effect from a date to be specified in the order any Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha or any Pradhan or Upa-Pradhan from his office if, in his opinion, he wilfully omits or refuses to carry out the provisions of this Act or of any rules or orders made thereunder or abuses the powers vested in him under this Act.

(2) The prescribed authority when he proposes to take action under sub-section (1) shall give to the person concerned an opportunity of showing cause against the action proposed to be taken against him; and the order shall contain a statement of the reasons for the action taken.

(3) Any person against whom action has been taken under sub-section (1) may appeal to the Commissioner of the Division against the order and the Commissioner's decision thereon shall be final.

Powers to the prescribed authority in case of default.

64. (1) If at any time it appears to the prescribed authority that an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat has made default in performing any duty imposed on it by or under this or any other Act, rule, regulation or bye-law framed thereunder he may, by an order in writing, fix a time for the performance of that duty.

(2) If such duty is not performed within the period so fixed, the prescribed authority may appoint a person to perform it, and may direct that the expense of performing it shall be paid, within such time as he may fix, to the said person from the Anchal Panchayat Fund or the Gram Panchayat Fund, as the case may be.

Power to reconstitute or supersede Panchayats.

65. If the State Government is satisfied on the report of the prescribed authority that an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat is not competent to perform, or is persistently making default in performing, the duties imposed on it by or under any law, or is exceeding or abusing its powers, it may, by notification, direct—

(a) that the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, be reconstituted with effect from a specified date; or

(b) that the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, be superseded for a specified period.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part I.—Chapter X.—Control.—Clauses 66, 67.)

Consequences of reconstitution and supersession.

66. (1) When a Gram Panchayat or an Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, is directed to be reconstituted as aforesaid the prescribed authority, shall—

(a) in the case of a Gram Panchayat take immediate steps to hold a fresh election of members in the manner prescribed; and as soon as the election of members is notified as laid down in section 17 the prescribed authority shall declare the Gram Panchayat to be duly reconstituted and the former members of the Gram Panchayat unless they are re-elected shall vacate their offices;

(b) in the case of an Anchal Panchayat immediately call upon the Gram Panchayats concerned to hold fresh elections in the manner prescribed to reconstitute the Anchal Panchayat; and when the election is notified as laid down in sub-section (2) of section 27, the prescribed authority shall declare the Anchal Panchayat to be duly reconstituted and the former members of the Anchal Panchayat unless they are re-elected shall vacate their offices.

(2) When a Gram Panchayat or an Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, is superseded, the following consequences shall ensue—

(a) all members of the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, shall, as from the date of the order, vacate their offices;

(b) all powers, duties and functions of the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, shall, during the period of supersession, be exercised and performed by such authority, person or persons and in such manner as the prescribed authority may direct; and

(c) all property vested in the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, shall during that period, vest in such authority, person or persons and under such conditions as the prescribed authority may direct.

(3) On the expiration of the period of supersession specified in the notification, the State Government may—

(i) extend the period of supersession for such further term as it may consider necessary; or

(ii) reconstitute the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, by fresh elections in the manner prescribed, and the persons, who vacated their offices under clause (a) of sub-section (2), shall not be deemed to be disqualified for election.

Appointment of inspecting officers of Panchayats.

67. The State Government may appoint such officers as it may consider necessary for the purpose of inspecting or superintending the operations of all or any of the Panchayats constituted under this Act.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part II.—Chapter XI.—Nyaya Panchayats.—
Clauses 68, 69.)

PART II.

CHAPTER XI.

Nyaya Panchayats.

Constitution of Nyaya Panchayats.

68. (1) Every Anchal Panchayat established under this Act shall, if authorised by the State Government by notification to do so, constitute one or more Nyaya Panchayats each consisting of not less than three or more than five of its members, as may be determined by the State Government, to be called Vicharaks, elected by it from amongst the members of the Gram Sabhas within its jurisdiction, according to prescribed rules and approved by the prescribed authority for the trial of—

(a) the offences specified in Schedule III if committed within its local limits or if the case is transferred to the Nyaya Panchayat by a District Magistrate or Subdivisional Magistrate, and

(b) all or any of the classes of civil suits specified in section 78:

Provided that no member of a Gram Sabha shall be elected to be a member of a Nyaya Panchayat if he has any of the disqualifications mentioned in section 16.

(2) When a person who is a member of an Anchal Panchayat or a Gram Panchayat is elected to a Nyaya Panchayat under sub-section (1), he shall cease to be a member of the Anchal Panchayat or the Gram Panchayat concerned, with effect from the date on which the Nyaya Panchayat is notified under sub-section (3), and the vacancy caused thereby shall be filled in the manner laid down in section 22 or section 29, as the case may be.

(3) Every Nyaya Panchayat constituted under sub-section (1) shall be notified in the Official Gazette, or in such other manner as may be prescribed, and shall come into office with effect from the date specified in the said notification.

(4) Every Nyaya Panchayat shall elect at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed one of its members to be called Pradhan Vicharak to preside over its sittings.

(5) The term of office of a member of a Nyaya Panchayat shall be four years from the date of the notification mentioned in sub-section (3).

Criminal jurisdiction.

69. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, a Nyaya Panchayat constituted under section 68 shall have jurisdiction, within the local limits of the Anchal Panchayat constituting such Nyaya Panchayat to try all offences specified in Schedule III, Part A; and, with effect from the date specified in the notification referred to in sub-section (3) of section 68, no other court shall, except as otherwise provided in this Act, take cognizance of any case triable by a Nyaya Panchayat. Act V of 1898.

(2) A Nyaya Panchayat may try any offence specified in Schedule III, Part B, if the case is transferred to it by a District Magistrate, Subdivisional Magistrate or any other Magistrate empowered to receive petitions under section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898:

Provided as follows:—

(a) a Magistrate before whom a complaint of an offence mentioned in Schedule III, Part A, cognizable by a Nyaya Panchayat is made shall transfer the complaint to the Nyaya Panchayat which is competent to try the offence;

(b) the District Magistrate or Subdivisional Magistrate may transfer any case from one Nyaya Panchayat to another or to any other court subordinate to him if in the interest of justice he considers it necessary to do so;

(c) the District Magistrate or Subdivisional Magistrate may, with the consent of the parties, transfer any case cognizable by a Nyaya Panchayat, if the place of residence of the complainant is situated within the limits of an Anchal Panchayat for which there is no Nyaya Panchayat to any Nyaya Panchayat situated at a distance from such place of residence convenient, in the opinion of the Magistrate, for the parties and witnesses.

How case may be instituted.

70. A case before a Nyaya Panchayat may be instituted by petition made orally or in writing to the Secretary of the Anchal Panchayat or in his absence to a member of the Nyaya Panchayat. If the petition is made orally, the Secretary or the member, as the case may be, shall draw up a statement recording the name of the petitioner, the name of the person against whom the petition is made, the nature of the offence and such other particulars, if any, as may be prescribed, and the signature or the thumb impression of the petitioner shall be taken thereon. The Secretary or the member, as the case may be, shall, thereafter direct the petitioner to appear before the Nyaya Panchayat on a particular date.

Power to dismiss or refuse to entertain petition.

71. (1) If upon the face of the petition, or on examining the petitioner, the Nyaya Panchayat is of opinion that the petition is frivolous, vexatious or untrue, it shall dismiss the case by order in writing.

(2) If at any time it appears to the Nyaya Panchayat—

(a) that it has no jurisdiction to try the case; or

(b) that the offence is one for which the sentence which it is competent to pass would be inadequate; or

(c) that the case is one which should not be tried by it, it shall direct the petitioner by an order in writing to the court which would have had jurisdiction to try the offence but for the provisions of this Act.

Dismissal for default.

72. If in any case before a Nyaya Panchayat, the petitioner fails to appear on the day fixed, or if in the opinion of the Nyaya Panchayat, he shows negligence in prosecuting his case, the Nyaya Panchayat may dismiss the case for default, and such order of dismissal shall operate as an acquittal.

Proceedings preliminary to trial.

73. (1) If the petition be not dismissed, the Nyaya Panchayat shall, subject to the provisions of section 100, by summons or otherwise require the accused to appear and answer the petition.

(2) If the accused fails to appear or cannot be found, the Nyaya Panchayat shall report the fact to the nearest Magistrate, who would have had jurisdiction to try the offence but for the provisions of this Act, who may issue a warrant for the arrest of the accused and when arrested may forward him for trial to the Nyaya Panchayat or release him on bail to appear before it.

(3) The Nyaya Panchayat shall, if possible, try the case on the day on which the accused appears or is brought before it, but if that is not possible, the Nyaya Panchayat shall release him on his executing a bond for a sum not exceeding twenty-five rupees to appear before it on any subsequent day or days to which the trial may be adjourned.

Compounding of offences.

74. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the Nyaya Panchayat may allow the parties to compound any offence triable by it. Act V of 1898.

Bar to appeal.

75. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, there shall be no appeal by a convicted person in any case tried by a Nyaya Panchayat:

Provided that the District Magistrate or Subdivisional Magistrate, if satisfied that failure of justice has occurred, may, of his own motion, or on the application of the parties concerned, cancel or modify any order of conviction or of compensation made by a Nyaya Panchayat or direct the retrial of any case by a court of competent jurisdiction subordinate to him, notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) of section 69.

Power to impose fine or to award compensation.

76. (1) A Nyaya Panchayat shall record its decision in writing, and may sentence any offender convicted by it to pay a fine not exceeding fifty rupees.

(2) No sentence of imprisonment, simple or rigorous, whether substantive or in default of payment of fine shall be inflicted by any Nyaya Panchayat.

(3) When a Nyaya Panchayat imposes a fine under sub-section (1), it may, when passing the order, direct that the whole or any part of the fine recovered shall be applied in payment of compensation for any loss or injury caused by the offence.

(4) If a Nyaya Panchayat is satisfied that a complaint made before it or transferred to it for trial is vexatious or frivolous, it may order the complainant to pay to the accused, such compensation not exceeding twenty-five rupees, as it thinks fit.

(5) If such fine or compensation is not paid or realised within fifteen days of the passing of the sentence or order or within such further time as the Nyaya Panchayat may allow, the Nyaya Panchayat shall record an order declaring the amount of fine imposed or compensation awarded and that it has not been paid, and shall forward the same to the nearest Magistrate, who would have had jurisdiction to try the case but for the provisions of this Act, who shall—

(a) proceed to execute the order as if it were an order passed by himself, or

(b) in default of payment, sentence the accused with imprisonment in accordance with Chapter III of the Indian Penal Code, notwithstanding anything contained in section 76 of this Act; Act XLV of 1860.

Provided that, notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Penal Code—

(a) the fine imposed or compensation awarded by a Nyaya Panchayat shall not be realised from any person who has served his term of imprisonment;

(b) the person serving his term of imprisonment shall be forthwith released, if the fine or compensation is paid before the expiry of the term of imprisonment.

Release after admonition or on probation of good conduct.

77. When any person is convicted by a Nyaya Panchayat and no previous conviction is proved against him, if it appears to the said Nyaya Panchayat that regard being had to the age, character and antecedents of the offender and to the circumstances in which the offence was committed, it is expedient—

(a) that the offender should be released after due admonition, the Nyaya Panchayat may, instead of sentencing him to any punishment, release him after due admonition; or

(b) that the offender should be released on probation of good conduct, the Nyaya Panchayat may, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, instead of sentencing him at once to any punishment, direct that he be released on his executing a bond for a sum not exceeding fifty rupees to appear and receive sentence when called upon during such period (not exceeding one year) as it may direct, and in the meantime to keep the peace and be of good behaviour. Act V of 1898.

Civil jurisdiction.

78. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887, the Provincial Small Cause Courts Act, 1887, and the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and subject to the provisions of sections 79 and 80 a Nyaya Panchayat shall have jurisdiction to try the following classes of suits when the value of the suit does not exceed one hundred rupees, namely:— XII of 1887. IX of 1887. Act V of 1908.

(a) suits for money due on contracts;

(b) suits for the recovery of movable property or the value of such property;

(c) suits for compensation for wrongfully taking or injuring movable property; and.

(d) suits for damages by cattle-trespass.

(2) No other court shall have jurisdiction to try any suit of the classes mentioned in sub-section (1).

Suits not to be tried.

79. No suit shall lie in any Nyaya Panchayat—

(1) on a balance of partnership account;

(2) for a share or part of a share under an intestacy, or for a legacy or part of legacy under a will;

(3) by or against the Indian Union or a State Government or a local authority or public officers for acts done in their official capacity;

(4) by or against minors or persons of unsound mind or when any such person is in the opinion of the Nyaya Panchayat a necessary party;

(5) for the assessment, enhancement, reduction, abatement, apportionment or recovery of rent of immovable property; or

(6) by a mortgagee of immovable property for the enforcement of the mortgage by foreclosure or sale of the property or otherwise, or by a mortgagor of immovable property for the redemption of the mortgage.

Suits to include whole claim.

80. (1) Every suit instituted before a Nyaya Panchayat shall include the whole of the claim which the plaintiff is entitled to make in respect of the matter in dispute, but he may relinquish any portion of his claim in order to bring the suit within the jurisdiction of the Nyaya Panchayat.

(2) If the plaintiff omits to sue in respect of or relinquishes any portion of his claim, he shall not afterwards sue in respect of the portion so omitted or relinquished.

Local limits of jurisdiction.

81. No suit shall lie in a Nyaya Panchayat unless at least one of the defendants resides within the limits of its jurisdiction at the time of the institutions of the suit, and the cause of action has arisen wholly or in part within those limits.

How suit may be instituted.

82. (1) A suit before a Nyaya Panchayat may be instituted by petition made orally or in writing to the Secretary of the Anchal Panchayat or in his absence to a member of the Nyaya Panchayat. If the petition is made orally the Secretary or the member, as the case may be, shall draw up a statement recording the name of the petitioner, the name of the person against whom the petition is made, the nature of the claim and such other particulars, if any, as may be prescribed; and the signature or the thumb impression of the petitioner shall be taken thereon. The Secretary or the member, as the case may be, shall thereafter direct the petitioner to appear before the Nyaya Panchayat on a particular date.

(2) The plaintiff on instituting his suit shall state the value of the claim.

Dismissal of suits barred by limitation, etc.

83. (1) If at any time the Nyaya Panchayat is of opinion that the suit is barred by limitation it shall dismiss the suit by an order in writing.

(2) If at any time it appears to the Nyaya Panchayat that it has no jurisdiction to entertain the suit, it shall direct the petitioner to the court which would have had jurisdiction to try the suit but for the provisions of this Act.

Dismissal of suits for default.

84. If in any suit before a Nyaya Panchayat the plaintiff fails to appear on the day fixed, or if in the opinion of the Panchayat, he shows negligence in prosecuting his suit, it may dismiss the suit for default:

Provided that a Nyaya Panchayat may restore a suit dismissed for default, if within thirty days from the date of such dismissal the plaintiff satisfies the Panchayat that he was prevented by sufficient cause from appearing at the time when the suit was called on for hearing.

Summons to defendant to appear.

85. If on receiving the plaint the Nyaya Panchayat is satisfied that the trial of the suit may be proceeded with, it shall, by summons or otherwise, require the defendant to appear and answer the suit either orally or in writing.

Ex parte decision.

86. If the defendant fails to appear, and the Nyaya Panchayat is satisfied that he has received notice of the date fixed for the hearing, it may decide the suit ex parte:

Provided that any defendant against whom a suit has been decided ex parte may, within thirty days from the date of executing any process for enforcement of the decision, apply, orally or in writing, to the Nyaya Panchayat to set aside the order; and the Panchayat, if satisfied that the defendant did not receive due notice of the date of hearing, or was prevented from appearing at the time when the suit was called on for hearing by any sufficient cause, shall set aside the decision and shall appoint a day for proceeding with the suit.

No order to be set aside without notice to opposite party.

87. No decision or order of a Nyaya Panchayat shall be set aside under the proviso to section 84 or under the proviso to section 86 unless notice in writing has been served by the Nyaya Panchayat on the opposite party.

Power to determine parties.

88. (1) Subject to the provisions of clauses (3) and (4) of section 79 the Nyaya Panchayat shall add as parties to a suit any person whose presence as parties it considers necessary for a proper decision thereof, and shall enter the names of such parties in the register of suits, and the suit shall be tried as between the parties whose names are entered in the said register:

Provided that when any party is added, notice shall be given to him and he shall be given an opportunity of appearing before the trial of the suit is proceeded with.

(2) In all cases where a new party appears under the proviso to sub-section (1) during the trial of a suit, he may require that the trial shall begin de novo.

Decision of suits.

89. When the parties or their agents have been heard and the evidence on both sides considered, the Nyaya Panchayat shall, by written order, pass such decree as may seem just, equitable and according to good conscience, stating in the decree the amounts of prescribed fees and the amount, if any paid to witnesses under sub-section (3) of section 99, and the persons by whom such amounts are payable:

Provided that if the members of the Nyaya Panchayat fail to come to a unanimous decision, the decision of the majority of the members of the Nyaya Panchayat shall be the decision of the Nyaya Panchayat.

Instalments.

90. A Nyaya Panchayat in ordering the payment of a sum of money or the delivery of any movable property may direct that the money be paid, or the movable property be delivered, by instalments.

Decision to be final; but power to Munsif to order retrial.

91. The decision of a Nyaya Panchayat in every suit shall be final as between the parties to the suit:

Provided that the Munsif who would have had jurisdiction to try the suit but for the provisions of this Act, may, on the application of any party to the suit made within thirty days of the decree of the Nyaya Panchayat, cancel or modify the order of the Panchayat or direct a retrial of the suit by the same or any other Nyaya Panchayat if he is satisfied that there has been a failure of justice.

Death of parties.

92. If the plaintiff or defendant in any suit dies before the suit has been decided, the suit may, subject to the provisions of clause (4) of section 79, be proceeded with at the instance of, or against the legal representatives of the deceased plaintiff or defendant, as the case may be.

Effect of decision on questions of title, etc.

93. The decision of a Nyaya Panchayat on the question of title, legal character, contract or obligation shall not bind the parties except in respect of the suit in which such matter is decided.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Procedure for Nyaya Panchayat.

94. (1) The provisions of—

(a) the Court-fees Act, 1870, — VII of 1870.

(b) the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, — Act V of 1898.

(c) the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and — Act V of 1908.

(d) the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, — I of 1872.

shall not apply to any trial, before a Nyaya Panchayat.

(2) The procedure to be followed by a Nyaya Panchayat in any trial, in the enforcement of its decisions and orders, and in the method of forming a quorum shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be in accordance with prescribed rules.

Bar to trial of case or suit in which a Panchayat or its member is interested.

95. No Nyaya Panchayat shall try any case or suit or other proceeding to or in which the Anchal Panchayat concerned or any Gram Panchayat within the Anchal Panchayat or any member thereof is a party or is interested.

Withdrawal or transfer of case or suit.

96. (1) The District Magistrate, Subdivisional Magistrate or the District Judge may, of his own motion or on the application of any of the parties to a case or a suit or on the motion of a Nyaya Panchayat withdraw the case or suit pending before a Nyaya Panchayat if for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, he is of opinion that the case or suit is one which should not be tried or heard by the Nyaya Panchayat and may try or hear the case or suit himself or transfer it for disposal to the court of another Magistrate or Munsif who would have had jurisdiction to try the suit or case, as the case may be, but for the provisions of this Act.

(2) If at any stage of a case or a suit the accused or the defendant informs the Nyaya Panchayat that he has applied or that he intends to apply for the withdrawal or transfer of the case or suit under sub-section (1), the Nyaya Panchayat shall stay further proceedings in the case or suit until such time as it thinks fit.

Certain suits not to be tried.

97. (1) No Nyaya Panchayat shall try any suit in which the matter directly and substantially in dispute has been heard and finally decided by a court of competent jurisdiction in a former suit between the same parties, or between parties under whom they or any of them claim.

(2) No Nyaya Panchayat shall proceed with the trial of any suit in which the matter directly and substantially in dispute is pending for decision in the same Nyaya Panchayat or in any other court in a previously instituted suit between the same parties or between parties under whom they or any of them claim.

Inspection.

98. The District Judge, the District Magistrate, the Subdivisional Magistrate and the Munsif within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the Nyaya Panchayat is situate shall have power at all times to inspect the proceedings and the records of a Nyaya Panchayat.

Attendance of witnesses.

99. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 101, a Nyaya Panchayat may, by summons or otherwise, send for any person to appear and give evidence or to produce or cause the production of any document:

Provided that no person who is exempt from personal appearance in court under sub-section (1) of section 133 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall be required to appear in person before a Nyaya Panchayat. Act V of 1908.

(2) A Nyaya Panchayat shall refuse to summon a witness or to enforce a summons already issued against a witness, where, in the opinion of the Nyaya Panchayat, the attendance of the witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which, under the circumstances of the case, would be unreasonable.

(3) A Nyaya Panchayat shall not require any person living outside the limits of the Anchal Panchayat concerned to give evidence, unless such a sum of money as may appear to the Nyaya Panchayat to be sufficient to defray the travelling and other expenses of such person in passing to and from the Nyaya Panchayat and for one day's attendance, is deposited in the Nyaya Panchayat by the party who cites such person as his witness.

(4) If any person whom a Nyaya Panchayat summons by written order to appear or give evidence, or to produce any document before it fails to obey such summons the Nyaya Panchayat may take cognizance of such offence and may sentence any person convicted thereof to a fine not exceeding twenty-five rupees.

Appearance of parties.

100. (1) The parties to cases triable by a Nyaya Panchayat shall appear personally before such Panchayat:

Provided that the Panchayat, if it sees reason so to do, may dispense with the personal attendance of an accused and permit him to appear by agent.

(2) The parties to suits triable by a Nyaya Panchayat may appear by agent.

"Agent" in sub-sections (1) and (2), means a person who is authorised in writing to appear and plead for either party.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), no person whose name is included in a list of touts framed and published by Subdivisional Magistrates under section 80A of the Indian Registration Act, 1908, shall be permitted to appear as an agent of a party before a Nyaya Panchayat. XVI of 1908.

Legal practitioners not to appear.

101. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Legal Practitioners Act, 1879, legal practitioners shall not be permitted to practise before a Nyaya Panchayat. XVIII of 1879.

Appearance of women.

102. No woman shall be compelled to appear in person before a Nyaya Panchayat as an accused, or before a Nyaya Panchayat as a witness.

Power to issue commission.

103. Subject to such rules as may be prescribed, a Nyaya Panchayat may issue a commission to examine any person in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed.

Trial of case or suit triable by more than one Nyaya Panchayat.

104. Where a case or suit is maintainable in more than one Nyaya Panchayat, the plaintiff or the complainant, as the case may be, may bring the case or suit in any one of such Nyaya Panchayats; any dispute regarding the jurisdiction of a Nyaya Panchayat to entertain any case or suit, as the case may be, shall be decided by the Subdivisional Magistrate or the Munsif who would have had jurisdiction to try the same but for the provisions of this Act, and the decision of the Subdivisional Magistrate or the Munsif, as the case may be, thereon shall be final.

Realisation of fees and fines.

105. All fees imposed and all sums due on bonds and all sums decreed under this Act by a Nyaya Panchayat may be realised under the orders of the Panchayat, as the case may be, in the same manner as an arrear of rate or tax imposed under this Act.

Registers and records.

106. Every Nyaya Panchayat shall maintain such registers and records and submit such returns as may be prescribed.

Resignation by member of Nyaya Panchayat.

107. A member of a Nyaya Panchayat may resign during his term of office by notifying in writing his intention to do so to the prescribed authority and, on such resignation being accepted by the prescribed authority, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

Filling of casual vacancies.

108. When the place of a member of a Nyaya Panchayat becomes vacant by his resignation or otherwise a new member shall be elected by the Anchal Panchayat, who shall hold office so long as the member whose place he fills would have been entitled to hold office if such vacancy had not occurred:

Provided that no act of the Nyaya Panchayat shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only that the number of members of the Panchayat at the time of the performance of such act was less than the prescribed number.

Removal of members of Nyaya Panchayat.

109. (1) The prescribed authority may, subject to the approval of the State Government by an order in writing, at any time, for good and sufficient reason to be stated in such order, remove a member of a Nyaya Panchayat.

(2) Before removing a member under sub-section (1), the prescribed authority shall allow the member concerned an opportunity of being heard.

PART III.

CHAPTER XII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Assistance to District Magistrate and other officers.

110. The District Magistrate, the Subdivisional Magistrate, or any other officer authorised by the State Government in this behalf may require an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat to assist him in the performance of his duties within the local limits of his jurisdiction and the Panchayat shall thereupon assist him so far as it lies in his power.

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part III.—Chapter XII.—Miscellaneous.—Clauses 111—114.)

Liability of member, Pradhan, etc., for loss due to negligence.

111. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 113, every member of an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat including the Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha shall be jointly and severally liable for the loss, waste or misapplication of any money or property vested in or belonging to the Panchayat concerned, if such loss, waste or misapplication is a direct consequence of his neglect or misconduct while holding the office of the Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha or member of the Panchayat, and a suit for compensation or a case for breach of trust may be instituted against him by the Panchayat concerned with the previous sanction of the Subdivisional Magistrate:

Provided that if the Subdivisional Magistrate sanctions or refuses to sanction the institution of a suit or case under this section, the member concerned or the Panchayat concerned may, within thirty days from the date of such order, appeal to the District Magistrate against the said sanction or refusal and the decision of the District Magistrate thereon shall be final:

Provided further that the District Magistrate or the Subdivisional Magistrate may, of his own motion, direct the Panchayat concerned to institute a suit or case under this section.

Members of Gram Panchayat, etc., to be public servants.

112. Every member of an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat, including the Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha or of a Joint Committee constituted under this Act and every employee of a Panchayat and of a Nyaya Panchayat shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code, 1860. Act XLV of 1860.

Indemnity.

113. (1) No suit or other legal proceedings shall be brought against a member including the Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha and Upadhyaksha of an Anchal or a Gram Panchayat or a member of a Nyaya Panchayat or a Joint Committee constituted under this Act in respect of any act done or purporting to be done under this Act or rules made thereunder or in respect of any alleged neglect or default on his part in the execution of his duties under this Act or any rule or order made thereunder, if such act was done or such neglect or default occurred in good faith.

(2) No suit or other legal proceeding shall be brought against any Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat or any of its members or officers, or any person acting under its direction, for anything done under this Act, until the expiration of one month next after notice in writing has been delivered or left at the office of such Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat and also (if the suit is intended to be brought against any officer of the Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat or any person acting under its direction) at the place of abode of the person against whom the suit is intended to be brought, stating the cause of action and the name and place of abode of the person who intends to bring the suit; and unless such notice is proved, the court shall find for the defendant.

(3) Every action referred to in sub-section (2) shall be commenced within three months after the accrual of the cause of action, and not afterwards.

(4) If any Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat or person to whom a notice under sub-section (2) is given shall, before a suit is brought, tender sufficient amends to the plaintiff, such plaintiff shall not recover.

Validation of proceedings.

114. No act of a Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat, Nyaya Panchayat or a Joint Committee or of any person acting as Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha or member of any such Panchayat or Committee shall be deemed to be invalid by reason only of a defect in the constitution of such Panchayat or Committee or on the ground that the Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha or any member of such Panchayat or Committee was not entitled to hold or continue in such office by reason of any disqualification or by reason of any irregularity or illegality in his election or by reason of such act having been done during the period of any vacancy in the office of the Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha or member of such Panchayat or Committee.

Election disputes.

115. (1) The election of a person as the Adhyaksha or Upadhyaksha or as a member of a Gram Panchayat or as the Pradhan or Upa-Pradhan or as a member of an Anchal Panchayat or as the Pradhan Vicharak or as a member of a Nyaya Panchayat shall not be called in question in any Court:

Provided that an application questioning the election may be presented to such authority within such time and in such manner as may be prescribed.

(2) The hearing of the application, the procedure to be followed at such hearing and the disposal of the application shall be in accordance with such rules as may be prescribed.

(3) No Court shall grant an injunction—

(i) to postpone the election of—

(a) a member of a Gram Panchayat or an Anchal Panchayat, or

(b) an Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha, Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Vicharak or Pradhan Vicharak of a Nyaya Panchayat, or

(ii) to prohibit a person, declared to have been elected under this Act, from taking part in the proceedings of a Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat, as the case may be, of which he has been elected Adhyaksha, Upadhyaksha, Pradhan, Upa-Pradhan, Vicharak, Pradhan Vicharak or a member; or (iii) to prohibit the members formally elected or appointed to a Gram Panchayat, Anchal Panchayat or Nyaya Panchayat, as the case may be, under this Act, from entering upon their duties.

TRANSITORY PROVISIONS.

Transitory provisions.

116. On and from the date on which a Nyaya Panchayat comes in to office in any local area, all cases and suits pending before any bench or court constituted under any of the enactments repealed under section 4, shall be transferred to the Nyaya Panchayat constituted in that area under this Act, or pending the constitution of the Nyaya Panchayat, to the Criminal or the Civil Court, as the case may be, of the lowest grade which would have had jurisdiction to try such suit and case, as the case may be, but for the provisions of this Act.

REMOVAL OF DIFFICULTY.

Removal of difficulty.

117. If any dispute or difficulty arises in establishing and constituting an Anchal Panchayat or a Gram Panchayat in any local area on or in the working thereof or in the interpretation of any provision of this Act, or any rule made thereunder or any matter arising out of or relating to such interpretation or any matter not provided in the Act, the State Government may, by order, decide the same and authorise any matter or thing to be done which appears to it to be necessary for the purpose of removing such difficulty, and the decision of the State Government shall be final and shall not be called in question in any court.

CHAPTER XIII.

POWER TO MAKE RULES.

Rules.

118. (1) The State Government may, after previous publication, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) any matter for which power to make provision is conferred expressly or by implication on the State Government by this Act;

The West Bengal Panchayat Bill, 1955.

(Part III.—Chapter XIII.—Power to make rules.—Clause 118.)

(b) the establishment of any authority under, and the exercise of powers and performance of duties conferred and imposed upon the State Government by this Act;

(c) the establishment of Anchal Panchayats and Gram Panchayats;

(d) the records and registers that shall be maintained by an Anchal Panchayat, a Gram Panchayat and a Nyaya Panchayat.

(e) the time of holding meetings of a Gram Sabha referred to in sub-section (4) of section 9, the manner of notifying the time and place of such meetings and of the meetings of an Anchal Panchayat and Gram Panchayat, and the manner of conducting business at such meetings, adjournment of meetings and recording the minutes of the meetings;

(f) the manner of electing members of an Anchal Panchayat, a Gram Panchayat and a Nyaya Panchayat, the deposit to be made by candidates standing for election to the Gram Panchayat the conditions under which such deposits may be forfeited and the disposal of election disputes;

PART B.

Offences under the following sections of the Indian Penal Code, namely :—sections 283, 428, 430, 431, 506 and 509 ; and when the value of the property in the opinion of the Magistrate is not over twenty rupees, section 403.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of the present Bill is to give effect to the directive principle contained in article 40 of the Constitution of India which reads as follows:—

> "The State shall take steps to organize village panchayat and endow them with such powers and authority as may be necessary to enable them to function as units of self-government."

It is proposed to build up a system of village panchayats with a view to enable them to function as units of self-government and to vest them with the powers and duties necessary for the management of village affairs and to entrust them with the powers of taxation necessary for that purpose. It is proposed to set up in a rural area one or more Gram Sabhas consisting of all adult persons whose names are included in the electoral roll of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly pertaining to the area concerned.

It is proposed to set up a Gram Panchayat for every Gram Sabha. The members of the Gram Panchayats will be elected by the members of the Gram Sabha. It is proposed to vest the Gram Panchayats with all municipal and developmental functions covering wide range of subjects like village sanitation, conservancy, drainage, water-supply, construction and maintenance of village roads and bridges, etc. It is proposed to divide the powers and duties of Gram Panchayats into three categories, viz., obligatory, discretionary and compulsory when the State Government so directs.

It is proposed to set up Anchal Panchayats to be elected by a group of Gram Panchayats from amongst the members of the Gram Sabhas. The proposal is that there will be one member in the Anchal Panchayat for every 250 members of the Gram Sabha and that there shall be an additional member if the remainder of the members of the Gram Sabha does not fall below 125. It is proposed to vest the Anchal Panchayats with threefold functions, viz. (1) taxation, (2) maintenance of rural police and (3) constitution of Nyaya Panchayats (consisting of 3 to 5 members called Vicharaks). The term of the members of the proposed Gram Panchayats and the Anchal Panchayats will be 4 years and it is proposed to vest the State Government with the power to reconstitute and supersede the Gram Panchayat or the Anchal Panchayat, as the case may be, if they make persistent default in the performance of their duties.

It is proposed to vest the Nyaya Panchayats with the exclusive power of trial with regard to petty civil and criminal matters specified in the Bill. Appeals from the decisions of the Nyaya Panchayats will not be allowed but in the case of criminal trials, the Subdivisional Magistrate or the District Magistrate, and in the case of civil suits the Munsifs shall have the power to cancel or modify the order of the Panchayat or to direct a retrial, if he is satisfied that there has been a failure of justice. The District Magistrate, the Subdivisional Magistrate or the District Judge shall also have the power to withdraw any suit or case from a Nyaya Panchayat and to transfer it to any Magistrate or Munsif who would have had jurisdiction to try the offence or the suit, as the case may be, but for the provisions of this Bill. It is also proposed to vest the District Judge, the District Magistrate, the Subdivisional Magistrate and the Munsif with the powers of inspection of the proceedings and the records of the Nyaya Panchayats.

It is also proposed to vest the prescribed authority with the power to remove any member of a Nyaya Panchayat after giving him an opportunity of showing cause against the action proposed to be taken against him.

As the proposed Panchayats will render the continuance of the existing local bodies unnecessary the union boards, the union courts and the union benches will be abolished in any area in which Panchayats will be constituted under the proposed legislation.

(d) the First and Second Schedules shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The proposals in this Bill for the amendment of the Representation of the People Act, 1950, have been formulated in the light of the experience gained by the Election Commission as well as the Government in the working of the Act during the last five years. The changes proposed are explained below:—

Clause 2.—The parliamentary constituencies provided under section 6 and the assembly constituencies provided under section 9 of the Act will continue in force only until the dissolution of the House of the People or the Legislative Assembly of the State. But after such dissolution new parliamentary and assembly constituencies as formed by the Delimitation Commission will come into force. It is accordingly proposed to amend the definitions of "Parliamentary constituency" and "Assembly constituency" in such a way as to cover both the existing constituencies and the new constituencies.

The name "Council of States constituency" is misleading. It is not a constituency for the election of a member to the Council of States, but a constituency for electing to an electoral college in Kutch, Manipur or Tripura. Hence it is proposed to change the name to "electoral college constituency".

The proposed definition of "State Government" is intended to facilitate the administration of the Act in Part C States.

Clauses 3 and 24.—In view of the amendments made in articles 341 and 342 of the Constitution by the Constitution (First Amendment) Act, 1951, sub-section (2) of section 3-A of the Act and the Sixth and Seventh Schedules to that Act are superfluous. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes in relation to each of the Part C States have already been listed by Orders of the President. It is, accordingly, proposed to omit sub-section (2) of section 3-A as well as the Sixth and Seventh Schedules.

Clauses 4 and 5.—Sections 5 and 8 of the Act appear to be superfluous. Under articles 81 and 170 read with article 325 of the Constitution, there cannot be any constituency for the House of the People or the Legislative Assembly of the State other than a territorial constituency as provided by law. It is, therefore, proposed to omit these two sections.

Clause 6.—The amendment proposed in this clause is consequential upon the proposed integration of the election provisions of the Government of Part C States Act with the provisions of the Representation of the People Acts.

Clauses 7, 8 and 9.—By clause 7 it is proposed to insert two new Parts in the Act, namely, Part II-A and Part II-B. In Part II-A, it is proposed to make provision for the administrative machinery for the preparation and revision of the electoral rolls, namely, the chief electoral officer, electoral registration officers and assistant electoral registration officers.

Parts III and IV of the Act contain provisions for the preparation of electoral rolls in all the States. The scheme is that in every State there are separate rolls for parliamentary constituencies and for assembly constituencies despite the fact that each parliamentary constituency consists of an integral number of assembly constituencies. An electoral registration officer has to be appointed for each parliamentary constituency as well as for each of the assembly constituencies comprised in that parliamentary constituency. The electoral rolls have to be formally published, both at the time of preliminary publication and at the time of final publication, for each one of these parliamentary and assembly constituencies separately. This leads to unnecessary duplication of work and expenditure which could be easily avoided by making the electoral roll for an assembly constituency the unit and providing that the electoral roll for a parliamentary constituency shall consist of the appropriate number of component units merely put together.

In the three Part C States of Kutch, Manipur and Tripura where there are no Legislative Assemblies there are what are known as Council of States constituencies (proposed to be re-named electoral college constituencies) for the purpose of electing 30 members to an electoral college. Each of these three States has at present two parliamentary constituencies each of which comprises 15 electoral college constituencies. In these States the electoral roll for an electoral college constituency should be the unit and the electoral roll for a parliamentary constituency should consist of 15 of these component electoral rolls put together.

It is accordingly proposed to provide in the new Part II-B that the electoral roll of every parliamentary constituency shall consist of electoral roll of so much of all the assembly constituencies or, as the case may be, electoral college constituencies as are comprised within that parliamentary constituency and it shall not be necessary to prepare or revise separately the electoral roll of any parliamentary constituency; Part III will be limited to the preparation and revision of electoral rolls for assembly and electoral college constituencies by amending the definition of constituency in section 14.

Clause 11.—Section 19 of the Act lays down two conditions for registration in any constituency, namely, (a) the person should have been ordinarily resident in the constituency for not less than 180 days during the preceding calendar year, and (b) he should not have been less than 21 years of age on the 1st of March of the year in which the roll is prepared or revised. In practice, however, owing to paucity of staff it has not been possible to make anything like a thorough inquiry on the first point, and the authorities responsible for the annual revision of the electoral rolls have mostly been content with ascertaining whether the elector ordinarily resides in the constituency at the time of revision. There seems no great advantage in finding out whether an elector has been resident in a constituency for any particular period. It is therefore proposed in clause 11 of the Bill that the law should be simplified by relating "ordinary residence" to the "qualifying date" rather than to any "qualifying period".

Clause 12.—Sub-section (3) of section 20 of the Act distinguishes between members of the armed forces who live in "a barrack, building or place belonging to or provided by the Government" and those who are permitted to live in private quarters. These latter are comparatively very few. It is desirable to have a uniform rule for all members of the armed forces in order to avoid any discrimination and also to facilitate the administrative work which this provision throws on the various headquarters. It is therefore proposed that the sub-section should be simplified as in clause 12 of the Bill.

The amendments proposed in sub-clauses (b), (c) and (d) are consequential upon the proposed omission of all references to "the qualifying period" in relation to "ordinary residence". Sub-section (7) of section 20 of the Act is now spent and is proposed to be omitted.

Clause 13.—Section 23 of the Act requires that the electoral roll for each constituency shall be "prepared" every year in the prescribed manner with reference to the qualifying date. In view of the enormous size of the rolls and the expense incurred in the preparation of the first electoral rolls the Election Commission has decided not to attempt anything like a completely fresh preparation of the rolls every year except in a few localities. A house to house inquiry and re-writing of the rolls every year will be unduly expensive and almost impracticable. All that is feasible is an annual revision rather than actual preparation of the rolls and it is accordingly proposed that the provisions of existing section 23 of the Act should be amended so as to provide for both preparation as well as revision of the electoral roll with reference to the qualifying date. It is also proposed that a specific provision should be made in the section itself relating to the coming into force of the rolls.

Since general elections to the House of the People and the State Legislative Assemblies (except three) are due in the beginning of 1957, it would not be worth while revising the electoral rolls for the existing parliamentary and assembly constituencies during the year 1956. The Election Commission would in that year be preparing the rolls for the new constituencies as formed by the Delimitation Commission. Hence the second proviso to the new section 21(2).

At present there is no provision in the Act for the inclusion of names in electoral rolls. Such a provision is important enough to find a place in the Act itself and this is done in the new section 23. Except when an election has been announced in the constituency, the application for inclusion in the electoral roll will lie to the electoral registration officer. During the period when an election is in progress the application will lie only to the chief electoral officer of the State. It is also proposed to provide for an appeal to the Election Commission from an order rejecting an application for inclusion of names.

Clause 16.—Under section 27 of the Act, the qualifying date in the case of the electoral roll of a council constituency is the 1st of April of the year in which the roll is prepared. In the case of election by a local authorities' constituency this may give rise to an anomaly because the names of persons who have ceased to be members of local authorities at the time of biennial elections to the Legislative Council of a State may continue in the electoral rolls and it may not be possible to register in the electoral rolls the names of persons who are members of local authorities at the time of such biennial elections. There is hardly any necessity for a qualifying date for the preparation and revision of electoral rolls of local authorities' constituencies. It is accordingly proposed to provide for the maintenance of electoral rolls of local authorities' constituencies up-to-date so that at the time of biennial elections to Legislative Councils only members (and not ex-members) of local authorities may exercise their franchise.

Clause 19.—As it is proposed to include in Part III of the Act, provisions relating to electoral rolls of electoral college constituencies, section 27-F will not be necessary.

Clause 22.—It is desirable that the staff of local authorities should be made available to electoral registration officers for work in connection with the preparation and revision of electoral rolls as they are now made available to Returning Officers under section 159 of the 1951-Act for work in connection with elections. For this purpose a new section is proposed.

Clause 23.—The old Patna City Municipality and the Patna Administration Committee have merged into the Patna Municipal Corporation established under the Patna Municipal Corporation Act. "Major Panchayats" in Madras are now known as "Class I Panchayats". Hence this amendment.

Clause 25.—The amendments proposed in this clause are consequential upon the proposal to integrate the election provisions of the Government of Part C States Act, 1951 with the provisions of the Representation of the People Acts.

(b) sub-section (2) shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 100.

53. In section 100 of the principal Act, for sub-sections (1) and (2), the following sub-sections shall be substituted, namely:—

"(1) If the Tribunal is of opinion that the election has not been a free election by reason that bribery, undue influence or group intimidation has extensively prevailed at the election, the Tribunal shall declare the election as a whole to be void:

Provided that where at the election a candidate has been declared under sub-section (2) of section 54 to be elected to fill a reserved seat and the Tribunal is of opinion that bribery, undue influence or group intimidation prevailed only in regard to the election to fill the remaining seat, the Tribunal shall declare to be void only the election of the returned candidate to fill that remaining seat.

Explanation.—In this section,—

(a) the expressions 'bribery' and 'undue influence' have the meanings given to them in section 123; and

(b) the expression 'group intimidation' means any interference or attempt at interference by a community, group or section with the free exercise by another community, group or section of the right to vote or rafrain from voting by intimidation, coercion, social or economic boycott, threat of such boycott or other similar means.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), if the Tribunal is of opinion—

(a) that on the date of his election a returned candidate was not qualified, or was disqualified, to be chosen to fill the seat under the Constitution or this Act or the Government of Part C States Act, 1951; or

(b) that any corrupt practice specified in section 123 has been committed by a returned candidate or his agent or by any other person with the connivance of a returned candidate or his agent; or

(c) that the election of a returned candidate has been procured or induced by any corrupt or illegal practice; or

(d) that the result of the election, in so far as it concerns a returned candidate, has been materially affected—

(i) by the improper acceptance or rejection of any nomination, or

(ii) by the improper reception, refusal or rejection of any vote or the reception of any vote which is void; or

(iii) by any non-compliance with the provisions of the Constitution or of this Act or of any rules or orders made under this Act or any other Act or rules relating to the election, the Tribunal shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void.".

Substitution of new section for section 104.

54. For section 104 of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

Difference of opinion between the members of the Tribunal.

104. (1) If at the conclusion of the trial of an election petition there is a difference of opinion between the members of the Tribunal on any question regarding the order to be made under section 98 or section 99, they shall state the question on which they so differ together with their respective opinions thereon and refer the same for determination to such Judge of the High Court having jurisdiction over the Tribunal as the Election Commission may, with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of that Court, nominate for the purpose:

Provided that where the High Court consists of only one Judge, the question shall be referred to that Judge.

Amendment of section 106.

55. In section 106 of the principal Act,—

(a) the brackets and words '(other than a primary election)' shall be omitted;

(b) for the words 'shall cause the order to be published in the Gazette of India and in the Official Gazette of the State concerned', the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"shall cause the order to be published—

(a) where the order relates to an election to a House of Parliament, in the Gazette of India as well as in the Official Gazette of the State concerned; and (b) where the order relates to an election to the House or a House of the Legislature of the State, in the Official Gazette of the State.".

Substitution of new section for section 107. Effect of orders of the Tribunal.

56. For section 107 of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:—

"107. (1) Every order of the Tribunal under section 98 or section 99 shall take effect as soon as it is pronounced by the Tribunal.

(2) Where by an order under section 98 the election of a returned candidate or the election as a whole is declared to be void, acts and proceedings in which any returned candidate affected by the order has, before the date thereof, participated as a member of Parliament or as a member of the Legislature of a State shall not be invalidated by reason of that order, nor shall such candidate be subjected to any liability or penalty on the ground of such participation."

Amendment of section 111.

57. In section 111 of the principal Act, the following words shall be added at the end, namely:—

"and thereupon the Election Commission shall publish the report in the Official Gazette".

Insertion of new section 111A.

58. After section 111 of the principal Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Procedure where the petitioner fails to appear.

"111A. (1) Where the petitioner fails, or if there are more petitioners than one, all the petitioners fail, to appear at any stage during the trial of the petition, the Tribunal may, on the application of any other person who might himself have been a petitioner and if satisfied that it is necessary for ends of justice so to do, instead of dismissing the petition for default, order that person to be substituted for the original petitioner or petitioners upon such terms as it thinks just.

(2) When a petition is dismissed for default the Tribunal shall report the fact to the Election Commission and thereupon the Election Commission shall publish the report in the Official Gazette.".

Amendment of section 119.

59. In section 119 of the principal Act, for the words, brackets and figure "sub-section (1)", the words, brackets and figure "sub-section (4)" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 123.

60. In section 123 of the principal Act,—

(a) in clause (1), in the Explanation, for the words and figures "return of election expenses referred to in section 76", the words and figures "account of election expenses referred to in section 78" shall be substituted;

(b) in clause (7), the words "or the employment of any person by a candidate or his agent" shall be omitted; and

(c) in clause (8), for the Explanation, the following Explanation shall be substituted, namely:—

"Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause—

(a) a person serving under the Government of India or the Government of any State shall not include a person who has been declared, by the Central Government or, as the case may be, the State Government to be a person to whom, the provisions of this clause shall not apply;

(b) a person shall be deemed to assist in the furtherance of the prospects of a candidate's election if he acts as an election agent or a polling agent or a counting agent of that candidate.".

Amendment of section 124.

61. In section 124 of the principal Act, in clause (4), for the word "return" wherever it occurs, the word "account" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 134.

62. In section 134 of the principal Act, in sub-section (3), after the words "electoral registration officers", the words "assistant electoral registration officers" shall be inserted.

Insertion of new section 135A.

63. After section 135 of the principal Act, the following section shall be inserted, namely:—

Making false declarations.

Amendment of section 139.

64. In section 139 of the principal Act, in clause (b) of sub-section (1), after the word and figures, "section 135", the words, figures and letter "or section 135A" shall be inserted.

65. In part VIII of the principal Act, in Chapter I, after section 140, the following section shall be inserted, namely:— Insertion of new section 140A.

"140A. Any disqualification under this Chapter may be removed by the Election Commission for reasons to be recorded in writing.". Removal of disqualifications.

66. In section 141 of the principal Act, in clause (a), after the word and figures "section 135", the words, figures and letter "or section 135A" shall be inserted. Amendment of section 141.

67. (1) Section 143 of the principal Act shall be omitted. Omission of section 143 and removal of disqualification incurred under that section.

(2) It is hereby declared that any disqualification for voting incurred by any person under the said section for default in making a return of election expenses shall stand removed.

68. Section 146 of the principal Act shall be omitted. Omission of section 146.

69. In section 148 of the principal Act, for the words "Council of States", the words "electoral college" shall be substituted. Amendment of section 148.

70. In section 152 of the principal Act, in sub-section (2), the words "or group of such States" shall be omitted. Amendment of section 152.

71. For section 153 of the principal Act, the following section shall be substituted, namely:— Substitution of new section for section 153.

"153. It shall be competent for the Election Commission for reasons which it considers sufficient, to extend the time for the completion of any election by making necessary amendments in the notification issued by it under section 30 or sub-section (1) of section 39.". Extension of time for completion of election.

72. In section 158 of the principal Act,— Amendment of section 158.

(a) in sub-section (1), the words, brackets and figures "or in that section read with sub-section (4) of section 39" and the words, brackets and figure "or in that sub-section read with the said sub-section (4)" shall be omitted; and

(b) in sub-section (4),—

(i) the words, brackets and figures "or under that sub-section read with sub-section (4) of section 39" shall be omitted; and

(ii) in the second proviso, the words "or at an election in a Council constituency and an election by the members of the State Legislative Assembly to fill seats in the State Legislative Council" shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 159.

73. In section 159 of the principal Act, the words "the Election Commission or" shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 169.

74. In section 169 of the principal Act, after sub-section (2), the following sub-section shall be inserted, namely:—

"(3) All rules made under this Act shall, as soon as may be after they are made, be laid before both Houses of Parliament.".

Consequential amendments.

75. In the Government of Part C States Act, 1951,—

(a) in section 7—

(i) the word "and" shall be added at the end of clause (a); and

(ii) the word "and" at the end of clause (b), the whole of clause (c) and the Explanation shall be omitted;

(b) section 8 shall be omitted.

Act not to apply to pending elections, etc.

76. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any election which has been called before the commencement of this Act or to any election petition arising out of such election, whether such petition is pending at such commencement or is presented afterwards, and all such elections shall be held and petitions tried, and all matters in connection with such elections or petitions (including the constitution of Election Tribunals) shall be regulated, in accordance with the provisions of the law in force immediately before such commencement.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The proposals in this Bill for the amendment of the Representation of the People Act, 1951, are based on the experience gained by the Election Commission as well as the Government in the working of the Act during and after the last general elections. The main changes proposed are explained below:—

Clauses 3 and 4.—Under section 7(c) a person is disqualified for membership of Parliament or of a State Legislature if he has failed to lodge a return of election expenses as required by or under the Act, and under section 81(1)(b) the disqualification takes effect on the expiration of two months from the last date for lodging that return or of such longer period as the Election Commission may in any particular case allow. Experience has shown that this period of two months is insufficient for scrutinising all the returns and deciding whether they have been lodged within the time and in the manner required by law. It is therefore proposed that clause (b) of section 8(1) should be amended so that the disqualification does not become operative until the expiration of two months from the date on which the Election Commission has decided the point.

Clause 6.—In this clause it is proposed to revise the whole of Part III which now consists of two chapters and seven sections. Half of it relating to the first general elections under the Constitution is spent and is therefore proposed to be omitted. The other half relating to future general elections and biennial elections is also sought to be simplified.

While section 14(2) requires a general election to be held on the expiration of the duration of the House of the People, the proviso to section 15 suggests that the notification calling the constituencies to elect at such general election may be issued before such expiration, but not more than four months before. Section 16(2) and the proviso to section 17 contain similar provisions for general elections to the State Legislative Assemblies. The durations of the present House of the People and Legislative Assemblies are due to expire on different dates in the first half of 1957. The provisos to sections 15 and 17 would make it impossible to hold general elections simultaneously to all these Houses before their terms expire, even if it were permissible under sections 14(2) and 16(2). It is proposed therefore to omit the provisos and make it clear that a general election shall be held on a dissolution of the House/Assembly whether by efflux of time under article 83(2)/172(1) or by order of the President or Governor under article 85(2)(b)/174(2)(b).

Clause 9.—At present assistant returning officers have no power to perform any of the functions of a returning officer which relate to the acceptance of the nomination paper or to the scrutiny of nominations or to the counting of votes unless the returning officer is unavoidably prevented from performing the said functions. There does not appear to be any valid reason why assistant returning officers who are also responsible officers should not be competent to perform all the functions of the returning officer subject of course to his control. It is accordingly proposed to omit the proviso to section 22 of the Act.

Clauses 10 and 31.—At present the Act and the rules refer to polling stations as well as to polling booths which a polling station may have. In practice, many polling stations have as many as four or five polling booths. It would be administratively more convenient to do away with polling booths altogether and to treat polling stations as indivisible units and allot definite polling areas to each of them as contemplated by section 25, and where necessary, groups of electors with reference to the electoral roll even where two or more polling stations are located in the same building. It is accordingly proposed that the references to polling booths should be eliminated from section 58 and section 26(1) should be amended enabling the appointment of the same person to be the presiding officer for more than one polling station in the same premises.

Clause 12.—Under the existing law, a minimum of 42 days is required between the notification calling for an election and the commencement of polling. At least 30 days have to be allowed between the last date for the withdrawal of candidatures and the commencement of the poll which appears to be unduly long. It is also felt that the election programme should as far as possible be fixed in the law itself. It is, therefore, proposed not only to reduce the periods prescribed in clauses (a), (b) and (d), but also to provide in clause (a) that the last date for making nominations should be the tenth day after the publication of the notification calling the election and in clause (b) that the date of scrutiny should be the second day after the last date for making nominations. By making the election programme shorter by about a fortnight, the over-all election expenses of candidates will also be reduced. As the superintendence, direction and control of elections are vested in the Election Commission it is proposed that these various dates should be fixed by the Commission in the case of general elections as they are at present fixed by the Commission in the case of bye-elections.

Clause 14.—Section 33 of the Act prescribes the procedure for presentation of nomination papers and the requirements of a valid nomination. Sub-section (2) of this section seems to be unnecessarily cumbrous. From the practical point of view it seems quite immaterial whether an elector subscribes one or more than one nomination paper and the existence of a statutory restriction as in the proviso to sub-section (2) merely leads to trivial objections being taken and a good deal of the returning officer's time being wasted and in some cases the nomination papers being improperly rejected.

So also, sub-section (3) in its present form has been a fruitful source of election petitions on the ground of unlawful rejection of nomination papers. Its main provision is that along with every nomination paper there should be a declaration by the candidate that he has appointed either himself or another specified person as his election agent. The great majority of candidates in this country appoint themselves as their own election agents. Experience of the last general elections shows that the system of election agents has not been very popular with the candidates. The appointment of election agents is therefore proposed to be made optional for candidates in clause 21. In view of this there is no necessity for the provision that the nomination paper should be accompanied by a declaration relating to the appointment of an election agent.

With a view to making the nomination paper as simple as possible, it is proposed to dispense with a seconder. In the case of a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe candidate there need not be a separate declaration. The nomination paper itself may contain the declaration. The revised section 33 incorporates these changes.

Clause 15.—A deposit does not seem necessary in the case of an election to the Council of States or in the case of an election to a State Legislative Council by the members of the Legislative Assembly of that State, and it is proposed to do away with this requirement.

Clause 17.—At present under sub-section (2) of section 36 there are five grounds on any one of which a nomination paper may be rejected. Out of a total of 338 election petitions arising out of the last general elections, as many as 116 contained allegations regarding improper rejection of nomination papers. Since the scrutiny proceedings before the returning officer are of a summary nature, it is considered that the scrutiny of nominations should be made less technical. The grounds on which a nomination paper can be rejected should be made simple so that returning officers may take quick and correct decisions. While the question whether a candidate has or has not the requisite "qualifications" under the Constitution or the Representation of the People Act, 1951, is comparatively easy and straightforward, the question whether he is "disqualified" is usually complicated and involves difficult points of fact and law. It is therefore proposed to remove this latter question from the purview of the returning officer, leaving it to be agitated, if necessary, by means of an election petition after the completion of the election.

The rule of evidence contained in clause (a) of sub-section (7) of section 36 is not properly worded. The certified copy of an entry in the electoral roll of a constituency could only be evidence of the fact that the individual referred to in the entry is for the time being registered as an elector in the constituency, and the conclusive nature of this piece of evidence should also be confined to this fact. The right of the individual to stand for election or to subscribe a nomination paper as proposer or as seconder accrues from the relevant provisions of the Act which have to be properly applied, and the mere production of a certified copy of an entry in the electoral roll cannot be taken as conclusive evidence of any of these rights. It is accordingly proposed to revise clause (a) of sub-section (7) of section 36. Clause (b) of sub-section (7) is proposed to be omitted in view of the proposed omission of sub-section (2) of section 33.

It is also proposed to insert a new sub-section (8) in this section requiring every returning officer to prepare a list of validly nominated candidates immediately after the scrutiny of nomination papers is over.

Clauses 19 and 28.—At present the Act seems to draw a distinction, not readily intelligible, between "duly nominated" candidates and "validly nominated" candidates. Apparently, candidates may have been "duly nominated" although their nomination papers are rejected on scrutiny by the returning officer. Whereas according to the rules under the Act the "list of validly nominated" candidates contains the names of those candidates whose nomination papers have been found to be in order on scrutiny and who have not withdrawn their candidatures in time under section 37. Then again, although section 53 suggests that the list referred to in sub-section (1) of that section is not to be the same as the list of valid nominations published under section 38, the rules provide otherwise, and the same list is required to be published under both sections. It is proposed that candidates who have been duly nominated and have not withdrawn their candidatures under section 37 may be referred to as contesting candidates. It is accordingly proposed to revise section 38 as in this clause and to make necessary consequential amendments in section 53(1) as in clause 28.

Clause 25.—Section 46 of the Act provides for the appointment of polling agents at least three days before the commencement of the poll. Many candidates at the general elections found it impossible to comply with this time-limit and in order to avoid hardship the returning officers and presiding officers had to accept polling agents appointed later. It is proposed to remove this time-limit which appears to be unnecessary.

Then section 46 lays down that the notice of appointment of polling agents shall be given in the prescribed manner to such officers as may be prescribed. This again is not easy to comply with in practice. In order to simplify the appointment of polling agents, it is proposed to delete the latter portion of section 46 and formally revise the rest.

Clause 26.—Section 47 at present restricts the number of counting agents of every candidate to one, so that at the time of counting only the candidate, his election agent, if any, and the counting agent are entitled to be present and watch the proceedings. It is almost impossible for a single counting agent to watch with any degree of care and thoroughness when a number of counting parties are doing the counting. It is therefore proposed in this clause that section 47 should be amended so as to allow the appointment of a number of counting agents subject to the prescribed maximum. It is also proposed to omit from this section the requirement that counting agents shall be appointed before the commencement of the polls.

Clause 32.—Questions often arise as to when exactly an elected candidate becomes a member of the House to which he is elected and what is the date of his election. There is usually an interval between the date of declaration of a result under sections 53, 54 or 66 and the date on which that declaration is published in the Official Gazette under section 67. The declaration is reproduced verbatim in the Gazette and contains the date on which it has actually been made by the returning officer. The date of notification in the Gazette is therefore not material and there appears to be no real justification for regarding the latter date as the date on which an elected candidate becomes a member of a particular House. Moreover, while the elected candidate is immediately aware of the declaration made by the returning officer and its date, he has to keep a close watch on the Official Gazettes in order to know the date on which the declaration is notified in the Gazette, and this, from the point of view of the candidate is neither easy nor convenient. In this clause it is accordingly proposed to insert a new section defining the date of election of a candidate.

Clause 35.—Under section 70, if a person is elected to more than one seat in either House of Parliament or in the House or in either House of the Legislature of a State, then unless within the prescribed time he resigns all but one of the seats all seats shall become vacant. Under article 101(3) and article 190(3) if a member resigns his seat by writing under his hand addressed to the Speaker or Chairman his seat thereupon becomes vacant. But experience has shown that there may be occasions when the office of the Speaker or the Chairman in the case of the Legislature of a State may remain in abeyance as in the case of failure of constitutional machinery under article 356 of the Constitution. In such cases the law is not clear as to whom the resignation should be submitted under section 70. To provide for a contingency like this it is proposed to amend section 70 as in this clause.

Clause 41.—The law relating to election expenses as contained in sections 76, 77 and 78 (and also section 44) has been found to be unnecessarily complicated and difficult to comply with. It is proposed to simplify it and make it workable by revising the sections mentioned above. The operation of these sections will be limited to elections to the House of the People and the State Legislative Assemblies. The duty of maintaining regular and separate accounts of all election expenses at these elections will be thrown primarily on the candidate himself, but if he has an election agent, he can ask that agent to maintain the account. The expenses incurred by a recognised party organisation in furthering the prospects of candidates supported by it will not form part of the election expenses of any individual candidate. Only the contesting candidates will be required to lodge an account of their expenses, and that too, not in the form of a complicated return classifying the expenses under ten or twelve different heads, but in the form in which they have to maintain the account itself. Lastly, the present restriction on the number of persons who may be employed on payment in connection with the election is proposed to be removed, since it does not seem to serve any useful purpose.

Clause 42.—Under sub-section (1) of section 81, the period of limitation for presenting an election petition is left to be prescribed by rules which is not very satisfactory. It is proposed to specify this period in the section itself. 45 days are allowed for lodging the return of election expenses and, adding 15 days to it, the period of limitation for presenting an election petition may be two months from the date of the election of the returned candidate, or if there are more than one returned candidate at the election and the dates of their elections are different, two months from the later of those dates.

Clause 43.—Section 82 provides that all the duly nominated candidates shall be joined as respondents to an election petition. Even in the case of elections to the House of the People or a State Legislative Assembly, particularly in plural-member constituencies, the number of duly nominated candidates has been very large, with the result that the service of notices on them takes a very long time and holds up the trial of the election petition. Naturally, it is only the returned candidate who takes any interest in contesting the election petition. Moreover there is a provision in section 90 which enables any other candidate to join as a respondent. It is accordingly proposed in this clause that section 82 should be revised so that it is necessary to join as respondents only those candidates who are interested prima facie in the outcome of the petition.

Clause 44.—Where the petition alleges any corrupt or illegal practice, sub-section (2) of section 83 requires a separate list setting forth full particulars of the practices alleged, and also as full a statement as possible as to the names of the parties alleged to have committed those practices at the date and place of commission of those practices. This provision is often not fully understood by petitioners, or even where it is understood, there is great deal of repetition as between the petition proper and the list. It would be simpler from all points of view to have a complete and self-contained petition. It is proposed that section 83 should be revised formally from this point of view.

Clause 46.—It is proposed to make two changes in section 85 which empowers the Election Commission to dismiss election petitions in certain circumstances. The question whether a petition is in accordance with section 83 cannot properly be decided without hearing both parties. On the other hand, the Election Commission will find it easy to see whether section 82 has been complied with. It is therefore proposed to substitute section 82 for section 83. In view of the nature of election petitions and the desirability of reaching finality in regard to all election matters it is proposed that the provision for condoning delay should be omitted and that the power to dismiss a petition for non-compliance with sections 81, 82 or 117 should belong not only to the Election Tribunal under section 90 but should also be given to the Election Commission. Before dismissing a petition however the Election Commission should give the petitioner an opportunity of being heard. Section 85 has been revised accordingly.

Clauses 47 and 54.—Under the existing law the Election Tribunal is to consist of three members of whom the Chairman shall be either a retired or serving judge of a High Court or a retired or serving district judge, the second member shall be a retired or serving district judge and the third member shall be an advocate of not less than 10 years standing. The undue delay in the disposal of several election petitions is attributable largely to this composition. The intention in having a three-member tribunal was that its decisions would be final and not open to any appeal or revision before a higher court. But it has been authoritatively held that the powers conferred by article 136 on the Supreme Court or by articles 226 and 227 on the High Courts are exercisable in relation to Election Tribunals. In order to reduce the expense and delay which the existing composition of a three-member tribunal necessarily involves, it is proposed to amend section 86 providing for double-member tribunals consisting of serving district judges only and to provide in revised section 104 (vide clause 54) that in the case of difference between the two members on any question regarding the final order to be made, the question should be referred to a judge of the High Court nominated for the purpose by the Election Commission with the concurrence of the Chief Justice and that the final order should then be made by the Tribunal in accordance with the decision of the judge upon the reference.

Clause 48.—At present the Election Commission has no power to transfer election petitions from one tribunal to another. In the absence of such a power, the Election Commission could not take any action for the expeditious disposal of petitions and much unnecessary expense had to be incurred. By this clause it is proposed to insert a new section giving the necessary power to the Election Commission.

Existing section 89 appears to be of little practical utility, and it is proposed to omit it.

Clause 53.—Sub-section (1)(c) of section 100 provides that if the tribunal is of opinion that the result of an election has been materially affected by the improper acceptance or rejection of any nomination, the Tribunal shall declare that election to be wholly void. There does not appear to be any sound and valid reason why the entire election should be set aside on the ground of improper acceptance or rejection of any nomination. It is accordingly proposed to omit clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 100 and to make a provision in sub-section (2) [vide proposed clause (d)] that if the Tribunal is of the opinion that the result of the election in so far as it concerns a returned candidate has been materially affected by the improper acceptance or rejection of a nomination the Tribunal shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void.

Sub-section (2)(c) provides inter alia that if the Tribunal is of opinion that the result of an election has been materially affected by any non-compliance with the provisions of the Constitution or of the Act or any rules or orders made thereunder, the Tribunal shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void. Now it might happen that although on the date of scrutiny of the nominations the candidate was not disqualified for being chosen as a member, he subsequently, but before the date of his election, incurred a disqualification and continued to be subject to that disqualification even after the election. Such a case would obviously be outside the purview of section 100(1)(c). It does not also seem possible to bring it within the purview of section 100(2)(c), since it cannot be asserted that there is a non-compliance within express constitutional or statutory requirement. It is accordingly proposed to insert a new provision in sub-section (2) that if the Tribunal is of opinion that on the date of his election a returned candidate was not qualified, or was disqualified to be chosen to fill the seat under the Constitution or the Act, the Tribunal shall declare the election of the returned candidates to be void.

Under section 54(2) in plural-member constituencies if the number of candidates qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats is equal to the number of such seats, all those candidates shall forthwith be declared to be elected to fill the reserved seats and a poll shall be taken in respect of the general seats. Now, if bribery, undue influence or intimidation prevailed in the contested election relating to the general seat there is no justifiable reason why the uncontested elections of the reserved candidates should also be set aside. It is accordingly proposed to insert a proviso to proposed sub-section (1) of section 100. In view of the changes proposed above, sub-sections (1) and (2) have been revised as in this clause.

Clause 56.—At present under section 107 an order of the Tribunal under section 98 or section 99 takes effect only on its publication in the Gazette of India. It is proposed that the order of the Tribunal should take effect as soon as it is pronounced by the Tribunal.

Under the law a good deal of time elapses between the election of a candidate and the date on which his election may be declared void by a Tribunal under section 98. But in this interval which may extend not only to months but even to years, the returned candidate may take part in various Acts and proceedings as a member of Parliament or as a member of the Legislature of a State. The provisions of article 100(2) or article 189(2) do not appear to be comprehensive in this respect. Then there are the provisions of article 104 and article 193 imposing penalties in certain cases. In order that a returned candidate whose election is subsequently declared void may not be subjected to any liability or penalty or that the Acts and proceedings in which he participated may not be declared to be void, it is proposed to recast section 107 as in this clause.

Clauses 57 and 58.—When the report of withdrawal of a petition is sent by the Tribunal to the Election Commission it is desirable that the report should be published in the Official Gazette. Accordingly it is proposed to amend section 111 of the Act as in sub-clause (b) of this clause.

Where a petitioner fails to appear at any stage during the trial of the petition, it is desirable that the Tribunal instead of having to dismiss the petition for default, should have the power to order another person to be substituted for the petitioner if that person might himself have presented the petition. This is provided in the new section 111A.

Clause 60.—Under clause (a) of the Explanation below section 123(8) a person serving under the Government of India shall not include a person who has been declared by the Central Government to be a person to whom the provisions of that clause shall not apply. But by clause (b) of that Explanation a State Government is debarred from exempting village officers from the operation of section 123(8), with the result that no village officer can canvass at election for another candidate. This provision leads not only to hardships but also to anomalies at the time of elections. It is felt that clause (b) of the Explanation relating to persons serving under the Government of any State should be on the same lines as clause (a) of that Explanation relating to persons serving under the Central Government.

Certain judicial decisions have raised doubts as to whether acting as an election agent or polling agent or counting agent of a candidate would be regarded as assisting in the furtherance of the prospects of a candidate's election within the meaning of this section. It is proposed to remove these doubt by an express provision in the Explanation.

Clause 63.—In this clause it is proposed that if a person makes a false statement or declaration in connection with the nomination of a candidate or the return of election expenses he shall be guilty of an offence.

Clause 65.—In Chapter I of Part VIII of the Act the Election Commission has no power to remove any disqualifications for membership under section 139 or section 140 of the Act but in Chapter II of that Part the Election Commission has power under section 144 of the Act to remove any disqualifications for voting. A disqualification under section 7(c) of the Act may be removed by the Election Commission. There does not appear to be any sound reason why a constitutional authority of the status of the Election Commission should not be given the power to remove disqualifications for membership in other cases also. It is accordingly proposed to insert a new section 140A after section 140.

Clause 67.—In view of the fact that failure to lodge a return of election expenses within the time and manner required by or under this Act is a disqualification for membership under section 7(c) of the Act, there is no need to make such failure a disqualification for voting. It is accordingly proposed to omit section 143.

Clause 68.—Section 146 does not seem to serve any useful purpose, and, in parts, is of dobutful validity. It is therefore proposed to omit it.

Clause 75.—The amendments proposed by this clause in the Government of Part C States Act are consequential upon the proposal to integrate the election provisions of that Act with the provisions of the Representation of the People Act.

Clause 76.—By this clause it is proposed that the amendments proposed in this Bill should not apply to any pending bye-election or to any election petition arising out of such bye-election.

ANNEXURE.

EXTRACTS FROM THE REPRESENTATION OF THE PEOPLE ACT, 1951 (XLIII OF 1951).

* * * * * * *

2. Interpretation.—(1) In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

* * * * * * *

(b) "Appropriate authority" means, in relation to an election to the House of the People or the Council of States or to a primary election, the Central Government, and in relation to an election to the Legislative Assembly or the Legislative Council of a State, the State Government.

* * * * * * *

(d) "election" means an election to fill a seat or seats in either House of Parliament or in the House or either House of the Legislature of a State other than the State of Jammu and Kashmir and includes a primary election;

(e) "elector", in relation to a constituency, means a person whose name is for the time being entered in the electoral roll of that constituency;

* * * * * * *

(h) "primary election" means an election for the purpose of constituting or reconstituting an electoral college under section 27A of the Representation of the People Act, 1950 (XLIII of 1950) for a scheduled Part C State or for the purpose of filling any casual vacancy in the seat of a member of such electoral college;

(i) "Scheduled Castes" and "Scheduled Tribes" in relation to a Part C State, mean respectively the castes specified in the Sixth Schedule and the tribes specified in the Seventh Schedule to the Representation of the People Act, 1950 (XLIII of 1950) in relation to that State.

* * * * * * *

(2) For the purposes of this Act, a Council of States constituency, a Parliamentary constituency, an Assembly constituency, a Council constituency, a local authorities' constituency, a graduates' constituency and a teachers' constituency shall each be treated as a constituency of different class.

(3) Any requirement under this Act that a notification, order, rule declaration, notice or list issued or made by any authority shall be published in the Official Gazette, shall, unless otherwise expressly provided in this Act, be construed as a requirement that the notification, order, rule, declaration, notice or list shall—

(a) where it is issued or made by the Central Government, be published in the Gazette of India;

(b) where it is issued or made by a State Government, be published in the Official Gazette of the State; and

(c) where it is issued or made by any other authority, be published in the Gazette of India if it relates to an election to, or membership of, either House of Parliament or to a primary election, and in the Official Gazette of the State if it relates to an election to, or membership of, the House or either House of the Legislature of a State.

* * * * * * *

(5) Any reference in this Act to a law which is not in force in a Part B State shall, in relation to that State, be construed as a reference to the corresponding law, if any, in force in that State.

* * * * * * *

(7) Any reference in this Act to the Legislative Council of a State shall be construed as not including a reference to the Coorg Legislative Council.

* * * * * * *

Disqualifications.

7. Disqualifications for membership of Parliament or of a State Legislature.—A person shall be disqualified for being chosen as, and for being, a member of either House of Parliament or of the Legislative Assembly or Legislative Council of a State—

* * * * * * *

(e) if, having been nominated as a candidate for Parliament or the Legislature of any State or having acted as an election agent of any person so nominated, he has failed to lodge a return of election expenses within the time and in the manner required by or under this Act, unless five years have elapsed from the date by which the return ought to have been lodged or the Election Commission has removed the disqualification.

* * * * * * *

8. Savings.—(1) Notwithstanding anything in section 7—

* * * * * * *

(b) a disqualification under clause (c) of that section shall not take effect until the expiration of two months from the date by which the return of election expenses ought to have been lodged or of such longer period as the Election Commission may in any particular case allow.

* * * * * * *

(g) a disqualification under clause (f) of that section may, in the case of any of the candidates for the first elections under this Act, be removed by the Election Commission for reasons to be recorded by it in writing.

* * * * * * *

CHAPTER IV.

Qualification and disqualification for membership of electoral colleges.

10. Qualification for membership of electoral colleges for certain Part C States.—A person shall not be qualified to be chosen as a member of an electoral college for any scheduled Part C State, unless he is an elector for any Council of States constituency in that State.

* * * * * * *

NOTIFICATION OF GENERAL ELECTIONS.

CHAPTER I.

Parliament.

The Council of States.

12. Notification for election to the Council of States.—(1) For the purpose of constituting the Council of States under the Constitution in due time, the President shall,—

(a) after the names of the elected members of the Legislative Assemblies of Part A States and Part B States other than the State of Jammu and Kashmir first constituted under the Constitution have been notified under section 67, call upon the elected members of each such Assembly, by a notification in the Gazette of India, to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification, and

(b) after the names of the members of the electoral colleges for the scheduled Part C States first constituted under Part IV-A of the Representation of the People Act, 1950 (XLIII of 1950), have been notified under section 67, by another notification call upon the members of the electoral college for each Part C State or group of such States concerned to elect a member or members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification.

(2) For the purpose of filling the seats of members retiring on the expiration of their respective terms of office in every second year after the constitution of the Council States, the President shall,—

(a) by a notification in the Gazette of India, call upon the elected members of the Legislative Assembly of each of the States referred to in sub-section (1) concerned to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification, and

(b) by another notification call upon the members of the electoral college for each of the Part C States and group of such States concerned to elect a member or members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification:

Provided that the notifications under this sub-section shall be issued on such dates, not being more than four months prior to the date on which the term of office of the retiring members would expire under section 154, as may be recommended in this behalf by the Election Commission.

13. Notification for constitution of electoral colleges for certain Part C States.—For the purpose of the first constitution and of each subsequent reconstitution of the electoral college for each scheduled Part C State under Part IV-A of the Representation of the People Act, 1950 (XLIII of 1950), the President shall by one or more notifications in the Gazette of India call upon all Council of States constituencies concerned to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date or dates as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in the notification or notifications:

Provided that every such notification calling upon the Council of States constituencies in any Part C State shall be issued, as far as may be, at the same time when a notification calling upon the Parliamentary constituencies in such State to elect a member or members for the purpose of constituting the House of the People in due time or on the expiration of the duration of that House or on its dissolution, as the case may be, is issued.

The House of the People.

14. General elections to the House of the People.—(1) A general election shall be held for the purpose of constituting the House of the People under the Constitution in due time.

(2) A general election shall also be held on the expiration of the duration of the House of the People or on its dissolution in order that a new House of the People may be constituted.

15. Notification for election to the House of the People.—For the purpose of constituting the House of the People under the Constitution in due time or on the expiration of the duration of the House of the People or on its dissolution, the President shall, by one or more notifications published in the Gazette of India on such date or dates as may be recommended by the Election Commission call upon all the Parliamentary constituencies to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date or dates as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in the notification or notifications:

Provided that for the purpose of constituting the House of the People on the expiration of its duration, no such notification shall be issued at any time earlier than four months prior to the date on which the duration of the House of the People would expire in the ordinary course of events.

CHAPTER II.

State Legislatures.

The State Legislative Assemblies.

16. General elections to Legislative Assemblies.—(1) A general election shall be held for the purpose of constituting the Legislative Assembly of each State under the Constitution in due time.

(2) A general election shall also be held on the expiration of the duration of an Assembly or on its dissolution in order that a new Assembly may be constituted.

17. Notification for election to State Legislative Assemblies.—For the purpose of constituting the Legislative Assembly of a State under the Constitution in due time or on the expiration of the duration of an Assembly or on its dissolution, the Governor or Rajpramukh, as the case may be, of the State shall, by one or more notifications published in the Official Gazette on such date or dates as may be recommended by the Election Commission, call upon all the Assembly constituencies to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date or dates as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in the notification or notifications:

Provided that for the purpose of constituting the Legislative Assembly of a State on the expiration of its duration, no such notification shall be issued at any time earlier than four months prior to the date on which the duration of the Legislative Assembly of the State would expire in the ordinary course of events.

The State Legislative Councils.

18. Notification for election to State Legislative Councils.—(1) For the purpose of constituting the Legislative Council of a State under the Constitution in due time, the Governor or Rajpramukh of the State, as the case may be, shall—

(a) by a notification in the Official Gazette call upon every local authorities constituency, every graduates' constituency and every teachers' constituency to elect in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder a member or members before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification, and

(b) after the names of the members of the Legislative Assembly of the State first constituted under the Constitution have been notified under section 67, call upon such members, by another notification in the Official Gazette, to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification.

(2) For the purpose of filling the seats of members retiring on the expiration of their respective terms of office in every second year after the constitution of the Legislative Council of a State, the Governor or Rajpramukh, as the case may be, shall—

(a) by a notification in the Official Gazette call upon every local authorities' constituency, every graduates' constituency and every teachers' constituency concerned to elect in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder a member or members before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification, and

(b) by another notification in the Official Gazette call upon the members of the Legislative Assembly of the State to elect members in accordance with the provisions of this Act and of the rules and orders made thereunder before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in such notification:

Provided that the notifications under this sub-section shall be issued on such dates, not being more than four months prior to the date on which the term of office of the retiring members would expire under section 156, as may be recommended in this behalf by the Election Commission.

PART IV.

ADMINISTRATIVE MACHINERY FOR THE CONDUCT OF ELECTION.

19. Definition.—In this Part and in Part V, unless the context otherwise requires, "constituency" means a Council of States constituency or a Parliamentary constituency or an Assembly constituency or a Council constituency.

20. Returning Officer for each constituency.—For each constituency there shall be a Returning Officer who shall be such officer of Government as the Election Commission may, in consultation with the Government of the State in which the constituency is situated, designate or nominate:

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent the Election Commission from designating or nominating the same person to be the Returning Officer for more than one constituency.

21. Returning Officers at other elections.—The Returning Officer for an election (other than a primary election) to fill a seat or seats in the Council of States or for an election by the members of the Legislative Assembly of a State to fill a seat or seats in the Legislative Council of the State shall be such officer of Government as the Election Commission may, in consultation with the Government of that State, designate or nominate.

22. Assistant Returning Officers.—(1) The Election Commission may appoint one or more persons to assist any Returning Officer in the performance of his functions:

Provided that every such person shall be an officer of Government.

(2) Every Assistant Returning Officer shall, subject to the control of Returning Officer, be competent to perform all or any of the functions of the Returning Officer:

Provided that no Assistant Returning Officer shall perform any of the functions of the Returning Officer which relate to the acceptance of a nomination paper or to the scrutiny of nominations or to the counting of votes unless the Returning Officer is unavoidably prevented from performing the said functions.

* * * * * * *

26. Appointment of presiding officers for polling stations.—(1) The Returning Officer shall appoint a presiding officer for each polling station and such polling officer or officers as he thinks necessary, but he shall not appoint any person who has been employed by or on behalf of, or has been otherwise working for, a candidate in or about the election:

Provided that if a polling officer is absent from the polling station, the presiding officer may appoint any person who is present at the polling station other than a person who has been employed by or on behalf of, or has been otherwise working for, a candidate in or about the election, to be the polling officer during the absence of the former officer, and inform the Returning Officer accordingly.

* * * * * * *

29. Special provisions in the case of certain elections.—(1) The Returning Officer for an election (other than a primary election) to fill a seat or seats in the Council of States or for an election by the members of the Legislative Assembly of a State to fill a seat or seats in the Legislative Council of the State shall, with the previous approval of the Election Commission, fix the place at which the poll will be taken for such election and shall notify the place so fixed in such manner as the Election Commission may direct.

* * * * * * *

30. Appointment of dates for nominations, etc.—As soon as the notification calling upon a constituency to elect a member or members is issued under this Act, the appropriate authority in the case where such notification has been issued under the provisions of Part III or of this Part, and the Election Commission in the case where such notification has been issued under the provisions of Part IX, shall, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint—

(a) the last date for making nominations, which shall be a date not later than the fourteenth day after the date of publication of the first mentioned notification not earlier than the eighth day after the date of publication of the notification under this section;

(b) the date for the scrutiny of nominations, which shall be a date not later than the seventh day after the last date for making nominations;

(c) the last date for the withdrawal of candidatures, which shall be the third day after the date for the scrutiny of nominations; and

(d) the date or dates on which a poll shall, if necessary, be taken which or the first of which shall be a date not earlier than the thirtieth day after the last date for the withdrawal of candidatures.

* * * * * * *

32. Nomination of Candidates for election.—Any person may be nominated as a candidate for election to fill a seat in any constituency if he is qualified to be chosen to fill that seat under the provisions of the Constitution and this Act.

33. Presentation of nomination paper and requirements for a valid nomination.—(1) On or before the date appointed under clause (a) of section 30 each candidate shall, either in person or by his proposer or seconder, between the hours of eleven o'clock in the forenoon and three o'clock in the afternoon deliver to the Returning Officer at the place specified in this behalf in the notice issued under section 31 a nomination paper completed in the prescribed form and subscribed by the candidate himself as assenting to the nomination and by two persons referred to in sub-section (2) as proposer and seconder.

(2) Any person whose name is registered in the electoral roll of the constituency and who is not subject to any disqualification mentioned in section 16 of the Representation of the People Act, 1950 (XLIII of 1950), may subscribe as proposer or seconder as many nomination papers as there are vacancies to be filled but no more:

Provided that if the name of a person is entered more than once in the electoral roll of a constituency or is included in the electoral roll of two or more constituencies of the same class, such person shall not be entitled to subscribe as proposer or seconder more than one nomination paper for each vacancy to be filled in that constituency, or in not more than one of such constituencies of the same class.

(3) Every nomination paper delivered under sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by a declaration in writing subscribed by the candidate that the candidate has appointed as his election agent for the election either himself or another person who is not disqualified under this Act for the appointment and who shall be named in the declaration, and by such other declarations, if any, as may be prescribed, and no candidate shall be deemed to be duly nominated unless such declaration is, or all such declarations are, delivered along with the nomination paper:

Provided that in a constituency where any seat is reserved for the Scheduled Castes or for the Scheduled Tribes, no candidate shall be deemed to be qualified to be chosen to fill that seat unless his nomination paper is accompanied by a declaration verified in the prescribed manner that the candidate is a member of the Scheduled Castes or of the Scheduled Tribes for which the seat has been so reserved and the declaration specifies the particular caste or tribe of which the candidate is a member and also the area in relation to which such caste or tribe is one of the Scheduled Castes or Scheduled Tribes, as the case may be:

Provided further that in a constituency where any seat is reserved for an autonomous district of Assam other than the constituency comprising the cantonment and municipality of Shillong, no candidate shall be deemed to be duly nominated for the seat so reserved unless the nomination paper is accompanied by a declaration verified in the prescribed manner that the candidate is a member of any of the Scheduled Tribes of that district, and the declaration specifies particular tribe of which the candidate is a member:

Provided also that where any person having held any office referred to in clause (f) of section 7 has been dismissed and the period of five years from the date of such dismissal has not expired or the disqualification, if any, under that clause has not been removed by the Election Commission under clause (g) of sub-section (1) of section 8, such person shall not be deemed to be duly nominated as a candidate unless his nomination paper is accompanied by a certificate issued in the prescribed manner by the Election Commission to the effect that he has not been dismissed for corruption or disloyalty to the State.

(4) Any nomination paper which is not received before three o'clock in the afternoon on the last date appointed under clause (a) of section 30 shall be rejected.

(5) On the presentation of a nomination paper, the Returning Officer shall satisfy himself that the names and electoral roll numbers of the candidate and his proposer and seconder as entered in the nomination paper are the same as those entered in the electoral rolls:

Provided that the Returning Officer may—

(a) permit any clerical error in the nomination paper in regard to the said names or numbers to be corrected in order to bring them into conformity with the corresponding entries in the electoral rolls; and

(b) where necessary, direct that any clerical or printing error in the said entries shall be overlooked.

(6) If at the time of the presentation of the nomination paper the Returning Officer finds that the name of the candidate is not registered in the electoral roll of the constituency for which he is the Returning Officer, he shall for the purposes of sub-section (5) require the person presenting the nomination paper to produce either a copy of the electoral roll in which the name of the candidate is included or a certified copy of the relevant entries in such roll.

(7) Nothing in this section shall prevent any candidate from being nominated by more than one nomination paper for election in the same constituency.

34. Deposits.—(1) A candidate shall not be deemed to be duly nominated unless he deposits or causes to be deposited in the case of an election to Parliament (other than a primary election) a sum of five hundred rupees, in the case of an election to the Legislature of a State a sum of two hundred and fifty rupees, and in the case of a primary election a sum of fifty rupees:

Provided that—

(a) where the candidate is a member of any of the Scheduled Castes or the Scheduled Tribes, the amount to be deposited by him or on his behalf shall be two hundred and fifty rupees in the case of an election to Parliament (other than a primary election), and one hundred and twenty-five rupees in case of an election to the Legislature of a State;

(b) where a candidate has been nominated by more than one nomination paper for election in the same constituency, not more than one deposit shall be required of him under this sub-section.

* * * * * *

35. Notice of nominations and the time and place for their scrutiny.—The Returning Officer shall, on receiving the nomination paper under sub-section (1) of section 33, inform the person or persons delivering the same of the date, time and place fixed for the scrutiny of nominations and shall enter on the nomination paper its serial number, and shall sign thereon a certificate stating the date on which and the hour at which the nomination paper has been delivered to him; and shall, as soon as may be thereafter, cause to be affixed in some conspicuous place in his office a notice of the nomination containing descriptions similar to those contained in the nomination paper, both of the candidate and of the persons who have subscribed the nomination paper as proposer and seconder.

36. Scrutiny of nominations.—(1) On the date fixed for the scrutiny of nominations under section 30, the candidates, their election agents, one proposer and one seconder of each candidate, and one other person duly authorised in writing by each candidate, but no other person, may attend at such time and place as the Returning Officer may appoint; and the Returning Officer shall give them all reasonable facilities for examining the nomination papers of all candidates which have been delivered within the time and in the manner laid down in section 33.

(2) The Returning Officer shall then examine the nomination papers and shall decide all objections which may be made to any nomination, and may either on such objection or on his own motion, after such summary inquiry, if any, as he thinks necessary, refuse any nomination on any of the following grounds:—

(a) that the candidate is not qualified to be chosen to fill the seat under the Constitution or this Act; or

(b) that the candidate is disqualified for being chosen to fill the seat under the Constitution or this Act; or

(c) that a proposer or seconder is disqualified from subscribing a nomination paper under sub-section (2) of section 33; or

(d) that there has been any failure to comply with any of the provisions of section 33 or section 34; or

(e) that the signature of the candidate or any proposer or seconder is not genuine or has been obtained by fraud.

(3) Nothing contained in clause (c), clause (d) or clause (e) of sub-section (2) shall be deemed to authorise the refusal of the nomination of any candidate on the ground of any irregularity in respect of a nomination paper, if the candidate has been duly nominated by means of another nomination paper in respect of which no irregularity has been committed.

* * * * * *

(7) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the production of any certified copy of an entry made in the electoral roll of any constituency shall be conclusive evidence of the right of any elector named in that entry to stand for election or to subscribe a nomination paper, as the case may be, unless it is proved that the candidate is disqualified under the Constitution or this Act, or that the proposer or seconder, as the case may be, is disqualified under sub-section (2) of section 33;

(b) where a person has subscribed, whether as proposer or seconder, a larger number of nomination papers than there are vacancies to be filled, those of the papers so subscribed which have been first received, up to the number of vacancies to be filled, shall be deemed to be valid.

37. Withdrawal of candidature.—(1) Any candidate may withdraw his candidature by a notice in writing which shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed and shall be subscribed by him and delivered before three o'clock in the afternoon on the day fixed under clause (c) of section 30 to the Returning Officer either by such candidate in person or by his proposer, seconder or election agent who has been authorised in this behalf in writing by such candidate:

Provided that if that day is a public holiday within the meaning of section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (XXX of 1881) or has been notified by the State Government as a day to be observed as a holiday in Government offices in the State, the notice of withdrawal of candidature shall be considered as having been delivered in due time if it is delivered before three o'clock in the afternoon on the next succeeding day which is neither such a public holiday nor a day so notified.

* * * * * *

38. Publication of nominations.—The Returning Officer shall, immediately after the expiry of the period within which candidatures may be withdrawn under sub-section (1) of section 37, prepare and publish a list of valid nominations in such manner as may be prescribed.

39. Nomination of candidates at other elections.—(1) Any person may be nominated as a candidate for election to fill a seat in the Council of States to be filled by election by the elected members of the Legislative Assembly of a State or by the members of the electoral college for a Part C State or group of such States or a seat in the Legislative Council of a State to be filled by election by the members of the Legislative Assembly of that State, if he is qualified to be chosen to fill that seat under the Constitution and this Act.

(2) As soon as the notification calling upon the elected members or the members of the Legislative Assembly of a State or the members of the electoral college for a Part C State or group of such States to elect a member or members is issued under this Act, the appropriate authority in the case where such notification has been issued under section 12 or section 18 or under any of the provisions of this Part and the Election Commission in the case where such notification has been issued under section 147 or section 151, shall, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint for such election—

(a) the last date for making nominations which shall be a date not later than the fourteenth day after the date of publication of the first mentioned notification, nor earlier than the fifth day after the date of publication of the notification under this sub-section;

(b) the date for the scrutiny of nominations which shall be a date not later than the seventh day after the last date for making nominations;

(c) the last date for the withdrawal of candidatures which shall be the third day after the date for the scrutiny of nominations;

(d) the date on which a poll shall, if necessary, be taken which shall be a date not earlier than the seventh day after the last date for the withdrawal of candidatures.

(3) On the issue of a notification under sub-section (2), the Returning Officer for the election shall give public notice of the intended election in such form and manner as may be prescribed inviting nominations of candidates for such election and specifying the place at which the nomination papers are to be delivered.

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (1), (3), (4), (5) and (7) of section 33 and sections 34 to 38 shall apply in relation to nominations of candidates, deposits to be made on such nominations and withdrawal of candidatures at any such election as they apply in relation to nominations of candidates, deposits to be made on such nominations and withdrawal of candidatures at elections in any constituency other than Council of States constituency:

Provided that any person who is entitled to vote at any such election as is referred to in sub-section (1) shall be qualified to subscribe as proposer or seconder as many nomination papers at that election as there are vacancies to be filled but no more:

Provided further that at the time of the presentation of the nomination paper, the Returning Officer may require the person presenting the same to produce either a copy of the electoral roll in which the name of the candidate is included or a certified copy of the relevant entries in such roll:

Provided also that any reference in the said provisions—

(a) to the electoral roll of the constituency shall, unless the context otherwise requires, be construed, in the case of an election by the elected members or by the members of the Legislative Assembly of a State, as references to the list of elected members or to the list of members, as the case may be, of that Assembly maintained under sub-section (1) of section 152 and in the case of an election by the members of the electoral college for a Part C State or group of such States as references to the list of members of such electoral college maintained under sub-section (2) of that section;

(b) to section 30, to section 31 and to sub-section (2) of section 33 shall be construed as references to sub-section (2) of this section, to sub-section (3) of this section and to the first proviso to this sub-section respectively.

CHAPTER II.

Candidates and their agents.

40. Appointment of election agents.—(1) Every person nominated as a candidate at an election shall before the delivery of his nomination paper under sub-section (1) of section 33 or under that sub-section read with sub-section (4) of section 39, as the case may be, appoint in writing either himself or some one other person to be his election agent.

(2) When a candidate appoints some person other than himself to be his election agent he shall obtain in writing the acceptance by such person of the office of such election agent.

* * * * * * *

42. Revocation of the appointment, or death, of an election agent.—(1) Any revocation of the appointment of an election agent, whether he be the candidate himself or not, shall be signed by the candidate, and shall operate from the date on which it is lodged with the Returning Officer.

(2) In the event of such a revocation or of the death of an election agent, whether that event occurs before or during the election, or after the election but before a return of the candidate's election expenses has been lodged in accordance with the provisions of section 76, the candidate shall appoint forthwith either himself or some other person to be his election agent in the manner provided in section 40 and shall give notice in writing of the appointment to the Returning Officer.

43. Effect of default in appointment of election agent under section 42.—(1) If the appointment of an election agent is revoked without a new appointment being made, the candidate himself shall be deemed to have been appointed or reappointed, as the case may be, his election agent.

(2) If the election agent (not being the candidate himself) dies and a new appointment is not made on the day of the death or on the following day, the candidate shall be deemed to have appointed himself his election agent as from the time of the death.

44. Duty of the election agent to keep accounts.—Every election agent shall, for each election for which he is appointed election agent, keep separate and regular books of account, and shall enter therein such particulars of expenditure in connection with the election as may be prescribed.

45. Other functions of the election agents.—Every election agent shall perform such other functions in connection with each election for which he is appointed election agent as are required to be performed by or under this Act by such agent.

46. Appointment of polling agents.—A candidate who has been duly nominated under this Act and who has not withdrawn his candidature in the manner and within the time specified in sub-section (1) of section 37, or in that sub-section read with sub-section (4) of section 39, as the case may be, or his election agent may, at least three days before the commencement of the poll, appoint in the prescribed manner such number of agents and relief agents as may be prescribed to act as polling agents of such candidate at each polling station provided under section 25 or at the place fixed under sub-section (1) of section 29 for the poll, and when any such appointment is made, notice of the appointment shall be given in the prescribed manner to such officer as may be prescribed.

47. Appointment of counting agents.—Any such candidate as is mentioned in section 46 or his election agent may, before the commencement of the counting of votes, appoint in the prescribed manner one agent and no more to be present as his counting agent at the counting of votes, and when any such appointment is made, notice of the appointment shall be given in the prescribed manner to the Returning Officer.

* * * * * * *

CHAPTER III.

General procedure at elections.

52. Death of candidate before poll.—If a candidate who has been duly nominated under this Act dies after the date fixed for the scrutiny of nominations and a report of his death is received by the Returning Officer before the commencement of the poll, the Returning Officer shall, upon being satisfied of the fact of the death of the candidate, countermand the poll and report the fact to the Election Commission and also to the appropriate authority and all proceedings with reference to the election shall be commenced anew in all respects as if for a new election:

Provided that no further nomination shall be necessary in the case of a candidate whose nomination was valid at the time of the countermanding of the poll:

Provided further that no person who has under sub-section (1) of section 37 given a notice of withdrawal of his candidature before the countermanding of the poll shall be ineligible for being nominated as a candidate for the election after such countermanding.

53. Procedure in contested and uncontested elections.—(1) If the number of candidates who were duly nominated and who have not withdrawn their candidatures, in the manner and within the time specified in sub-section (1) of section 37, or in that sub-section read with sub-section (4) of section 39, as the case may be, exceeds the number of seats to be filled, the Returning Officer shall forthwith publish in such form and manner as may be prescribed a list containing the names in alphabetical order and addresses of candidates as given in the nomination papers, together with such other particulars as may be prescribed, and a poll shall be taken.

* * * * * * *

(3) If the number of such candidates is less than the number of seats to be filled, the Returning Officer shall forthwith declare all such candidates to be elected and the appropriate authority shall, by notification in the Official Gazette, call upon the constituency or the elected members or the members of the State Legislative Assembly or the members of the electoral college concerned as the case may be, to elect a person or persons to fill the remaining seat or seats before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in the notification:

Provided that where the constituency or the elected members or the members of the State Legislative Assembly or the members of the electoral college having already been called upon under this sub-section, has or have failed to elect a person or the requisite number of persons, as the case may be, to fill the vacancy or vacancies, the appropriate authority shall not be bound to call again upon the constituency, or such members to elect a person or persons until such date as the Election Commission may specify in this behalf.

54. Special procedure at elections in constituencies where seats are reserved for Scheduled Castes or Scheduled Tribes.—(1) The provisions of this section shall apply in relation to any election in a constituency where the seats to be filled include one or more seats reserved for the Schedule Castes or for the Scheduled Tribes (hereinafter referred to as "reserved seats").

(2) If the number of candidates qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats is equal to the number of such seats, all those candidates shall be forthwith declared to be elected to fill the reserved seats, and the procedure laid down in section 53 shall be followed for filling the remaining seat or seats.

(3) If the number of candidates qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats exceeds the number of such seats, but the total number of candidates is equal to the total number of seats to be filled, the Returning Officer shall first select by lot, to be drawn by him in such manner as he may determine, the candidates to be declared elected to the reserved seats out of the candidates qualified to be chosen to fill those seats and then declare the candidates so selected to be duly elected to fill the reserved seats and thereafter declare the remaining candidates to be duly elected to fill the remaining seats.

(4) If the number of candidates qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats exceeds the number of such seats, and the total number of candidates also exceeds the total number of seats to be filled, the procedure laid down in sub-section (1) of section 53 shall be followed; and after the poll has been taken, the Returning Officer shall first declare those who, being qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats, have secured the largest number of votes, to be duly elected to fill the reserved seats, and then declare such of the remaining candidates as have secured the largest number of votes to be duly elected to fill the remaining seats.

Illustration.—At an election in a constituency to fill four seats of which two are reserved there are six candidates A. B. C. D. E and F, and they secure votes in descending order, A securing the largest number. B, C and D are qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats, while A, E and F are not so qualified. The Returning Officer will first declare B and C duly elected to fill the two reserved seats, and then declare A and D (not A and E) to fill the remaining two seats.

(5) If the number of candidates qualified to be chosen to fill the reserved seats is less than the number of such seats—

(a) all those candidates shall be forthwith declared to be duly elected to fill reserved seats;

(b) the procedure laid down in section 53 shall be followed for filling the seats other than the reserved seats; and

(c) the appropriate authority shall, by notification in the Official Gazette, call upon the constituency to elect a person or persons to fill the remaining reserved seat or seats before such date as may be appointed in this behalf by the Election Commission and specified in the notification:

Provided that where a constituency having been already so called upon has failed to elect a person or the requisite number of persons to fill the reserved seat or seats, the appropriate authority shall not be bound to call again upon the constituency to elect a person or persons to fill the vacancy or vacancies until such date as the Election Commission may specify in this behalf.

(6) In this section, references to candidates shall be construed as references to candidates who were duly nominated and who have not withdrawn their candidatures in the manner and within the time specified in sub-section (1) of section 37.

55. Eligibility of members of Scheduled Castes or Scheduled Tribes to hold seats not reserved for those castes or tribes.—For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that a member of the Scheduled Castes or of the Scheduled Tribes shall not be disqualified to hold a seat not reserved for members of those castes or tribes, if he is otherwise qualified to hold such seats under the Constitution and this Act.

* * * * *

58. Fresh poll in the case of destruction, etc., of ballot boxes.—(1) If at any election any ballot box or boxes is or are unlawfully taken out of the custody of the Returning Officer or of any presiding officer, or is or are in any way tampered with, or is or are either accidentally or intentionally destroyed or lost, the election to which such ballot box or boxes relate shall be void, but only in respect of the polling at the polling station or stations provided under section 25 or the place fixed under sub-section (1) of section 29 for the poll, as the case may be, at which such ballot box or boxes was or were used and no further:

Provided that where a polling station has more than one polling booth and any such ballot box as aforesaid was used at one of such polling booths, the election to which such ballot box relates shall be void only in respect of the polling at the polling booth at which such box was used and no further.

(2) Whenever the polling at any polling station or stations or at the place fixed for the poll or at any polling booth shall become void under sub-section (1), the Returning Officer shall, as soon as practicable after the act or event causing such voidance has come to his knowledge, report the matter to the appropriate authority and to the Election Commission and shall, with the previous approval of the Election Commission, appoint a day for the taking of a fresh poll in such or every such polling station or in such place fixed for the poll or in such polling booth as the case may be, and fix the hours during which the poll will be taken, and shall not count the votes cast at such election until such fresh poll shall have been completed.

(3) In every such case as aforesaid the Returning Officer shall take a fresh poll in such or every such polling station or in such place fixed for the poll or in such polling booth, as aforesaid on the day so appointed by him, and shall notify the day so appointed and the hours of polling so fixed by him in such manner as the Election Commission may direct, and the provisions of this Act and of any rules or orders made thereunder shall apply to every such poll as they apply to the original poll.

* * * * *

68. Vacation of seats when elected to both Houses of Parliament.—(1) Any person who is chosen a member of both the House of the People and the Council of States and who has not taken his seat in either House may, by notice in writing signed by him and delivered to the Secretary to the Election Commission within ten days from the date of publication in the Gazette of India of the declarations that he has been so chosen or, if such publications have been made on different dates, within ten days from the later of such dates, intimate in which of the Houses he wishes to serve, and thereupon, his seat in the House in which he does not wish to serve shall become vacant.

* * * * *

69. Vacation of seats by persons already members of one House on election to other House of Parliament.—(1) If a person who is already a member of the House of the People and has taken his seat in such House is chosen a member of the Council of States, his seat in the House of the People shall, on the publication in the Gazette of India of the declaration that he has been so chosen, become vacant.

(2) If a person who is already a member of the Council of States and has taken his seat in such Council is chosen a member of the House of the People, his seat in the Council of States shall, on the publication in the Gazette of India of the declaration that he has been so chosen, become vacant.

70. Election to more than one seat in either House of Parliament or in the House or either House of the Legislature of a State.—If a person is elected to more than one seat in either House of Parliament or in the House or either House of the Legislature of a State, then unless within the prescribed time he resigns all but one of the seats, all the seats shall become vacant.

CHAPTER VII.

Publication of election results and nominations.

71. Publication of results of elections to the Council of States and of names of persons nominated by the President.—(1) After the elections held in pursuance of the notifications issued under sub-section (1) of section 12, there shall be notified by the appropriate authority in the Official Gazette the names of the members elected by the elected members of the Legislative Assemblies of the States and by the members of the electoral colleges for the various Part C States and group of such States at the said elections together with the names of the persons nominated by the President to the Council under sub-clause (a) of clause (1) of article 80 or under any other provisions.

(2) After the elections held in any year in pursuance of the notification issued under sub-section (2) of section 12, there shall be notified by the appropriate authority in the Official Gazette the names of the members elected by the elected members of the Legislative Assemblies of the States and by the members of the electoral colleges for the various Part C States and group of such States at the said elections together with the names of any persons nominated by the President to the Council under sub-clause (a) of the clause (1) of article 80 or under any other provisions.

72. Publication of results of primary elections for the constitution or reconstitution of electoral colleges for certain Part C States.—After the elections held in pursuance of the notification or notifications issued under section 13 for the first constitution or any subsequent reconstitution of the electoral college for a scheduled Part C State, there shall be notified by the appropriate authority in the Official Gazette, as soon as may be after the date or the last of the dates fixed for the completion of the said elections, the names of the members elected for the various Council of States constituencies at the said elections and such notification shall be in addition to the publication of the declarations under section 67.

73. Publication of results of general elections to the House of the People and of names of persons nominated by the President.—After the elections held in pursuance of the notification or notifications issued under section 15 for the constitution of the House of the People in due time or on the expiration of its duration or on its dissolution, there shall be notified by the appropriate authority in the Official Gazette, as soon as may be after the date or the last of the dates fixed for the completion of the said elections, the names of the members elected for the various Parliamentary constituencies at the said elections together with the names of persons, if any, nominated by the President to that House under article 331 or under any other provisions, and such notification shall be in addition to the publication of the declaration under section 67.

74. Publication of results of general elections to the State Legislative Assemblies and of names of persons nominated to such Assemblies.—After the elections held in pursuance of the notification or notifications issued under section 17 for the constitution of the Legislative Assembly of a State in due time or on the expiration of its duration or on its dissolution, there shall be notified by appropriate authority in the Official Gazette, as soon as may be after the date or the last of the dates fixed for the completion of the said elections, the names of the members elected for the various Assembly constituencies at the said elections together with the names of persons, if any, nominated by the Governor or Rajpramukh, as the case may be, of the State under article 333 or under any other provisions and such notification shall be in addition to the publication of the declarations under section 67.

75. Publication of results of elections to the State Legislative Councils and of names of persons nominated to such Council.—(1) After the elections held in pursuance of the notifications issued under sub-section (1) of section 18, there shall be notified by the appropriate authority in the Official Gazette the names of the members elected for the various Council constituencies and by the members of the Legislative Assembly of the State at the said elections together with the names of the persons nominated by the Governor or Rajpramuk, as the case may be, of the State under sub-clause (e) of clause (3) of article 171.

(2) After the elections held in any year in pursuance of the notifications issued under sub-section (2) of section 18 there shall be notified by the appropriate authority in the Official Gazette the names of the members elected for the various Council constituencies and by the members of the Legislative Assembly of the State at the said elections together with the names of any persons nominated by the Governor or Rajpramuk, as the case may be, under sub-clause (e) of clause (3) of article 171.

(3) The notification of names under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be in addition to the publication of the declarations under section 67 and shall be made as soon as may be after the last of the dates fixed for the completion of the elections under sub-section (1) or, as the case may be, sub-section (2) of section 18, and after the publication of the notification containing the names of persons nominated by the Governor or Rajpramuk, as the case may be, under sub-clause (e) of clause (3) of article 171.

CHAPTER VIII.

Election expenses.

76. Return of election expenses.—(1) Within the prescribed time after every election there shall be lodged with the Returning Officer in respect of each person who has been nominated as a candidate, a return of the election expenses of that person signed by him and his election agent.

(2) Every such return shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed, and shall be accompanied by declarations in the prescribed form by the candidate and his election agent made on oath or solemn affirmation before a magistrate.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section, where owing to absence from India a candidate is unable to sign the return of election expenses and to make the required declaration, the return shall be signed and lodged by the election agent only and shall be accompanied by a declaration by the election agent only, and the candidate shall, within fourteen days after his return to India, cause to be lodged with the Returning Officer a declaration made on oath or solemn affirmation before a magistrate in such form as may be prescribed.

77. Maximum election expenses, etc.—The maximum scales of election expenses at elections and the numbers and descriptions of persons who may be employed for payment in connection with elections shall be such as may be prescribed.

78. Application of this Chapter to certain elections.—Except so far as may be prescribed, this Chapter shall not apply to an election (other than a primary election) to fill a seat or seats in the Council of States or to an election by the members of the Legislative Assembly of a State to fill a seat or seats in the Legislative Council of the State.

* * * * * * *

81. Presentation of petitions.—(1) An election petition calling in question any election may be presented on one or more of the grounds specified in sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 100 and section 101 to the Election Commission by any candidate at such election or any elector in such form and within such time but not earlier than the date of publication of the names or names of the returned candidate or candidates at such election under section 67, as may be prescribed.

* * * * * * *

82. Parties to the petition.—A petitioner shall join as respondents to his petition all the candidates who were duly nominated at the election other than himself if he was so nominated.

83. Contents of petition.—(1) An election petition shall contain a concise statement of the material facts on which the petitioner relies and shall be signed by the petitioner and verified in the manner laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908) for the verification of pleadings.

(2) The petition shall be accompanied by a list signed and verified in like manner setting forth full particulars of any corrupt or illegal practice which the petitioner alleges, including as full a statement as possible as to the names of the parties alleged to have committed such corrupt or illegal practice and the date and place of the commission of each such practice.

(3) The Tribunal may, upon such terms as to costs and otherwise as it may direct at any time, allow the particulars included in the said list to be amended or order such further and better particulars in regard to any matter referred to therein to be furnished as may in its opinion be necessary for the purpose of ensuring a fair and effectual trial of the petition.

84. Relief that may be claimed by the petitioner.—

* * * * * * *

(c) that the election is wholly void.

85. Petition when to be dismissed.—If the provisions of section 81, section 85 or section 117 are not complied with, the Election Commission shall dismiss the petition:

Provided that if a person making the petition satisfies the Election Commission that sufficient cause existed for his failure to present the petition within the period prescribed therefor, the Election Commission may in its discretion condone such failure.

CHAPTER III.

Trial of election petitions.

86. Appointment of Election Tribunal.—(1) If the petition is not dismissed under section 85, the Election Commission shall appoint an Election Tribunal for the trial of the petition.

(2) For the purpose of constituting such Tribunals the Election Commission shall obtain from the High Court of each State (other than Jammu and Kashmir)—

(a) a list of persons who are or have been district judges in the State and who are in the opinion of the High Court fit to be appointed as members of the Election Tribunals, and

(b) a list of advocates of that High Court who have been in practice for a period of not less than ten years and who are in the opinion of the High Court fit to be appointed as such members, and shall maintain the lists by making such alterations therein as the High Court may from time to time direct.

(3) Every Tribunal appointed under sub-section (1) shall consist of—

(a) a Chairman who shall be either a person who is or has been a Judge of a High Court, or a person selected by the Election Commission from the list maintained by it under clause (a) of sub-section (2); and

(b) two other members of whom one shall be selected by the Election Commission from the list maintained under clause (a) of sub-section (2) and the other shall be selected by it from the list maintained under clause (b) of that sub-section:

Provided that where the petition for the trial of which a Tribunal is to be appointed is in respect of an election to the Legislative Assembly or the Legislative Council of a State, no person who belongs to the judicial service of another State shall be selected for appointment as a member of the Tribunal except with the consent of the Government of the other State:

Provided further that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to prevent the appointment of a Chairman of the Tribunal before that of the other members.

(4) If during the course of the trial, any member of a Tribunal is for any reason unable to perform his functions or has to relinquish his membership, the Election Commission shall appoint another member in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (3), and upon his joining the Tribunal the trial shall be continued as if he had been on the Tribunal from the commencement of the trial:

Provided that the Tribunal may, if it thinks fit, recall and re-examine any of the witnesses already examined.

(5) References to the Tribunal in this Part shall, as respects any matter to be done before the commencement of the trial, be deemed to be references to the Chairman of the Tribunal.

(6) In this section, the expressions "district judge" and "judicial service" have the same meanings as in article 236.

* * * *

89. Attendence of Law officers.—(1) The Tribunal may, in the case of an election petition in relation to a primary election or to an election to fill a seat in either House of Parliament, require the Attorney-General of India or the Advocate-General of the State in which the election has taken place or some person acting under the instructions of the Attorney-General or such Advocate-General, and in the case of an election petition in relation to an election to fill a seat in the House or either House of the Legislature of a State, require the Advocate-General of the State in which the election has taken place or some person acting under his instructions, to attend at the trial.

(2) The Attorney-General or the Advocate-General or the person acting under the instructions of the Attorney-General or the Advocate-General, as the case may be, shall, when so required, attend at the trial and shall take such part therein as the Tribunal may direct.

90. Procedure before the Tribunal.—(1) The Tribunal shall, as soon as may be, cause a copy of the petition together with a copy of the list of particulars referred to in sub-section (2) of section 83 to be served on each respondent and to be published in the Official Gazette, and at any time within fourteen days after such publication, any other candidate shall, subject to the provisions of section 119, be entitled to be joined as a respondent.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act and of any rules made thereunder, every election petition shall be tried by the Tribunal, as nearly as may be, in accordance with the procedure applicable under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908), to the trial of suits:

Provided that it shall be sufficient for the Tribunal to make a memorandum of the substance of the evidence of any witness examined by the Tribunal and it shall not be necessary for the Tribunal to take down the evidence of any witness in writing at length unless the Tribunal, is, on the application of any party or otherwise, satisfied that there is any special reason for so doing:

Provided further that the Tribunal shall have the discretion to refuse for reasons to be recorded in writing to examine any witness or witnesses if it is of the opinion that their evidence is not material for the decision of the petition or that the party tendering such witness or witnesses is doing so on frivolous grounds or with a view to delay the proceedings.

* * * *

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 85, the Tribunal may dismiss an election petition which does not comply with the provisions of section 81, section 83 or section 117.

* * * *

97. Recrimination when seat claimed.—(1).

* * * *

Provided that the returned candidate or such other party as aforesaid shall not be entitled to give such evidence unless he has, within fourteen days from the date of the publication of the election petition under section 90, given notice to the Tribunal of his intention to do so and has also given the security and the further security referred to in sections 117 and 118 respectively.

(2) Every notice referred to in sub-section (1) shall be accompanied by the statement and list of particulars required by section 83 in the case of an election petition and shall be signed and verified in like manner.

98. Decision of the Tribunal.—At the conclusion of the trial of an election petition the Tribunal shall make an order—

* * * *

(d) declaring the election to be wholly void.

99. Other orders to be made by the Tribunal.—(1) At the time of making an order under section 98 the Tribunal shall also make an order—

(a) where any charge is made in the petition of any corrupt or illegal practice having been committed at the election, recording—

* * * *

(ii) the names of all persons, if any, who have been proved at the trial to have been guilty of any corrupt or illegal practice and the nature of that practice, together with any such recommendations as the Tribunal may think proper to make for the exemption of any persons from any disqualifications which they may have incurred in this connection under sections 141 to 143; and

* * * *

(2) Any order as to costs under clause (b) of sub-section (1) may include a direction for the payment of costs to the law officer attending the trial in pursuance of any requisition of the Tribunal under section 89.

100. Grounds for declaring election to be void.—(1) If the Tribunal is of opinion—

(a) that the election has not been a free election by reason that the corrupt practice of bribery or of undue influence has extensively prevailed at the election; or

(b) that the election has not been a free election by reason that coercion or intimidation has been exercised or resorted to by any particular community, group or section on another community, group or section, to vote or not to vote in any particular way at the election; or

(c) that the result of the election has been materially affected by the improper acceptance or rejection of any nomination, the Tribunal shall declare the election to be wholly void.

Explanation.—In clause (b) of this sub-section, the expression "coercion or intimidation" means any interference or attempt to interfere by whatever means with the free exercise of the right to vote or refrain from voting at an election, and includes a social or economic boycott of members of a community, group or section, or threat of such boycott, with intent to interfere with the free exercise of such right by those members.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), if the Tribunal is of opinion—

(a) that the election of a returned candidate has been procured or induced, or the result of the election has been materially affected, by any corrupt or illegal practice; or

(b) that any corrupt practice specified in section 123 has been committed by a returned candidate or his agent or by any other person with the connivance of a returned candidate or his agent; or

(c) that the result of the election has been materially affected by the improper reception or refusal of a vote or by the reception of any vote which is void, or by any non-compliance with the provisions of the Constitution or of this Act or of any rules or orders made under this Act or of any other Act or rules relating to the election, or by any mistake in the use of any prescribed form,

the Tribunal shall declare the election of the returned candidate to be void.

(3) If in the opinion of the Tribunal, a returned candidate has been guilty by an agent, other than his election agent, of any corrupt practice specified in section 123, but the Tribunal is satisfied—

(a) that no such corrupt practice was committed at the election by the candidate or his election agent, and every such corrupt practice was committed contrary to the orders, and without the sanction or connivance, of the candidate or his election agent;

(b) that all such corrupt practices were of a trivial and limited character or took the form of customary hospitality which did not affect the result of the election;

(c) that the candidate and his election agent took all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt or illegal practices at the election; and then the Tribunal may decide that the election of the returned candidate is not void.

(d) that in all other respects the election was free from any corrupt or illegal practice on the part of the candidate or any of his agents,

* * * * * * *

104. Difference of opinion among the members of the Tribunal.—If during the trial of an election petition there is a difference of opinion among the members of the Tribunal on any matter or if at the conclusion of such trial there is a difference of opinion among them on any question regarding the orders to be made under section 98 or section 99, the opinion of the majority shall prevail, and the orders of the Tribunal shall be expressed in terms of the views of the majority.

* * * * * * *

106. Transmission of order to the appropriate authority, etc., and its publications.—As soon as may be after the receipt of any order made by the Tribunal under section 98 or section 99, the Election Commission shall forward copies of the order to the appropriate authority and, in the case where such order relates to an election (other than a primary election) to a House of Parliament or to an election to the House or a House of the Legislature of a State, also to the Speaker or Chairman, as the case may be, of the House concerned, and shall cause the order to be published in the Gazette of India and in the Official Gazette of the State concerned.

107. Orders to take effect only on publication.—An order of the Tribunal under section 98 or section 99 shall not take effect until it is published in the Gazette of India under section 106.

CHAPTER IV.

Withdrawal and abatement of election petitions.

* * * * * * *

111. Report of withdrawal by the Tribunal to the Election Commission.—When an application for withdrawal is granted by the Tribunal and no person has been substituted as petitioner under clause (c) of sub-section (3) of section 110, in place of the party withdrawing, the Tribunal shall report the fact to the Election Commission.

* * * * * * *

119. Security for costs from a respondent.—No person shall be entitled to be joined as a respondent under sub-section (1) of section 90 unless he has given such security for costs as the Tribunal may direct.

* * * * * * *

PART VII.

CORRUPT AND ILLEGAL PRACTICES AND ELECTORAL OFFENCES.

CHAPTER I.

Corrupt practices.

123. Major corrupt practices.—The following shall be deemed to be corrupt practices for the purposes of this Act:—

(1) Bribery, that is to say, any gift, offer or promise by a candidate or his agent, or by any other person with the connivance of a candidate or his agent, of any gratification to any person whomsoever, with the object, directly or indirectly, of including—

(a) a person to stand or not to stand as, or to withdraw from being, a candidate at an election; or

(b) an elector to vote or refrain from voting at an election, or as a reward to—

(i) a person for having so stood or not stood, or for having withdrawn his candidature; or (ii) an elector for having voted or refrained from voting.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause the term "gratification" is not restricted to pecuniary gratifications or gratifications estimable in money, and it includes all forms of entertainment and all forms of employment for reward; but it does not include the payment of any expenses bona fide incurred at, or for the purpose of, any election and duly entered in the return of election expenses referred to in section 76.

* — * * * * * *

(7) The incurring or authorising by a candidate or his agent of expenditure, or the employment of any person by a candidate or his agent, in contravention of this Act or of any rule made thereunder.

(8) The obtaining or procuring or abetting or attempting to obtain or procure by a candidate or his agent or, by any other person with the connivance of a candidate or his agent, any assistance for the furtherance of the prospects of the candidate's election from any person serving under the Government of India or the Government of any State other than the giving of vote by such person.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this clause—

(a) a person serving under the Government of India shall not include any person who has been declared by the Central Government to be a person to whom the provisions of this clause shall not apply;

(b) a person serving under the Government of any State shall include a patwari, chaukidar, dafedar, zaildar, shanbagh, karnam, talati, talari, patil, village munsif, village headman or any other village officer, by whatever name he is called, employed in that State, whether the office he holds is a whole-time office or not, but shall not include any person (other than any such village officer as aforesaid) who has been declared by the State Government to be a person to whom the provisions of this clause shall not apply.

"124. Minor corrupt practices.—The following shall also be deemed to be corrupt practices for the purposes of this Act:—

* * * * * * *

* * * * * * *

134. Breaches of official duty in connection with elections.—(1)

* * * * * * *

(3) The persons to whom this section applies are the Electoral Registration Officers, Returning Officers, Assistant Returning Officers, presiding officers, polling officers and any other person appointed to perform any duty in connection with the preparation of an electoral roll, the receipt of nominations or withdrawal of candidatures, or the recording or counting of votes at an election; and the expression "official duty" shall for the purposes of this section be construed accordingly, but shall not include duties imposed otherwise than by or under this Act or by or under the Representation of the People Act, 1950 (XLIII of 1950).

* * * * * * *

PART VIII.

DISQUALIFICATIONS.

CHAPTER I.

Disqualifications for membership.

139. Offences entailing disqualification.—(1) The following offences shall entail disqualification for membership of Parliament and of the Legislature of every State, namely:—

* * * * * * *

(b) offences punishable under section 123 or clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 136 of this Act.

* * * * * * *

CHAPTER II.

Disqualification for voting.

141. Disqualification arising out of conviction and corrupt practices.—If any person after the commencement of this Act—

(a) is convicted of an offence punishable with imprisonment under section 171E or section 171F of the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860), or of an offence punishable under section 135 or clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 136 of this Act, or

* * * * * * *

143. Disqualification arising out of failure to lodge return of election expenses.—If default is made in making the return of the election expenses of any person who has been nominated as a candidate at an election to which the provisions of Chapter VIII of Part V apply, or if such a return is found, either upon the trial of an election petition under Part VI or by any court in judicial proceeding, to be false in any material particular, the candidate and his election agent shall be disqualified for voting at any

Council of States shall, for the purposes of such election, maintain in his office in the prescribed manner and form a list of members of that electoral college.

* * * * * * *

153. Extension of time for completion of election.—(1) It shall be competent for the Election Commission for reasons which it considers sufficient to extend the time appointed by such Commission under the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 12, or section 13, or section 15, or section 17 or sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 18 or under any of the provisions of Part IX for the completion of any election.

(2) When the time for the completion of any election is so extended, the President or the Governor or Rajpramukh of the State or the Election Commission, as the case may be, shall by notification in the Official Gazette, make the necessary amendments in the notification issued in respect of such election under any of the provisions referred to in sub-section (1).

* * * * * * *

158. Return or forfeiture of deposits.—(1) If a candidate by whom or on whose behalf the deposit referred to in section 34 or in that section read with sub-section (4) of section 39 has been made withdraws his candidature in the manner and within the time specified in sub-section (1) of section 37 or in that sub-section read with the said sub-section (4), or if the nomination of any such candidate is rejected, the deposit shall be returned to the person by whom it was made and, if any candidate dies before the commencement of the poll, any such deposit, if made by him, shall be returned to his leagl representative or, if not made by the candidate, shall be returned to the person by whom it was made.

* * * * * * *

(4) The deposit made by or on behalf of a candidate under section 34 or under that section read with sub-section (4) of section 39 shall, where it is not forfeited under sub-section (2), be returned to such candidate or to the person who has made the deposit on his behalf, as the case may be, after the publication of the result of the election in the Official Gazette:

Provided that if a candidate is duly nominated at a general election in more than one Parliamentary constituency or Council of States constituency or Assembly constituency, not more than one of the deposits made by him or on his behalf shall be returned, and the remainder shall be forfeited to the appropriate authority:

Provided further that if a candidate is duly nominated at an election in more than one Council constituency or at an election in a Council constituency and an election by the members of the State Legislative Assembly to fill seats in the State Legislative Council, not more than one of the deposits made by him or on his behalf shall be returned, and the remainder shall be forfeited to the State Government.

159. Staff of every local authority to be made available for election work.—Every local authority in a State shall, when so requested by the Election Commission or a Regional Commissioner appointed under clause (4) of article 324 or the Chief Electoral Officer of the State, made available to any Returning Officer such staff as may be necessary for the performance of any duties in connection with an election.

* * * * * * *

EXTRACTS FROM THE GOVERNMENT OF PART C STATES ACT, 1951.
(XLIX OF 1951)

Local Self-Government

ORDERS.

24-Parganas.—No. 6852/M.1M-86/55.—11th August 1955.—Whereas the Government in their resolution No. M.1M-56/53(1), dated the 6th June 1953, issued an order under section 553 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), superseding the Commissioners of the Kamarhati Municipality in the district of 24-Parganas, for a period of two years, with effect from the 8th June 1953;

And, whereas, by subsequent Government order No. 2285/M.1M-155/53, dated the 23rd March 1955, the period of supersession of the Commissioners of the said municipality was extended up to 31st December 1955;

And, whereas, a further period of three months approximately, will be required for the reconstitution of the Commissioners of the said municipality, by a fresh general election after alteration of the number of the Commissioners;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by clause (i) of sub-section (2) of section 554 of the said Act, the Governor is pleased to extend the term of supersession of the Commissioners of the Kamarhati Municipality till the 31st March 1956.

2. In exercise of the power conferred by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 554 of the said Act, the Governor is further pleased to direct that Shri Amiya Chandra Mitra, retired Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector, shall during the extended period of supersession of Commissioners of the said municipality continue to exercise and perform the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon him by notification No. M.1M-56/53(II), dated the 6th June 1953.

Howrah.—No. 6947/M.1M-33/54.—16th August 1955.—Whereas the Government in their resolution No. M.1M-68/53(1), dated the 1st April 1953, issued an order under section 553 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932), superseding the Commissioners of the Bally Municipality in the district of Howrah for a period of two years with effect from the 1st April 1953;

And, whereas by subsequent Government order No. 2126/M.1M-33/54, dated the 18th March 1955, the period of supersession of the Commissioners of the said Municipality was extended up to the 31st December 1955;

And, whereas a further period of three months approximately will be required for the reconstitution of the Commissioners of the said municipality by a fresh general election after alteration of the number of the Commissioners;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by clause (i) of sub-section (2) of section 554 of the said Act, the Governor is pleased to extend the term of supersession of the Commissioners of the Bally Municipality till the 31st March 1956.

2. In exercise of the power conferred by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 554 of the said Act, the Governor is further pleased to direct that Shri Sashanka Sekhar Choudhuri, Retired Deputy Magistrate and Deputy Collector, shall, during the extended period of supersession of the Commissioners of the said municipality, continue to exercise and perform powers and duties conferred and imposed upon him by notification No. M.1M-68/53 (11), dated the 1st April 1953.

By order of the Governor,
N. M. BARDHAN, Jt. Secy.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 6837/L.S.-G.-1R-1/55.—11th August 1955.—In exercise of the power conferred by clause (t) of section 138 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 (Bengal Act III of 1885), read with section 52 of the said Act, the Governor is pleased to make the following amendment in the Bengal Local Self-Government Account Rules, published with notification No. 2158L.S.-G., dated the 5th September 1918, as subsequently amended:—

Amendment.

After rule 156 of the said rules, add the following proviso:—

"Provided that surplus moneys not required for immediate use by the district board may be invested in any bank which may be approved by the State Government."

LABOUR DEPARTMENT

ORDER.

No. 3774Dis./D/11L-348/54.—18th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2690Dis./D/11L-182/53, dated the 25th May 1954, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Samuel Osborn (India), Ltd., Mercantile Buildings, Calcutta-1 and their workmen represented by Samuel Osborn (India), Ltd. Employees' Union, 69/A, Kailash Bose Street, Calcutta, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Fifth Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Samuel Osborn (India), Ltd., Mercantile Buildings, Calcutta-1 and their workmen represented by Samuel Osborn (India), Ltd. Employees' Union, 69/A, Kailash Bose Street, Calcutta.

BEFORE THE FIFTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI G. PALIT, District Judge, Chairman, Fifth Industrial Tribunal.

Present for the Union: Shri N. M. Das Gupta, Advocate.

Present for the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate of Messrs. Orr Dignum & Co., Solicitors.

1. By Government order No. 2690Dis.D/11L-182/53, dated the 25th May 1954, the aforesaid industrial dispute has been referred to the Fifth Industrial Tribunal, presided over by me, for adjudication under the sections 7 and 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947). The said Fifth Industrial Tribunal was constituted under the notification No. 3581Lab., dated the 9th June 1951.

2. The reference was received here on 29th May 1954. The Union filed written statement on 20th November 1954. The Company, after several adjournments filed its written objection on 16th December 1594. Then after several adjournments the case was taken up for hearing on 15th March 1955. It was concluded on 16th March 1955 along with the other case between the same parties concerning bonus of the year ending July 1953. As the two cases relate to bonus of different years, I give the awards separately, though on some points the evidence has been comprised under one piece of document. The award was reserved.

3. The issue contained in the schedule to the order of reference stands as follows:—

(1) Bonus on account of the year ending 31st July 1953.

AWARD.

4. The Union contends that the financial condition of the Company is pretty sound. It has been making huge profits of late, but denying its corresponding benefits to its employees. The Union now claims six months' basic salary as bonus for the year ending July 1953. The bonus which has been given by the Company in respect of the year in question has failed to satisfy their aspiration.

The Company, on the other hand, denies the story of amassing stupendous profits during the relevant year. It alleges that most of its earnings have been the result of efforts unrelated to the staff. The Company has been able to build up a huge working capital because the shareholders have preferred to plough back the profits into the business. It has been forced to wind-up the Bombay branch because the profits there have not been as much as in the past. Now, it is the common cause of both the parties that the bonus in the present case should be computed on the lines set forth in the formula of the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal in the Bombay Mill Owners' case. I had it worked out by both the parties so that I could know on which points there is agreement and on which points there is difference. Where there is agreement, I can safely have the conclusion, but where there is difference, I have to give a decision. That is how I have proceeded in the matter.

The Company has produced the balance-sheet of the Calcutta Branch of the year 1953. First of all, it called upon the Tribunal to treat it as confidential, but later on that stand was abandoned. The parties freely chose to refer to the figures given in the balance-sheet, and base their conclusion thereon. So I accept the position that I am free to use the figures given in the balance-sheet and mention them in my award.

According to the aforesaid formula, the net profit should be taken as the points to start with. Thereafter some items have got to be added to arrive at the gross profit. Then again, some items, viz., Statutory Depreciation, Income-Tax, Dividend on Paid-up Capital, Dividend on Working Capital and Rehabilitation Allowance are required to be deducted from the gross profit. From the said gross profit we have just to see how much surplus would be available in the hands of the Company. There is no fixed rule bearing on the quantum of bonus that the Tribunal will grant according to the formula. That has been left to be fixed by the Tribunal concerned having regard to the total view of the financial condition of the concern. In this view of the matter, I get Rs. 57,999-0-0 as the net profit of the year under review, according to the balance-sheet. Now, it is the Company's version that only the Income-tax Reserve and the Bombay Directors' commission should be added to arrive at the gross profit. But according to the Union, the Depreciation allowed in the balance-sheet, Donation, Pension Reserve, Excess remuneration of the Calcutta Directors which has been disallowed by the Income-tax Officer, Bonus for the year 1952 paid from the balance-sheet of the current year, should all be added for the purpose of arriving at the gross profits. I think, I am inclined to accept the Union's version in this respect as being more in conformity with the formula given in the said Mill Owners' case by the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal. That the depreciation allowed in the balance-sheet requires to be added to the net profit, cannot be disputed. So the Donation and the Pension Reserve. The Excess Remuneration of the Calcutta Directors found and disallowed by the Income-Tax Officer, must also be added to the net profit to reach the gross-profit. Similarly, the bonus for the previous year which has been paid out of the profits of 1953 must also be added to the net profit to get the gross profit.

Next, regarding the items which should be deducted from the gross profits, comes the question of Depreciation, Income Tax, amounts under the heads of paid up capital and working capital, as given in the formula of the Hon'ble Appellate Tribunal. Regarding the rate of dividend on Working Capital there is difference between the parties. The Company claims 6 per cent. dividend on the Working Capital as on the Paid up Capital. The Union would concede only 2 per cent. dividend on the Working Capital. Ordinarily, 4 per cent. dividend is given on he Working Capital, provided it is proved that the said working capital has been utilised in the business throughout the year. This is the trend of decisions of the Hon'ble Labour

Appellate Tribunal. But here, from the balance-sheet, I find that the bulk of the Working Capital is kept deposited in the banks. No evidence is actually forthcoming as to how much of it was actually employed in the business. In such circumstances, I accept the Union's version, and allow 2 per cent. dividend on the working capital. I allow 6 per cent. dividend on the paid-up capital.

Then, there is some other point on which there is some controversy between the parties. The Company mentions some items of income in the chart whose benefits the employees, according to it, cannot claim because those cannot be attributed to the efforts put in by the workers. Those are (1) Commissions on direct sale in U. K., (2) Amount derived by Exchange Ratio touching remittances from India to U. K. and vice versa, (3) Interest on deposits and (4) Double Excess Profit Tax Relief. The Union contends that the clerical section of the Company are responsible for earning these profits. But I am afraid, I cannot accept this position. There may be some correspondence which the staff must have done, but to say that these profits were derived by their efforts will be too much to say. So they must be deducted in the calculation. Thus the whole matter of calculation stands as below:—

1953.	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
Profit as per balance-sheet (Calcutta Branch) ..		57,999 0 0
Add : Income-tax provision	99,876 0 0
Add : Pension reserve	4,800 0 0
Add : Depreciation	4,536 0 0
Add : Rebate allowed to Messrs. Marshall & Co. ..	95,028 0 0
Add : Bonus paid for the previous year	8,714 0 0
Add : Excess remuneration of Calcutta Directors ..	17,000 0 0
		2,29,954 0 0
	2,29,954 0 0
		2,87,953 0 0
Less : Excess Profit Relief		88,161 0 0
		1,99,792 0 0
Less : Commission on direct sale	36,389 0 0
Exchange Ratio	11,823 0 0
Interest on deposit	10,000 0 0	58,212 0 0
	58,212 0 0	1,41,580 0 0
Less : Statutory depreciation		2,586 0 0
		1,38,994 0 0
Less : Bonus at 1½ months' wage including basic salary and dearness allowance (already paid)		8,714 0 0
		1,30,280 0 0
Less : One month's bonus at basic pay (now given) ..		4,840 0 0
		1,25,440 0 0
Less : Income-tax at 7 as. per rupee		54,880 0 0
		70,560 0 0
Less : 6 per cent. dividend on paid up capital of Rs. 1 lac		6,000 0 0
		64,560 0 0
Less : 2 per cent. dividend on working capital of nearly 9 lacs of rupees		19,538 0 0
(Available Surplus) ..		45,022 0 0

Now, this is the available surplus, i.e., Rs. 45,000 and odd after providing for 3 months' basic salary as bonus for the year 1953. I must point out that no Rehabilitation Reserve has been claimed in the present case. As the balance-sheet will disclose, such claim can hardly be sustained. But it will appear from the balance-sheet that this Company carries on its business with capital derived mostly from concerns abroad, I mean, outside India, and also with the aid of profits of the shareholders ploughed back into the business. But unless some surplus profits are left in the hands of the Company, it will have a precarious state of existence. In no case have I come across that most of the surplus profits were diverted in the shape of bonus to be given to the workmen. It is because of this that the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal while setting forth the formula for awarding bonus has left unfettered discretion to the original Industrial Tribunal regarding the quantum of bonus. It is the sine qua non for giving bonus that not only there will be profits in the year in question, but the profits would be such as can be counted upon for some years to come. In other words, the financial prospect of the Company in the near future must be stable and well-founded. In the absence of that, in spite of profits, the claim for bonus should be rejected. Having regard to these facts, I am unable to grant bonus for the year in question at a figure in excess of 3 months' basic salary. The Company has already granted 1½ months' basic salary and D.A. which comes roughly to two months' basic salary. So I award in the present case only Rs. 4,840 which, I understand from the Union, is the total amount of one month's basic salary. This is made payable within one month of the award coming into operation. I only pertinently point out that I have granted an identical sum of bonus in respect of this Company for the previous year, i.e., 1952.

ORDER.

Dis./D/10L-112/54.—13th August 1955.—Whereas under the of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4835Dis./D/- dated the 22nd December 1953, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Naihati Electric Supply Company, Ltd., post office Naihati, 24-Parganas and their workmen represented by the Naihati Electric Supply Workers' Union, 35B, Wellington Street, Calcutta, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Sixth Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal complaints in writing were received from Shri Abhoy Charan Bhattacharjee and three others, Shri Gauranga Nayak, Shri Jogmohan Roy and Shri Bhagaban Routh, workmen of the said Company before the said Tribunal against the said Company alleging that the said Company had altered, to the prejudice of the said workmen, the conditions of service applicable to them immediately before the commencement of the said proceedings;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of complaints under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended by the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, filed by Bhagaban Routh (Case No. 13/33A/54), Shri Abhoy Charan Bhattacherjee and three others (Case No. 140/33A/54), Shri Jogmohan Roy (Case No. 10/33A/54) and Couranga Nayak (Case No. 12/33A/54) represented by Naihati Electric Supply Workers' Union, 35B, Wellington Street, Calcutta, against Messrs. Naihati Electric Supply Company, Ltd., post office Naihati, 24-Parganas.

BEFORE THE SIXTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL, CALCUTTA, NEW SECRETARIAT BUILDINGS, CALCUTTA.

PRESENT:

SHRI SAILESH SENGUPTA, Judge, Sixth Industrial Tribunal.

Appearances.

For the Company: Shri S. C. Sen, Advocate with Shri D. K. Mukherjee, Labour Welfare Officer.

For the workmen: Shri Panchanan Bhattacherjee, Vice-President of the Union.

The reference out of which these complaints under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act have arisen was made under Government order No. 4835Dis./D/10L-165/53, dated the 22nd December 1953.

These are four applications under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, directed against the same company which have been heard together for the sake of convenience.

AWARD.

The grievance of the workers is that they are being transferred from one station to another since a reference was made to the Tribunal in respect of disputes between the workers and the Management. Another grievance is in regard to work done in night shifts.

From the evidence it is quite clear that transfer from one sub-station to another is an ordinary incident of service. The Union's allegation that transfer is being made after the organisation of the workers' Union has been proved to be incorrect. In disposing of the main reference the Tribunal had to consider the question of transfer. At page 3411 of the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 14th October 1954, appears the discussion on this point. The Tribunal observed that the workmen of this Company are transferred from one area to another. The Union did not raise any point that transfer was an innovation adopted by the Company to harass the workers. The discussion shows that the workers were transferred in the ordinary course of business. It was submitted that weekly transfers were introduced in lieu of monthly transfer. The evidence however does not show that this change was brought about with any ulterior object. Nor has it been proved that this change was effected after the order of reference was made. The Union has therfore failed to prove alteration in the conditions of service. The learned Union representative in the last resort put forward an argument that travelling allowance should be paid for transfers made from one station to another. That is not a point for consideration on the present application and this Tribunal is not proper forum for the purpose.

In regard to night shift work no evidence has been given that any departure is being made by the Company from ancient practice or that night shift work is being thrust upon the workers as a measure of punishment. No case has at all been made out to bring section 33A into operation. The application is hence rejected.

Case No. 12 of 1954, under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Gouranga Nayak ... Petitioners,

This application was made on the ground that privilege leave asked for by the application was refused. The Company's case is that leave was granted from 10th December 1953 to 24th December 1953 but as it was not mentioned whether it was leave with pay or without pay, the applicant did not avail of the leave.

I am at a loss to understand how such a case can be brought within the purview of section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. It has not alleged that leave due was refused as the management wanted to punish the applicant. Refusal of leave is a management affair depending sometimes upon the exigencies of the business. The conditions of service remain the same as ever. It would be fantastic to suggest that the management by refusing to grant leave had altered the conditions of service. There is no substance in the application. It is accordingly rejected.

Case No. 10/33A/54.

The applicant had gone home on leave and had prayed for extension. His case is that no intimation was received in reply to his application for extension of leave. When he returned he had to submit a medical certificate but was placed under suspension from 8th June 1954. He wanted a direction upon the company to allow him to resume duties and pay wages for the period of forced unemployment.

Company's statement is that extension of leave was prayed for without any medical certificate. No reply was received to the Company's letter that he was absent without leave. A charge-sheet was sent to him to show cause why he should not be dismissed. The worker came back to office on 8th June 1954, when he was asked to submit explanation for his absence. Thereafter he submitted an explanation with a medical certificate. The explanation being found unsatisfactory, the Labour Welfare Officer was entrusted with the task of making further enquiry. Enquiry being made, the Labour Welfare Officer pleaded for leniency. Accepting the recommendation of the Labour Welfare Officer the management allowed the worker to join duties on 16th June 1954. The worker did not appear before the Tribunal to make any statement challenging the correctness of the statements made in the company's reply. If he has been allowed to join his duty, the Tribunal has no action to take. The matters referred to in the application are also not within the ambit of sections 33 and 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. If leave is improperly refused, the management does not thereby cause any alteration of the conditions of services. This application is accordingly rejected.

Case No. 13 of 1954 under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Bhagaban Routh Petitioner

versus

Naihati Electric Supply Co., Limited.

The worker has not, on his own showing, been paid the annual bonus for the previous year and compensation for injuries received by him. I fail to understand how the Tribunal can be moved for recovery of these demands. As already pointed out in connection with the other cases section 33A comes into play when there is alteration of the conditions of service or discharge or punishment by way of dismissal or otherwise. What happened in the case of this petitioner is neither alteration of service condition nor discharge or punishment as comtemplated in the section. The application does not therefore lie and is rejected.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Industrial Weavers, Ltd., 74, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta-10 and their three workmen, represented by Industrial Weavers Workers, Union, 102/2, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta-10.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LLB., Ph.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the Union: Shri H. L. Roy, Pleader.

For the Company: Shri N. M. Das Gupta, Advocate.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Industrial Weavers, Ltd., 74, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta-10, and their three workmen, represented by Industrial Weavers Workers' Union, 102/2, Beliaghata Main Road, Calcutta-10, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issue, was referred to this Tribunal for its adjudication under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 1965Dis./D/8L-14/55, dated the 5th May 1955.

The matter relates to a dispute about dismissal between Messrs. Industrial Weavers, Ltd. and three of their workmen, Birendra Choudhury, Bidhu Bhusan Banik and Chidam Das. The last-named workman, Chidam Das, appears to have settled the dispute with the Company, as will appear from the petition of the Union, dated 20th July 1955. No evidence accordingly was gone into regarding Chidam Das.

For an incident on 2nd January 1954, charge-sheet was submitted by the Company against Birendra Choudhury. He was kept under suspension thereafter and ultimately dismissed on 24th April 1954. He has about five years' service to his credit. A charge-sheet was submitted against Bidhu Bhusan Banik by the Company for an incident on 6th February 1954. He was thereafter suspended and ultimately dismissed on 24th April 1954. He has about three years service to his credit. Both were piece-rated workers.

There was a previous reference, in regard to the workmen of this Company, before the First Industrial Tribunal presided over by Shri M. C. Banerjee. The parties filed in connection with that reference applications under sections 33 and 33A respectively of the Industrial Disputes Act, but as the Award, on compromise, on the main case (comprising a decision on minimum wages, etc.), was published meanwhile in the early part of 1954, the applications were not adjudicated upon.

Necessary details will appear hereafter.

The following issue arose:—

(1) Is the dismissal of Shri Birendra Choudhury, Shri Bidhu Bhusan Banik and Shri Chidam Das justified? To what relief are they entitled?

FINDINGS.

Both the workmen (Birendra Choudhury and Bidhu Bhusan Banik) have stated at hearing that they belong to the Executive Committee of the Union and that previously the Proprietor of the Company, Durgesh Choudhury, had asked them to quit the Workers' Union, to which they were affiliated, and join the other Union, namely, the Employees' Union and that on their refusal these vindictive steps were taken. These details never found a place in the written statement filed by the Union where only a general statement was made that on account of trade union activities and for espousing the cause of the Union on different occasions, they were victimised by the Union. The Assistant Secretary of the Union was all along present during the hearing of the case but he has not cared to depose, for proving that at the relevant time these two workmen were members of the Executive Committee. Nor is there any documentary evidence to that effect. The Director, Durgesh Choudhury has denied on oath the allegation of asking the workmen to quit their Union. According to him the Company does not sponsor any of the two Unions. A fact worth mentioning here is that the majority of the workmen of the Company belong to the Workers' Union and there is nothing on record to show that the remaining members (including members of the Executive Committee) have been sought to be victimised by the Company. So far as Bidhu Bhusan Banik is concerned, the evidence of Durgesh Choudhury is to the effect that he bore special affection towards Banik who had been nurtured by him from very early boyhood. The evidence on record does not seem to justify any inference that there were any mala fides or an attempt at victimisation or indulgence in any unfair labour practice.

Birendra Choudhury has denied the holding of any enquiry, etc., though he admits the handing over of a charge-sheet against him (Exts. 1 and 2) and submission of explanations (Ext. 2A) by him. Ext. 2B, admitted by Birendra Choudhury, definitely shows that the Company did inform him beforehand about the proposed enquiry. The evidence of Durgesh Choudhury clearly shows that Birendra was present at the enquiry, though he chose to remain silent and did not take advantage of the facilities afforded.

Bidhu Bhusan Banik admits having received the charge-sheet and given a reply to that and attended the subsequent enquiry. The Director-in-charge Durgesh Choudhury has stated on oath that Birendra, though asked to put questions to witnesses, stood still and refused to say anything.

It is found that there was no violation of the principles of natural justice in either of these two cases.

I have carefully gone through the evidence and have come to the conclusion that there was no perversity in findings or any error of facts. The evidence against the two workmen may be briefly discussed. The charge against Birendra was that on 2nd January 1954, he was creating "golmal", by shouting in the loom-shed, and disturbing the workers. The further charge is that he was threatening with violence Krishna Saha, another workman who had been called into the office for giving evidence in connection with a complaint against Chidam. The Company has examined six witnesses in this case. The Director-in-charge Durgesh Choudhury has stated that while he was holding an enquiry in the office in connection with Chidam Das, there was tremendous "golmal" in the loom-shed and that Birendra Choudhury and a few other employees were responsible for this. According to O.P.W. 2 Prafulla Roy, Jobber-in-charge, Birendra was shouting obstreperously in the loom-shed and he wanted to assault Krishna Saha for having deposed at Chidem's enquiry. He is definite about Birendra, though at first he had not seen Birendra but had recognised his voice. O.P.W. 3 Syamlal Chatterjee has also deposed to the effect that Birendra Choudhury and two or three other workmen were shouting tremendously on 2nd January 1954 in the loom-shed. Birendra is maternal cousin of this witness. Requests by Prafulla and Syamlal Chatterjee seem to have fallen on deaf ears. The workers had assembled in one place on hearing this shouting, although work as a whole was going on. Both the witnesses, Prafulla Roy and Syamlal Chatterjee, have definitely testified that Birendra man-handled Krishna Saha. This is borne out by Krishna Saha himself (O.P.W. 4). Birendra seems to have been guilty of grave indiscipline and his conduct must be regarded as highly subversive of discipline. The action of the Company, therefore, in dismissing him was throughly justified. The general principles find support in the case of Shalimar Rope Works (1953 L.A.C., 585).

The charge against workman Bidhu Bhusan Banik in brief is that on 6th February 1954, he committed gross misconduct in that he threatened Shri R. Das Gupta, the Manager, and also abused him. The main witness, the Manager, it appears, is no longer in the Company's service and his whereabouts seem to be unknown. The papers filed in this case show that the Police Magistrate of Sealdah, on an application by Shri R. Das Gupta under section 107, Cr.P.C., gave a warning order against Bidhu (besides Birendra Choudhury and Chidam Das), though Bidhu unlike Birendra would have us believe that he did not know anything about the matter. On 17th January 1954, there had been a cracker incident in which O.P.W. 3 Syamlal Chatterjee was the victim. Soon afterwards, the incident in question took place on 6th February 1954. O.P.W. 5 Shibupada Banik of the Reeling Section, who lives in the same house—Sura Cross Lane—as Bidhu, was an eye-witness when the latter was threatening R. Das Gupta, the Manager. According to him, Bidhu told Das Gupta that he would teach him a good lesson in Sura Cross Lane. O.P.W. 6 also has stated on oath that Bidhu flared up and told the Manager (R. Das Gupta) that he would not fare well, if wages were not paid to him (Bidhu) that day. An altercation had preceded this threat. It appears that Bidhu had allowed more than two months' wages to accumulate and long after office hours on Saturday, when cash would not be readily available—sometime between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m.—he went and demanded immediate payment. To my mind, there was no justification whatsoever for Bidhu in threatening the Manager in the way he did. He was guilty of gross indiscipline. No management can afford to tolerate this. The view taken by the management seems to have been reasonable and, in the circumstances, the Tribunal will not be justified in rescinding the decision arrived at by the Company.

It may be mentioned here that according to Durgesh Choudhury both these workmen had to be warned previously, though verbally.

No question of any relief for these two workmen arises here. As for Chidam, since he has taken no action in this case, it is presumed that there is no existing dispute; and consequently, the award so far as he is concerned, will be a "No-Dispute" award.

The award in regard to the three workmen in question is made accordingly.

Appearances:

For the Company: Shri Saroje Basu, Superintendent, Calcutta Association of Master Printers assisted by Shri N. Das Gupta, Superintendent, P. M. Bagchi & Co., Ltd.

For the workmen: Shri Panchanan Bhattacherjee, President of the Union.

The original reference out of which this present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act has arisen was made under Government order No. 54Dis./D/13L-11/53, dated the 7th January 1954.

This is an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act founded on the allegation that bonus equivalent to one month's wages which was ordinarily paid in the month of Chaitra every year had not been paid. The application was resisted by the Company.

AWARD.

The application appears to me to be misconceived. Section 33A can be availed of when an employer contravenes the provisions of section 33, during the pendency of reference proceeding before a Tribunal. Section 33 is split up into two paragraphs. Paragraph (a) prohibits alteration of the conditions of service to the prejudice of the workmen concerned in the pending dispute. Paragraph (b) lays restriction on discharge or infliction of punishment by dismissal or otherwise of any workmen concerned in the said dispute. The workers who have come up before the Tribunal do not make any allegation that bonus due to them has been withheld as a form of punishment. The only question is whether non-payment of bonus, if due, can be deemed alteration of the conditions of service. My answer is emphatically in the negative. The employer is by the terms of the contract of service under an obligation to pay wages. If he does not pay wages, he does not really alter the conditions of service but commits a breach of his obligation to pay. In this view I hold that non-payment of bonus is not tantamount to alteration of the conditions of service. Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act was not contravened and hence the application under section 33A must fail.

It may also be pointed out that the main reference was disposed of on terms of settlement forming Annexure A to the Award, published in the Calcutta Gazette, December 9, 1954. Paragraph 4 provides that certain interim cash emoluments being made, all other demands of the employees such as gratuity, leave for one year, etc., shall be satisfied. The employees shall have no other claim whatsoever involving expenditure or monetary obligations. This term in the annexure which is dated the 20th November 1954, caused extinction of the dispute which came up before the Tribunal on presentation of the application on 6th April 1954. Paragraph 8 is to the effect that at the expiry of one year all other terms, conditions of provident fund, gratuity, bonus, leave rules, etc., shall be discussed and an agreed formula worked out. Provision was hence made in express terms in respect of bonus payable in the future. Apart from these two provisions in the compromise petition which prove that the outstanding disputes had been settled, there is the statement in the application filed before the Tribunal to record the terms of the compromise, that the pending dispute together with other side-disputes raised in connexion therewith have been all settled. Reference to side-disputes may reasonably be taken to indicate the application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act which was pending then. In these circumstances the conclusion follows that there was no dispute pending after the parties settled their disputes by the compromise. The dispute raised by the application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act was disposed of along with the main dispute giving rise to the reference. The application under section 33A is accordingly rejected.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Electric Co., Ltd., 10-15, Canning Street, Calcutta, and one of their employees, Shri K. T. Varghese, Suite No. 12, 68 Theatre Road, Calcutta-17, represented by himself.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT :

Dr. B. K BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (Lond.), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the employee: The employee in person.

For the Company: Shri J. B. Patel, Manager of the Company.

This industrial dispute between Messrs. Hindusthan Electric Co., Ltd., 10-15 Canning Street, Calcutta, and one of their employees, Shri K. T. Varghese, Suite No. 12, 68 Theatre Road, Calcutta-17, represented by the employee himself, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issue was referred to this Tribunal for its adjudication under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 1966Dis./D/11L-418/54, dated the 5th May 1955.

Shri K. T. Varghese, stenographer of the Company, was served with a notice, terminating his services on 20th October 1953. One month's notice was given to him. The Company inter alia stated: "We regret to inform you that we have to discontinue your services from today due to circumstances beyond our control." The employee subsequently got another appointment elsewhere and that is why he does not want reinstatement. Instead he has prayed for some compensation, etc.

The issue is as follows:—

(1) Is the discharge of Shri K. T. Varghese justified? To what relief is he entitled?

FINDINGS.

It is a peculiar case where originally the Company tried to show perhaps that the stenographer was being retrenched: The notice (Ext. 1) referred to above, is significant. If it were a case of retrenchment, the Company had no justification, for two stenographers who joined the Company after Shri Varghese still remain in service. The Company has, therefore, clearly violated in that case the principle of "last come, first to go". During hearing, however, the Company has sought to make out a case of inefficiency on the part of Shri Varghese. This is clearly a new case. Shri Patel, the Manager of the Company, has not stated anything regarding the alleged inefficiency, though he has half-heartedly cross-examined Shri Varghese. It is interesting to note that on October 21, 1953, i.e., one day after the notice, Shri Patel granted a certificate of efficiency (Ext. 2) to Shri Varghese. In my opinion, the case of the Company has no legs to stand upon. The alleged charge of inefficiency stands absolutely not proved.

No charge-sheet seems to have been served on the employee who was never given any opportunity to explain or rebut any charge. On the other hand, the notice purported to be one of retrenchment. There has been undoubtedly a clear violation of the principles of natural justice.

Accordingly the order of dismissal or discharge is held to be absolutely unjustified and must be set aside.

Ordinarily the proper relief should have been reinstatement. But Shri Varghese is happily employed elsewhere and, as his relations with the Company are strained, he does not want reinstatement.

He first entered the service of the Company in March 1951. One and half months' compensation in the circumstances at Rs. 175 per mensem, in my opinion, should be sufficient recompense. Twelve days' earned leave not availed of was due to Shri Varghese. On this head, therefore, he is entitled to get Rs. 70.

The employee has claimed one month's bonus which, according to him, was declared by the Company. But Shri Patel has given a denial on oath. As the onus, in my opinion, lies on the employee, in the circumstances it must be held that this claim stands not proved.

Nor, in my opinion, is the employee entitled to get, over and above the abovementioned compensation, pay for 14 days, that is, the period he was unemployed.

The employer, therefore, is to pay Shri Varghese Rs. 332-8-0. This payment is to be made within two weeks of the publication of the award in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Award is given accordingly.

DECISION.

The Company is an Engineering concern, and is also engaged in the side business of confectionery, pottery, paint and varnish, etc., and also deals in controlled stocks. The Company is affiliated to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, which is an association for the advancement of trade.

The dispute between the employees and the Company was first referred to the Major Engineering Tribunal which was constituted by the Government of West Bengal order No. 7161Lab., dated 17th October 1947. The dispute raised by the employees was also referred to the Mercantile Tribunal constituted on the 17th January 1948. The Mercantile Tribunal refused to adjudicate upon the dispute because it was the subject matter of an earlier reference to the Major Engineering Tribunal. The Omnibus award of the Major Engineering Tribunal was published in the Calcutta Gazette on 30th June 1948 and it covered the matter in dispute between Messrs. Parry & Co. and its workmen along with the disputes concerning other companies which were parties before the Tribunal. The award of the Mercantile Tribunal related to the employees of the Head Office staff of all the companies affiliated to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and allowed higher salaries than allowed by the award of the Engineering Tribunal.

After the expiry of the operative period of the Engineering Award, the workmen raised a dispute again and there was a further reference for adjudication of the same to the Tribunal presided over by Shri G. Palit. The above-stated references included not only the dispute of the Head Office staff but also that of the employees engaged in the Company's Engineering shop at Kidderpore and in its other godowns. Shri G. Palit made an award

The Union claims that he incurred the displeasure of the management for espousing the cause of the workers in the Works Committee and for holding a meeting to form an association under the style of Messrs. Thomas Duff Group Mills Clerks' Association. He was charge-sheeted by the Manager of the company for misconduct under rule 14(C)(I) of the Standing Orders of the factory. In spite of the fact that written explanation was submitted by the workman, he received a letter on the 29th April 1952 from the Manager of the company intimating that his services would terminate with effect from the afternoon of the 30th April. The charge against him was that at about 1-15 p.m. in the midst of his mid-day recess he was sent for by the Manager from his quarters and was asked to accompany a cholera patient to the Campbell Hospital, Calcutta. He consented to take him there though according to the union he had not taken his meal. A taxi was engaged for the purpose, but it refused to carry the cholera patient. The doctor asked him to wait at the dispensary till some other conveyance was obtained. At about 4-30 p.m. the doctor of the mill asked him to carry the patient at once to Calcutta when a company's lorry was secured for the purpose. The case of the union is that he requested the doctor at that time to kindly spare him, if possible, as he was too much fatigued and was without a meal and bath. It is alleged that the doctor conceded to this request in the presence of a member of the Works Committee, Shri Jagat, the doctor accompanied the patient. When the charge-sheet was given to the compounder he apologised, but the apology was not accepted.

According to the company, it was the compounder's duty to accompany the cholera patient to the hospital and as he was the whole-time employee of the company and was given reduced hours of work with quarters on a nominal rent in view of his services in case of emergency, it cannot be said that this work was entrusted to him outside his duty hours. As this amounted to wilfull insubordination, the company was fully justified in discharging him. It may be noted here that he was not dismissed but was only discharged, which amounted to this that he was entitled to all the benefits that he could claim under the company's service but his services were dispensed with. For this reason the company objects to the use of the word "dismissed" in the issue referred to the Tribunal. The Tribunal was of the opinion that as the services of the workman were dispensed with after being charge-sheeted and on that account, there is little difference in either case—whether he was dismissed or discharged and it proceeds to hold, "I take it that the issue stands for discharge and not dismissal."

Of course there is no special rule requiring the compounder or anybody else to accompany a patient when he is to be taken to the hospital. The normal duty of the compounder is to dispense medicine according to the prescription of the dispensary doctor. Normally the darwan accompanies the patient to the B. N. Bose's Hospital, which is situated at a distance of a mile from the mill. The doctor stated in his evidence that this was the first occasion when he accompanied a cholera patient to the hospital. It is not denied that the carrying of a cholera patient to the hospital is an uncommon occurrence. It appears from the evidence produced by the company that only on one occasion the compounder had accompanied a cholera patient to the hospital and that was about a week before the incident under enquiry. Therefore the finding of the lower Tribunal that the company's case, that it was within the duties of the compounder to carry a patient to the hospital, is not substantiated, is fully justified. As a matter of fact, these occassions are rare and naturally there is no specific assignment of duty to any one of the employees to accompany a patient to the hospital. However, the company contends that this falls within the duty of the compounder because he is allowed quarters at a reduced rate and secondly, because his duty hours are reduced on account of his services being required on special occasions and similar emergencies. The lower Tribunal was of the opinion that this submission of the company was not substantiated as only two instances, when the services of the compounder were especially required, have been cited. The Tribunal was reluctant to believe that reduction of duty hours and lesser payment for accommodation were allowed merely to meet the requirements of an emergency which could only arise once in a way. It appears from the evidence that some clerks enjoy similar concessional rates for accommodation while there is no evidence to show that their services are utilized irrespective of their hours of work and outside their period of duty. The Tribunal was of the opinion that certain facilities available to some of staff, such as doctor or labour officer, were not available to the compounder and therefore the compounder was able to show that he was not bound to work beyond his duty hours. The Tribunal further finds that a clerk or a compounder cannot be expected to perform similar duties out of time, and that it was rather for the doctor to accompany the patient than the compounder, as he is a whole-time servant and is more competent and qualified to be of service on such occasions. It was pointed out that there was a complaint among the millhands that the medical staff of the mill is not as vigilant as it should be in the interest of the workmen, but there is no reason to attach this responsibility to the compounder rather than to the doctor and other staff of the mill. At the time of the argument before us, it was pointed out and was actually admitted by the lawyer of the company that there are two dispensaries in the vicinity of each other and more than one compounder work at these dispensaries. It was suggested on behalf of the union that the reason why this particular compounder was asked to accompany the patient was that he had some influence at the hospital to which the patient was to be carried and because on his account the patient's admission to the hospital would be facilitated. Of course the union had made a definite allegation of victimisation.

Although we are not in full agreement with the reasoning of the lower Tribunal, still we are not prepared, on the record of this case, to interfere with the findings of fact; firstly, that the taking of the patient was not within the duties of the compounder and, secondly, that when the bus of the company was made available it would have been outside the compounder's duty hours to accompany the patient to the hospital and to come back in time. There was nothing to prevent the compounder to take his food in the meanwhile when the conveyance was being made available.

On occasions like this where the life of a human being is in danger, we are not prepared to hold that in view of the fact that any other person might be available, the compounder was fully justified in refusing to accompany the patient. The conduct of the compounder in his refusal to perform something which was required of him at the moment—if for no other reasons, at least for humanitarian reasons—cannot be justified. There are two possibilities in the circumstances of the case: either that the compounder refused to go and obey the orders because he thought that somebody also might accompany him, thus avoiding the inconvenience of doing this job outside the office hours, or, he was hungry and in such a state of mind he thought that he would not be able to do the work satisfactorily on account of his condition, especially when there was some one else who could do it without his accompanying the patient. It will be observed that a compounder is a member of the hospital staff and as such is required to look after the medical needs of the mill staff. We do not think that there was anything unusual in asking him to accompany the patient and it was natural for the doctor to ask the compounder to accompany the patient when the services of the doctor were not ordinarily required on the way to the hospital. If there was no one there to accompany the patient, the situation would have been intolerable. Perhaps the presence of the doctor, or other compounders in the vicinity and a possibility of a darwan accompanying the patient, may have been some of the reasons which led to this compounder's refusal to go. The compounder stated in his statement before the Tribunal that his working hours were 7 a.m. to 10-30 p.m. and again from 1-30 p.m. to 4-30 p.m. on ordinary days; that he was never informed that he was a whole time servant; that he voluntarily carried a cholera patient to the hospital on 28th March 1952 outside his office hours. On 11th April 1952, he was asked at about 1-20 p.m. to accompany a cholera patient to the Campbell Hospital, Calcutta. He consented but a conveyance was not available. He waited in the dispensary and at 4-30 p.m. when he was going to leave for home, the doctor asked him to accompany the patient as a conveyance was obtained by that time. He told the doctor that he had been waiting there without food practically the whole day and asked him to secure some other escort. The doctor said "Alright" and went to see the Manager and on return he told him that the Manager had asked the doctor to accompany the patient. On his way home, he met Mr. Elliot, Assistant Manager, and on his enquiry he told him that the doctor was taking the patient to the hospital. He was asked to accompany Mr. Elliot to the house of the patient who was an employee of the No. 2 Mill. He found the patient in his bed. The patient and the doctor walked to the conveyance and the conveyance also left. He stated that he wanted to examine witnesses in the managerial enquiry but he was not permitted to do so. When he sought the intervention of the Labour Commissioner, the latter requested the company to take him back but the company refused. He stated that he was a member of the Works Committee and was an active member in organising an association. He also stated that the doctor did not inform him that the doctor would have to go if he refused. He asked for another man to go because he was without food for the whole day and was feeling tired and exhausted. Shri Jagat, P.W. 2, also corroborated the story that the compounder had requested the doctor to kindly excuse him and to arrange for another person. The doctor in his statement stated that he had asked the compounder on his own account to proceed with the patient, but the latter refused to accompany him on the ground that his duty ends at 4-30 and it was about 4-30 when the conveyance was made available. When he refused to go, no one else was present. The doctor says that he asked this compounder to go because he had his training in the Campbell Hospital and because the distance was long. On behalf of the union it is contended that the compounder only begged to be excused and did not actually refuse to go. The evidence produced on behalf of the compounder supports his claim that he begged to be excused and the doctor in his statement does not state the exact word used by the compounder and therefore, in view of the finding of the lower Tribunal, we are of opinion that there was nothing wrong if the compounder begged to be excused on this occasion under the circumstances of the case. Although a very high standard of adherence to duty is expected from persons who are to look after the health and safety of others, it cannot be said that the compounder was bound to proceed to the hospital merely on the ground that his services were more useful at a particular hospital when another person was available, to proceed with the patient. In the circumstances of this case, on facts, the Tribunal has found for the compounder and we see no reason to differ on the finding of facts. The Tribunal finds that the compounder "merely remonstrated but did not disobey him", and when the doctor asked him to go finally he placed his difficulties and wanted, if possible, to be excused on this occasion. Considering all the facts of this case as found by the lower Tribunal, that the Compounder first consented to go and then actually waited without bath and food for hours thereafter and even at about 4-30 p.m. he merely remonstrated and asked that some other person might be sent and thereafter expressed his regret, and tendered his apology at the earliest opportunity, and bearing in mind his ten years' clean service, even assuming him to be guilty of insubordination there was no justification in giving him the severe punishment of discharging him from service altogether. There was possibility of giving him some lesser punishment when before the lower Tribunal, the compromise of the matter was suggested, but the company at the time insisted on his discharge. Under the Standing Orders assuming him to be guilty a lesser punishment could have been given to him. An employee cannot refuse to afford his services on occasions of emergency where loss of property or life is feared, but it cannot be laid down as a rule of law that under any circumstances an employee is debarred from seeking that the work required of him may be done by another, when other assistance is equally available. While every employee is expected to rise up to the occasion and render his unqualified assistance, no employee can be refused the right to request the management that his services may be excused when that particular work is not within the express duty of that person and can be performed by another available hand. Of course, if there was no other person available, we would have examined the matter in another light and punishment would have been justified. The attitude of the compounder was not defiant and as it was doubtful whether it was within his duties to accompany a patient after his hours of work, when another person was equally available, it cannot be said that there was wilfull insubordination and we cannot disagree with this finding of the lower Tribunal on the evidence in the case. When at about 4-30 p.m. he tried to be excused, the Manager might have sent for him and might have informed him that he is required to do this for the company. Even this is not done. In view of all these considerations, we are of opinion that there is no substantial question of law involved in this appeal and the appeal is therefore dismissed. We make no order as to costs in view of the relief granted by the lower Tribunal and the delay in hearing this appeal.

DECISION.

This is an appeal directed against an award, dated 18th June 1953, given by Shri S. C. Mukherjee, Judge, Industrial Tribunal, Calcutta, holding that, "After-all it is a management function to maintain discipline and when the management holds that it cannot any more place any reliance on the worker, the management can discharge a workman from service," and on that ground the Tribunal has held the discharge to be justified.

At the hearing we asked the learned counsel for the workman to state any substantial question of law involved in this appeal. His contention is that the absence of direct evidence bearing on the question of dishonesty and neglect of duty, and the absence of sufficient details in the charge-sheet handed over to the workman by the management, are substantial questions of law.

What actually happened in this case is that the workman was in-charge of the Ration Shop of the company and some irregularities were being noticed from time to time and a watch and ward department was carrying on drives for some time and it was found that on this occasion some food-stuffs were smuggled under the very nose of the discharged workman. The Tribunal, after recording the evidence, has arrived at the conclusion that the management was fully justified in suspecting the conduct of the workman concerned and was justified in discharging him and that there was no malafide or victimisation on the part of the management. The fact that no regular enquiry was held by the management after framing of the charge-sheet is of no consequence in this case, because the necessary evidence was tendered before the Tribunal. The witnesses have stated the facts from which the Tribunal has arrived at a conclusion of fact.

With regard to the argument that the charge in the charge-sheet was not specific and detailed enough, has no force, because it has not been shown that this has led to any injustice in the case and that the workman was prejudice on that account.

We accordingly hold this appeal incompetent as no substantial question of law is involved in it. It is accordingly dismissed. We make no order as to costs.

DECISION.

This is an appeal by Shri Lachmani and 16 other workmen of Fort William Jute Mills against an award of Shri M. C. Banerjee, First Industrial Tribunal, West Bengal, in a dispute between these workmen and the Fort William Jute Mills, Sibpur, Howrah (hereinafter called the Company), regarding payment of gratuity. The award is dated 9th September 1953 and was published in the Calcutta Gazette on the 8th October 1953.

In the Tribunal below, the workmen claimed that they should be paid gratuity on the basis of the service record as noted in their employment books, whereas the Company's contention was that these employment books would not show any breaks in service and that the periods of service should be calculated with reference to the wage registers. The learned Tribunal after very careful consideration of the evidence placed before it, accepted the Company's contention and allowed payment of gratuity with reference to the wage registers. Hence this appeal by these workmen.

Shri Biswanath Ash, advocate, appearing on behalf of the workmen contends that the learned Tribunal below was in error in accepting the Company's contention and relying on the wage registers in proof of the dispute fact of the period of continuous service essential for payment of gratuity. The employment books should have been preferred to the wage registers which appeared to be suspicious documents and that the said books, being the Company's own documents should not have been discarded in favour of the wage registers particularly when they were silent regarding breaks in service. His further contention is that the Company is estopped from challenging the correctness of the entries made in the employment books and from aducing evidence to show that the entries in them were incorrect. Shri M. M. Ghosh, the Deputy Labour Adviser of the Company emphatically denies the workmen's allegations and said that no question of estoppel could arise on facts and circumstances of the case and that the learned Tribunal was perfectly justified in coming to the conclusion, as it did, that the wage registers in the peculiar circumstances of this case, should be preferred to the employment books.

We have carefully considered the arguments of learned representatives of both sides and examined the evidence in this case. We have gone through the employment books, the service cards and the wage registers. The employment books and the service records were introduced for the first time in the Jute Mills after the publication of the Major Jute Tribunal awards in 1948 and 1951. It is in evidence that there was some labour troubles in this Mill on two days in December 1947 when the mills workmen attacked the Labour Office, set fire to it and destroyed the records. The extent of damage was so much that the Mills had to be closed for about a month for necessary repairs. Almost immediately after that the workmen demanded their employment books with their service records. These service records had to be prepared in a hurry relying in many cases, on the information supplied by the workmen themselves. Shri Ghosh contends that in these peculiar circumstances, the employment books and service records, compiled in a hurry, became in many cases incomplete documents in which entries before 1948 could not be shown. With regard to the rate of and conditions for payment of gratuity there is no dispute. They are governed by the award of the Major Jute Tribunal. In fact, the learned Tribunal has set out at length the rules for payment of gratuity in the beginning of its award. The gratuity, it appears, is payable only in respect of completed years of service. Accordingly, the evidence of breaks of service is very material to establish whether the service had been continuous, within the meaning of this rule, for payment of gratuity. Gratuity has paid to other workers and the difficulties were felt wherever there was any discrepancy or error in the employment books. Naturally, the workmen preferred their employment books to any other records to prove the continuity of service and the matter was discussed in the Works Committee and it is in evidence that the cases were reviewed in the presence of the representatives of the workmen and the Company. The Company did place all these evidences before the Tribunal. The workmen, it appears, did not examine themselves. They produced their employment books and the discharge notices. The employment books, as noticed by the learned Tribunal below, showed in many cases only the dates of joining and few entries showing periods of absence since 1948. The Company examined the Labour Office clerk and the Labour Officer and produced the original registers and records including the wage registers showing not only the attendance of the workmen but their wages actually paid to them. It appears that these witnesses were not cross-examined regarding the genuineness or correctness of these documents. Shri Ash who appears to have been requisitioned for the first time for this appeal, frankly conceded before this Tribunal that he is handicapped in matters of evidence because he finds that the Company's witnesses were not even cross-examined on material points and that no exception was taken to Company's documents proved in this case. Further, no oral evidence was adduced on the side of the workmen explaining away periods of absence proved beyond reasonable doubt before the learned tribunal below. We appreciate his difficulties before us but at the same time, we cannot overlook the fact that the Company's evidence was not assailed in the way in which it is sought to be done here. It is extremely unfortunate that the cases of these poor workmen, looked after by two labour leaders, was not conducted in proper way. That is another matter. We will have to decide the point in dispute with reference to the materials which we find on record. The learned tribunal has found on a personal scrutiny of each and every record that in actual fact there were breaks in service in the case of these workmen and that the employment books were left incomplete with only very few entries in them regarding the date of joining the service and in few cases periods of absence for some years. The question is whether in the circumstances disclosed in this case, the learned tribunal was wrong in accepting the evidence of the wage registers to decide the dispute raised before it. We think the tribunal was right in adopting the only possible course left open to it in the case. These wage registers, are very old records maintained under the provision of the Factories Act. In fact, for years they were the only original records showing the conditions of service of the labour employed in the mills. The employment books are not original registers or records. Entries in them made some time in 1948 and 1950, in respect of workers entered service thirty years ago, cannot but be made from these wage registers. Accordingly, they are subsidiary books and in a dispute of this description when there is controversy over the entries in these books, preference was rightly made in favour of the original registers. Nothing was shown before the learned tribunal that these registers were unreliable documents, manufactured for the purpose of the case. It is too late now to say that these books should not have been accepted because of this or that suspicious circumstances appearing in them. Mere suspicion is no substitute of proof and a decision should not be based on suspicion or surmise. As to points of law taken by Shri Ash on behalf of the appellants in this case, a word or two is necessary to dispose of them. Employment books contained some entries regarding service conditions of workmen. Admittedly, they were prepared in the office of this Company. It is true that the Company should not ordinarily be permitted to say that the entries made in these books are wrong. They should not be permitted to say one thing at one time and a different thing on another occasion. At best, these employment books contain statements which may be characterised as admissions of the Company. The question is, is an admission conclusive evidence of the matter admitted? Under section 31 of the Evidence Act admissions are not conclusive proof of matters admitted, but they may operate as an 'estoppel' under the provision hereafter contained. Though not legally conclusive, the circumstances under, or the occasion upon, which it was made, or its formal and deliberate character may entitle it to greatest weight and may require very strong and clear evidence to rebut the inference which may be drawn from it.

We agree with Shri Ash that any statement contained in an employment book regarding the service conditions of a worker should not be lightly discarded at the instance of the employer. The employer must adduce very strong and clear evidence to explain away the circumstances under which the entry was made. It is, however, not the entries made in these employment books that matter so much to the workmen but the absence of entries does. The absence of entries has been explained away satisfactorily before the tribunal and we see no reason to differ from it. And, to our mind section 115 of the Evidence Act, to which Shri Ash invited our attention in support of his contention on points of estoppel, has no application to the facts of this case. It is essential to an estoppel that one party has been induced by the conduct of the other to do or forbear doing something which he would not do or would have done but for such conduct of the other. It must be proved that the workmen believed a certain thing to be true, that in consequence of, and as the effect of such belief they acted in a particular manner and that that was brought about by some representation (declaration, act or omission) on the part of the employer, which was intentionally made in order to produce the result. In fact, Shri Ash could not prove any of the three essential ingredients of an estoppel in this case. The learned tribunal has rightly rejected the case of estoppel. We find, accordingly, that there is no substance in this appeal. The learned tribunal has given very good reasons for coming to the conclusion that these workmen, who are the appellants before us, are entitled to gratuity, not on the basis of service records or employment books, but on the basis of the wage registers. The appeal, in our opinion, fails and be dismissed. Parties to bear their respective costs.

Probable number of vacancies—West Bengal Civil Service (Executive)—20; West Bengal Police Service—1; West Bengal Junior Civil Service—31 (5 reserved for Scheduled Caste candidates and 1 reserved for Scheduled Tribe candidates); West Bengal Junior Commercial Tax Service—7; West Bengal Junior Excise Service—3; Upper Division Clerical Service—7; Sub-Registrars—7. Further vacancies, if any, will be notified later.

Qualifications and age-limits.—A graduate of a recognised University; not below 21 years but below 26 years 3 months on 1st January 1956. The upper age-limit for all the services is relaxable for candidates belonging to Scheduled Castes or Scheduled Tribes, bona fide displaced persons from Pakistan and for certain other categories of candidates.

Copies of detailed notice and application form will be available from the office of the Public Service Commission at Anderson House (ground floor), Alipore, Calcutta-27, from the 25th August 1955. Those wanting copies of rules, etc., by post should send a self-addressed large envelope with six annas postage stamps affixed. Applications invited in the prescribed form with a Treasury chalan for Rs. 5 under the head "XXXVI—Miscellaneous—Receipts of Public Service Commission, West Bengal" or a crossed postal order of Rs. 5 payable to "the Secretary, Public Service Commission, West Bengal". Candidates admitted to the examination will be required to pay Rs. 50 as fee. A reduced fee of Rs. 25 is payable by a candidate admitted to the examination for Group "D" services and posts only. The Commission may remit fees of bona fide displaced persons from Pakistan if they are genuinely indigent. Last date for filing applications, 20th September 1955.

An announcement regarding the West Bengal Civil Service (Judicial) Examination will be published subsequently.

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION, WEST BENGAL.

Advertisement No. 36.

APPLICATIONS are invited for the following four permanent posts of Physician and Surgeon in Seth Sukhlall Karnani Memorial Hospital, Calcutta:—

(1) Orthopaedic Surgeon—1 post.

(2) E.N.T. Surgeon—1 post.

(3) Physician (General)—1 post.

(4) Surgeon (General)—1 post.

The appointments will be made on contract for a period of five years in the first instance renewable for further periods on approved service. The contract appointments will terminate on the incumbents' completing the age of 55 years and may also be terminated at any time by six months' notice on either side. The selected candidate will have to serve a probationary period of six months unless specially exempted. The age of superannuation is 55 years. For those not already in Government service the appointments will be non-pensionable but the selected candidates will get the benefit of Contributory Provident Fund. They will be permitted to enjoy leave as admissible under Rule 226 of the West Bengal Service Rules, Part I. If a Government servant is selected for any of the posts he will be appointed on tenure basis and not on contract.

(1) Qualifications.—

(i) Citizenship of India as defined in Part II of the Constitution of India.

(ii) A medical degree of a recognised University with post-graduate qualification and special knowledge and experience in respective subjects.

Age not below 35 years on 1st September 1955, relaxable in the case of exceptionally qualified candidates.

(2) Pay.—The scale of pay is—

(i) Rs. 300—30—600 plus usual allowances when filled by outsiders,

(ii) Rs. 200—10—420—15—450 plus a special pay of Rs. 145 per month plus usual allowances when filled by West Bengal Medical and Health Service officers.

The officers will be allowed private practice beyond duty hours and outside hospital premises if it does not interfere with their official duties and responsibilities.

(3) Instructions regarding submission of application.—Applications are to be made on the prescribed form which will be available from the office of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal, Anderson House (ground floor), Alipore, Calcutta-27, personally or on sending a large self-addressed envelope with stamps sufficient to cover the postage affixed to it. Candidates who are unable to obtain copies of the prescribed form may apply on any similar typed (not handwritten) form showing exactly the wording and spacing of the sample form published in the "Calcutta Gazette" of the 10th March 1949, provided the blanks are filled up in the candidates' own handwriting.

The application must be addressed to the Secretary and should reach him not later than the 10th September 1955.

(4) Particulars and certificates required.—Candidates should furnish evidence of their age, qualifications and previous experience together with certificates written not more than one year prior to the date of their applications, from responsible persons, testifying to their private character.

(5) Fee.—Candidates must enclose with their applications a fee of Rs. 5 in the form of a receipted chalan from a Government Treasury or the Reserve Bank of India under the head "XXXVI—Miscellaneous—Receipts of the Public Service Commission, West Bengal". Money orders, cheques, etc., in lieu of treasury chalans are not accepted. Postal orders, however, may be accepted from candidates. They should be crossed and made payable to "The Secretary, Public Service Commission, West Bengal". No application will be considered unless accompanied with the requisite application fee.

Candidates in Government service should make sure before depositing fee that their applications will be forwarded by their superior officers. In no case will the fee paid with the application be refunded.

The Commission may remit fee in case of genuinely indigent and bona fide displaced persons from Pakistan.

Note.—"(i) A displaced person claiming age concession must furnish with his application satisfactory evidence that he is a bona fide displaced person from Pakistan, e.g., refugee registration card or a certificate from a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature, in original.

(ii) A member of the Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe claiming age concession must furnish with his application a certificate in original from a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature belonging to the Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe, specifying the particular caste or tribe to which he claims to belong.

(iii) A displaced person seeking remission of the application fee must furnish besides the evidence required under Note (i) above, a certificate (in original) from a District Officer or a gazetted officer or a Member of Parliament or State Legislature to show that he is not in a position to pay the prescribed fee."

(6) Address.—Candidates should give their present address and should communicate at once any subsequent change of address.

(7) Canvassing.—Any attempt on the part of candidates to enlist support of their applications through persons of influence or officials of Government will disqualify them for appointment. Spontaneous recommendation from persons interested in the candidates or otherwise known to them will be disregarded.

(8) Applications from candidates who are in permanent or temporary employment under any Government, a local or Statutory Body (e.g., Damodar Valley Corporation), in India will be rejected unless they are submitted through the appointing authority of their posts or service.

Calcutta, the 18th August 1955.

DIRECTORATE OF AGRICULTURE, WEST BENGAL.

Calcutta, the 9th June 1955.

Final Forecast of Tobacco Crop of West Bengal for 1954-55.

Season.—The weather conditions have been generally favourable for the cultivation and growth of the crop in all districts except Nadia, Birbhum, Midnapore and Malda. Though in Jalpaiguri district weather conditions were favourable during the early stage, subsequent weather conditions were not favourable for the crop.

Area and yield.—The total area under Tobacco in the State of West Bengal has been estimated at 39,600 acres this year compared to 38,900 acres of last year. The total yield of Tobacco for the State as a whole is estimated at 11,810 tons this year compared to 10,820 tons of last year.

I. Nicotiana Rustica.—23,800 acres have been estimated to be under "Nicotiana Rustica" variety of Tobacco this year compared to 24,200 acres of last year. The total yield of this variety of the crop for the State as a whole is 7,230 tons this year compared to 7,070 tons of last year.

II. Nicotiana Tabacum.—(a) Virginia type of Nicotiana Tabacum.—The area and production of Virginia type of Nicotiana Tabacum have been estimated at 100 acres and 20 tons as against 300 acres and 70 tons, respectively, of last year.

(b) Other types of Nicotiana Tabacum.—15,700 acres have been estimated to be under "Other types of Nicotiana Tabacum" this year compared to 14,400 acres of last year. The total yield of this variety of the crop for the State as a whole is estimated at 4,560 tons this year compared to 3,680 tons of last year.

Third and Final Forecast of Sugarcane Crop of West Bengal for 1954-55.

[Note.—The figures of area and yield of Sugarcane crop for this year and last year, except those of Darjeeling district as shown in the forecast are based on the results of sample survey conducted by the State Statistical Bureau, West Bengal. The figures of Darjeeling district for this year and last year are based on the reports received from the extension staff of the Directorate of Agriculture, West Bengal.]

Season.—The weather conditions have been particularly good this year for the cultivation and growth of the crop in almost all the districts of West Bengal except Nadia, Midnapore and West Dinajpur.

Area and yield.—The total area planted with Sugarcane is estimated at 56,800 acres this year compared to 46,900 acres of last year. The total outturn of Sugarcane for the State as a whole is estimated at 1,193,100 tons this year compared to 650,200 tons of last year. Calculated on the basis of Gur/Cane ratio 1 : 10, the fixed standard of the State as a whole, the gross outturn in terms of Gur is estimated at 119,310 tons this year against 65,020 tons of last year. The average outturn per acre of cane for the State as a whole is estimated at 571·71 maunds this year compared to 377·38 maunds of last year.

PART I—Orders and Notifications by the Governor of West Bengal, the High Court, Government Treasury, etc.

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

DEPARTMENT OF LAND AND LAND REVENUE.

Land Reforms.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 16370L.Ref.—25th August 1955.—The following draft of amendments which, in exercise of the power conferred by section 59 of the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Act, 1953 (West Bengal Act I of 1954), the Governor proposes to make in the West Bengal Estates Acquisition Rules, 1954, as subsequently amended, is hereby published, as required by sub-section (1) of the said section, for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. Notice is hereby given that the draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 7th day of September 1955 and any objection or suggestion with respect thereto which may be received by the undersigned before that date shall be considered:—

Draft amendments.

Insertion of new rule.

1. After rule 4 of the said rules insert the following rule:—

"Procedure for choosing land which an intermediary is entitled to retain under section 6.

4A. (1) Every intermediary entitled to retain possession of lands under sub-section (1) of section 6 shall, if he chooses to retain any such land, make his choice by furnishing to the Settlement Officer or to the Revenue Officer authorised by the Settlement Officer in this behalf, before the expiry of eight months from the date of vesting a statement in writing in Form No. B appended to Schedule B appended to these rules or in a form substantially similar thereto and in the manner indicated therein:

Provided that where any intermediary has filed such a statement to the Revenue Officer in pursuance of any notice given by such Revenue Officer before this rule comes into force he shall not be required to file a fresh statement in pursuance of this rule.

(2) If no such statement is furnished by any intermediary within the aforesaid period it shall be presumed that he does not intend to retain any land under sub-section (1) of section 6."

2. For rule 14 of the said rules substitute the following rule, namely:—

"Commutation of rents in kind.

14. The commuted value of rent in kind of an immediately subordinate tenant of an intermediary referred to in sub-clause (i) of clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 16 shall be determined in the following manner and recorded in the record-of-rights finally published under Chapter V of the Act, namely:—

(a) where it is paid in the produce of the land, the Revenue Officer shall determine the sum in the same manner as provided in rule 28; and

(b) where it is paid in articles other than the produce of the land, the Revenue Officer shall determine the sum equivalent to the money value of such articles at their market price.".

Amendment of rule 29.

3. To rule 29 of the said rules, add the words "The rent so determined shall take effect from the date of vesting".

Amendment of paragraph 7 of Schedule B.

4. For paragraph 7 of Schedule B appended to the said rules substitute the following paragraph:—

"Procedure of recording lands retained by an intermediary under section 6.

7. (1) The statement of lands which an intermediary may choose to retain under sub-section (1) of section 6 shall be furnished under rule 4A in Form No. B of this schedule or in a Form substantially similar thereto.

(2) In preparing or revising the record-of-rights under Chapter V, the Revenue Officer shall take into consideration any such statement furnished by an intermediary having regard to the provisions of section 6 of the Act.

(3) If the lands included in such statement exceed in area the limits respectively specified in clauses (c) and (d) of sub-section (1) of section 6, the Revenue Officer shall, after giving such intermediary an opportunity of being heard, allot to such intermediary so much of the lands as he may retain under the said clauses as do not exceed in area such limits and enter such lands in the record-of-rights as being the lands which such intermediary intends to retain under the said clauses.

(4) The Revenue Officer shall, wherever necessary, partition the lands for the purpose of making allotment under sub-rule (3) and demarcate the lands so partitioned by assigning such separate plot numbers as may be needed for the purpose.".

Substitution of Form B.

5. For Form No. B of Schedule B appended to the said rules substitute the following form:—

GOVERNMENT OF WEST BENGAL

MEDICAL AND PUBLIC HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Public Health.

NOTIFICATION.

West Dinajpur.—No. P.H.3532/2R-48/55.—24th August 1955.—Whereas the Governor is satisfied that the district of West Dinajpur is threatened with an outbreak of cholera.

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 2 of the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897 (Act III of 1897), the Governor is pleased to prescribe the following temporary regulations for the prevention and control of cholera, and for the medical inspection, isolation, observation and surveillance of persons suffering from, or suspected of being infected with, cholera in the said district for a period of three months.

TEMPORARY REGULATIONS FOR THE PREVENTION AND CONTROL OF CHOLERA.

1. In these regulations, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

(a) "District Health Officer" means the Health Officer of the district appointed by the district board under sub-section (3) of section 91 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 (Bengal Act III of 1885);

(c) "Board" means a district board constituted under the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885;

(d) "Union Board" means a union board constituted under the Bengal Village Self-Government Act, 1919 (Bengal Act V of 1919);

(e) "Suspected cholera" means any disease accompanied by vomiting and diarrhoea;

(f) "Patient" means a person suffering from or suspected to be suffering from cholera;

(g) "Medical practitioner" means any person practising the medical profession.

2. Whenever any land is held jointly by two or more persons, whether as owners or occupiers of that land, such persons shall be held jointly and severally liable for carrying out any measure ordered in a notice under these regulations, and the names of any one or more of such joint-holders may be entered upon such notice at the discretion of the District Health Officer and the District Health Officer shall not be bound to enter the names of all the joint-holders in the notice.

Notices.

3. If in any case the District Health Officer considers that the issue of a notice under these regulations is likely to lead to such an amount of delay as might facilitate the spread of cholera he may forthwith take such step as he may think fit for carrying out the work, and shall thereafter, as soon as possible, issue a notice on the person concerned stating the reason why such work has been carried out.

4. If any measure which the District Health Officer has, by a notice issued under these regulations, required to be carried out, be not carried out to his satisfaction within the time stated in the notice, the District Health Officer shall be entitled to carry out the measure.

Costs and compensation.

5. (1) All expenses incurred in carrying out any work in pursuance of any order issued under these regulations shall be paid by the board except in any case where the order directs a person to carry out any work in relation to property in his possession, in which case the expenses shall be paid by that person:

Provided that where the conditions, which led the District Health Officer to pass such an order, are not attributable to any act or default of the persons in possession of the property, the board may pay to such person the whole or a part of the expenses incurred by him in carrying out the order.

(2) The board may recover all expenses incurred by the District Health Officer in carrying out the measure under regulation 4 from the person or persons to whom the notice was originally issued.

6. The board shall pay adequate compensation to any person who has sustained substantial loss or damage by reason of anything done under these regulations:

Provided that no person shall receive any compensation for anything done, or suffered under these regulations, if he has failed to carry out an order issued under these regulations within the time specified in the order and to the satisfaction of the District Health Officer.

Location of disease.

7. When a case of cholera or suspected cholera occurs in a house, the nearest male relative in attendance upon the patient, or in the absence of any such relative the occupier of the house, or if the occupier be the patient, some male inmate of the house shall, within twenty-four hours of the onset of the disease, give information regarding the occurrence of such case either personally or in writing or by means of chaukidar or other village watchman to the nearest Sanitary Inspector.

8. (1) If information has not already been given under regulation 7, the medical practitioner called in to attend upon any case of cholera shall forthwith give notice of the case by special messenger to the nearest Sanitary Inspector or rural medical officer and by post to the District Health Officer and the cost of such messenger in each case shall be defrayed by the board.

(2) The Doctor-in-charge of a hospital or a dispensary within the district shall forthwith give notice of any case of cholera brought to such hospital or dispensary for treatment to the nearest Sanitary Inspector by a special messenger and to the District Health Officer by post and the cost of such messenger in each case shall be defrayed by the board.

9. Presidents of union boards in union board areas and thana officers in non-union board areas shall supply to the District Health Officer such periodical returns of cases of cholera as he may from time to time call upon them to furnish.

10. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may examine any person who is, or suspected to be, suffering from cholera or who, in his opinion, may be infected with or likely to spread cholera.

Isolation of patients and evacuation of houses, etc.

11. When the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector considers that the isolation of any patient is a precaution necessary for the protection of the neighbouring population, he shall order the patient to observe isolation and may order the nearest relative in attendance on the patient, or the occupier of the house in which the patient is staying to arrange for the isolation of the patient in such a manner and for such a time as may be approved by the District Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector.

He shall not direct the patient to be removed from the house unless it is in his opinion impossible to make proper arrangements for his isolation therein.

12. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may order that any person, who has in his opinion been exposed to infection from cholera, shall take such drugs in such quantities as may be specified by the District Health Officer, or Sanitary Inspector or shall submit himself to anti-cholera inoculation within a time to be specified in the order.

13. No person shall enter any place wherein a patient is isolated under regulation 11 without the permission of the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

14. The board shall provide free of charge suitable places, with necessary attendants, medicine, diet and other necessaries for persons isolated under regulation 11: provided that a private individual may provide places certified by the District Health Officer as being fit for the purpose of such isolation.

15. If it is not possible for the board to provide suitable places with necessary attendants, diet and other necessaries for isolation of the patient or if satisfactory arrangement for such isolation is not also possible in the house where the patient is staying, the patient shall be sent, under proper sanitary precautions, to the nearest hospital where there is suitable arrangement for isolation.

16. No person, who is or has been suffering from cholera, shall leave the place where he has been staying until he has received from the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector written permission to do so.

17. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may require any person to allow to be carried out by such agency, and within such time as may be specified in the order, such measures for the disinfection or evacuation of any premises in the occupation of such person or for the disinfection or destruction of any of his personal effects, as the said officer or inspector may consider necessary.

18. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may direct the owner or occupier of any premises to cause to be inoculated with anti-cholera vaccine within a time specified in the order any person residing on such premises and under the control of such owner or occupier if the District Health Officer or Sanitary Inspector is of opinion that such person has been exposed to infection from cholera.

19. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may forbid any person who has been a patient or who has, to his knowledge, been in contact with a patient to act as vendor of any article for such period as may be specified in the order.

20. No person shall carry or permit to be carried in a public conveyance a patient except in the case where a patient is carried with proper precautions to a hospital.

21. No person shall sell any article which has been in contact with a patient until it has been disinfected to the satisfaction of the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector.

22. No person shall expose in any street, shop, bazar, or any public place any clothing, bedding or other article which has been in contact with a patient or shall cause or suffer such articles to be carried in any public conveyance but nothing in this regulation shall apply to a person who transmits with proper precautions against spreading the disease any such article for the purpose of having the same disinfected.

23. No person shall carry or permit to be carried in a public conveyance the dead body of any person who has died of cholera without the previous written permission of the District Health Officer or Sanitary Inspector and without taking proper precautions against spreading the said disease.

Water-supply.

24. (1) When the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector is of opinion that the water in any well, tank, pool or other possible source of water-supply is contaminated or is likely to be contaminated, he may at once take such steps as he deems necessary to close such well, tank, pool or other source of water-supply, or may require the owner or occupier of land upon which such well, tank, pool or source of water-supply is situated, to take steps to close the same to the satisfaction of the District Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector as the case may be, within such time as may be specified in the order.

(2) The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may require such owner or occupier to keep closed during such a period as shall be specified in the order any well, tank, pool or other sources of water-supply closed under paragraph (1) of this regulation.

Explanation.—In this regulation, "to close" includes the placing of chaukidars to prevent access to the well, tank, pool or other source of water-supply.

25. When the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector is of opinion that the water in well, tank, pool or source of water-supply is contaminated he may disinfect it or order its owner or occupier to disinfect it with such disinfectants as he may specify in such quantities and at such times as he may think fit.

26. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may prohibit persons from entering into or using for drinking, bathing, or any other purpose, during such period as may be specified in the order, the water in any well, tank, pool or other possible source of water-supply, which, in his opinion, is contaminated or likely to be contaminated.

27. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may, by an order published at such places as he may think fit, set apart any well, tank, part of a river, stream or channel not being private property, or being private property with the consent of the owner, for the supply of water for drinking or culinary purposes and may prohibit therein or within a distance therefrom to be stated in the order all bathing, washing of clothes or animals, or other acts calculated to pollute the water; and may similarly set apart any well, tank, part of a river, stream or channel for the purpose of bathing or for the purpose of washing animals or clothes or for any other purpose connected with the health and cleanliness of the people using such water-supply.

28. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may prohibit persons from easing themselves, or throwing, depositing or discharging any rubbish, sewage, or offensive matter, into any well, tank, pool or other source of water-supply, which is used by the public, or within such a distance from such well, tank, pool or source of water-supply as he may fix.

Conservancy and sewage disposal.

29. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may (1) prohibit the committal or continuance of any nuisance, or (2) require the person causing any nuisance or the person occupying the premises on which any nuisance exists to remove such nuisance.

Explanation.—In this regulation "nuisance" means anything which in the opinion of the District Health Officer or Sanitary Inspector is likely to spread or to cause the outbreak of cholera.

30. Whenever the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector is satisfied that the condition of any privy, urinal, drain, sewer, or cesspool is such as to cause risk of spreading cholera to the inhabitants of the neighbourhood he may order the occupier of the land in which such privy, urinal, drain, sewer or cesspool is situated to disinfect, or to allow an officer of the Board to disinfect, the same with such disinfectants in such quantities and at such time as the said officer or inspector shall think fit.

31. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may for the prevention of the outbreak or spread of cholera, order the owner or occupier of any land to repair or make efficient to the satisfaction of that officer or inspector any drain, sewer, privy, urinal or cesspool which is situated upon such land or to remove any such drain, sewer, privy, or urinal or close any such cesspool within such time as may be fixed by the said officer or inspector.

Miscellaneous.

32. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may during the prevalence of any outbreak of cholera order that any market, shop or other public place shall remain closed for such time as may appear to him to be necessary and may forbid the holding of any fair, mela, or other gathering to which people from several villages commonly or periodically resort.

33. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may require the owner or occupier of any land to clear and remove within the period specified in the order, any vegetation upon such land the existence of which in the opinion of the said officer or inspector conduces to the committing of nuisances upon such land.

34. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may issue general orders that by a specified date certain sanitary precautions of a simple nature such as lime-washing of houses, clearing of latrines or the removal of filth or rubbish shall be carried out to his satisfaction.

35. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may prohibit persons from retaining or selling clothes taken from the bodies of persons who have died of cholera and may cause any such clothes to be destroyed.

36. No person shall, without the written permission of the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector, dispose of any corpse except by burning or burial.

37. The District Health Officer may approve burning or burial grounds, and may by order direct either generally or specially in respect to any specified area, that corpses shall not be burned or buried at places other than those so approved by him.

38. Any person burning or causing to be burnt any corpse shall cause the same to be completely reduced to ashes, and shall likewise cause the clothes or other articles brought with such corpse to be reduced to ashes.

39. The District Health Officer may direct that no person shall bury or cause to be buried any corpse which, in the opinion of the District Health Officer, is likely to spread cholera in a grave not constructed of masonry and less than six feet deep.

40. The District Health Officer may order that no dome or other servant of the board employed for the disposal of corpse shall withdraw from his duties without the permission of the District Health Officer unless such dome or other servant of the board has given notice in writing not less than one month previously of his intention so to withdraw.

41. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may through any person authorised by such officer or inspector in that behalf seize and dispose of any corpse, which, in the opinion of the said officer or inspector, is infected with or is likely to spread cholera, unless the relatives or friends of the deceased person satisfy him that they are prepared and able to dispose of the corpse in a manner which will prevent the spread of cholera.

42. (1) The District Health Officer or Sanitary Inspector may require any person who appears to be acquainted with facts in connection with any case of cholera or suspected cholera to attend before him at a time to be stated in the order and at any place not more than one mile from the place where such person resides or is staying when the order is issued, and such person shall appear as so required.

(2) When the person summoned to appear under paragraph (1) is a female, who, by the custom of the country, does not appear in public suitable precaution shall be taken to respect the said custom.

43. (1) The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may examine orally any person who appears to be acquainted with the facts and circumstances of a case of cholera or suspected cholera.

(2) When the person to be examined under paragraph (1) is a female who, by the custom of the country, does not appear in public, the officer shall take her statement under such conditions as shall admit of due respect to the said custom.

(3) Such person shall be bound to answer all questions relating to such case put to him or her by such officer, other than questions the answers to which would have a tendency to expose him or her to any criminal charge.

44. The District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector may, with such assistants (if any), as he thinks fit, enter upon any land, or after two hours' notice in writing, into any premises or buildings used for human habitation at any time between sunrise and sunset for the purpose of carrying out any measure of making any enquiries authorised by these regulations.

45. The crew of any inland steam vessel or boat which plies in any canal or river or other persons residing on such vessel or boat shall be subject to these regulations.

46. All inoculations under these regulations shall be performed gratuitously.

47. (i) Orders issued by the District Health Officer or a Sanitary Inspector under these regulations shall be in writing.

(ii) The officer issuing such orders shall cause copies of them to be served upon any persons named in them.

(iii) The nearest relative of a patient or the occupier of the house in which the patient is staying shall, if a copy of the order under regulation 11 has been served upon him, give to the nearest Sanitary Inspector or to his office, immediate notice of any disobedience of the order by the patient.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Bharat Carbon (B. C. R.) & Ribbon Mfg. Co., Ltd., 543, Basanta Lal Saha Road, post office Tollygunj, Calcutta-33 and their Associated concern, Messrs. Bharat (Sales), Ltd., 19, British Indian Street, Calcutta-1, on the one part and one of their employees, Shri B. B. Manna, 123, Kuti Ghat Road, Calcutta-36, on the other

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the employee: The employee in person.

For the Company: Shri Virkaran Batra, Director and Manager of the Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Mfg. Co., Ltd.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Bharat Carbon (B. C. R.) & Ribbon Mfg. Co., Ltd., 543, Basanta Lal Saha Road, post office Tollygunj, Calcutta-33 and their Associated concern, Messrs. Bharat (Sales), Ltd., 19, British Indian Street, Calcutta-1, on the one part and one of their employees, Shri B. B. Manna, 123, Kuti Ghat Road, Calcutta-36, on the other, regarding the matter mentioned below in the issue, was referred under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2021Dis./D/11L-78/55, dated the 9th May 1955, to this Tribunal for its adjudication.

Shri Bankim Behari Manna, a Stores Clerk, was served on 3rd July 1954 with a notice (Ext. 1) of retrenchment by the Company.

The following issue has been raised:—

(1) To what relief is Shri B. B. Manna entitled?

Findings

Shri Manna, the employee, first entered service in January 1948 with the General Equipment Merchants, Ltd. Till March 1954, according to his evidence, he served under the General Equipment Merchants, Ltd., as well as under the sister concern, Bharat (Sales), Ltd. In March 1954, he was transferred to Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Mfg. Co., Ltd.—another sister concern. On behalf of the Company it has been urged that since the General Equipment Merchants, Ltd., are not on record the employee cannot claim advantage of the service under this Company. To my mind this contention has no foundation. The three Companies were inter-linked. It was a case of transfer, on same terms and conditions of service, and not one of termination of service and fresh acceptance. As the facts are clear, it matters little if the General Equipment Merchants, Ltd., have not been impleaded in the Government reference.

Shri Manna has deposed here in a most frank and straight-forward manner. As he had been transferred only three months prior to the retrenchment, he has truthfully disclaimed knowledge as to whether any clerks junior to him had been retained. The Director and Manager of the Bharat Carbon & Ribbon Manufacturing Co., Ltd., Shri V. Batra, has testified on oath that Shri Manna was very good as a Stores Clerk and that no clerk junior to him was retained by the Company at the time of retrenchment which had been rendered necessary for achieving rationalisation. It cannot, therefore, be said that the principle of "last come, first to go" was violated. The Company was entitled to retrench its staff, including Shri Manna.

Shri Manna's pay was Rs. 116 per mensem. He has claimed compensation on account of 68½ days privilege leave not availed of. According to the Company, the period of notice of 30 days would merge into this period of 68½ days in consonance with Service Rules. The Rules, however, have not been produced or proved. Nor is there any evidence to show that Shri Manna had entered into any contractual obligation with the Company in this respect. Even if it were a fact, it is doubtful whether he could contract himself out of legal benefits. The fundamental concepts of notice and unavailed leave are altogether different. In this case Shri Manna is entitled to an amount equivalent to 68½ days' salary on account of the period of leave not availed of.

Next, under section 25F(b), he is entitled to compensation equivalent to 3½ months' salary.

On these two items above the Company must make payment of Rs. 670-13-10 pies in all to Shri Manna within two weeks of the publication of the award in the Calcutta Gazette, and at the earliest suitable opportunity Shri Manna must be taken back by the Company, as required by law.

The award is given accordingly.

"the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 the words, I of 1894."

"the West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act, 1948 West Ben. Act XXI of 1948."

shall be substituted; and

(2) in the Explanation, the words "and the Land Acquisition Act, 1894" shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under sub-section (2) of section 4 of the Rehabilitation of Displaced Persons and Eviction of Persons in Unauthorised Occupation of Land Act, 1951, Government may acquire, under certain circumstances, any land belonging to an owner which is in unauthorised occupation of a person. The necessity for acquisition of such lands mainly arises in cases where unauthorised occupation by displaced persons is required to be regularised. The appropriate enactment under which this can be done is the West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act, 1948. It is accordingly necessary to amend sub-section (2) of section 4 of the Act to provide for acquisition of land under the West Bengal Land Development and Planning Act, 1948.

The Bill has been framed with this object in view.

(j) two members elected by professors appointed by the University from amongst themselves in accordance with rules;

(k) two members elected by teachers, other than professors appointed by the University, from amongst themselves in accordance with rules;

The Jadavpur University Bill, 1955.

(Clause 5.)

(l) two registered graduates who must be graduates of at least five years' standing elected in accordance with rules by the registered graduates;

(m) eight persons, not being salaried employees of the University or of an Institution established, maintained or managed by or affiliated to the University, nominated by the National Council;

(n) four persons (or three, as the case may be,) not being salaried employees of the University or an Institution established, maintained or managed by or affiliated to the University, nominated as below:—

two persons nominated by Shri Brajendra Kishore Roy Chowdhury of Gouripur, a founder-donor during his life time, and thereafter, one person nominated by his legal representatives,

one person nominated by the legal representatives of Maharaja Suryya Kanta Acharyya Chowdhury, a founder-donor, and one person nominated by the legal representatives of Raja Subodh Chandra Mallik, a founder-donor:

Provided that if the legal representatives of any of the founder-donors mentioned above do not agree on the person to be nominated by them, they shall submit all the names of the persons proposed by them to the State Government and it shall be competent for the State Government to nominate a person from amongst those so proposed;

(o) the persons referred to in the Schedule.

(5) The members referred to in clauses (j) to (n) (both inclusive) of sub-section (4) and the person referred to in item (v) of the Schedule shall hold office for a period of four years; and if any such member dies or resigns his office, the vacancy shall be filled in accordance with rules made for filling up casual vacancies in such office, and the new member shall hold office for the residue of the term of the office of the member whose office fell vacant.

Powers of the University.

5. The University shall have the following powers, namely:—

(1) to provide for the teaching of, and for training and instruction in, all branches of engineering, technology, humanities and science and to make provision for research and for the advancement and dissemination of knowledge;

(2) to establish, maintain, manage or affiliate Institutions in an area within a radius of two miles from the place where the University has its offices, and to take over the maintenance and management of any existing Institution within such area together with its assets with the consent of the authorities thereof on such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon;

(8) to demand and receive fees and other charges;

(9) to provide for the supervision and discipline of the students of the University;

The Jadavpur University Bill, 1955.

(Clause 6.)

(10) to provide for the constitution of an Academic Council and of Faculties, Departments, Committees, Boards and other bodies and to define their powers and duties;

(11) to provide for the appointment or election of officers of the University and to define their powers and duties;

(12) to create administrative, ministerial and other necessary posts and to provide for filling up of such posts;

(13) to co-operate with other Universities and with Institutions not established, maintained or managed by or affiliated to the University;

(14) to receive grants, donations, bequests or endowments;

(15) to make grants or advances to any affiliated Institutions or for any purpose the University deems necessary;

(16) to constitute pension or provident fund and establish insurance schemes for the benefit of officers, teachers and other employees of the University and Institutions established, maintained or managed by it;

(17) to enter into contracts, to acquire, hold, dispose of or deal with property, movable or immovable;

(18) to manage and superintend the affairs, concerns and property of the University;

(19) to make such delegations of the powers abovementioned as the University deems necessary;

(20) to provide for the transaction of the business of the University:

Provided that until such provision is made by the University, the State Government may frame temporary provisions for such purpose;

(21) to do all acts or things whatsoever, which in the opinion of the University are necessary for, or incidental or consequential to, any of the powers abovementioned;

(22) generally, without any fetter or restriction, to take any action or do anything, which, in the opinion of the University, is desirable or expedient for the proper functioning of the University.

The President.

6. (1) (a) The President of the University shall be selected by a Committee mentioned in clause (b) out of a panel of three persons, not being persons holding any salaried office under the University or an Institution, recommended by the members of the University other than the President:

Provided that the President of the National Council at the time of the commencement of this Act shall be the First President of the University.

(b) The Committee shall be composed of—

(i) the Minister-in-charge of the Department of Education of the Government of West Bengal;

(ii) a representative of the Ministry of Education, Government of India; and (iii) a person, not being a member of the University or a salaried employee of the University or an Institution, elected by the University.

(2) The President shall not be entitled to any salary or remuneration and shall not hold any salaried office under the University or an Institution.

(3) The President shall hold office for a term of four years from the date of his assumption of office as President.

The Jadavpur University Bill, 1955.

(Clauses 7—14.)

(4) If any vacancy occurs in the office of the President by reason of resignation, death or expiration of his term of office, then, pending the selection of another President, the University shall appoint one of its members to exercise the powers and perform the duties of the President.

(5) The President shall have such powers and duties as may be conferred or imposed on him by rules.

The Rector.

7. The Rector of the University shall be a whole-time officer appointed by the University. He shall be the principal executive officer of the University. The Rector shall have such powers and duties as may be conferred or imposed on him by rules.

The Registrar.

8. The Registrar shall be a whole-time officer of the University appointed by the University. He shall have such powers and duties as may be conferred or imposed on him by rules.

Validation.

9. No act or proceeding of the University shall be called in question by reason of the existence of a vacancy in or any defect in the constitution of the University or by reason of any defect or irregularity, not affecting the merits of the case.

Certain degrees conferred by the National Council to be deemed to be degrees conferred by the University.

10. Any degree conferred by the National Council at any time between the first day of January, 1944 and the commencement of this Act shall, for all purposes, be deemed to be a degree corresponding to such degree of the University as may be declared by the State Government; and the holder of any such degree of the National Council shall be deemed to be a holder of such corresponding degree of the University and shall be entitled to use words, appellations, letters or abbreviations, after his name indicating that he is the holder of such corresponding degree.

Transfer of assets of existing Institutions to the University when such Institutions are taken over by the University.

11. (1) When the University takes over the maintenance and management of any existing Institution and there is transferred to the University any assets of such Institution covered by any deed of gift, endowment, bequest or trust, such deed shall be construed as if it were executed in favour of the University.

(2) When the University takes over the control and management of any existing Institution, every person employed in that Institution immediately before such taking over by the University shall continue to be employed by the University on terms and conditions not less advantageous than those which governed his employment by the Institution.

Budget.

12. (1) The University shall every year send a copy of its annual budget estimates to the National Council at least six weeks before the University considers its budget. When considering the budget, the University shall take into consideration the observations, if any, which the National Council may make on the budget estimates.

(2) The University shall submit every year its budget to the State Government for approval.

Power to make rules.

13. The University may make rules for carrying out the provisions of this Act, or for exercising the powers conferred by this Act.

Power to resolve difficulty.

14. For a period of two years from the commencement of this Act, the State Government shall have power to issue any directive to the University, not inconsistent with this Act, in order to resolve any difficulty that may arise, and the University shall comply with such directive.

The Jadavpur University Bill, 1955.

(The Schedule.)

The Schedule.

[See section 2(f).]

(i) Secretary, Ministry of Education, Government of India;

(ii) Joint Secretary, Ministry of Finance, Government of India;

(iii) Secretary, Education Department, Government of West Bengal;

(iv) Secretary, Finance Department, Government of West Bengal;

(v) One nominee of the All-India Council for Technical Education.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The National Council of Education was founded in 1906 to impart education—literary and scientific as well as technical and professional—on national lines. This Council is an outstanding example of the creative achievements of the Swadeshi Movement. Immediately after the foundation of the National Council of Education, another Institution was started purely for Technical Education, financed mainly by the bounty of late Sir Tarak Nath Palit. In 1910 this Institution was amalgamated with the National Council of Education which in due course has developed itself into a College of Engineering and Technology which offers Degree Courses in three branches of Engineering and Technology. Degrees awarded by the National Council of Education are recognised by the Calcutta University and the Union as well as the State Public Service Commissions. Their Degrees are also recognised by some of the American and Continental Universities. With the Independence of India, Universities in Western Countries, which are very advanced in Technical Education, have suggested that the Degrees of the National Council of Education should receive statutory recognition by the State Government or by the Government of India, as the case may be. The College of Engineering and Technology has been virtually functioning as a University.

It is now considered necessary to give statutory recognition to the Courses of Studies and the Degrees of this Institution to enable it to function and develop as a Unitary Teaching University. The Government of India concur in the proposal.

4. After schedule C to the said rules, add the following schedule:—

"Schedule D

[Rule 10(2)]

1. (1) The Collector shall determine the amount of annual ad-interim payment on the basis of the net approximate annual income calculated under sub-rule (4) of rule 11 and make necessary entries in the list in Form C appended to this schedule or in a form substantially similar thereto.

(2) Orders of the State Government shall be necessary in cases where, having regard to the financial position of the intermediary, there are circumstances to justify ad-interim payment of such amounts and at such times as seem to be reasonable.

(3) The Collector shall make ad-interim payment up to a limit of Rs. 5,000 per annum in each case. Approval of the Board of Revenue shall be obtained before making payment in the following cases:—

(a) Where the amount of ad-interim payment to an individual intermediary exceeds Rs. 5,000; and

(b) Where the whole of the interest of the intermediary which is held under a bonafide trust or other legal obligation for an exclusively charitable or religious purpose without reservation of any pecuniary benefit to any individual has vested in the State and has been taken charge of by the Collector under section 10, and the trustee or other person entitled to the management of such interest is entitled to receive an annual ad-interim payment of the approximate net annual income of the interest.

2. (1) The amount of ad-interim payment will be drawn from the Treasury by the payee by a bill in Form D appended to this schedule or in a form substantially similar thereto, which will be countersigned by the Collector. One bill form shall be used for each payee. The bill will be drawn up in the Collector's office and after countersignature by the Collector, it will be entered in the Register of ad-interim payment orders to be maintained by the Collector in Form E appended to this schedule or in a form substantially similar thereto and an Advice List as in form F appended to this schedule or in a form substantially similar thereto, will be sent by name to the Treasury Officer sufficiently in advance of the bill. The Advice List will bear a continuous serial number for each financial year in order to enable the Treasury Officer to file them in a guard file. The bill will be handed over to the payee or to an agent duly appointed by him by a registered or authenticated power of attorney to receive the same, on obtaining his receipt on the Register of ad-interm payment orders as well as on the Order sheet of the case record. The Collector will make a note of the payments in column 9 of the register of ad-interim payment orders on receipt of the lower portion of the Advice List from the Treasury Officer.

(2) The payee may personally present the bill at the Treasury or endorse it in favour of any other person for collection as provided in S.R. 133 of the Treasury Rules, West Bengal, Volume I. The payment may also be made by postal money order at the written request of the payee subject to the condition that the money order charges shall be borne by him and met by deduction of the amount of such charge from the amount payable.

(3) The Collector shall maintain in form G appended to this schedule or in a form substantially similar thereto, a register of all ad-interim payments. The register will contain personal accounts of each intermediary with an alphabetical index for purpose of reference. In order to watch the progress of the payments made, this register shall be closed every half year ending the 30th September and the 31st March with a memorandum in the following form:—

MEMORANDUM.

(a) Total number (name of register, page reference may be given) of ad-interim payments due during the half year ending 30th September/31st March 19.....

(b) Total number of payments already advised to treasury for payment.

(c) Total number of payments actually made by treasury.

(d) Items due for payment but not authorised or paid during the half year with details, viz., (a)—(b) and (b)—(c).

(e) Collector's orders on (d).

(4) A separate register containing particulars of ad-interim payments to every intermediary shall be maintained by the Collector in Form No. E and verified once a week with the Register of ad-interim payment orders on (Name of Treasury) Treasury which shall be maintained in the treasury in Form H appended to this schedule or in a form substantially similar thereto.

(5) Separate registers as laid down in the foregoing paragraphs shall be maintained in respect of religious or charitable trusts entitled to receive ad-interim payment under sub-section (2) of section 12.

Subject :—Shifting of the Pay and Accounts Office of the Education and Refugee, Relief and Rehabilitation Departments of the Government of West Bengal.

No. T.M./Sep./523.—16th August 1955.—The Pay and Accounts Office (Education and Refugee, Relief and Rehabilitation Departments) has since shifted to 4, Brabourne Road (2nd floor). All Drawing and Disbursing Officers of the two separated Departments, Treasury and Sub-Treasury Officers, Manager, Reserve Bank of India and Agents of all branches of the State Bank of India in West Bengal, may please note the above change of address. All correspondence and returns may henceforth be sent to this new address.

Subject :—Formation of the South Eastern Railway Zone.

No. T.M./525.—18th August 1955.—In continuation of this office notification No. T.M./367, dated the 21st May 1952, (published on page 1736 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette, dated the 5th June 1952), all Treasury and Sub-Treasury Officers in West Bengal are hereby informed that with effect from the 1st of August 1955, the existing Eastern Railway zone has been split up into two zones, viz., the Eastern Railway zone, and the South Eastern Railway zone, both zones having their headquarters at Calcutta. The transactions relating to the former zone will be accommodated under the existing minor head "Eastern Railway" while those relating to the latter zone will be accommodated in a new minor head styled "South Eastern Railway" subordinate to the major head "Adjusting Account with Railways" in section "T—Remittances—1.—Remittances within India, etc." The schedules, vouchers, etc., pertaining to the South Eastern Railway zone should be sent under registered cover to the Financial Adviser and Chief Accounts Officer, South Eastern Railway, Calcutta.

P. C. HALDAR, Dy. Accountant-General.

Subject :—Washing allowance of liveries issued to Class IV servants of the Government of India.

No. T.M./519.—5th August 1955.—Attention of all Drawing and Disbursing Officers is invited to this office notification No. T.M./513, dated 29th June 1955 (published at page 2723 of the Calcutta Gazette, dated 14th July 1955), on the subject indicated above. It has, further, been decided by the Government of India that the orders contained therein will also be appliable in the case of Staff Car Drivers.

Subject :—P. W. Remittances to Treasuries—Reconciliation of differences between the Treasury Accounts figures and the amounts acknowledged by Treasuries as per C.T.R's.

No. T.M./AC II/520.—6th August 1955.—The following instructions are circulated for information and future guidance of all Treasuries and P. W. Divisions :—

(i) It is observed that the amounts of receipts on account of P W. Remittances to Treasuries as shown in the monthly Cash Accounts do not agree with the amounts acknowledged as per consolidated Treasury Receipts. This is apparently due to the transactions relating to P. W. R. Head I and Head III(b) being shown in lump in the Cash Accounts, resulting in differences between the Civil and P.W.D. figures under both the heads. To avoid such discrepancies in future, the amounts of receipts relating to Head I and Head III(b) should be shown separately in the monthly Cash Accounts supported by separate schedules of receipts in duplicate for each head in the prescribed form (Bengal Form No. 2264A-G.B. form No. 119 Schedule 4). The No., date and amount of each chalan should be shown distinctly in the receipt schedules, the amounts of the items relating to each P. W. Division being shown in a separate column as provided in the form, mentioned above. In the case of receipts for P.W.R. Head III(b), full particulars of the transactions, viz., "From whom received" and "On what account" should also be shown in columns 2 and 3 respectively against each item of deposit as provided in the form.

(ii) As regards the transactions to be classified under P.W.R. Head I or Head III(b), the depositers should furnish the classifications in the columns provided for the purpose on the chalan forms and the treasuries must insist on their doing so while receiving the deposits. It may however be pointed out that cash remitted by the Public Works Officers only should be shown under Head I and Book transfers of earnest money from revenue deposits, security deposits of contractors and other miscellaneous receipts adjustable by P.W. Officers in the Divisional accounts should be classified under Head III(b).

(iii) If any mistake in classification under Head I or Head III(b) comes to notice after the despatch of monthly Treasury accounts a revised schedule should invariably be furnished intimating the reasons for revision at the same time.

(iv) Sometimes, more than one Consolidated Treasury Receipts is furnished for remittances into a Treasury during a month by each P. W. Division—apparently separate receipts are furnished for remittances into the headquarters and different sub-treasuries.

One consolidated receipt only should be furnished in future for all remittances into a Treasury (including the sub-treasuries) during a month by each Division. The Nos., dates and amounts of individual chalans should also be noted on the reverse of the C.T.Rs.

2. The procedure indicated above should be strictly followed in future and any deviation therefrom will be treated as an item of irregularity against the Treasury concerned.

Subject :—Monthly mileage for the purpose of the grant of car or conveyance allowance.

No. T.M./518.—3rd August 1955.—Attention of all Drawing and Disbursing Officers of the Central Government is invited to the following decisions of the Government :—

In some cases the existing sanctions to the grant of a car/conveyance allowance under Service Rules 25 are subject to the condition inter alia that the Officer should travel not less than a certain specified number of miles in a month within a specified area. So long as the monthly average over a quarter works up to the prescribed limit, there will be no objection to the drawal of the car/conveyance allowance in such cases even if the mileage done in any particular month or months falls short of the prescribed monthly limit.

Thus an Officer who is not entitled to the car or conveyance allowance due to the shortage of the prescribed monthly limit in a particular month may become entitled to it if the monthly average over the quarter works up to the prescribed limit. Accordingly, on the bill in which the arrear allowance is claimed a certificate in the following form may be recorded :—

"It is certified that the monthly average over the quarter works up to the prescribed monthly limit."

L. P. KHANNA,
Dy. Accountant-General (III).

And

In the matter of a joint petition of compromise.

The humble petition of the Company and the Union abovenamed

MOST RESPECTFULLY SHEWETH:

That the above industrial dispute has been amicably settled between the parties thereto on the terms hereunder recorded:—

1. Employees will be made permanent on completion of one year's service. Those who have already completed one year's service with the Company are to be made permanent immediately, excepting the following employees:—

(1) Shri Anil Ch. Bhattacharyya.

(2) Shri Anil Kumar Choudhury.

(3) Shri Chitta Ranjan Chakravarty.

(4) Shri Gopal Chandra Majumdar.

They, however, will be entitled to all privileges of permanent employees except the benefits of Provident and Pension Funds.

2. Employees who are to be made permanent pursuant to this agreement will not be entitled to join the Pension Fund; facilities of the existing Pension Fund being confined exclusively to those employees who were made permanent before this agreement.

3. The weekly hours to be worked by the different categories of workmen are as follows:—

I. Head Office—

(a) Clerical staff—42½ hours.

(b) Staff of Sales Counter—45½ hours.

(c) i. Staff of medicine department other than bearers—45½ hours.

ii. Bearers—48 hours.

4. Overtime work is to be paid at the following rates:—

I. Head Office—

(a) Clerical Staff—Overtime worked in excess of 42½ hours but up to 45 hours a week to be paid at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages; overtime in excess of 45 hours a week at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages with dearness allowance.

(b) Staff of Sales Counter—Overtime worked in excess of 45½ hours a week but up to 48 hours a week to be paid at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages; overtime in excess of 48 hours a week at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages with dearness allowance.

(c) i. Staff of medicine department other than bearers—Overtime worked in excess of 45½ hours a week but up to 48 hours to be paid at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages; overtime in excess of 48 hours at the rate of double the basic wages with dearness allowance.

ii. Bearers—Overtime worked in excess of 48 hours a week to be paid at the rate of double the basic wages with dearness allowance.

II. Branches—

(a) Staff of medicine department—Overtime worked in excess of 45½ hours a week but up to 48 hours a week to be paid at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages; overtime in excess of 48 hours a week at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages with dearness allowance.

(b) Bearers—Overtime worked in excess of 48 hours a week to be paid at the rate of one and one-third of the basic wages with dearness allowance.

5. The Company will give its employees the following leave in a year:—

(1) Those governed by Factories Act will be entitled to—

(a) Statutory leave as per provisions of Factory Act,

(b) Casual leave of 10 days on full pay,

(c) Sick leave of 14 days on half pay,

(d) Festival leave of 9 days on full pay.

(2) Those governed by Shops and Establishment Act will be entitled to—

(a) Statutory leave as per provisions of Shops and Establishment Act.

(b) Festival leave of 9 days on full pay.

6. Work on festival holiday will be paid one day's basic wages and dearness allowance in addition to the usual pay of basic wages and dearness allowance for the day.

7. All employees excepting bearers are to receive an increment of Rs. 4 to basic salaries and wages; dearness allowance will be adjusted on the basis of 70 per cent. of the increased basic salaries and wages. The basic wages of literate bearers will be increased by Rs. 3 and those of the illiterate bearers will be increased by Rs. 2-8. Dearness allowance in both cases will be adjusted on the basis of 70 per cent. of the increased basic wages. The increments will be effective as from 1st July 1955.

8. The employees who have already received an increment during the current year will not be entitled to the increment mentioned in clause 7 unless the increment received was at a rate lower than what is now agreed to in which case they will be entitled to receive the balance of increment.

9. The existing Provident Fund Rules will be so amended as to enable members to receive after 5 years' service 25 per cent. of the employer's contribution together with interest thereon; after 10 years' service 50 per cent. of the employer's contribution together with interest thereon and after 15 years' service 100 per cent. of the employer's contribution together with the interest thereon.

10. The present set of standing rules will be abolished and fresh standing orders will be framed.

11. The Union gives up its claim in respect of wages for 8th, 9th and 10th of August 1954.

12. The Company will take back in employ as from 20th July 1955 to 31st July 1955 with continuity of service all employees (except two suspended employees whose cases are treated separately hereunder) who were suspended or laid off during the pendency of Tribunal proceedings. The suspended workers will receive one week's wages for the period of suspension and those laid off will receive 3 days' wages for the period of lay-off.

13. Narayan Laha who was suspended during Tribunal proceedings will be taken back in employ as from 20th July 1955 on his tendering apology in writing to the Company; but he will not get any wages for the suspended period.

14. The service of Makhan Lall Bhattacharjee will be terminated from the date of his suspension and he will be paid all his outstanding dues and gratuity at the rate of fifteen day's average pay for every completed year of service or any part thereof in excess of six months.

The parties humbly pray that the Tribunal may be pleased to record the above terms and adopt the same for its award on consent.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the Annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Route Committee, 4 and 4A, 6, Dharamtolla Street, Calcutta and its workman, Shri S. K. Roy, represented by Rastriya Bus Mazdoor Congress, 45/B, Strand Bank Road, Calcutta.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

Dr. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., Ph.D. (London), District Judge, Barrister-at-Law, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance.

For the Congress: Shri Ramnath Sinha, Secretary.

For the Route Committee: Shri E. David, Secretary.

This industrial dispute between Route Committee, 4 and 4A, 6, Dharamtolla Street, Calcutta and its workman, Shri S. K. Roy, represented by Rastriya Bus Mazdoor Congress, 45/B, Strand Bank Road, Calcutta, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issue, was referred to this Tribunal for its adjudication, under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, Order No. 1913Dis./D/11L-112/55, dated the 2nd May 1955.

Briefly, the following are the facts of the case: Shri S. K. Roy (alias Shri Subodh Kumar Roy Chowdhury) was employed as a Starter under the Route Committee of 4 and 4A buses at Rs. 80 per mensem from July 1950. For certain alleged malpractices he was dismissed by the Committee with effect from 21st May 1954 without any charge-sheet, as stated by the workman, Shri Roy.

According to the Route Committee, Shri Roy was kept informed of all details from 7th May 1954 (vide paragraph 5 of the written statement of the Route Committee) and nothing was done behind his back. According to the Route Committee, the Starter on several occasions collected fines from buses and misappropriated the same. The modus operandi in this regard was generally to show late coming in the Conductor's Sheet and to enter the scheduled time of arrival of the bus in his own sheet. He had been fined on many occasions for similar offences and once he had been suspended for 35 days for giving illegal concessions of time to buses, as alleged.

Further details will be noticed hereafter.

The following issue arises for adjudication:

(1) Whether the termination of employment of Shri S. K. Roy was justified? What relief by way of reinstatement and/or compensation is he entitled to?

FINDINGS.

At the time of appointment Shri Roy signed a declaration (Ext. K) containing the rules and by-laws of the Bengal Bus Syndicate (which seems perhaps to be in general charge of the policy of the bus system). It has not however been shown how legally Shri Roy would be bound by those rules, mainly because the relationship of the Route Committee to the Bus Syndicate has not been clarified. Rule 7 shows that for misconduct and misbehaviour on the part of the employees, they would be severely dealt with or their services might even be summarily dispensed with.

The Secretary of the Route Committe, Shri David has not stated at the time of hearing that on 7th May 1954 he called Shri Roy to his office and gave all the documents connected with the alleged offences to him and asked for his explanation, though, as pointed out above, it was mentioned in paragraph 5 of the written statement. He has stressed Roy's attending two Route Committee meetings and two general meetings in connection with the allegations and Roy's appeal after dismissal. The connected documents (Exts. L-L3), however, do not show that Shri Roy was present in any of the meetings. It matters little if Shri Roy was apprised of the result of the Committee meetings, that is, the decisions after the dismissal order was passed. The fact remains that no charge-sheet was submitted and formal proceedings drawn up. The records do not show that prior to the order of dismissal any chance of explanation was given to the employee. The Route Committee has annexed to its written statement a Statement of Misconduct, relating to seven charges against Shri Roy. What prevented it from notifying the charges formally to Shri Roy is not known. According to Shri David, previously there was no practice of issuing any charge-sheet. That there has been a violation of the principles of natural justice cannot be denied.

The question now is whether there were sufficient grounds for the dismissal of Shri Roy. Before examining the seven charges specifically brought against Shri Roy it may be convenient to state the general practice in regard to collection of fines. In order to enforce punctuality on the part of buses and prevent accidents, a system of fines for late arrival at a particular stop was in vogue. A fine of annas eight for the first minute and Re. 1 for each subsequent minute, subject to a maximum fine of Rs. 4, used to be levied. This fine would be realised from the bus which was late in arriving at a particular starting point and thereafter the amount was paid to the bus which was following it. The details were noted in the Way-Bills of conductors in pencil as also in the Fine-sheet of Starters. If Shri Roy's testimony is to be accepted, the number of the bus following the bus which was late in coming was not entered in the sheet and no signature in token of receipt of the fine was taken from the succeeding buses.

To my mind, there were certain lacunæ inherent in the syetem. The owners of buses possibly pay commissions to the Conductors and Drivers on the basis of total collection and this will furnish naturally an incentive not only to overloading but also to longer stoppage to pick up passengers who would otherwise enter the next bus. The evidence of Shri David is not very clear-cut or helpful in this respect. The Conductor's Sheet or the Way-Bill is for the owner while the Starter-Sheet is for the Route Committee. According to Shri David, the latter is checked up daily and only in case of doubt the Conductor's Sheet or the Way-Bill is sent for. Lack of double-checking may be an inducement for Starters to misappropriate the fines realised. If a bus following the one from which fine has been realised is not present simultaneously, the conductor of the former does not know what fine has been realised. It may not be unlikely that some of the conductors are not conversant with English, and also for obvious reasons they may not care to check up to see if the entries are correct. To be on the right side the Starter is ultimately safe for everybody concerned. In the absence of a system of receipt from the succeeding bus or systematic central checking it would be naturally difficult to detect malpractices. The Way-Bills are written up in a most haphazard way and the fine portions show jumbled up numbers, rendering precision checking difficult. On top of all this, sometimes split-second timings have to be noted by the Starters. A difference of one minute may lead to some confusion particularly when watches obviously are not synchronized and when these are not chronometers. Thirty seconds or less would have to be omitted from calculation and more than thirty seconds would amount to a full minute in computing late arrival. The confusion would naturally be worse confused when two or three buses would arrive simultaneously. Such mistakes, according to Shri David, very often occurred in the past. Starters made mistakes about entries, including discrepancy of one minute in relation to a Starter-Sheet and the Conductor-Sheet, and the defaulting Starters were not all dismissed, as has been admitted by Shri David.

Against this general background the specific charges are now being examined. Charges III and VII, as mentioned in the Misconduct-Sheet attached to the written statement, refer generally to favouritism. The discrepancy of one minute (i.e., whether 8.4 or 8.5 hours as in the Starter's Sheet and Conductor's Sheet, respectively), in charge No. III does not matter seriously, in my opinion, for three buses might have come simultaneously. In this connection exhibits A and A1 may be referred to. So far as charge No. VII is concerned, in view of the clear over-writing (4.24 above 4.23) in Ext. 1, it cannot be said actually what happened, for in the first place, the papers relating to the next starting point have not been proved and, secondly, because the scheduled timings of starting, as given in the Misconduct-sheet, have not been proved at the time of hearing.

The other five charges seem to relate to alleged misappropriation of fine amount payable not to the Route Committee but to the succeeding bus. In the two relevant exhibits (C & 2) relating to charge No. 1 (28th April 1954), there is a discrepancy of one minute but, as has been indicated above, this might have been due to mistake. Some of the fines realised are to the extent of Re. 1. It has not been explained how it was Re. 1 and not annas eight or Rs. 1-8-0. Shri Roy says that somebody, possibly the Conductor, might have changed 11.43 into 11.44, but I could not notice any marks of erasure, interpolation or any other manipulation. In my opinion, all things considered, this charge stands not proved. The second charge relates to an incident of 29th March 1954. The relevant exhibits are D, E, E1 and E2. In the last exhibit the figure '1' seems to be penned through but it does not bear any initial. This again is another handicap affecting the smooth working of the Route Committee. Realisation of eight annas fine has been shown and Shri Roy adheres to it. According to him, somebody changed the timing 4.38 into 4.39 in the Way-Bill, but as in the case of charge No. 1, I see no marks of erasure, etc. Since the possibility of mistake however may not be altogether ruled but, in the circumstances this charge also may be held to be not proved. Charge No. IV relates to an incident of 29th April 1954. The relevant exhibits are "F" and "A". Here also Shri Roy says that somebody must have effected some change—by altering 7.30 into 7.31. In this case also for aforesaid reasons I cannot say that the charge has been proved. The fifth charge relates to an incident of 30th April 1954. The relevant exhibits are "G" and "G1". As in the case of charge IV here also no fine was noted. Shri Roy's explanation is similar, namely, that somebody changed 11.54 into 11.55. My observations relating to charge IV apply equally to charge No. V, which accordingly stands not proved. Charge No. VI goes back to 1st May 1954. The relevant exhibits are "H" and "H1". Regarding Ext. H it may be pointed out that originally the figure might have been "8.1" but later shown as "8" only, with "1" converted into "P" of "P.M.". But this is a surmise only. Exhibit H1 shows the timing as "8.1". According to Shri Roy, he put only "8" in the latter document. It is not very likely but the possibility is not altogether ruled out, for the figure "1" appears below the figure "8"—separated by a horizontal line. Accordingly charge VI also stands not proved.

It may be noted in this connection that in the five aforesaid charges of alleged misappropriation the Route Committee has not cared to examine the Conductors of succeeding buses to find out how much, if at all, was paid to them by the Starters. The Conductors of all connected buses have not been examined to place the matter beyond dispute. Perhaps none of them would have cared to prove the case of Route Committee, for all the buses more or less might have been involved in the racket, if there was any, and it would be to the interest of all the Conductors to maintain silence over this point. It would be for the Route Committee to devise a fool-proof system of checks and at least take effective steps against this discrepancy of one minute which should be sternly put down in future. This change of time—by one minute—is a clear pointer to inefficiency at any rate as here.

In the result, it is held that the dismissal of Shri Roy was not fully justified. No doubt there is suspicion that he might have indulged in malpractices, and devised a system of his own but suspicion cannot take the place of proof.

Ordinarily, in case of wrongful dismissal the appropriate relief would have been reinstatement. But in view of the facts and circumstances of the case, taking an objective view, I hold that compensation only should meet the ends of justice. One month's pay in lieu of notice and 2½ months' pay as compensation should suffice, in my opinion. The Route Committee is to pay this amount, namely, Rs. 280 in all, within 21 days from the date when the Award becomes enforceable after its publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

The Award is made accordingly.

No. 3756Dis./D/10L-180/55.—13th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 4688Dis./D/10L-180/54, dated the 13th October 1954, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Oriental Engineering Co., 111 Gopal Lal Tagore Road, post office Alambazar, Calcutta-35, and their workmen represented by Oriental Engineering Employees' Union, 47 Pramanick Ghat Road, Calcutta-36, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto, was referred for adjudication to the Third Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal Shri Mohit Kumar Hazra, one of the workmen of the said Company, filed a complaint before the said tribunal against the said company alleging that the said company discharged the said workman concerned in such dispute;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto;

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended by Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, filed by Shri Mohit Kumar Hazra against Messrs. Oriental Engineering Co., in connection with Government order No. 4688Dis./D/10L-180/54, dated the 13th October 1954.

BEFORE THE THIRD INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI J. N. MAITRA, Judge, Third Industrial Tribunal.

Misc. case No. 3 of 1955 under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Shri Mohit Kumar Hazra, 102 Raj Kumar Mukherjee Road, Calcutta-35 ... . Petitioner,

For the opposite party: Shri R. Das, Managing Director of the Company.

AWARD.

This is a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. The complainant, Shri Mohit Kumar Hazra, alleged that during the pendency of the main reference in connection with a dispute between the opposite party Company and their workmen before this Tribunal he was discharged by the opposite party Company on 7th November 1954, without permission from the Tribunal and thus the Company contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Act. Hence the complaint. The opposite party Company denied having contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Act.

DECISION.

The matter was fixed for hearing on 1st August 1955. On that day the complainant filed a petition withdrawing the complaint unconditionally. In the circumstances the complainant is allowed to withdraw his complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as prayed for. It is awarded accordingly. The petition filed by the complainant is made part of the award.

ORDER.

No. 3755Dis./D/10L-180/55.—13th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 4688Dis./D/10L-180/54, dated 13th October 1954, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Oriental Engineering Co., 111 Gopal Lal Tagore Road, post office Alambazar, Calcutta-35, and their workmen represented by Oriental Engineering Employees' Union, 47 Pramanick Ghat Road, Calcutta-36, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Third Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas during the pendency of proceedings before the said Tribunal Shri Harisadhan Das, one of the workmen of the said company, filed a complaint before the said tribunal against the said company alleging that the said company discharged the said workman concerned in such dispute;

And whereas in exercise of the powers conferred by section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the said Tribunal has adjudicated upon the said complaint and submitted its award to the State Government;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended by Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950, filed by Shri Hari Sadhan Das against Messrs. Oriental Engineering Co., in connection with Government order No. 4688Dis./D/10L-180/54, dated the 13th October 1954.

BEFORE THE THIRD INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

SHRI J. N. MAITRA, Judge, Third Industrial Tribunal.

Miscellaneous case No. 4 of 1955 under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Shri Hari Sadhan Das, 27 Bireswar Dhole Lane, Calcutta-35 Petitioner,

For the petitioner: The petitioner in person.

For the opposite party: Shri R. Das, Managing Director of the Company.

AWARD.

This is a complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. The complainant, Shri Hari Sadhan Das, alleged that during the pendency of the main reference in connection with an industrial dispute between the opposite party Company and their workmen before this Tribunal, he was wrongfully discharged without notice and without permission from the Tribunal and thus the opposite party Company contravened the provisions of section 33 of the Act. Hence the complaint. The opposite party Company denied having contravened the provisions of section 33.

DECISION.

The matter was fixed for hearing on 1st August 1955. On that day the complainant filed an application withdrawing the complaint unconditionally. In the circumstances his complaint under section 33A is rejected. It is awarded accordingly. The petition filed by the complainant is made part of the award.

ANNEXURE.

Before the Third Industrial Tribunal appointed to adjudicate the dispute in the matter of Government order No. 4688Dis./D/10L-180/54, dated 13th October 1954

And

In the matter of an application under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

Shri Hari Sadhan Das, 27 Bireswar Dhole Lane, Calcutta-35, Applicant,

Messrs. Oriental Engineering Co., 111 Gopal Lal Tagore Road, Calcutta-35, Opposite Party.

Humble petition of the applicant abovenamed respectfully begs to state that the above application dated 3rd January 1955 was filed under misinstruction and mis-advice and that the said application is hereby withdrawn unconditionally.

SHRI HARI SADHAN DAS, Applicant.

ORDER.

No. 3796Dis./D/11L-82/55.—18th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 2032Dis./D/11L-82/55, dated the 9th May 1955, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Prima Films (1938), Ltd., Rupabani Buildings, 76-3 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Bengal Motion Pictures Employees' Union, 77-2 Dharamtala Street (Top floor), Calcutta-13, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Prima Films (1938), Ltd., Rupbani Buildings, 76-3, Cornwallis Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Bengal Motion Pictures Employees' Union, 77-2 Dharmatolla Street, (Top Floor), Calcutta-13.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., PH.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

Appearance:

For the Union: Shri Suprabhat Mukherjee.

For the Company: Shri B. Chaudhuri, Counsel.

This industrial dispute existing between Messrs. Prima Films (1938), Ltd., Rupabani Buildings, 76-3 Cornwallis Street, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by Bengal Motion Pictures Employees' Union, 77-2 Dharmatolla Street (Top floor), Calcutta-13, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issue, was referred to this Tribunal for its adjudication, under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department order No. 2032Dis./D/11L-82/55, dated the 9th May 1955.

The case relates to retrenchment of staff.

The following issue was originally raised:—

1. Whether retrenchment of (a) Shri Arobindo Das, (b) Shri Amarendra Nath Das, (c) Shri Akhil Chandra Banerjee, (d) Shri Mohit Roy Choudhury, (e) Shri Bijon Kumar Banerjee and (f) Shri Paresh Chandra Sarkar was justified. What relief are they entitled to?

At the time of hearing the representative of the employees did not press for reinstatement, as he was not challenging the validity of the reasons which led to retrenchment. Admissions of both sides have been recorded in order No. 4 (Order-sheet), dated 1st August 1955.

FINDINGS.

The learned lawyer appearing for the employers has raised some preliminary objections. In the first place he contends that the dispute relating to retrenchment is not covered by the definition given in section 2(k) of the Industrial Disputes Act. Secondly, he urges that employees Nos. 2 to 6 gave valid receipts in discharge of their dues in February 1954 and, consequently, in December of that year, when they were retrenched, they were not workmen within the meaning of the Industrial Disputes Act. Lastly, it has been argued that since exhibits A-A4, the aforesaid receipts, disclaimed all "further claims from the Company", these persons are not entitled to any other amount by way of retrenchment relief as contemplated in sub-sections (a) and (c) of section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act.

As regards the first objection it may be pointed out that the definition of "industrial dispute" given in section 2(k) of the Act is wide enough to cover a case of retrenchment, for it is connected with employment or non-employment. The use of the expression "any person", it may also be noted, is very significant. Nor can it be argued that a single workman cannot raise such a dispute. If any authority is needed, reference may be made to the case of Swadeshi Cotton Mills (1953 L.A.C. 137).

The underlying principle in Binny's Engineering Works (1952 L.A.C. 238) furnishes, in my opinion, an answer to the second objection. Moreover, in my opinion, the employees may very well argue that in view of section 25F, the retrenchments—without prior notice and without fulfilling the conditions precedent—were not valid in the eye of law and that some sort of inchoate rights, at any rate, survived in their favour.

As regards the receipts (Ext. A series), it has been urged on the side of the employees that statutory relief, contemplated by section 25F of the Act, cannot be got rid of by the Company. There is much force in this contention when it is examined against the background of non-fulfilment of conditions precedent laid down in section 25F of the Act. Moreover, there is no specific disclaimer of statutory relief in these receipts. These merely state that the signatories in question have "no further claim from the Company". Contractual claim is not the same as compulsory statutory remedies.

There is no reason, therefore, why the employees should be deprived of the legal benefit. Shri Arobindo Das, according to facts which are not challenged, will get, therefore, in all Rs. 615 (including one month's salary unpaid, besides one month's salary in lieu of notice). The other five employees will get in accordance with section 25F(b) of the Act the following amounts:—

Amarendra Nath Das Rs. 217.
Akhil Chandra Banerjee Rs. 360.

Mohit Roy Choudhury Rs. 288.
Bijon Kumar Banerjee Rs. 155.
Paresh Chandra Sarkar Rs. 186.

The aforesaid amounts must be paid to the employees within 10 days from the date when the Award becomes enforceable after its publication in the Calcutta Gazette. The attention of the employers, the Prima Films, is drawn, for future compliance, to the provisions contained in section 25H of the Industrial Disputes Act regarding re-employment of these retrenched workmen.

The Award is made accordingly.

ORDER.

No. 3866Dis./D/11L-259/(A)/55.—19th August 1955.—Whereas under the Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No. 3266Dis./D/11L-259(A)/55, dated the 20th July 1955, the industrial dispute between Messrs. Geophysical Service International S.A., 30 Bondel Road, Calcutta-19, and their employee, Shri S. R. Gupta of 96 Diamond Harbour Road, Calcutta-23, regarding the matters specified in the schedule thereto was referred for adjudication to the Seventh Industrial Tribunal;

And whereas the said Seventh Industrial Tribunal has submitted to the State Government its award on the said industrial dispute;

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the provisions of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Governor is pleased hereby to publish the said award as shown in the annexure hereto.

ANNEXURE.

In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. Geophysical Service International S.A., 30 Bondel Road, Calcutta-19, and their employee, Shri S. R. Gupta of 96 Diamond Harbour Road, Calcutta-23.

BEFORE THE SEVENTH INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL, WEST BENGAL.

PRESENT:

DR. B. K. BHATTACHARYA, M.A., LL.B., PH.D. (London), Barrister-at-Law, District Judge, Judge, Seventh Industrial Tribunal.

This Industrial dispute between Messrs. Geophysical Service International S.A., 30 Bondel Road, Calcutta-19, and their employee, Shri S. R. Gupta of 96 Diamond Harbour Road, Calcutta-23, regarding the matters mentioned below in the issues, was referred to this Tribunal for its adjudication under Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, order No 3266Dis./D/11L-259(A)/55, dated the 20th July 1955.

The dispute relates to an alleged wrongful dismissal.

The following issues were raised:—

1. Whether the termination of services of Shri S. R. Gupta was justified.

2. Whether he is entitled to reinstatement and back pay and/or other reliefs.
3. What should be the terms of his service, if he is reinstated.

FINDINGS.

The parties have duly appeared and filed a petition of compromise.

In view of the joint petition of compromise no further dispute seems to exist. A 'No-Dispute' Award is passed accordingly, making the petition of compromise a part of it.

Typed to my dictation.
